One morning in January, five years after my second meeting with Phyllis, I sat at my desk in the office. It was raining, a cold thin rain. The window was blurred. The water in the steam pipes went banging away. I was composing an editorial which treated the diplomatic relations between this country and England. The roar of Park row distracted me. Now and then I would go to the window and peer down on the living stream below. A dense cloud of steam hung over all the city. I swore some when the copy boy came in and said that there were yet a column and a half to fill and that the foreman wanted to "close up the page early." The true cause of my indisposition was due to the rumors rife in the office that morning. Rumors which emanate from the managing editor's room are usually of the sort which burden the subordinate ones with anxiety. The London correspondent was "going to pieces." He had cabled that he was suffering from nervous prostration, supplementing a request for a two months' leave of absence. For "nervous prostration" we read "drink." Our London correspondent was a brilliant journalist. He had written one or two clever books. He had a broad knowledge of men and affairs, and his pen was one of those which flashed and burned at frequent intervals, but he drank. Dan's father had been a victim of the habit. I remember meeting the elder Hillars. He was a picturesque individual, an accomplished scholar, a wide traveler, a diplomatist and a noted war correspondent. His work during the Franco-Prussian war had placed him in the front rank. After sending his son Dan to college he took no further notice of him. He was killed while serving his paper at the siege of Alexandria. Dan naturally followed his father's footsteps both in profession and in habits. He had been my classmate at college, and no one knew him better than I except it was himself. The love of adventure and drink had ended the life of the one. It might end the life of the other.

The copy boy said there were yet a column and a half to fill.

The foreman in the composing room waited for some time for that required column and a half of editorial copy. I lit my pipe, and my thoughts ran back to the old days, to the many times Dan had paid my debts and to the many times I had paid his. Ah, me! Those were days when love and fame and riches were elusive, and we went in quest of them. The crust is hyssop when the heart is young. The garret is a palace when hope flies unfettered. The most wonderful dreams imaginable are dreamed close to the eaves. And when a man leaves behind him the garret he also leaves behind the fondest illusions. But who—who would stay in the garret?

And as my thoughts ran on the question rose, Whom would they send in his place—Dan's? I knew London. It was familiar ground. Perhaps they might send me. It was this thought which unsettled me. I was perfectly satisfied with New York. Phyllis lived in New York. There would be time enough for London when we were married. Then I began to build air castles. A newspaper man is the architect of some splendid structures, but he thoughtlessly builds on the sand when the tide is out. Yes; foreign corresponding would be all well enough, I mused, with Phyllis at my side. With her as my wife I should have the envy of all my fellow craftsmen. We should dine at the embassies, and the attaches would flutter about us, and all London would talk of the beautiful "Mrs. Winthrop." Then the fire in my pipe bowl went out. The copy boy was at my elbow again.

"Hang you!" said I.

"The foreman says he's coming down with an ax," replied the boy.

It was like churning, but I did manage to grind the copy. I was satisfied that the United States and Great Britain would not go to war over it.

The late afternoon mail brought two letters. I opened the one from Phyllis first. It said:

Dear Jack—Uncle Bob has a box for the opera tonight, but he has been suddenly called to Washington—politics, possibly, but he would not say. Aunty and I want you to go with us in his stead. Ethel and her fiance, Mr. Holland, will be together, which means that aunty and I will have no one to talk to unless you come. "Carmen" is to be sung. Please do not fail me. PHYLLIS.

Fail her! I thought not.

Then I read the second letter. I read it three or four times, and even then I was not sure that I was not dreaming. I caught up my pipe again, filled it and lit it. I read the letter once more. I was solemnly informed that my uncle was dead and that I was mentioned in the will and that if I would kindly call at the Hoffman House the following morning a certain sum of money would be given to me. I regretted that I had reached that age when a man's actions must be dignified although alone; otherwise I dare say I should have danced the pas seul. Whatever my uncle's bequest might be, I believed that it would make me independently rich. Phyllis was scarcely an arm's length away now. I whistled as I locked up my desk and proceeded down stairs and sang a siren song into the waxen ears of the cashier.

"You have only twenty coming this week, Mr. Winthrop," said he.

"Never mind," I replied. "I'll manage to get along next week." It was only on very rare occasions that I drew my full pay at the end of the week. I dined at a fashionable restaurant. As I sipped my wine I built one of my castles, and Phyllis reigned therein. There would be a trip to Europe every summer, and I should devote my time to writing novels. My picture would be the frontispiece in the book reviews, and wayside paragraphs would tell of the enormous royalties my publishers were paying me. I took some old envelopes from my pocket and began figuring on the backs of them as to what purposes the money should be put. It could not be less than $50,000, perhaps more. Of course my uncle had given a harbor to a grudge against me and mine, but such things are always forgotten on the deathbed. Fortune, having buffeted me, was now going to make me one of her favorite children. I had reached the end of the long lane.

As I left the restaurant I decided to acquaint Phyllis with my good luck and also my desire that she should share of it. I turned into a florist's and had a dozen roses sent up to her. They were American Beauties. I could afford it now.

I found Phyllis thrumming on the piano. She was singing in a low voice the aria from "Lucia." I stood on the threshold of the drawing room and waited till she had done. I believed her to be unaware of my presence. She was what we poets call a "dream of loveliness," a tangible dream. Her neck and shoulders were like satin, and the head above them reminded me of Sappho's which we see in marble. From where I stood I could catch a glimpse of the profile, the nose and firm chin, the exquisite mouth, to kiss which I would gladly have given up any number of fortunes. The cheek had that delicate curve of a rose leaf, and when the warm blood surged into it there was a color as matchless as that of a jack rose. Ah, but I loved her! Suddenly the music ceased.

"There is a mirror over the piano, Jack," she said without turning her head.

AFTER MANY YEARS

Of suffering from kidney disease, Miss Minnie Ryan, of St. Louis, Mo., found a complete cure result from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It is such cures as this which establish the soundness of Dr. Pierce's theory: "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." Every other organ depends on the stomach for its vitality and vigor. For by the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition the food which is eaten is converted into nutriment, which, in the form of blood, is the sustaining power of the body and each organ of it. When the stomach is diseased the food supply of the body is cut down, the organs are starved, and the weakness of starvation shows itself in lungs, heart, liver, kidneys or some other organ.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and so cures disease of other organs which have originated through deficient nutrition or impure blood.

"I had been suffering with kidney trouble twenty years," writes Miss Minnie Ryan, of 1537 Louisiana Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., "and I had doctored with a number of the best physicians. Two years ago I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' and took also several vials of Doctor Pierce's Pellets. I took eight bottles (four of each), and I feel now perfectly cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

A Terrible Explosion

"Of a gasoline stove burned a lady here frightfully," writes N. E. Palmer, of Kirkman, Ia. "The best doctors couldn't heal the running sore that followed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve entirely cured her." Infallible for cuts, corns, sores, boils, bruises, skin diseases and piles. 25c at Jas. Lynch's.

NORWOOD.

Mr. Fred Spencer of Warkworth, spent Friday last with his mother in town.

Rev. Mr. Taylor is attending the conference in Cobourg. On Sunday the Presbyterians and the Methodists united and service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Somerville in the Presbyterian church in the morning and in the Methodist church in the evening.

The pulpit of the Baptist church was occupied on Sunday evening by Rev. J. C. Cameron of Toronto. He delivered a very impressive address.

Mr. W. Richardson has just returned from his trip to the west.

Mrs. George Taylor leaves on Tuesday for Meadow Lee, Man., where she will join her son, and take a trip to Alberta. Mrs. Taylor intends remaining in the west for some time.

On Friday last our town Football Team took a trip to the Cordova Mines, where they engaged in a friendly game with the miners; the result was a victory for Norwood by a score of 4—0.

The same evening the High School played the Havelock Juniors in a friendly game in the park. This also resulted in favour of our home team by a score of 2—1.

Misses Blanche Pearce and Frances Pettigrew, who have been visiting friends in Port Hope for the past few weeks, have returned home again.

Quite a number of our town's people took in the excursion to Ottawa.

The Board of Education met on June 10th. Those present, W. E. Roxburgh, Chairman, Messrs. R. W. Waters, P. W. Stevenson, John McNaughton, Jas. Pengelly, Jas. Cumming, T. Robson and J. L. Squire, Secretary.

The minutes of last meeting were read and on motion confirmed.

The committee appointed to consider whether it would be advisable to put minerology and geology, as asked by Mr. Miller, of Kingston, on the school curriculum as an optional subject, reported and advised that no action be taken. The report was adopted on motion.

A communication was received from Mr. Davidson, giving quarterly report of school and asking if he is to prohibit scholars from attending who have not paid their fees.

Moved by Messrs. P. W. Stevenson and R. W. Waters that in addition to the authority given to principal by resolution passed in Dec. 10th last re fees, that he be further instructed not to admit any scholar who has not paid his or her fees within ten days of admission.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. P. W. Stevenson and Thos. Robson, that the secretary be instructed to advertise in the Norwood Register, and Toronto Globe for a male teacher of at least three years experience to take the place of the principal of the public school during the model term at a salary of $130. The advertisement to be inserted in three issues previous to the August meeting of the Board.—Carried.

A communication was received from Mr. Frappy, principal of the public school, asking that his year's engagement be made to close with June 30th at the yearly salary of $640.

Moved by Jas. Cumming and Jas. Pengelly that the secretary be instructed to advertise the opening Model School here the first and second weeks in August in the Norwood Register, Hasting Star, Campbellford Herald, Warkworth Journal, Peterborough Review and Examiner and Lakefield News.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

BACKACHE

No more Backache or Kidney Troubles need be endured.

Read the statement made here by a reliable citizen, and if you have an ache or a pain go at once to the nearest drug store and get a box of Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. There need be no doubt about their efficacy for all forms of kidney troubles. Here is the proof: Mr. W. A. McLean, a well-known Toronto citizen says: "I am willing to answer all questions, by letter or personal, about Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. No one can do it with more certainty, for I have tested the medicine and know what I speak of. I would not recommend Dr. Arnold's Pills, nor any other medicine, if I did not know it to be good. Now, I do know Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills to be good. I have used them. I've used other medicines as well. I had Kidney complaint and Backache for three years, and took various remedies in hopes of effecting a cure. I got no relief, however, till I began using Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. Now, when I started using them I was in severe pain, was very nervous and could hardly straighten myself. I had difficulty in urinating and the liquid was of a brick red colour. I took three boxes of Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills, and no wam completely cured. I mean what I say—I am cured. My back is strong and free from pain or ache; I can eat and sleep well, the urinary trouble are gone, and I feel ten years younger than I did before I began using Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. Anyone wishing any further information may apply to me, and I will cheerfully give it.

"Put It With B."

Taking the "Dictionary of National Biography" standard, it is clear that there is something in a name. No man in the British isles has become famous for ten centuries whose name began with X. Z is better—there are 21 names under it—and Q is better still, with 31. Somebody in the Z's becomes famous on an average every 50 years, and Q has been the initial on one in every thousand of England's famous men. A is much better than either. There is a famous man among the A's for nearly every year since William the Conqueror—and those whose names begin with C, H, M and S should be quite hopeful; their chance is very good indeed. But the chance of the man whose name begins with B is the best of all. There are over 3,000 famous names in our history beginning with B, and the seekers after fame in this class should keep up heart.

George's False Teeth.

The Baltimore Dental college, the oldest dental college in the world, has in its possession one of the most interesting relics of George Washington. This relic is a set of artificial teeth made by Dr. Greenwood, a dentist who was also an officer in the Continental army. The teeth were worn for some time by General Washington. Dr. Greenwood afterward made the general a second set, which he wore until his death and which was buried with him. The first set was afterward presented to the dental college by Dr. Greenwood. As much as $5,000 has been offered for this set of teeth, but the faculty of the college refused the offer.

DAMAGE TO BRITAIN

On Immense Scale Wee Caused by Netherlands Railway Co.

THE TRANSVAAL COMMISSION.

Acts for Which the Shareholders Are Responsible—Commission Recommends That the Government Decline to Recognize the Dynamite and Other Monopolies of the Leyds-Kruger Regime.

London, June 12.—A blue book was issued yesterday, containing the report of the Transvaal Concessions Commission. It is clear, the commission avers, that a State which has been annexed to another, is not legally bound by any contracts made by the State which has ceased to exist, and that no court of law has jurisdiction to enforce such contracts, if the annexing State refuses to recognize them.

The commission recommends that the Government decline to recognize the dynamite and other concessions, and adds that it is satisfied Dr. Leyds and others have received from certain directors shares and financial considerations.

Regarding the Netherlands-South African Railroad, the report, while admitting that the concession was legally granted, considers it injurious that trunk railroad lines should be the monopoly of a single company. The concession should be terminated, even if the company's conduct is not open to complaint. But its extraordinary action in the war precludes the possibility of its continuance under British administration.

Discussing the position of the shareholders, the report says the belligerent acts for which all the shareholders were legally responsible, caused immense damage to Great Britain, Cape Colony and Natal. The British Government, as an act of grace, may show some consideration to the shareholders, but the commission considers this should be postponed till the shareholders have exhausted the remedies open to them against the directors, and until the damage done by the company is made good.

The commission recommends the debenture holders to full recognition.

Lord Kitchener's Report.

London, June 12.—Lord Kitchener reports to the War Office, under date of Pretoria, June 11, as follows:

"Commandant Van Rensburg and his commando have surrendered at Pietersburg. One hundred men have come in, and others are following."

Kruger in Ignorance.

The Hague, June 12.—Mr. Kruger has issued a statement to the effect that he knows nothing of the peace negotiations alleged to be proceeding with the Boer leaders. He says that if there are any negotiations on foot, it is not through any action of his.

Prof. Steen Takes Action.

Montreal, June 12.—The long-expected action for damages, which it was announced Rev. Mr. Steen intended taking against Archbishop Bond, was entered in the Superior Court by Messrs. Lafleur, McDougall & MacKay, Mr. Steen's solicitors. The writ was served on His Grace Monday night at his residence on Union avenue. In his declaration Mr. Steen asks for $5,000 damages and the restoration of his rights and privileges as a clergyman in the Diocese of Montreal.

The Marvel of It.

Dr. P. is a country physician whose professional duties have prevented him from enjoying any of the pleasures of city life. He has been all his life a great reader and a particularly close student of Shakespeare, and yet he had never seen a stage performance or been inside a theater until he recently saw "Hamlet."

He was on a visit to a friend in New York, and they went to the play together. When the curtain rose on the scenes that were so familiar to the doctor's memory of the printed page, now repeated with all the naturalness of life in action and the spoken word, he was delighted beyond expression. He leaned forward in his chair, rubbing his hands on his knee-caps, alternating between the most absorbed interest and the chuckles of a delighted recollection. When Hamlet began his fondly remembered soliloquy, "To be or not to be," he could scarcely contain himself. There were tears of joy in his eyes. He turned to his friend and whispered in a hoarse voice of emotion: "And verbatim too! Verbatim!"

Didn't Marry for Money.

The Boston man, who lately married a sickly rich young woman, is happy now, for he got Dr. King's New Life Pills, which restored her to perfect health. Infallible for jaundice, biliousness, malaria, fever and ague and all liver and stomach troubles. Gentle, but effective. Only 25c at Jas. Lynch's drug store.

MOST COSTLY OF DRUGS.

Some Sell at Retail For More Than Their Weight in Gold.

"The price of many drugs used in medicine is astonishing to those who are not acquainted with the subject," remarked a druggist. "There are several that are worth their weight in gold (about $20 an ounce), while $2, $3 or $5 an ounce are quite common prices in pharmacy. I filled a prescription the other day that cost $25. But there is one drug that I can recall which is worth much more than its weight in gold. That is pseudo physostigmine. I don't think that it has a popular name. It is too rich for that. In the pharmacists' list it is quoted at $1 a grain, or $437.50 an ounce. The seed from which the drug is made grows in India and Brazil, as well as in parts of South Africa. This seed, tradition says, was once used by native chiefs as an ordeal. The ordeal generally resulted in the death of the man upon whom it was tried and so was considered as a great truth finder. The prepared drug is sometimes used now in prescriptions for the treatment of heart disease.

"Another drug which takes the palm for costliness is, curiously enough, the one which is perhaps the most widely known by name of them all to the general public—namely, musk. Its retail price at the present moment is about $50 an ounce, $600 a pound apothecary, or 2½ times the value of pure gold, 24 carats fine. It is obtained from the musk deer, a very rare animal, and is contained in a follicle, of which there is only one in each animal, so that an ounce of the drug represents approximately one of these precious animals. As it is largely used for scent, the demand constantly exceeds the supply, and the price has been steadily advancing. There is no reason why it should not go to $250 or $500 an ounce during the next few years, as the musk deer is gradually vanishing from the face of the earth."

BEWARE OF THE STRAP.

A Possible Source of Infection to Those Who Ride In Street Cars.

The connection between the microbe and the street car strap has frequently been discussed and at least one recent instance has proved somewhat distressingly that danger is likely to lurk in the piece of leather which helps to support so many women during the rush hours of the day. It was to protect a fresh pair of white gloves that a New York woman, compelled to stand, held her handkerchief inside the strap while going to the theater. On her way home she was again compelled to stand, and once more the handkerchief came between her glove and the leather.

Whether it was after that or during the evening at the theater that she once thoughtlessly put the handkerchief to her face is a detail that she does not recall, but two days afterward a pain on her lip became so intolerable that she was compelled to see a doctor, who found her suffering from incipient blood poisoning, which it was already too late for him to prevent. The most that he could do was to watch her carefully through a long attack of illness, which at one time threatened to end fatally.

He attributed this to some poisonous substance which had passed to her handkerchief from the strap, and that was his diagnosis the moment he heard the story of the ride on the cable car. She fortunately recovered, and her physician thinks that the present disfigurement to her face which resulted from the necessity of an operation will not be permanent. The case has convinced this physician, who is a man of considerable experience in surgery, of the dangers that lurk in the street car strap.

His Objection.

"The great actor objected to their taking his name from the drama programme and placing it on the list of burned cork stars."

"I wonder why."

"He said he didn't want to be blacklisted."—Chicago News.

Ingratitude.

"No. I won't give you a piece of my apple," snapped his sister.

"And who was it," the boy inquired reproachfully, "that spoiled the piano so you didn't have to practice for a week?"

The Man and the Rope.

A Chinaman who had been condemned to wear the cangue, or wooden collar, was seen by some of his friends.

"What have you been doing," they asked, "to deserve this?"

"Oh, nothing," he replied. "I only picked up an old piece of rope."

"And are you to be punished thus severely," they asked, "for merely picking up an end of rope?"

"Well," answered the man, "the fact is there was a bullock tied to the other end."—H. A. Giles' "History of Chinese Literature."

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Rev. Dr. Warden of Toronto Elected Its Moderator.

SERMON BY REV. DR. POLLOCK.

The Election of the New Moderator Was Unanimous in the Assembly—Rev. Dr. Warden Announces That $1,400,000 Had Been Subscribed for the Century Fund Instead of Only a Million.

Ottawa, June 13.—The Rev. Dr. Warden of Toronto was last night elected moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which opened its annual meeting in St. Andrew's Church last night. The church was filled to the doors and the annual sermon was preached by the retiring moderator, Rev. Allan Pollock, of Halifax. To-day the regular meeting of the assembly will begin and the annual reports of the different committees will be taken up. On the whole the church work reflects the prosperity which has prevailed in the country for the past few years.

The New Moderator.

Dr. Bryce of Winnipeg moved, and Rev. Dr. Armstrong of Ottawa seconded, the nomination of Rev. Dr. Warden to the moderatorship of the assembly. The motion was carried unanimously and then Dr. Warden was led to the chair and introduced to the assembly in his new office. Speaking of the growth in the Presbyterian Church during the century just closed, Dr. Warden said the church has 12 ministers and about 30,000 members, in 1801, but now it had 1,300 ministers and about 850,000 members. He said Canada is entering upon an era of prosperity and he spoke of the development of the new industries in many parts of Canada, particularly in the steel, pulp and paper trades, and also of the growth of mining enterprises. Referring to the Century Fund scheme, the moderator said the church had raised $1,400,000, instead of $1,000,000, as was expected, and that of this sum $[illegible],000 was for church debts. This amount would release annually the sum of about $40,000, which would be a great help to the church. In common fund of $000,000, he said, would be raised. Already $560,000 of it had been subscribed.

The report of the two commissioners who went to Scotland from the Canadian Assembly to attend the annual meeting of the recently United Free Church of Scotland, the Presbyterian Church of Scotland, was read. The commissioners were Rev. Dr. Robertson and Thomas Forward. Dr. Warden expressed the hope that there would be a world-wide union of Presbyterian churches.

A vote of thanks to the retiring moderator was passed before adjournment.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

A Peculiar Fatality to Farmer's Wife in Sandwich West.

Windsor, June 13.—Mrs. John Broderick, aged 56, the wife of a well-to-do farmer in Sandwich West, was struck by lightning Tuesday evening and instantly killed. The circumstances of Mrs. Broderick's death are peculiar. The woman was walking from her home to a poultry house in the rear of the garden, and had to pass beneath a metallic clothes line. Just as she reached the line a shaft of lightning struck it. The lightning glanced from the line and struck Mrs. Broderick on the bridge of the nose, splitting that member in twain as clean as though a razor had been used. The lightning seems to have then entered her mouth and come out below her chin, making a hole like that made by a large shot gun. Mrs. Broderick leaves seven children, five boys and two girls, in addition to her husband.

MR. HARDY'S CONDITION.

Hopes For His Recovery Had Vanished This Morning.

Toronto, June 13.—The reports of the physicians in attendance upon the Hon. Mr. Hardy this morning contained less encouragement than at any time since the ex-Premier was taken to the hospital. Yesterday morning Mr. Hardy was reported to have improved slightly, and it was thought that the worst had been past. A change for the worse came later in the day, however. The patient became restless, and the attending physicians noted this symptom with great apprehension. At 3 o'clock this morning Mr. Hardy was resting quietly, although it was found necessary to administer narcotics to induce sleep. The patient's pulse was slow and fitful, and the hopes which had been held out for his recovery had almost vanished.

Girl Burned to Death.

Ridgetown, June 13.—Julia Powell, a Home girl, aged 13 years, was lighting the natural gas to prepare dinner at Arch. MacDiarmid's farm near here, when her clothes took fire, and she was fatally burned.

Kingston Cars Run in Early.

Kingston, June 13.—There is no change in the street car trouble. The cars were again barned early, though it was circus night here last night.

Doctors and the Fees.

Toronto, June 13.—The atmosphere of the Medical Council Chamber and of the discussion on the fees question were alike torrid yesterday afternoon. Up to the hour of this debate, 4 o'clock, business had gone on without acrimony. The afternoon closed with a record-breaker in bitter tone, fierce invective and hot personalities.

Twenty-two new cases of smallpox and one death were reported in New York city on Wednesday.

HOST WAS DECORATED

Three Thousand S. A. Veterans Receive Medals.

FROM KING EDWARD'S HAND.

Roberts, Buller, Milner and a Host of Generals and Other Officers Get Royal Recognition—An Impressive Spectacle in St. James' Square—Queen Was Present at the Ceremony.

London, June 13.—London seldom had a finer spectacle than was witnessed on the Horse Guards parade yesterday morning, when King Edward presented medals to 3,000 soldiers, participants in the South African campaign. The great square was lined with Guards, drawn from the various regiments. In the centre of the ground was a purple-covered dais surmounted by an Indian tent, with silver corner poles.

In the space between the dais and St. James' Park, were drawn up 3,000 officers and men of the Guards Household Cavalry and City Imperial Volunteers, all of whom had served in the campaign. The Admiralty, Horse Guards and other official buildings, fronting the parade, were all decorated with flags. The Lord Mayor, Frank Green, attended in State, and the members of the special Moorish embassy, in picturesque costume, were interested spectators.

King as a Field Marshal.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the King, in a field marshal's uniform, the Queen, Princess Victoria, and other members of the royal family, arrived and took up places on the dais, and the ceremony began. The recipients of the medals in a long line, marched past the King, received the decoration from His Majesty, saluted and passed on. Lord Roberts came first, followed by Lord Milner, while behind them came crowds of generals and lesser officers, whose names have become familiar, owing to the war—Buller, Ian Hamilton and a host of others. Among the members of Lord Roberts' South African staff, who received the medal, was captain, the Duke of Marlborough.

The procession, as a whole, was most incongruous. The officers of the Guards, Lancers, Hussars and Highlanders, in dazzling uniforms; groups of solemnly-garbed men, in frock coats—doctors, who served at the front—and half a dozen foreign attaches in uniform. There were also groups of time-expired men, in civilian clothing, policemen and wounded soldiers, limping along in hospital clothes.

The ceremony lasted nearly three hours, the Queen standing beside the King throughout.

Berlin, June 13.—Andries Dewet, a cousin of General Dewet, the Boer Commander, addressed a pro-Boer mass meeting in the Philharmonic. Ten thousand persons were present, and the speaker's utterances were received with enthusiastic demonstrations.

Accidents at Niagara Camp.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 13. — The No. 4 field hospital, occupying a small square of tents, enclosed by the four pennants bearing on a white ground, a red Geneva cross, found yesterday a busy day. Accidents were generally slight, however, the most serious being the little 10-year-old son of Caterer Bird of the 34th. In endeavoring to mount the colonel's horse he slipped and broke his arm. A trooper was injured by his horse biting severely two fingers of his left hand and there were several prostrations from heat.

Asphyxiated by Gas.

Montreal, June 13.—Mr. Robert Wilson and his sister, Miss Mary Wilson, of Edwards, St. Lawrence County, New York, arrived in the city Tuesday evening and went at once to the Turkish Bath Hotel. Yesterday morning Miss Wilson was found dead in bed, having been asphyxiated by gas. All the evidence shows that the dead woman either blew out the gas or accidentally turned it on again, after having put it out. Miss Wilson was 60 years of age.

Man Killed in a Mill.

Otterville, Ont., June 13.—About 11 o'clock yesterday morning Louis Cole was fatally injured at the sawmill belonging to and conducted by R. A. Hawes here. A slab struck him just below the breast and killed him instantly. He leaves a wife, three sons and one daughter.

Dropped Dead.

Goderich, June 13.—Donald C. Strachan, one of the old residents of the town, dropped dead yesterday morning while at his breakfast. He had been in his usual good health, and was about going to his office as deputy in the customs.

THEIR LAND NOT LIABLE FOR DEBT.

No "Trick" in the Government's Treatment of the Old Soldiers—A Free Gift.

Toronto papers recently devoted an editorial paragraph to the disclosure of an alleged "trick" whereby the soldiers to whom the Ontario Government had given the grant of 160 acres of land in New Ontario were no better off than anyone else who might pay settlement dues and go upon the land.

Hon. Mr. Davis, Minister of Crown Lands, to-day made a statement of the facts in connection with the grant, which showed that no such payment is required on the part of the soldiers. The 160 acres given to each soldier is his for ten years without a cent of settlement duties, Provincial or municipal taxes, except for school purposes. The land cannot be liable for anything in the shape of taxes so long as it is held by the original locator. Thus provision was made that no one but the soldier should have the benefit of the land. The soldier gets it absolutely free, even in the district where the ordinary settler would pay 50 cents an acre. In the ten years' time the land is certain to increase rapidly in value. Five years ago in the Temiskaming District there were very few settlers; now a couple of villages are prosperous communities, and people who went in four years ago would not now take two or three thousand for their holdings.

Another point of value to the soldier is that the land cannot be touched for debt or any other reason. If the veteran happens to be a young blood, and uses up his substance in riotous living, when he gets to the end of his tether he can cut loose, take his stewpans and blankets, and retire to his country place, there to become a farmer on his own account, where none can seize his land.

Mr. Davis and the Government are feeling in good spirits over the success of the Temiscaming excursion experiment; other trips will be arranged later.

SECOND-RATE CHEESE

Reason For Some of the Defects Pointed Out.

THE R. M. C. EXAMINATIONS.

"Weak" and "Open" Cheese Complained of by the Official Referee at Montreal Explained by Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Chief of the Dairy Division, Department of Agriculture—The Matter of Curing.

Ottawa, June 13.—The official referee on butter and cheese at Montreal, who is an officer of the Department of Agriculture, reports that a large proportion of the second grade cheese which has been received at Montreal this season belongs to the class usually known as "weak" and "open." In view of this fact, Mr. J. A. Ruddick, chief of the dairy division, Department of Agriculture, has issued the following leaflet, which is now being distributed: "Finest" cheese must have a close, solid body. The presence of numerous irregular holes makes what is known as "open" cheese. "Weak-bodied" cheese is of the same character, with some excess of moisture. Openness in cheese is usually the result of an insufficient development of acidity in the curd before salting and putting to press. An open, loose body is sometimes caused by lack of sufficient pressing. Some curds will not make close, solid cheese under any amount of pressure, yet, on the other hand, no cheese is ever as close as it might be unless heavy pressure has been gradually and persistently applied. This defect may be overcome by allowing more acid to develop in the curd before the salting, that is to say, more time should be allowed from the drawing off the whey until the curd is salted and put to press. The less acid there is in the curd when the whey is drawn the longer will be the time required to mature it properly.

PITIFUL CASE OF A LITTLE GIRL.

Child at the Age of Two a Crippled Victim of Disease.

Edna Rathburn of Hampstead, N.B., Fell and Broke two Ribs—Injured the Kidneys and Diabetes Developed—Dodd's Kidney Pills in Curing Kidneys Straightened Injured Spine.

Hampstead, N.B., June 12, (Special).—Little Edna Rathburn of this place has had a sad experience for a child so young. She is now nearly eleven years old. Eight of her few short years have been passed under the saddest cloud possible in life.

At the age of two the child met with an accident which left her with two ribs broken, split off at the backbone. Though they were set and healed her body did not straighten. For eight years she could hardly walk, being almost doubled up. The accident affected her kidneys and diabetes set in. Diabetes is a particularly dangerous form of kidney trouble, in this case particularly severe by nature of the injuries to the spine.

The family doctor was, of course, consulted. He diagnosed her case correctly but couldn't cure it. She was sent to the Public Hospital at St. John, in the hopes that the greater skill and facilities there would avail. They could do nothing for her. The authorities advised the mother to take the child home to nurse her and give her good care while she lived, which would not be very long.

The suffering of the little one was heartrending to the mother and friends. She cried with pain night and day. The mother grew desperate and determined she would find a cure for her child if it took every cent she possessed.

She saw Dodd's Kidney Pills advertised and immediately purchased some. From the first they were beneficial. The little girl commenced to get better. Every day saw an improvement. Dodd's Kidney Pills were doing the work. Six boxes in all were used and once more diabetes was conquered.

Not only that but with the return of health the spine commenced to straighten. The little girl is now almost physically perfect. Says the grateful mother in her words:

"There is nothing to be compared to Dodd's Kidney Pills. We thank God we ever heard of them. Edna is now full of colour, runs and plays about as smart as a whip, where once she was a puny little thing as pale as a ghost."

THE ANGLICAN SYNOD.

A Second Depressing Day—The Widows' and Orphans' Fund.

Toronto, June 13.—The very gratifying reports customarily presented at clerical conferences are far from being the rule at the Anglican Synod this year. On the opening day it transpired that the Mission Fund was receiving very inadequate support. When the session was continued yesterday, Rev. Arthur Baldwin read the report of the Widows' and Orphans' Fund, which is also in financial straits. Regret was expressed that, owing to lack of money, each of the widows received only $194 last year instead of the usual $200. Fifty parishes had paid up in full, 54 were in default, more or less, and nine had contributed nothing. The sum total of the defaults was $1,025.33.

The whole of the afternoon session was taken up in discussing the unsatisfactory condition of the Sabbath school teaching.

In the evening the annual missionary meeting in connection with the Synod was held. The principal speaker was Rev. F. H. Du Vernet, a missionary recently returned from China. He emphatically denied that the missionaries had any share in causing the recent Chinese trouble. The immediate cause of the war was simply and solely the encroachments made on Chinese territory by foreign powers.

5,000 TONS A DAY.

This Is the Rate at Which Cape Breton Coal Comes West.

Montreal, June 13.—We will mine this year 2,000,000 tons of coal, was the estimate placed in the Dominion Coal Company's output by Mr. Jas. Ross, who has just returned from Sydney. The vice-president declared that 5,000 tons of coal per day were now being shipped to Montreal and the other St. Lawrence ports, and 150,000 tons will be the quantity sent up here during June. Contracts, he added, amounting to 850,000 tons, would be filled for the St. Lawrence trade during this season, and he predicted a still greater expansion in the near future. Then he added that 600,000 tons would likewise be sent to Everett, Mass.

It is stated here that important changes will take place in the executive of the Dominion Coal Company to-day at the annual meeting, and Mr. James Ross will be elected president, but that gentleman would neither deny nor confirm the report, declaring that he could better answer the question after the meeting. It is also learned that the question of amalgamating the iron and steel and coal companies will not come up to-day.

Y. M. C. A.

Association Is Spending Its Jubilee—Between 3,000 and 4,000 Delegates.

Boston, June 13.—Since the first Y. M. C. A. was formed in America, at Montreal, 50 years have elapsed. This week the international jubilee convention is being held here. Between 3,000 and 4,000 delegates are present from all over the globe. The convention represents a constituency of 1,500 associations, with 28,000 active and 23,000 associate members.

The first address of the day was by Judge Selden P. Spencer of St. Louis, who spoke on the subject, "The Lessons of Fifty Years' Y. M. C. A. Work." He pointed out the fact that, wherever men are and can be reached as a class, there is the place for association work.

Judge Spencer was followed by Herbert H. Ames of Montreal, whose subject was "The Contribution of the Young Men's Christian Association Towards the Solution of the City Problem."

Nervous Dyspepsia.

How it shakes one up, invades sleep, destroys strength, adds a real misery to life. Not the stomach but the nerves are affected. You need Ferrozone because its a great nerve food. It supplies the elements that are needed to make rich red blood. This is the savings bank of health. The richer the blood in red cells, the richer you're sure to be in health. Ferrozone quickly makes blood, strengthens the nervous system, strengthens the digestive organs and presto! the nervous disturbance disappears. Sold by Ormond and Walsh.

Brakeman Reaveley Killed.

St. Thomas, June 13.—J. F. Reaveley, familiarly known as "Doc," a brakeman on the M. C. R., and who lived on Manitoba street here, was killed last night about 11 o'clock, by falling from the top of a car.

Mr. Reaveley was head brakeman on an extra east, in charge of Conductor Frank Oatman. He was seen at Tilbury, but was missed at Fargo, and a search of the train failed to find him, and Conductor Oatman telegraphed to this city his suspicions that Mr. Reaveley had fallen from the train. A search proved his suspicions to be correct, as Mr. Reaveley's body was found on the track a mile and a quarter west of Charing Cross. The remains were terribly cut up and altogether unrecognizable. Deceased was married and leaves a wife, but no children.

Gas on the Stomach

result of imperfect digestion presses up against the heart, it excites alarming symptoms. Instant relief is afforded by taking half an hour after the meal, ten drops of Polson's Nerviline in a little sweetened water. Nerviline aids digestion, expels the the gas and imparts a sense of comfort. Nerviline is good for lots of other things, and wise people keep a 25 cent bottle in the house for rheumatism, cramps, neuralgia, toothache &c. Try it.

NOMINATIONS YESTERDAY.

The Conservative Convention for Addington was held at Tamworth on Wednesday, and James Reid, the present member, was nominated.

Owing to the announced retirement of W. R. Beatty, M. P. P., from Ontario politics, the Liberals of the electoral district of Parry Sound met in convention on Wednesday at Ernsdale to choose a candidate for the next general election. Milton Carr, merchant, was chosen upon the first ballot, defeating Mayor D. W. Ross of Parry Sound by two votes—61 to 59.

MALT BREAKFAST FOOD

THE BEST AND SAFEST FOR INVALIDS AND ALL WEAK PEOPLE.

It frequently happens that many invalids and weakly people are half starved in the hot weather. When such people cannot tolerate ordinary foods, the sensative taste will always relish delicious and health-giving Malt Breakfast Food. This king of health breakfast foods will do more to build up weakly people than any other food on the market. The Malt does the good work. Get it from your grocer.

The Editor's Fault.

"Your face is very familiar," said the congressman as he shook the calloused hand of a constituent, "but I really can't recall your name."

"I don't wonder a bit at that," said the caller. "It's all the fault of that fool editor of our'n. The time we had our last county fair he went an printed my picter with Bill Perkins' name under it."

TO SAVE SON FROM GALLOWS.

Rice's Father Will Come to Toronto as Soon as He Can Be of Use.

Toronto, June 13. — Mr. T. C. Robinette, who is representing Fred Lee Rice, yesterday afternoon received a letter from Mr. A. Rice of Champaign, Ill., asking Mr. Robinette to telegraph him as soon as there is any necessity for him to come to Toronto as soon as he can be of any use to his son. Mr. Rice says the prisoner's mother and sisters are broken-hearted over the matter, and that they are hoping against hope that he will escape the gallows.

Enclosed in the communication is a letter from Rice's mother to her son. Mr. Robinette will ask leave to deliver this letter to the prisoner Rice this afternoon.

The letter from Rice's parents is in reply to a letter written by Mr. Rkbinette, under Rice's instructions to his parents.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N.Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Jas. Lynch. Trial bottles free.

Punch Cartoons Brodrick.

Montreal, June 13.—The Star publishes the following special cable from London:

The Imperial Government's refusal of a Canadian mounted corps is the subject of Lindlay Sambourne's chief cartoon in yesterday's Punch.

Canada is represented holding out a written offer to Brodrick, while on the ground lie papers containing such headlines as: "Heavy British Loss," "Severe Fighting," "Renewed Activity of the Boers." Brodrick is made to say to Canada: "In view of the present—er—promising—um outlook in South Africa, we can now afford to refer you to our minutes of October, 1899, to the effect that no mounted men need apply."

Sergt. Holmes Dead.

London, June 13.—Drill Sergeant William Holmes of No. 1 Co. R. C. I., died yesterday morning in Victoria Hospital after a brief illness. He was an Orangeville man. In 1884 he joined the permanent corps at Stanley Barracks and rapidly rose from the ranks to become one of the best instructors on the force. He served in the Northwest in 1885. He went to South Africa with A Co. as color-sergeant, where he became ill with enteric fever. This was the primary cause of his death. Before returning to Canada at Christmas he was made sergeant-major of the 1st Contingent. He was 34 years of age and leaves a wife and one child.

Remarkable Caves.

M. P. Chaudoir in the Mouvement Geographique describes a visit to the remarkable stalagmite caves within two hours' walk from Tanga, in eastern Africa. Passing through several chambers rising to a height of from 100 to 250 feet, he reached a vast saloon covering an area of 5,000 square yards. Millions of bats covered the roofs and interfered with the exploration of the narrow passages. One of these, killed with a stick, measured 4 feet 10 inches across the wings.

Resenting a Reflection.

The Soprano's Maid—My mistress had five bouquets thrown at her during the first act.

The Contralto's Maid (disdainfully)—Indeed! How nice! I'll bet she paid for them herself."

The Soprano's Maid—Of course she did. She doesn't have to have things charged like some people I know do.

Bargains in Shorey's Make of Clothing.

The pre-eminent position which the high-class clothing made by Messrs. H. Shorey & Co., of Montreal, holds with the people of Peterborough, is the reason why so much of it is sold by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. The representative of the house made a special visit to Peterborough last week and closed out to H. LeBrun and Co. a very choice selection of Shorey's high-class summer suits for men, young men, boys and children at a reduction of about one-fourth off wholesale prices. Shorey & Co. are preparing for their winter work and made Mr. LeBrun a tempting offer, which the people of Peterborough will get the benefit of. These suits will be sold at one-fourth less than regular prices. They consist of well-tailored garments in fine black worsted, serge and extra tweed. Every suit has a ticket in the pocket of the coat guaranteeing that if anything goes wrong it will be made right. Messrs. LeBrun & Co. also secured a great snap in trousers for working men and for fine wear, which are to be sold at a similar reduction. H. LeBrun & Co.

ABBOTT WAS LET GO FREE.

The Cases Disposed of in the County Court.

Judgment for Walsh in Fowlds v. Walsh—Court About Finished.

At the County Court Sittings, before His Honour Judge Weller, yesterday afternoon, the case of Fowlds vs. Walsh was disposed of, a verdict for the defendant being given.

This was a case in which Messr. Fowlds of Hastings, sued Mr. John Walsh for an account which was alleged to have been made up of $100 borrowed on October 1st, 1898, and $23, being the price of some hogs purchased.

The defendant admitted that the account was correct, but claimed that he had paid the same on the day he had received the $100.

Mr. Walter Fowlds swore most positively that he had loaned the money to defendant, but did not get it back, and James Fowlds swore that he had had a conversation with Walsh concerning the account in question, and the latter said he was not in a position then to pay it but would later on.

Mr. Learmouth, bookkeeper for Fowlds Sons, gave evidence as to entries in the books, etc., in order to substantiate their claim.

The defence consisted of Walsh's evidence, who swore positively that he paid it back to Mr. Walter Fowlds on the day he received it, and Mr. W. S. Anderson, who swore that he endorsed and cashed certain notes for Mr. Walsh on October 1st, 1898, and the latter said he was going down to pay Messrs. Fowlds & Sons the money. He said that he saw Walsh then go into Fowlds office.

The jury gave a verdict for the defendant, only one juror dissenting.

Geo. Bimison for rplff.; R. M. Dennistoun for deft.

ABBOTT GETS OFF.

The attention of the court was taken up all this morning, and a portion of the afternoon, with the case of the Crown vs. Abbott.

It will be remembered that a couple of weeks ago Abbott was brought back from British Columbia on a charge of forgery, it being alleged that he did on Nov. 25, 1900, in the Township of Smith, unlawfully and knowing it to be false, forge the name of Jane Brumwell to a certain promissory note in his own favour, at three months, payable at the Ontario Bank.

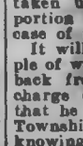
The evidence was such as to show that Abbott had been in the habit of signing notes for Mrs. Brumwell at her request, she being unable to write. Prisoner swore that the note was signed by him with Mrs. Brumwell's consent, and a number of prominent local people testified to the good character of the prisoner here.

The jury was out only a few minutes when they returned with a verdict of not guilty.

His Honour Judge Weller, after the Jury had returned their verdict, said that he heartily concurred in the same, and referred to the expense Abbott was already under in being brought from his home in British Columbia.

F. D. Kerr defended Abbott, and Crown Attorney Wood conducted the prosecution.

Ladies' and gentlemen's dressing and toilet rooms, with hot and cold water, an abundant supply of spotless towels, and polite attendants, have been introduced by Ringling Brothers this season, and the innovation has added immeasurably to the convenience and comfort of the big show's thousands of patrons.



Remember the Apron Social in the Charlotte Street Church, Thursday night, 13th. Excellent programme. Refreshments. Admission ten cents. Programme commences at seven o'clock.

Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows are conducted on strictly honourable business principles. Every precaution is taken to protect Ringling Brothers' patrons from gamblers and sharpers of all kinds and a complete corps of detectives is maintained during the season to guard the public from imposition.

ANOTHER OLD RESIDENT.

Demise of Alexander Stewart at the Age of 73 Years.

Another of the towns oldest residents passed away yesterday in the person of Alexander Stewart, who after a lingering illness of kidney trouble has passed to his eternal rest. His demise occurred at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Peter Connal, 370 Brock street.

The late Mr. Stewart was 73 years of age and was a native of Glasgow, Scotland. He came to Peterborough at the early age of five years, where with the exception of a few years spent in the States, he has continued to reside. He was a thorough Scotchman, and whilst never taking any active part in public affairs, in his quiet unassuming and Christian like manner he won a wide circle of friends, all of whom will regret exceedingly to learn of his demise. For many years he followed the occupation of a contractor, but of late years has lived retired. In politics he was a Liberal and in religion an ardent Presbyterian, having been at different times connected with St. Andrew's Church officials being an elder in the church for over thirty years. He was also a musician in his earlier days and was a member of the first band Peterborough ever possessed.

In 1858 he married Helen Borrowman, daughter of the late Richard Borrowman, of town, who still survives him. They had no family, but deceased has five sisters still living. They are Mrs. James Paterson, Peterborough; Mrs. John McMillan, Lindsay; Mrs. Geo. Tanner, Lakefield, and Mrs. A. Haggart and Mrs. Geo. Jeffery, of Pensylvania.

The funeral will leave the residence of Mr. Peter Connal, No. 370, Brock street, at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mollie Blois is visiting friends in Millbrook.

Mr. George Lytle, of Lindsay, was in town this morning.

Mr. George Shepley, Barrister, Toronto, is in town to-day.

Mr. J. H. Brandon, of Fenelon Falls, is in town on business.

Mrs. A. M. Paton, of Lindsay, is in town the guest of Mrs. J. R. Stratton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crane leave to-morrow for a trip to Boston and a number of American seaside resorts.

Mr. R. C. McHarrie, Manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, is leaving to-morrow to visit the Glasgow Exposition. He will be away for eight weeks.

Mr. R. Q. Dench, of Lakefield, passed through town yesterday afternoon on his way to Montreal to meet his daughter who is returning from England on the Allan Steamer due to-morrow.

POLICE COURT.

Hartley vs. Duncan was a case that came up at the Police Court this morning, but the Magistrate refused to hear it claiming that the plaintiff could get redress in the Division Court. It arose out of a horse deal.

At the Police Court this morning a citizen was fined $2 and $3.40 costs for trespassing on the Chinamen's premises on Hunter street.

A young man was charged at the Police Court this morning with stealing a coat. He pleaded guilty and was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

CEREAL CO. NEWS.

Compressed Air May be Used as Motive Power Instead of Electricity.

A compressed air expert was in town yesterday interviewing the Cereal Works staff with the object of illustrating the superiority possessed over electricity, as a motive power by compressed air.

The air is compressed by hydraulic pressure. A well 231 feet deep, in connection with the big new dam, would have to be sunk. The process involves reducing the temperature of the air to 42 degrees below zero and a perfect system of cold storage is one of the advantages to be obtained from its use.

The proposition will be dealt with by the Chicago Board of Directors.

Mr. Scott and Mr. Kirn both went up to Toronto on business yesterday.

HANDSOME BARROOM.

The Morgan House Has Completed Extensive Improvements.

The Morgan House has been "treated" to a handsome new design of barroom fittings, which produces quite a decided improvement in the premises. The model was built and executed by Tait & Co., Toronto, and is a large, substantial and solid piece of furniture, made especially to Mr. Munro's order. It is built of Indiana quartered oak, finished in a rich and natural grain, with copper plated trimmings. A fine large Bristol plate mirror constitutes the central figure of the show case, and is fitted with liquor cabinets for bottled goods and fine cigars, convenient ice boxes and receptacles for other lines of goods that require to be kept under cover and in fine condition.

The work-board is made of cypress wood, which is not liable to deterioration. A very substantial public counter of corresponding design has also been put in and a large electric fan suspended from the ceiling generates cool and refreshing breezes for the comforts of patrons. The services of two obliging wine clerks keep the cash register tallying and the bar in a bright and natty condition. Mr. Munro has been constantly planning improvements ever since he took hold of the Morgan House and his management is proving quite successful.

It is Known Everywhere.

There is not a city, town or hamlet in Canada where Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is not known—wherever introduced it makes a foothold for itself and maintained it. Some merchants may suggest some other remedy as equally beneficial. Such recommendations should be received with doubt. There is only one Eclectric Oil, and that is Dr. Thomas'. Take nothing else.

OBITUARY.

Death of a Daughter of the Late James Fowler.

Word has reached town of the death of Mrs. J. J. Magee, of Emily, who recently died in Toronto. About a year ago she went to Toronto seeking recovery by undergoing special treatment. Her sufferings were beyond description and a happy release from her agonies by death was indeed a blessing.

The funeral took place on Monday from the late residence of the departed, to which she had been transferred by train from Toronto on Saturday. The service at the house was conducted by the Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., who also officiated at the grave. Rev. W. M. Kannawin, B.D., was also present and said a few words of comfort at the house. The attendance at the funeral was very large. More than one hundred vehicles were in the cortege. In this sad bereavement, accentuated by the circumstances of the last year, Mr. Magee has the hearty sympathy of the whole community. The late Mrs. Magee was beloved by all who knew her, she was a devoted wife and mother and a good Christian. It was about a year ago that she had left her home to undergo special treatment in Toronto, which was however of no avail. Her mental agonies were beyond description and thus it was a blessing to her that God called her home. She was the daughter of the late James Fowler, who died very suddenly on his way to Peterborough, more than a year ago. Her mother is living with her son Frank.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—85 degrees in the shade yesterday.

—A meeting will be held this evening in the T.A.S. Rooms to make final arrangements for the picnic in St. Joseph's Grounds on July 1st.

Ringling Brothers' great canvas pavillions cover more than twelve acres and constitute a veritable city of tents. The mammoth hippodrome amphitheatre is the largest ever constructed, and is absolutely impervious to rain.

The Port Hope Knitting Works will give DOUBLE TRADING STAMPS on Friday and Saturday, 14th and 15th of June.

YESTERDAY'S WEDDING.

Mr. John Rork Married to Miss Perrin of South Monaghan.

The marriage took place at six o'clock yesterday evening at the residence of Mrs. Perrin, South Monaghan, of her daughter, Miss Fannie Perrin, to Mr. John Rork, of Norwood, son of Mr. Thomas Rork, Deputy Collector of Inland Revenue, Peterborough.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Kelly, Baptist minister of Bailieboro, in the presence of a number of intimate friends and relatives.

The bride was attended by Miss Truans of Bowmanville, while Mr. William Stewart of Norwood, supported the groom.

The newly married couple left on their honeymoon to Buffalo, and other points, and will on their return take up their residence in Norwood.

MARRIED IN ROCHESTER

Mr. W. F. Miller, Son of Mr. F. W. Miller, of Town, to Miss Johnston.

The wedding took place at Trinity Church, Rochester, N.Y., on Monday last, of Miss Lousie Henrietta Johnston, to Mr. W. F. Miller, son of Mr. F. W. Miller, town. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Parrott in the presence of a number of the friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

The bridal gown was a very becoming one of pearl grey cloth trimmed with applique lace. The bridesmaid, Miss Susie McCormick, wore a pretty gown of white organdie, and the two charming little flower girls, Misses Lillie and Henrietta Free, were similarly attired. All three carried bouquets of white carnations. The bride was escorted and given away by her brother-in-law, Captain T. Free. Mr. George Parker, of New York City, assisted the groom.

After the ceremony a delightful wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. T. Free, 58 Saratoga Avenue. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Miller sailed on the steamer North King for Port Hope, and from thence came to Peterborough, arriving here yesterday evening. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Miller. A large number of friends called upon the young couple last evening, welcomed them and extended best wishes and congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller will return to Rochester next Wednesday and will take up residence there.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting Was Held Last Night—Major Miller President.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Dominion Rifle Association, was held last night, there being a good attendance of members.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Pres.—Major Miller.
Vice-Pres.—Capt. Eastwood.
Sec.-Treas.—Capt. Bennett.

Nothing much in the way of business was done as the association was not clear as to their position in view of the new order that has been issued by the Militia Department regarding the members of the Dominion Rifle Association. By the new order, if interpreted correctly, all members who are not members of any regiment or corps, must swear in as members of the Reserve Militia of Canada. The secretary was instructed to write away and obtain more information on the subject.

The local Association would prefer to remain under the old regulations.

The first team of the 57th will shoot this afternoon in the first match of the Canadian Military Rifle League. The second team will shoot on Saturday. A series of five matches is in progress.

THE LOCALS WON AGAIN.

Port Hope Defeated by a Score of 17 to 8.

The Peterborough Baseball Club's Clean Record—Port Hope Plays Here Saturday.

The Peterborough Baseball Team went down to Port Hope yesterday and succeeded in defeating the team of that town by a score of 17 to 8. The result was a big surprise to the home team an they have been very anxious of late to get after the local nine. It must also be borne in mind that the Peterborough team was minus two of its regular men,—Grady and Scott. They were very ably substituted, however, by Davidson and Craig, who played right and left field respectively. The batting of both teams was very heavy, about the hardest batter Port Hope had being Edmonds. Kehoe, of the Peterborough's, had a great record in batting getting one three bagger, two doubles and a single. The base running of the locals was also a leading feature of the match. The hits of the home team were only "bunched" in the fourth and eighth innings and Dan kept them guessing all afternoon. Earls as usual pulled in several beautiful flys.

The score was as follows:

PORT HOPE.

	AB.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Edmunds, 2 b	5	2	3	5	4	1
McGill, 3 b	4	0	1	2	0	2

RIFLE CLUB.

The Montreal Star of the 6th of June offered a prize of fifty dollars, payable in five annual installments of ten dollars each to each of the first ten rifle clubs to be organized. Mr. G. E. Whiten immediately organized a club and notified the Star to that effect. To-day he received a cheque for ten dollars, which he has decided to offer as prize money divided as follows: 1st, $3; 2nd, $2; 3rd, $1.50; 4th, $1; 5th, $1; 6th, $1; 7th, 50c. The membership fee is 25c. Details have been arranged as follows: distance, 200 and 400 yards, 10 shots each range, two sighting shots each range; position, kneeling or sitting at 200 yards; 400 yards, position any with head to target; where two or more make the same number of points at both ranges, they will shoot shot about at the longer range to decide the winner.

Y.M.C.A. ATHLETICS.

On account of the strong attractions to-morrow night, there will be lacrosse practice this evening at the Nicholls oval at 6.45, and every Y.M.C.A. player interested in the game is asked to turn out. A return game with the Vaticans will be arranged shortly and men are asked to keep in good condition.

Members interested in track athletics are requested to be at the Nicholls oval to-night at 7 o'clock.

CIRCUS DAY TO-MORROW.

Coming of Ringling Brothers' Circus a Memorable Event.

To-morrow, Friday, June 14, is circus day. Ringling Brothers' famous big show will be seen here in all its magnificent completeness. In the organization of such a colossal national entertainment, and in bringing to the homes of the people the rare and curious things of the wide world, the five famous proprietors of this greatest of all great shows have constituted themselves public benefactors. Ringling Brothers' Circus is so admirably organized that there is something to interest and hold the attention of every spectator. The student of natural history is furnished the grandest object lesson that the human mind could possibly conceive of, for the wonders of the animal world are brought together in living, breathing reality. The lover of fine stock has here 500 magnificent thoroughbred horses upon which to feast his eyes. The admirer of physical beauty and perfection in athletic achievement is regaled with the performances of hundreds of the world's most famous acrobats, gymnasts and riders. The artistic instinct finds gratification in the splendor of a pageantry that out-Neros Nero. Even the devotee of the turf is not forgotten, for the finest racing thoroughbreds of Europe, Arabia and our own Kentucky are matched in the most thrilling and hotly-contested trials of speed and equine endurance. From the initial parade that precedes the opening of the engagement until the close of the final performance, everything is upon a scale of grandeur and magnitude hitherto unknown in the amusement world. The inaugural street parade takes place at ten o'clock in the morning, and is a fitting introduction to the wonders of the big show. This great parade is Ringling Brothers' free offering to the people, and they make no mistake when they announce to the public "See the parade and then decide whether or not to see the show." No one who sees Ringling Brothers' parade will miss the performance. It is a splendid promise of what is to follow in the big show. Its hundreds of proudly-stepping horses, with waving plumes and strappings of gold and silver glittering in the sunlight; its gorgeously costumed knights and ladies, heralds and courtiers; its brilliantly uniformed soldiery and mounted military bands; its great herd of cannon-drawing war elephants; its resplendent gold-illumined chariots and cars of state; its superb tableau floats, and its scores of magnificently carved and ornamented dens and cages of openly-exhibited rare wild beats, form a spectacle that in wealth of display and beauty of colouring rivals the rainbow in prismatic brilliancy. The opening performance begins at two o'clock, but the doors will be open an hour earlier to afford visitors an opportunity to see the zoological display or enjoy the grand concert of Ganweiler's famous military band. The performance introduces hundreds of new and novel acts, enlisting the services of 300 high class performers and hundreds of auxiliaries, and is declared by all who have seen it to be the grandest and most complete arenic exhibition ever presented before the American public. Reserved numbered seats and admissions show day at Sailsbury's Bookstore, at exactly the same price as charged at the regular ticket wagons on the show grounds.

A CORPSE OWNS ITSELF.

Repose of the Dead is Guaranteed by Common Law.

Even when a man is dead the law pursues him. While his heirs are trying to break his will in one court his body may be the subject of litigation in another. Death severs a man from all his earthly possessions except his body—that still belongs to him and to no one else. It is a maxim of the common law that there can be no property in a corpse—that is, that no one living can own it; the corpse owns itself. Unfortunately, there are obstacles to a corpse arguing its own case, so the law does it for the body of the dead person. The law takes no cognizance of ghosts, materialized spirits, etc. When a man is dead, the law says that he shall stay dead. His apparition has no standing in court, though his body has.

One of the duties of the common law is to protect "the repose of the dead." It is held by the law that the corpse, being the owner of itself before it becomes dead, possesses certain rights over the remains when it becomes a corpse. A person has the right orally or by will to direct what shall be done with his body after death. If these wishes are complied with, no "next of kin" can interfere and claim the body. The only difficulty is that if a person is eccentric his heirs or friends may not follow out his wishes, and then there does not seem to be any remedy. The corpse can't kick, and nobody else seems to have a right to.

One inalienable right belongs to the corpse, and the law will enforce that right. It is the right to six feet of ground to be buried in and the right of being buried. The common law, under certain conditions, places the duty of burying a corpse upon the person under whose roof the death took place. Such person not only must provide the grave, but must carry the body to it "decently covered." If there is a will or property, however, the law first places the duty of burying the body upon the executor or administrator, and in the absence of a will upon the next of kin. But if no next of kin or no administrator or executor is at hand the owner of the house in which the person dies is charged with the duty.

The law gives no civil remedy for the stealing of a body, for there is no property right in a corpse to give any one a right to recover in a court for violation of sepulture. The only party to such a suit would be the corpse itself, which is usually not litigiously inclined. Stealing a dead body, therefore, has always been indictable as a statutory misdemeanor and not a violation of property. But a civil action may be brought for breaking and entering the place where the body is buried, the same constituting a trespass, for which damages can be recovered. So also an action may be brought to recover the shroud and coffin, but not the corpse.

In cases regarding the removal of a body the law often has to interfere to protect the rights of the corpse. Such cases are decided by courts of equity. As no one can own any body except his own, so no one has a right to move a body from one grave to another unless the court grants permission, which is granted, when it is granted, presumably in behalf of the body itself.

Stealing a Court Secret.

Once when Justice W. of the United States supreme court reached Pittsburg on circuit a Mr. Wright entertained him. There was a case pending then in the supreme court which involved the values of two stocks. The decision was certain to make one of the stocks valueless and the other valuable. It was considered an even chance which way the decision would go. The lawyers in the case had settled it in their minds that if Justice B. were to write the decision it would be in their favor. The justice was noted for writing long decisions. The majority of the men on the bench at that time wrote briefly. Justice W. was entertained at dinner at Mr. Wright's house. After the dinner Justice W. became companionable and good natured.

In the midst of conversation about the court and its work Mr. Wright said to Justice W., mentioning the case in which he was interested, "I suppose that the decision in that case will be a long one, there being so many points involved." "As long as the moral law, my boy," said the old justice as he smiled benevolently upon his host. That was all that he said upon the subject. Mr. Wright, however, knew from this remark that it was the particular justice who wrote long decisions who was preparing the one in this case. This gave him the cue for the decision, and he bought stock based upon this judgment. It proved correct, and he gained exactly $200,000 from this careless remark of the too amiable justice.

Not Fordable.

During one of his expeditions in the Philippines General Lawton came across the trail of a party of Filipinos, which he followed for several days with a small body of troops. One day he and his staff reached the top of a small eminence and saw a river stretching below them but a short distance ahead. Turning to one of his aids, the general said, "Lieutenant, ride ahead and see if that river is fordable."

The lieutenant put spurs to his horse and soon entered the river. A few feet from the shore the bottom shelved off suddenly, and the horse was soon floundering in deep water. The lieutenant disengaged himself and swam to the shore, which the horse also reached in a short time. After a brief chase, to the amusement of the general and the staff, the horse was recaptured, and, mounting him, the lieutenant rode back. His khaki uniform was soaked and bedraggled, and the water spurted from the tops of his military boots at every jump of his horse. Riding up to the general, he gravely saluted and said, "I have the honor to report, sir, that the river is not fordable."

Lawton looked at him a moment trying to maintain the dignity of his position, but the situation was too ludicrous for him. He burst into a hearty laugh, in which the staff joined at the expense of the young lieutenant, who, however, tells the story on himself.

Bronchitis is now Epidemic.

Bronchitis is becoming very prevalent, but is not now incurable for Catarrhozone cures even the worst cases. Catarrhozone Inhaler sends the healing medicated air into every air passage in head, bronchial tubes and lungs; it reaches the germs and destroys them. Catarrhozone soothes and cures the dry cough and feverishness, and the laborious breathing and soreness in the wind-pipe are relieved at once. When Catarrhozone is inhaled, Bronchitis is cured in one to five days. It has been extensively used, and never once failed. Even cases of 5, 10 and 20 years standing that have baffelled the skill of the best physicians, have been cured by Catarrhozone. Your doctor can tell you that Catarrhozone is one of the grandest discoveries of the century, and that he always prescribes it for Bronchitis, Asthma and Catarrh. Get it to-day and be cured. Price $1.00; small size 25 cents, at druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

The King's Finger Bowl.

When a member of the royal family comes to dinner, it is a point of etiquette to provide none but the illustrious guest with a finger bowl at the end of the banquet. The other diners must get on somehow without that convenience.

The reason is a curious one. In early Georgian days one never knew who was loyal. Every other man might be a Jacobite in his secret heart. Now, it was a piece of Jacobite ritual whenever the toast of "The King" was drunk secretly to pass the goblet over any water that happened to be by the drinker. This was supposed to convert the toast into that of "The King Over the Water," the exiled Stuart at Rome or St. Germains.

On this becoming known the court insisted that there should be no water within reach of any guest, and the prohibition still holds.—London News.

NICK-NAMES FOR CITIES.

Terminology of a Few of Them Gathered in Canada From East to West—Some Topical Names.

Many of our towns have adopted topical names, or have had such forced upon them by a generous and observant public. Most of these require no explanation. A few of the cities and towns, with their supplementary titles, are as follows:

Toronto—The Queen City.
Ottawa—The Capital City.
Hamilton—The Ambitious City.
London—The Forest City.
Kingston—The Limestone City.
Brantford—The Telephone City.
Windsor—The Frontier City.
St. Thomas—The Railway City.
Chatham—The Maple City.
St. Catharines—The Garden City.
Guelph—The Royal City.
Stratford—The Classic City.
Belleville—The Bay City.
Woodstock—The Century City.
Peterboro—The Electric City.
Galt—Little Manchester.
Berlin—The German Town.
Cornwall—The Factory Town.
Goderich—The Salt Town.
Brockville—The Island Town.
Thorold—The Hill Town.

Going further east we have of course:

Montreal—The Royal City.
Quebec—The Rock City and also the Ancient City.
Halifax—The Garrison City.
Annapolis—The Bluenose City.
Charlottetown—The Island City.

Manitoba presents:

Winnipeg—The Prairie City.
Brandon—The Wheat City.

In the Territories:

Calgary—The Cattle City.
Vancouver—The Pacific City, and also the Western Liverpool.
Victoria—The Capital City.
New Westminster—The Royal City.
Nanaimo—The Coal City.
Kamloops—The Indian City.
Nelson—The City of Destiny.
Rossland—The Mining City.
Greenwood—The Smelter City.
New Denver—The American Lucerne.
Slocan—The Baby City.
Sandon—The Canyon City.
Kalso—The Lake City.
Revelstoke—The Railway City.

To this list a dozen other ambitious towns might with propriety be added, while the list for Canada would certainly be incomplete did it fail to include the northermost centre of population under the flag of Britain:

Dawson—The Klondike Capital, or City of Gold.

Didn't Marry for Money.

The Boston man, who lately married a sickly rich young woman, is happy now, for he got Dr. King's New Life Pills, which restored her to perfect health. Infallible for jaundice, biliousness, malaria, fever and ague and all liver and stomach troubles. Gentle, but effective. Only 25c at Jas. Lynch's drug store.

A Fish With Teeth on His Tongue.

The biggest of fresh water fishes, the "arapaima" of the Amazon, in South America, which grows to six feet in length, has teeth on its tongue, so that the latter resembles the file and is used as such. Some kinds of trout also have the same peculiarity. Fishes that swallow their prey entire have their teeth so supported on flexible bases as to bend backward, but not forward, in order that their victims shall not escape after they have been once seized. In ages gone by there were ferocious sharks, such as would make a mouthful of you without blinking, 70 feet in length.

Plenty of their teeth have been found which are five inches long, whereas the biggest of the teeth belonging to sharks that exist at the present day are 1½ inches long. Speaking of extinct creatures reminds me to say that all of the early birds—those of early geological times, that is—had teeth, with which they captured the early worms of the same period. Being descendant from reptiles, it is natural that they should possess a dental equipment, but when they ceased to be carnivorous they had no teeth any longer.

THE BEST HE EVER SAW.

A Missourian on the Farming Possibilities of Western Canada.

Just at present considerable interest is being aroused in the fact that a few new districts (of limited acreage) are being opened out by the Canadian Government in Saskatchewan and Assiniboia (Western Canada), and any information concerning this country is eagerly sought. Mr. W. R. Corser, of Higginsville, Lafayette Co., Mo., was a delegate there during last summer, and writing of his impressions he says:

"I found surprising yields of grain of all descriptions. One farmer I visited threshed of 175 acres:

"600 bushels of wheat from 15 acres, 40 bushels to acre.

"600 bushels of barley from 10 acres, 60 bushels to acre.

"15,000 bushels of oats from 150 acres, 100 bushels to acre.

"The samples were all No. 1.

"I also saw a considerable number of stock. Swine do well and there is no disease amongst them. They are a good source of income to the farmer. The cattle on the range beat anything I ever saw. Fat and ready for beef, fully matured and ripened on the nutritious grasses of the prairie. I am firmly convinced that this country offers better facilities for a poor man than any I have ever seen."

The Hostess' Funny Story.

"A very dignified young man took a seat in a smoking car," said the hostess, who joined in the after dinner story telling. "Near him were three traveling salesmen, well dressed, jolly fellows, one of whom suggested a game of cards, and the others agreed. They appealed to the young man to take part and make up a four handed game.

"'Thank you; I never play cards,' came the response to the invitation.

"'I am sorry for that. Will you have a cigar with us?' added the spokesman, producing his case.

"'I am obliged to you, but I never smoke,' replied the dignified young man.

"They thought they would jolly the young fellow out of dignity, so the leader produced a 'traveling companion' and asked:

"'As you do not play cards nor smoke you will not refuse to join us in a drink?'

"'I thank you, gentlemen, but I never drink.'

"With this a venerable man with ministerial aspect sitting in the seat behind the young man reached forward and tapped him on the shoulder.

"'I have heard what you have said to these men,' said the sedate old fellow, 'and I admire you for the stability of character which has enabled you to shun bad habits. I have a daughter in the parlor car, whom I should like to have you meet.'

"'I thank you, sir,' replied the young man, turning about and facing the gentleman, 'but the fact is I never intend to marry.'"

BLOOD POISON

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore Throat, Ulcers on the Tongue or in the Mouth, Hair Falling Out, Aching Pains, Itchiness of the Skin, Sores or Blotches on the Body, Eyes Red and Smart, Dyspeptic Stomach, Sexual Weakness—indications of the second stage. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time, only to break out again, when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over twenty years. No experiment, no risk—not a "patch-up," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited. We treat and cure Nervous Debility, Sexual Weakness, Chest, Blood Poison, Stricture, Varicocele, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, and all diseases peculiar to men and women.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

So I crossed the room and sat down in the chair nearest her. I vaguely wondered if at the distance she had seen the love in my eyes when I thought myself unobserved.

"I thank you for those lovely roses," she said, smiling and permitting me to press her hand.

"Don't mention it," I replied. It is so difficult for a man to say original things in the presence of the woman he loves. "I have great news for you. It reads like a fairy tale, you know; happy ever afterward, and all that."

"Ah!"

"Yes. Do you remember my telling you of a rich uncle who lived in the south?"

"Is it possible that he has left you a fortune?" she cried, her eyes shining.

"You have guessed it."

"I am very glad for your sake, Jack. I was beginning to worry about you."

"Worry about me?"

"Yes. I do not understand how a newspaper man can afford to buy roses four or five times a week—and exist." She had the habit of being blunt and frank to her intimate friends. I secretly considered it an honor when she talked to me like this. "I have told you repeatedly to send me flowers only once a week. I'll rather not have them at all. Last week you spent as much as $30 on roses alone. Mr. Holland does not do that for Ethel, and he has a million."

"I'm not Holland," I said. "He doesn't—that is—I do not think he"—Then I foundered. I had almost said, "He doesn't care as much for Ethel as I do for you."

Phyllis pretended not to note my embarrassment. The others came in then, and conversation streamed into safer channels.

When we entered the box at the opera, the curtain had risen. Phyllis and I took the rear chairs. They were just out of the glare of the lights.

"You are looking very beautiful tonight," I whispered lowly. I was beginning business early. There was no barrier at my lips.

"Thank you," she replied. Then with a smile, "Supposing I were to say that you were looking very handsome?"

"Oh," said I, somewhat disconcerted, "that would be rather embarrassing."

"I do not doubt it."

"And then it would not be true. The duty we men owe to a beautiful woman is constantly to keep telling her of it."

"And the duty we women owe to a fine looking man?" a rogue of a dimple in her cheeks.

"Is it to explicitly believe all he says regarding your beauty?" I answered, evading the question. "A man may tell a woman that she is beautiful, but a woman may not tell a man that he is fine looking—that is, in public."

"The terms are not fair."

"That may be true, but they make the wheels of the social organization run smoother. For instance, if I met a strange woman and she told me that I was handsome I shouldn't be able to speak again the whole evening. On the other hand, a beautiful woman after you say that you are delighted to meet her expects the very next remark to concern her good looks."

"Your insight is truly remarkable," she said, the dimple continuing its elusive maneuvers. "Hush, here comes Carmen!"

And our voices grew faint in the swell of melody. Mrs. Wentworth was entranced. Her daughter was fondly gazing at the back of her fiance's head. Phyllis had turned her face from me to the stage. As for myself, I was not particularly interested in the cigarette girl. It was running through my head that the hour had arrived. I patted my gloves for a moment, then I drew a long breath.

"Phyllis!" said I. There was a quaver in my voice. Perhaps I had not spoken loud enough. "Phyllis!" said I again.

She turned quickly and gave me an inquiring and at the same time nervous glance. "What is it?"

"I want to tell you something I have never dared to tell you till now," I said earnestly. The voice on the stage soared heavenward. "I love you. Will you be my wife?"

Ah, me! Where were those drooping eyelids, that flush, that shy, sweet glance, of which I had so often dreamt? Phyllis was frowning.

"Jack, I have been afraid of this," she said. "I am so sorry, but it cannot be."

"Oh, do not say that now," I cried, crushing my gloves. "Wait awhile. Perhaps you may learn to love me."

"Jack, I have always been frank to you because I like you. Do you suppose it will take me five years to find out what my heart says to any man? No. Had I loved you I should not have asked you to wait. I should have said yes. I do not love you in the way you wish. Indeed I like you better than any man I know, but that is all I can offer you. I should be unkind if I held out any false hopes. I have often asked myself why I do not love you, but there is something lacking in you, something I cannot define. Some other woman will find what I have failed to find in you to love."

I was twisting my gloves out of all recognition. There was a singing in my ears which did not come from the stage.

"Look at it as I do, Jack. There is a man in this world whom I shall love and who will love me. We may never meet. Then he shall be an ideal to me and I to him. You believe you love me, but the love you offer is not complete."

"Not complete?" I echoed.

"No. It would be if I returned it. Do you understand? There is in this world a woman you will truly love and who will return your love in its fullness. Will you meet? That is in the hands of your destinies. Shall I meet my ideal? Who knows? But till I do I shall remain an old maid."

I nodded wearily. A dissertation on affinities seemed ill timed.

"And now," she said, "this beautiful friendship of ours must come to an end." And there were tears in her eyes.

"Yes," said I, twisting and untwisting the shreds of my gloves. It seemed as though the world had slipped from under my feet and I was whirling into nothingness. "My heart is very heavy."

"Jack, if you talk like that," hastily, "you will have me crying before all these people."

Unfortunately Ethel turned and saw the tears in her cousin's eyes. "Mercy, what is the matter?" she asked.

"Jack has been telling me a very pathetic story," said Phyllis, with a pity in her eyes.

"Yes; something that happened tonight," said I, staring at the programme, but seeing nothing, nothing.

"Well," said Ethel, "this is not the place for them," turning her eyes to the stage again.

The concluding acts of the opera were a jangle of chords and discords, and the hum of voices was like the murmur of a faroff sea. My eyes remained fixed upon the stage. It was like looking through a broken kaleidoscope. I wanted to be alone, alone with my pipe. I was glad when we at last entered the carriage. Mrs. Wentworth immediately began to extol the singers, and Phyllis, with that tact which is given only to kind hearted women, answered most of the indirect questions put to me. She was giving me time to recover. The direct questions I could not avoid. Occasionally I looked out of the window. It had begun to rain again. It was very dreary.

"And what a finale, Mr. Winthrop!" cried Mrs. Wentworth.

"Yes, indeed," I replied. To have loved and lost, and such a woman, was my thought.

"The new tenor is an improvement. Do you not think so?"

"Yes, indeed." No more to touch her hand, to hear her voice, to wait upon her wishes.

"It was the most brilliant audience of the season."

"Yes, indeed," I murmured. Those were the only words I could articulate. The carriage rumbled on.

"Does Patti return in the fall?"

"Yes." Five years of dreaming and then to awake!

And then the carriage mercifully stopped.

Mrs. Wentworth insisted that I should enter and have some coffee. I had so few words at my command that I could not invent even a flimsy excuse. So I went in. The coffee was tasteless. I put in four lumps of sugar. I stirred and stirred and stirred. Finally I swallowed the contents of the cup. It was very hot. When the agony was past, I rose and made my adieu.

Phyllis came to the door with me.

"Forget what I have said," I began, fumbling the doorknob. "I suppose I was an ass to think that you might love me. They say that it is a malady. Very well. With a few prescribed remedies I shall recover."

"You are very bitter."

"Can you blame me," clicking the latch back and forth, "when all the world has suddenly grown dark?"

"There are other eyes than mine," gently.

"Yes, but they will light other paths than those I shall follow."

"Jack, you are too manly to make threats."

"That was not a threat," said I. "Well, I shall go and laugh at myself for my presumption. To laugh at yourself is to cure. There is no more wine in the cup, nothing but the lees. I'll have to drink them. A wry face, and then it will all be over. Yes; I am bitter. To have dreamed as I have dreamed and to awake as I have! Ah, well, I must go on loving you till"—

Phyllis came to the door with me.

"Till she comes," supplemented Phyllis.

"You wrong me. It is only in letters that I am versatile. Forgive my bitterness and forget my folly."

"Oh, Jack, if you knew how sorry I am! I shall forgive the bitterness, but I will not forget what you term folly. It's something any woman might be proud of, the love of an honest, dear, good fellow. Good night." She held her hand toward me.

"Good night," I said, "and God bless you!" I kissed the palm of her hand, opened the door and then stumbled down the steps.

I do not remember how I reached home. It was all over. My beautiful castle had fallen in ruins about my ears.

CHAPTER II.

In my bedroom the next morning there was a sad and heavy heart. The owner woke up, stared at the ceiling, then at the sun baked bricks beyond his window. He saw not the glory of the sun and the heavens. To his eyes there was nothing poetic in the flush of the distant church spires against the billowy cloud banks. The gray doves, circling about the chimneys, did not inspire him nor the twittering of the sparrows on the window ledge. There was nothing at all in the world but a long stretch of barren, lonely years. And he wondered how without her at his side he ever could traverse them. He was driftwood again. He had built upon sands as usual, and the tide had come in; his castle was flotsam and jetsam. He was drifting, and he didn't care where. He was very sorry for himself, and he had the blue devils the worst kind of way. Finally he crawled out of bed and dressed because it had to be done. He was not particularly painstaking with the procedure. It mattered not what collar became him best, and he picked up a tie at random. A man generally dresses for a certain woman's approval, and when that is no longer to be gained he grows indifferent. The other women do not count.

My breakfast consisted of a cup of coffee, and as the generous nectar warmed my veins my thoughts took a philosophical turn. It is fate who writes the was, the is and the shall be. We have a proverb for every joy and misfortune. It is the only consolation fate gives us. It is like a conqueror asking the vanquished to witness the looting. All roads lead to Rome, and all proverbs are merely signposts by which we pursue our destinies. And how was I to get to Rome? I knew not. Hope is better than clairvoyance.

Was Phyllis right when she said that I did not truly love her? I believed not. Should I go on loving her all my life? Undoubtedly I should. As to affinities, I had met mine, but it had proved a one sided affair.

Callisthenics

Are a benefit to healthy women. But to women who are suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex they are an injury. When there is weak back or bearing-down pains, sideache or other indications of womanly weakness, exercise can only aggravate the condition. The womanly health must be first restored before strength can be developed by exercise.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It does this by healing the womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It stops the drains that weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"When I first commenced using Doctor Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. George A. Strong, of Gansevoort, Saratoga Co., N. Y., "I was suffering from female weakness, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains, weak and tired feeling all the time. I dragged around in that way for two years, and I began taking your medicine. After taking first bottle I began to feel better. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of 'Pleasant Pellets,' also used one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Now I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice and the good your medicine has done me.

"I have a sister who is taking your medicine and it is helping her."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets promote regularity of the bowels, and assist the action of "Favorite Prescription." No other laxative should be used with Dr. Pierce's Medicines.

A Terrible Explosion

"Of a gasoline stove burned a lady here frightfully," writes N. E. Palmer, of Kirkman, Ia. "The best doctors couldn't heal the running sore that followed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve entirely cured her." Infallible for cuts, corns, sores, boils, bruises, skin diseases and piles. 25c at Jas. Lynch's.

VICTORIA CO. CHEESE BOARD

Tne First Sale for 1901 was Held Tuesday.

Fifteen Factories Boarded 914 Boxes of May Make.

The first sale of the Victoria County Cheese Board for 1901 was held Tuesday afternoon at 11 o'clock in the council chamber. President T. Robertson, Vice-President Sinclair, Treasurer Sandford and Secretary Shyne were present, and there was a good attendance of salesmen and patrons. The buyers were Mr. Jas. Whitton, Wellman's Corners, representing Thos. Watkins of Belleville; Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, Peterborough, buyer for Hodgson Bros., Montreal; Mr. A. E. Bailey, Campbellford, buyer for McGrath & Co., Belleville; and Mr. Wm. Flavelle, Lindsay.

President Robertson, in his opening remarks, expressed his pleasure at seeing so many familiar faces. He had confidently expected when the Board was organized, that by this time it would comprise many more factories, especially from the north, but instead of an increase, some had dropped off. He hoped those now on the list would remain and that the buyers would stick to them and do their best.

Mr. Clancy enquired if the buyers intended to make any distinction between factories returning whey and those that had abolished the practice. It was decided to "star" Pine Grove and Janetville, the two progressive factories in the last named list.

The following factories boarded the number of factories placed opposite:

THE BIDDING.

Mr. Whitton opened with an offer of 8 1-8c., Mr. Bailey called 8 1-4c., Mr. Fitzgerald raised to 8 3-8c., and Mr. Flavelle went the half.

Chairman Robertson — "That's good for the first round; take another like that."

Fitzgerald raised to 8 5-8c., Bailey to 8 11-16c., Fitzgerald 8 3-4c., and Whitton captured the selection by offering 8 13-16c. He named Red Rock, Bobcaygeon, Maple Leaf and Cameron, all accepting. Total, 323 boxes.

Mr. Bailey captured the second selection at Mr. Whitton's figures — 8 13-16c. He called Reaboro, North Ops, Janetville, Dunsford, Star and Pine Grove, all accepting but the latter. Total, 372 boxes.

Mr. Flavelle offered 8 3-4c. for a further selection and named Mariposa and Fenelon Falls, which refused.

President Robertson — "Five factories remain unsold; I think it would be well to clear the Board."

Mr. Fitzgerald — "I would advise a sale; a sixteenth is not much to split on."

The salesmen failed to respond to the hints, and after some discussion it was decided to adjourn till Monday, July 1st, at 9.30 a.m., and that hereafter the board will meet at 10 o'clock sharp in order that buyers may be able to get away on the early train, if necessary. Mr. Bailey promised to attend regularly if the rule was followed.

AN INSTRUCTOR ENGAGED.

President Robertson—"There is a matter we must settle before we adjourn. We have no instructor as yet, but we have Mr. Brown and Mr. Hall, local men, who are available when wanted. Some of the factories want an Association man while others do not."

Mr. Whitton (member of the Eastern Dairymen's Association) — "It rests entirely with yourselves; we have an Association man who can come here."

President Robertson — "I think we should have the Association at our back, but there were complaints about Inspector Ward."

Mr. Fitzgerald—"They were undeserved; he's a good man."

Mr. Whitton said that Instructor Lowrey of the Madoc, Campbellford, and Brighton District, had consented to visit Lindsay District, if wanted. The cost would be the same as last season, $10 per factory.

The salesman for Mariposa said the patrons of his factory were willing to agree to the decision of the majority, but they felt the Instructor should visit the factory in time to inspect the milk and cans.

The question was asked if a local Instructor would satisfy the buyers.

Mr. Whitton—"We'll have to be satisfied, I suppose; we're not pressing the appointment of an Instructor—we have work enough for our men. The Bancroft Board, just organized, has made application."

Mr. Brown said it was most important to have an instructer who would be backed up by the Association, but he should be able to come at once when a factory goes wrong. That was the great cause of complaint last season.

Mr. Whittonsuggested that a suitable local man might be called on in case of the association instructor happened to be in a distant part of the district when trouble arose. The association would see that the local man was paid.

President Robertson said it was unfair to insist that the instructor should visit every factory the regugular number of times. Some cheesemakers did not need him often, while others required extra instruction.

Mr. Whitton commended the statement as having the right ring—there should not be any specified number of visits per factory. When the instructor did not stop at a factory it was a compliment to the maker, as it showed he was doing good work. As for Mr. Hall, he (Whitton) had pretty nearly raised him, and could say that so far as the making of cheese was concerned he was as good as any.

The salesman for Bobcaygeon and Red Rock factories said they would not oppose the decision of the Board, but the patrons did not think an instructor was necessary.

Mr. Wm. Flavelle said the engagement of an instructor was right in principle. In monetary institutions an Examiner was considered necessary, the knowledge that he might drop in any minute to inspect the books having an effect that could not be attained in any other way. So in athletics,—the intructor was often little better qualified than some of his pupils, yet some one was needed to spur them on. It was the same in storekeeping and other lines of business. In connection with cheese factories a close inspection of the milk and the vessels was most important, and in correcting such abuses and dealing with offenders an official istructor would possess an influence that a local man would not have.

Mr. Whitton—"In Madoc, Campbellford and Brighton districts, where the milk is delivered in much better condition and at least three or four hours earlier than here, the patrons wouldn't think of doing without an instructor and apply for one every fall."

The salesman for Dunsford pointed that if it became known there was to be no instructor there was no telling what abuses whould be introduced. The cheesemaker as a rule did not wish to offend patrons and trouble would certainly follow.

Mr. Bailey—"It would be very poor policy for the Board not to engage an instructor—it would be going back instead of forward. He agreed with the statement that the instructors do not pay the attention to the cans, etc., that they should. He had followed in Mr. Whitney's footsteps as instructor, and some of the factories in Victoria would remember his visits yet, as he had taken up almost an entire week of the Police Magistrate's time pressing charges against patrons.

It was then moved by Mr. Clancy, seconded by Mr. Bee, that an association instructor be engaged at $10 per factory.—Carried unanimously.

Mr. Flavelle then suggested that Mr. Whitton call the instructor's attention to the complaints made last year with regard to faulty milk and cans, and Mr. Whitton promised to do so.

The Board then adjourned.

SOME FINE HORSES.

Great Sale of Western Horses on Saturday June 22nd.

On Saturday, June 22nd, people of Peterborough and surrounding district will have another opportunity of procuring first class horses, Mr. John King, the great Kansas stock man, will offer for sale at Kennedy's stock yards, Peterborough, about thirty well bred western horses.

The magnificent horses are colts from one year upwards, served by Kentucky trotting stallions, amongst them being a lot of well matched pairs and some splendid drivers.

Buyers need be under no misapprehension regarding these animals. They are gentle and docile, and are as easily broken as the native horses.

Mr. King has hundreds of testimonials regarding these horses, from those who bought from him before, amongst whom are Messrs. C. Stapleton, Alex. Elliott, Dr. Robinson, Peterborough; Rev. W. Bell, U. S. Government Veterinary Inspector, Kingston; W. M. Ross, Brockville.

On the day of the sale at three o'clock there will be given an exhibition of lassoing to which the ladies of the town are specially invited.

LETTER FROM MR. DOUGLAS.

The Story of the Capture of a South American Eagle.

Mr. John Babb, of town, received a letter this morning from Mr. John Douglas, of Atlanta, Georgia, stating that both he and his sister were enjoying good health, and that he himself tipped the scales at 218 pounds. The appended newspaper clipping was also enclosed:

"A South American black eagle, which has been making the lives of mothers in the vicinity of Jonesboro, Ga., one of continual dread and alarm for many weeks, was captured yesterday by Mr. John Babb, a farmer living a few miles out of town.

"The bird is of immense size, measuring from tip to tip of wings seven feet and three inches. Its weight is eighteen pounds, and the talons measure seven and a half inches from point to point, more than large enough for the eagle to reach around a man's neck.

"The bird has been lurking in the vicinity of Jonesboro since early in October.

"It seemed unaccustomed to its environments and apparently lost. As it made its appearance soon after the horrible storm which destroyed Galveston, it is believed that the eagle was blown over to the States by the West Indian hurricane.

"Almost everyone in Jonesboro was afraid of the eagle, so enormous and powerful did it look. Every one sought shelter when the bird made its appearance in a vicinity during the day and though several hunting expeditions were formed with a view to its extermination none were successful and the eagle continued to feast on lambs, pigs and other small animals which run wild around Jonesboro. Mothers were afraid it would carry off their children and kept them indoors.

"Yesterday Mr. Babb went out shooting, and while making his way through a grove of pine trees was startled by a loud noise like an immense bird flapping its wings against the limbs of a tree. Turning about he espied the eagle just as it fell to the ground, prostrated by its efforts. He gave it a blow on the head with the stock of his gun and bound it securely with a strap as it lay in a helpless condition. He took the bird to his home and placed it in a large cage."

HE SAID KIND THINGS

But the Mutes and Their Teachers Deserved All.

The Belleville Sun says: "The examinations in the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb were conducted this year by Mr. Duncan Walker, Inspector of Public Schools for the Town of Peterborough, who was so impressed with the work done in the institution that he thus expressed himself at a meeting of the pupils held to bid him good-bye:

"He had come to the institution expecting great things, and he had not been disappointed. Mr. Mathison had said in a jocular way that they had tried to hide all their faults from him, but he did not think they could do this to any great extent, because he did not think they had many faults to hide. Moreover it would be pretty hard to fool a man who had under his charge some 1,800 pupils, with whom he was in constant association as inspector. From the lowest to the highest class of the institution he had been pleased with the work done. He had found the pupils diligent in the class rooms, earnest in their efforts, and they had succeeded admirably in their work. Of course they were not perfect, if they were there would be nothing for them to learn, and there would be no need for them to come to school. So long as we live we must continue to learn, and that implied present imperfection. The conduct of the pupils in the class room, their great industry and zeal, and their evident affection for and confidence in their teachers proved that they knew what they came to school for, and were fully resolved to utilize their opportunities; and from what he could see he must say that they had a class of pupils of whom Mr. Mathison and the teachers might well be proud. He could also say that judging from the work done in the classes and from the evident interest they took in their work, and their pride and anxiety concerning their classes, the pupils might well be proud of their teachers. He could say nothing but praise for the work of both pupils and teachers. When he came everything was new, and he had learned a good deal himself, and so pleasant had been his visit that he almost felt as if he would like to stay there all the time. Some of the pupils are now leaving school to take their places in the world, and he knew they would always look back with love to this institution, and would realize the benefit of what they had learned here. He need not ask them to remember the lessons taught them, and he was sure they would do nothing in their after life that would cause them or their teachers to feel ashamed. He hoped that they would enjoy their holidays and come back again with the hope and purpose of doing even better than in the past. He again congratulated Mr. Mathison and the staff on the excellence of their work, and all of them seemed fully alive to their responsibility. Success in teaching depended on the results attained, and the results they had obtained here must be very gratifying to all concerned."

Albert Crandall, who creates a furore of merriment by performing a burlesque somersault riding act upon the back of a mule is one of Ringling Brothers' striking equestrian features.

HON. A. S. HARDY PASSES AWAY.

Attack of Appendicitis Proves Fatal to Ex-Premier.

HIS FAMILY AT HIS BEDSIDE.

A Brilliant Success at the Bar and a Long and Useful Career as a Minister of the Crown—Intimate Relations Between Mr. Hardy and His Constituents of South Brant.

Toronto, June 14.—Throughout the length and breadth of Canada to-day the announcement of the death of Hon. Arthur Sturgis Hardy, late Premier of Ontario, will be received with sincere and heartfelt sorrow. For almost a week Mr. Hardy has lain between life and death, following upon an operation for appendicitis performed early last Sunday morning. He had been perfectly conscious during the greater part of the time, and had borne his suffering with the greatest fortitude and cheerfulness.

There had been several rallies in his condition, and in the early part of the week there was even a faint hope of recovery, but this was quickly overcast. Yesterday Mr. Hardy sank rapidly, and was unconscious for some time before the end, which came at 10.08. The cause of death was given as paralysis of the heart, following upon the operation. Mrs. Hardy, Miss Gladys Hardy, the ex-Premier's daughter, and Dr. Hardy and Mr. A. C. Hardy, his sons, were present when death occurred.

Funeral arrangements were not definitely made last night, but the remains will probably be taken from the family residence, 86 St. Alban's street, on Saturday afternoon and conveyed to Brantford on the C. P. R. train leaving here at 4.40 p. m. If this arrangement is adhered to interment will take place in Brantford on Sunday afternoon.

Hon. Mr. Hardy had been ill since the last day in May, and was confined to his bed with appendicitis. Dr. McPhedran treated the case, but on Saturday night Mr. Hardy's condition rapidly changed for the worse. An abscess which had formed about the appendix had burst, and the patient began to sink. Dr. McPhedran requested his removal to the hospital, where at an early hour on Sunday morning the operation was performed by Dr. Cameron and Dr. F. N. G. Starr. Mr. Hardy rallied after the operation, but the attending physicians held out little hope of his recovery. The Superintendent of the General Hospital, Dr. O'Reilly, and his staff were unremitting in their attention to the case.

The death of Mr. Hardy will come as a shock to many who esteemed it an honor to be ranked among his friends. When he was forced by ill-health to retire from the Premiership of Ontario it was feared that he would not live many years, but the relief from the cares of office wrought such an improvement in his health that hope was revived, and it was thought that he might long enjoy the rest to which his quarter of a century of arduous public service entitled him. In him the Province, the Dominion, loses a man of the best type; upright, farseeing, resolute, eloquent, chivalrous, he was such a man as the youth of Canada might well emulate. An able lawyer, he abandoned the practice of his profession to devote his entire time to the task of Government. Had he continued to practice he would undoubtedly have stood at the head of the bar, a wealthy man. Choosing a political career, he won for himself the highest position in the gift of the people of Ontario, only to be forced by ill-health to abandon it and seek the repose of private life poorer than when he entered the Legislature, 26 years before.

Sketch of His Career.

Hon. Arthur Sturgis Hardy, K. C., was born Dec. 14, 1837, at Mount Pleasant, Ont. He received his education at the Mount Pleasant school and the Rockwood Academy, and studied law with his uncle, H. A. Hardy, and the late Chief Justice Harrison, in Toronto. Called to the bar in 1865, he began the practice of his profession in Brantford, where he was very successful, and was at one time Corporation Solicitor. He was appointed Queen's Counsel in 1876 by the Ontario Government, and elected a bencher of the Law Society the same year.

In 1878, Mr. Hardy entered political life, being elected in the interest of the Liberal party, to fill the vacancy caused by the election of the representative of South Brant, the late Hon. E. B. Wood, to the House of Commons. In 1877, he entered the Mowat Administration as Provincial Secretary and Registrar, and, in 1889, succeeded the late Mr. Pardee as Commissioner of Crown Lands in the same Administration. During the absence of Sir Oliver Mowat in Europe in May, 1895, Mr. Hardy was chosen to serve as Acting Premier and Attorney-General, and, on Sir Oliver joining the Laurier Administration in 1896, Mr. Hardy succeeded to the important post of Premier of Ontario, by choice of his colleagues. In the same year, he was appointed a Commissioner for the revision of the Ontario statutes.

Mr. Hardy always maintained a firm hold on the affections of his constituents, being returned at each recurring election by largely increased majorities. During his long term as member of the Legislature, he introduced about 150 public and private bills, nearly every one of which passed. In his second session, he introduced an important bill respecting railway traffic, which placed the relations of the railways towards shippers and public on an entirely different footing, by preventing a railway from setting up notice of a condition protecting itself against a suit for damages, where negligence could be established. He introduced several bills enlarging the jurisdiction of the Division Courts, carried through an act to reduce the number of grand jurors to 18, and reconstructed the Jurors' Act, reducing the number of jurors, whenever the County Judge found it necessary and stipulating that, in civil cases, ten jurors might give a verdict. In 1882, Mr. Hardy carried through the act establishing the Provincial Board of Health and appointing Dr. Bryce as secretary.

He simplified the acts relating to the administration of justice. As Commissioner of Crown Lands, he introduced bills giving representation to the Rainy River and Nipissing districts, and had largely to do with the Crown domain, free grants to settlers, the public timber and public parks, and the municipal and drainage laws. In fact, the enactments introduced and carried through by Mr. Hardy cover a wide range of legislation.

Owing to rapidly failing health, Mr. Hardy was compelled to relax somewhat the strenuous and arduous duties he had been performing, and, much to the regret of his party friends, gave up the post of Premier and Attorney-General in 1899. He was given the office of Surrogate Registrar of Ontario, at a salary of $3,500, which office he continued to fill until his death.

It was well known that in the stress of politics, Mr. Hardy had neglected to provide for old age and retirement, and, on the occasion of his withdrawing from the Government, some of his personal friends interested themselves in collecting a purse which would ensure the former Premier comfort and plenty in his retirement. The sum of $18,000 was subscribed in a short time and given to Mr. Hardy as a testimonial of the regard in which he was held by his party friends.

Mr. Hardy was a vice-president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in 1897, and, in the same year, received the honorary degree of LL. D. from Toronto University. He was a member of the Anglican Church. He took a deep interest in the proposed Victoria Organ Memorial, and presided at several meetings of the committee having the matter in hand.

In January, 1870, Mr. Hardy married Mary, the daughter of the late Mr. Justice Morrison, who, with a family of three sons and one daughter, survive him. They are: Arthur E. Hardy, a lawyer of Brantford; Dr. E. A. Hardy of Toronto and Joseph Hardy of Australia, and Miss Gladys Hardy.

STRIKE WILL BE ORDERED.

Unless President Shaughnessy Is Heard From by Noon To-Day.

Montreal, June 14.—President Wilson of the Trackmen's Association states that if he does not get an answer from the president of the Canadian Pacific by noon to-day he will order a strike that will affect 3,500 men.

Will Aid the Machinists.

Toronto, June 14.—This is intimated in the press despatch:

"Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has made this announcement to the Washington correspondent of The New York Herald:

"'The American Federation of Labor will aid the International Association of Machinists in every way within its power in its contest for the nine-hour day.'"

The Ottawa Strike.

Ottawa, June 14.—The prospects of an early settlement of the carpenters' strike are brighter as the men agreed to a meeting with the contractors. The latter yesterday sent a communication to the union men intimating a desire on their part for a conference. The contractors have appointed a committee of three, who met a similar number of representatives from the strikers last evening.

A Huckster's Skull Crushed.

Windsor, Ont., June 14.—A. Braham Kovensky, a huckster, was yesterday driving a wagon load of young lambs and chickens while half asleep in his seat. Suddenly the wheels struck a sharp elevation in the roadway and Kovensky was thrown out. The wagon was overturned and the cargo fell directly upon him. When picked up it was found that the unfortunate man's skull had been crushed in like an egg shell, death being instantaneous. Kovensky was 24 years of age and unmarried.

Reward of $400.

Toronto, June 14.—The Ontario Government has decided to offer a reward of $400 for the arrest and conviction of the man who threw the revolvers in the cab to Rutledge, Jones and Rice.

EXPENSES OF THE WAR

It Is Proposed to Make the Transvaal Largely Contribute.

A MINING TAX TO BE LEVIED.

Report of Sir David Barbour, Sent to Investigate in South Africa by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach — He Proposes 10 Per Cent. Tax on the Profits of the Mines.

London, June 14.—Sir David Barbour, whom the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, sent to South Africa to investigate the sources of revenue of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, with the view of estimating how much they should contribute toward the cost of the war, reports in favor of a 10 per cent. tax on the profits of the mines, yielding, on the basis of the profits of 1898, £450,000 yearly.

After paying this, Sir David Barbour considers the mines will be better off than before, as they will save £600,000 per year on dynamite, owing to the abolition of the monopoly in that commodity.

The Orange River Colony will be unable to pay for some years, to meet the ordinary cost of administration and pay its share of the cost of the constabulary.

"It cannot, therefore," says Sir David Barbour, "so far as can be foreseen at present, pay anything towards the cost of the war."

The Transvaal can, he thinks, two years after the conclusion of peace, begin, out of its ordinary revenue, to pay part of the cost of the war. He is unable now to estimate how much.

Sir David proposes also to apply all revenues derived from the sale of lands or mining rights to the war liquidation.

Will Levy $250,000,000.

New York, June 14.—A despatch to The World from London says:

The British Government has decided to levy a £250,000,000 on the Transvaal gold mines, to help pay the cost of the war.

Sir David Barbour, formerly Finance Minister of India, who was commissioned to report upon the available resources of the Transvaal, advised Colonial Secretary Chamberlain to levy $175,000,000 upon the mines. Mr. Chamberlain, after consultation with Lord Milner, increased the maximum to the amount stated.

This action, when it becomes known, is certain to cause consternation among the Rand stockholders, who fancied that the idea of taxing the mines, which are principally owned in England, had been abandoned.

As these very gold mines were the real underlying cause of the war, many have maintained that their British owners should be made to bear a large share at least of its heavy burden.

No Negotiations.

London, June 14.—A. J. Balfour, the Government leader, answering a question in the House of Commons yesterday, said there was no foundation for the rumors afloat of peace negotiations with the Boers. The Boer strength in the field was estimated to be 17,000 men.

The Germans Aroused.

Berlin, June 14.—The report of the British Transvaal Concessions Committee is severely condemned here by the whole press as being high-handed, and denying private property rights in war, against the practice and theory of all civilized nations. The German Government has instructed the German Embassy in London to protest against the gross wrong meditated against a large number of German stockholders in the Netherlands South African Railroad.

Famine at Johannesburg.

Chicago, June 14.—The Berlin correspondent of The Inter-Ocean sends the following:

The Magdeburg Gazette publishes a letter from Johannesburg which states that a famine is raging among the British and Boer population there. One day recently twelve Boer women and children in an encampment died of hunger and want. Entire families are dying of starvation.

Boer Uprising Threatened.

London, June 14.—The Evening Sun says that news has reached the Government that as soon as the news of the interview of Mrs. Botha and President Kruger reaches the Cape a signal will be given the various commados and a general and desperate uprising will ensue in the hope of obtaining better terms.

Kitchener has discovered the scheme, the paper states, and is taking every precaution to cope with the uprising, should one occur.

THE NORTHWEST ASSEMBLY.

Lieut.-Gov. Forget Assented to 34 Bills —Loyal Address to the King—State Liquor Traffic.

Regina, N. W. T., June 14.—The Northwest Assembly prorogued at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Lieut.-Governor Forget assenting to 34 bills.

Mr. McDonald's want of confidence motion was defeated by a vote of 18 to 5.

Mr. Elliott's plebiscite motion had all the essential clauses struck out, and a declaration in favor of State monopoly of the liquor traffic submitted.

A loyal address to King Edward was adopted on motion of Premier Haultain, seconded by Mr. McDonald, leader of the Opposition.

A resolution was unanimously passed asking the Government for a grant of land to each volunteer resident of the Territories who was engaged in the South African war.

WITH THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Change Proposed in the General Assembly as to Elders.

Ottawa, June 14.—At the Presbyterian General Assembly, this forenoon was devoted to initial business. Dr. Warden, the clerk of assembly, having been elected moderator, Rev. J. W. MacMillan of Lindsay was elected to serve as clerk for this meeting. The attendance of members was very large for opening day.

A very large number of ministers in Baptist, Methodist, Congregational, and Presbyterian Churches in other countries are making application to be received into the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Yesterday afternoon the General Assembly decided to send a remit to the Presbyteries to get their views regarding a proposal that elders be elected for stated terms, instead of for life, as at present. On a close vote the matter was referred to the Presbyteries.

The reports of the various colleges were taken up during the afternoon and the reports were satisfactory.

Last night the Home Mission report was taken up. The reports show that there are 109 mission fields, 251 preaching stations, with an average attendance of 11,423; the families numbered 2,808, the communicants 2,753. About $130 was granted to each field.

SCHOONER CZAR WRECKED.

Four Men Were Drowned and 66 Persons Had Fearful Experience.

St. John's, Nfld., June 14. The schooner Czar, bound for Labrador with fishermen and their families — 70 persons in all—was driven ashore on Cabot Island, on the north coast of Newfoundland, in a dense fog Sunday night.

A desperate struggle with the elements ensued, the men trying to land the women in the teeth of the gale. The latter were finally saved, but four men were drowned and six others were injured in the undertaking. Another schooner rescued them and landed them on the mainland. The Czar became a total wreck, and those on board of her lost all their belongings.

Killed by a Train.

Guelph, June 14.—An excursion train running to the Agricultural College yesterday from Waterloo County struck and instantly killed Mr. Thomas Shaw of Hespeler at a crossing at Breslau. Mr. Shaw was a member of the County Council of Waterloo, and was on his way to attend the monthly session. He was directly on the crossing when the train struck his carriage, smashing it to atoms, and instantly killed Mr. Shaw and his horse. Deceased was about 45 years of age, and leaves a widow, but no family.

He was president of the Conservative Association and a likely candidate of the next Provincial elections.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N.Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Jas. Lynch. Trial bottles free.

ONTARIO PLATFORM.

Hon. G. W. Ross at Lyn, in Brockville Constituency.

A FAIR POLICY PROPOSED.

Making the Most of Ontario's Advantages —Progress All Round—Settling the Vacant Lands, Extending Railways, Encouraging Agriculture and the Export Trade—Finances of the Province.

Brockville, June 14.—With a policy proved rich in fulfilment and promising even greater results in the future, Hon. Geo. W. Ross addressed the electors of the riding of Brockville yesterday in the first meeting of his summer campaign. A story of remarkable expansion and development, his recital of work accomplished since assuming office was a proof of the Premier's strenuous efforts in the interests of the people. For the future his main aim will be again directed toward the settlement of the vast regions to the north, so far as a Government may, towards the comfort and prosperity of the residents of the whole Province.

The Platform Announced.

The Premier announced the platform on which he intended again to seek the confidence of the electors, which is summarized as follows: (1) Early settlement of unoccupied lands. (2) Home manufacture of forest and mineral products. (3) Increasing our agricultural wealth by means of improved methods. (4) Extension of trade with Britain in all natural products. (5) Perpetuation of our forest wealth. (6) Better highways and the removal of tolls. (7) Regulation of railway rates on and ultimate control of all railways subsidised. (8) Development of the Province and relief of the taxpayers by use of public revenues. (9) Revision of laws as may be required and enforcement of laws affecting public morality. (10) Maintenance of independence of Legislature, as guardian of constitutional rights of the Province. (11) Sound principles of education in courses of instruction in all schools and colleges.

ANDY EPPERSON'S RAZOR.

A Prisoner's Desperate Attempt to Kill the Presiding Judge.

Chatham, Ont., June 14.—Andy Epperson, convicted on the charge of wounding his mistress, as soon as the verdict of guilty was recorded, made a leap from the prisoner's dock in the court room here, and endeavored to kill Presiding Judge Bell with a razor. After the usual questions had been asked of the jury, and the foreman said "Guilty," Epperson made a leap from the box and rushed to the table directly in front of the judge. There he secured a razor, one of the exhibits in the trial of his case. Bailiff Cape jumped at him, but Epperson brushed him aside. In an instant lawyers and spectators began to scatter. The judge, pale with fright, cried "seize him, seize him." The enraged man swore at those who sought to get near him, and all were endeavoring to keep clear of his razor. Finally he knocked Cape to the ground, and in doing so stumbled. A dozen jumped on him, and a young law student, R. L. Brackin, seized the hand with the razor in it and wrenched the weapon from him. He was quickly overpowered and was removed to the cell.

PITIFUL CASE OF A LITTLE GIRL.

Child at the Age of Two a Crippled Victim of Disease.

Edna Rathburn of Hampstead, N.B., Fell and Broke two Ribs—Injured the Kidneys and Diabetes Developed—Dodd's Kidney Pills in Curing Kidneys Straightened Injured Spine.

Hampstead, N.B., June 12, (Special).—Little Edna Rathburn of this place has had a sad experience for a child so young. She is now nearly eleven years old. Eight of her few short years have been passed under the saddest cloud possible in life.

At the age of two the child met with an accident which left her with two ribs broken, split off at the backbone. Though they were set and healed her body did not straighten. For eight years she could hardly walk, being almost doubled up. The accident affected her kidneys and diabetes set in. Diabetes is a particularly dangerous form of kidney trouble, in this case particularly severe by nature of the injuries to the spine.

The family doctor was, of course, consulted. He diagnosed her case correctly but couldn't cure it. She was sent to the Public Hospital at St. John, in the hopes that the greater skill and facilities there would avail. They could do nothing for her. The authorities advised the mother to take the child home to nurse her and give her good care while she lived, which would not be very long.

The suffering of the little one was heartrending to the mother and friends. She cried with pain night and day. The mother grew desperate and determined she would find a cure for her child if it took every cent she possessed.

She saw Dodd's Kidney Pills advertised and immediately purchased some. From the first they were beneficial. The little girl commenced to get better. Every day saw an improvement. Dodd's Kidney Pills were doing the work. Six boxes in all were used and once more diabetes was conquered.

Not only that but with the return of health the spine commenced to straighten. The little girl is now almost physically perfect. Says the grateful mother in her words:

"There is nothing to be compared to Dodd's Kidney Pills. We thank God we ever heard of them. Edna is now full of colour, runs and plays about as smart as a whip, where once she was a puny little thing as pale as a ghost."

Ontario Medical Council.

Toronto, June 14.—Dr. Roddick, M. P. of Montreal, laid his views respecting a Dominion Medical Registration Board before the Ontario Medical Council yesterday morning. Drs. Britton, Roome, Sullivan, Bray, Moorehouse, Thorburn and Alexandra were appointed a committee to report upon Dr. Roddick's proposals. The afternoon meeting of the Council was entirely taken up by the Sheppard case, which resulted in Dr. Sheppard's name being ordered stricken from the register.

TORONTO'S LOCAL HISTORIAN

Notable Figure in the Early Life of That City Passes Away.

SKETCH OF REV. DR. SCADDING

End of a Useful Life—He Was Nearly 90 Years Old When He Died—Career of a Famous Canadian and Veteran Clergyman Whose Life Was as a Benediction to Many.

One of the most notable figures in the early life of Toronto and the oldest Anglican clergyman in the diocese passed away recently in the person of Rev. Henry Scadding, D.D., who died at his residence, 6 Trinity square. Dr. Scadding, who would have been 88 years old had he lived until July, had been confined to his room since the middle of January, the trouble being a gradual decay owing to extreme old age. He was sleeping quietly when those who were watching in the room were aroused by the extreme stillness, and upon going to the bedside it was found that the aged minister of the Gospel, and historian, had finished his course and had peacefully passed away. Mrs. Scadding died in 1843, and one daughter, Mrs. Sullivan, and several grandchildren survive.

John Scadding, the father of the late Rev. Dr. Scadding, came to York in 1793 with Major-General (afterwards Governor) Simcoe, having been factor to the latter on his Devonshire estates. In 1796 John Scadding obtained from the Government a grant of the whole of lot No. 15, on the east bank of the Don, consisting of about 250 acres, with a broken front on the lake. In the same year he returned to England with Governor Simcoe. The late Dr. Scadding was born at Dunkeswell, Devonshire, in 1813, and in 1821 joined his parents, who had returned to York. His father died in 1824 from injuries inflicted by the falling of a tree.

Dr. Scadding received his early education at Upper Canada College, being the head boy of the institution in the first year of its existence, 1830. In 1833 he was appointed a King's scholar, which entitled him to a free course at an English university. He proceeded to St. John's College, Cambridge, where he took a deep interest in the religious and educational movements which were then stirring the best thought of England. Graduating B.A. in 1837, he returned to Canada in 1838, and at once entered into the activities of his country. He became classical master in Upper Canada College, and was the first incumbent of Holy Trinity Church, holding these important posts for over a quarter of a century, until ill-health compelled him to relinquish them. In the meantime (1840) he had proceeded to his M.A. degree. In 1852 he revisited Cambridge and received the degree of D.D., and in 1867 was admitted D.D. (comitalis causa) at Oxford.

Dr. Scadding was rightly termed the historiographer of York, and his labors in that respect have been invaluable. While editor of the Journal of the Canadian Institute he contributed in serial form his "Toronto of Old, or Collections and Recollections, Illustrative of the Early Settlement of Canadian Life in Ontario." To this class of work he devoted himself with rare industry and enthusiasm. His "Four Decades of York, Upper Canada," formed the first part of Dent's memorial volume, entitled "Toronto, Past and Present" (1884). He also edited, with G. M. Adam, another memorial volume in 1891, entitled "Toronto, Old and New—Historical, Descriptive and Pictorial," designed to mark the 100th anniversary of the passing by the British Parliament of the Constitutional Act of 1791. Of his other writings, the best known are: "Shakespeare—the Seer—the Interpreter" (1864); "Truth's Resurrections" (1865); "The First Bishop of Toronto, a Review and a Study" (1868); "A Memoir of King's Coll., Toronto" (1887); "Early Pioneer Life in Canada" (1887); "Some Lapsed Names in Canadian Local Nomenclature" (1897); "Seneca's Prophecy and Its Fulfillment; a Memorial of A.D. 1897, the 400th Anniversary of the sighting of the northeast coast of North America by John and Sebastain Cabot, sailing under a commission from Henry VII., King of England."

Dr. Scadding from 1870 to 1876 held the presidency of the Canadian Institute. He was the first president of the York Pioneers, and one of the founders of that body. In 1885, in acknowledgment of his literary services, he was awarded the Confederation medal by the Governor-General-in-Council.

In his introduction to the volume, "Toronto, Old and New," Dr. Scadding said:

"There ought to be in every county of the province a pioneer and historical society, formed for the purpose of collecting and preserving characteristic sayings, doings, dress, and demeanor of the first founders of settlements and communities amongst us. Such societies will occasionally be found convenient supplements to the ordinary registry office. While the latter preserves its minute record of the division and sub-division of the soil and of the transfer of portions of its surface from hand to hand, the former will often preserve the memory of men who, by the sweat of their brow, earned the first implement of market value for that soil, who sometimes at an early period became ornaments of the acres which they tilled, gracing their respective neighborhoods with characters of high moral excellence and great usefulness, and augmenting the fair fame of the community at large."

It is needless to add that Dr. Scadding, by these researches, which were to him a labor of love, proved the value of his own advice.

The long evening of his life was spent in peaceful retirement. With unimpaired mental faculties, he continued to take an active interest in affairs, and to pursue his congenial studies to the last. In his quaint old home, he had an uncommon accumulation of literary and historical bric-a-brac, including rare specimens of early topography, paintings, engravings, etc. He also had a fine numismatic collection. He was a patriot of the highest type, among citizens his name is coupled with those expressions of admiration and respect due to one who, through long years, has worked indefatigably for the glory and good of the land of the maple leaf.

Begin The Day By Using

Malt Breakfast Food.

The use of Malt Breakfast Food at the morning meal contributes to energy, health and happiness, and enables you to combat successfully with the toils and labours of the day. It is unequalled for the brain worker, and sustains the strength of the muscle user. It is as cheap as ordinary oatmeal but vastly more nutritious and health-giving. Ask your grocer for it.

A Set-Back For Khaki.

Ottawa, June 13.—There is great heart-burning in the 43rd Regiment over General O'Grady-Haly's order for the corps to turn out for inspection in dark serge uniforms. Last year, at great expense, the regiment fitted itself out in khaki, and the innovation was regarded with such favor that the corps was recruited to a number far above the ordinary strength. The regiment has only a few serge uniforms in store, and if prohibited from wearing khaki at the inspection will not make a good numerical showing on parade.

Indians Are Restless.

Helena, Mont., June 13.—It is reported from Red Lodge, Mont., that serious trouble is feared with the Arapahoe Indians, on the Shoshone Reservation, just across the line in Wyoming. The reds have openly defied the authorities, and are preparing for the barbarous sun dance. State militia have been ordered to the scene, and should arrive there today. The Indians are said to be in an ugly mood, and outnumber the white ten to one.

Fulford's Remains Buried.

London, Ont., June 13.—The remains of Robert Fulford, murderer and suicide, were buried yesterday morning at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Robert McCord, father-in-law and uncle of Fulford and husband of the woman slain by the dead man, was at the grave side.

C. P. R. Trackmen.

Montreal, June 13.—The Committee of the C. P. R. trackmen had a conference with Mr. Shaughnessy, the President, yesterday. What took place has not yet transpired, but the impression is that the whole matter will be amicably arranged.

Child Burned to Death.

Moncton, N. B., June 13. — A 3-year-old child of John A. Jones of Pellet River was burned so badly on Sunday as a result of its clothes taking fire, that death ensued yesterday.

Brockville, June 13.—Two thousand six hundred and eighty colored and 1945 white cheese were offered on Brockville Board to-day. Bidding was spirited, and rose from 9¼c to 9¾c in a few moments. There was a new face among the buyers to-day in the person of Mr. A. J. Brice of Montreal, who, with Mr. Bissell, bought everything offered on the board at 9¾c for white and colored.

It's the Baby.

If you lose a pound in flesh it doesn't matter much. But if it's the baby it may mean everything. There is no food in the world equal to Scott's Emulsion for making thin babies plump. If you have a thin baby in the house you'll be surprised to see how it will thrive on this nourishing and fat-forming food.

A Mistake.

"I've horribly misjudged my new neighbor," said Mrs. Van Sickle.

"Really?" said Mrs. Jones.

"Yes. The first day she hung out her washing I sent little Bessie to peek through a hole in the fence to see what kind of clothes the family had."

"Well?"

"Bessie reported that they were perfectly lovely."

"Ah!"

"And now it turns out that she does washing for other people."

And the good woman picked up a magazine and tried to seem absorbed in an examination of the half tone productions of "great paintings of the century."

Bargains in Shorey's Make of Clothing.

The pre-eminent position which the high-class clothing made by Messrs. H. Shorey & Co., of Montreal, holds with the people of Peterborough, is the reason why so much of it is sold by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. The representative of the house made a special visit to Peterborough last week and closed out to H. LeBrun and Co. a very choice selection of Shorey's high-class summer suits for men, young men, boys and children at a reduction of about one-fourth off wholesale prices. Shorey & Co. are preparing for their winter work and made Mr. LeBrun a tempting offer, which the people of Peterborough will get the benefit of. These suits will be sold at one-fourth less than regular prices. They consist of well-tailored garments in fine black worsted, serge and extra tweed. Every suit has a ticket in the pocket of the coat guaranteeing that if anything goes wrong it will be made right. Messrs. LeBrun & Co. also secured a great snap in trousers for working men and for fine wear, which are to be sold at a similar reduction. H. LeBrun & Co.

SLOW, BUT GOOD.

Is What Mr. Schreiber Says Concerning the Work on Local T. V. C. Section.

A despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Globe says:—Mr. Schrieber, Deputy Minister of Railways, has returned from inspecting the construction works in connection with the Trent Valley and Galops Canals and the harbour improvements at Port Colborne. He gives the following account of his trip:—On the Peterborough section of the Trent Canal the contractors, Messrs. Corry & Laverdue, are making very slow progress, but their work is substantial and good. Messrs. Brown, Love & Aylmer have practically completed their contract on the Lakefield section, there only remaining a small quantity of rock in the Otonabee River to be dredged. Mr. Onderdonk, contractor for No. 2 section, Balsam Lake, has completed the work, with the exception of a few hundred dollars' worth of clearing up. Messrs. Larkin & Sangster, contractors for No. 3 section, Balsam Lake, have their contract well in hand. They shortly propose commencing concrete work for the piers and abutments of some of the bridges over their section of the canal. Messrs. Brown & Aylmer contractors for Lake Simcoe section, have done a considerable quantity of earth excavation, and have made preparations for the delivery of sand and stone for concrete work.

The Los Angeles Daily Times says: "Arthur A. Kohn of New York, and R. H. Bradburn, of Peterborough, Canada, brought in twenty one barracuda, three yellowtail and six bass yesterday forenoon."

Mr. Percy Jameson, son of Mr. F. J. Jameson, intends leaving to-morrow morning for Lethbridge, N.W.T., where he will enter the service of the Bank of Montreal. Percy has been up until the present time attending the Collegiate Institute and judging from the send-off given him by his class-mates, yesterday afternoon, he must have been exceedingly popular with the boys of the Collegiate. After school he was presented with a beautiful fountain pen and a souvenir pin accompanied by a neatly worded address, in which the boys expressed their regret at his leaving the class and wished him success in the West. The same evening at the business meeting of the Young Men's Bible Class of St. Luke's Church, Percy, who was treasurer of the class, was the recipient of a hearty vote of thanks for the services he has so efficiently rendered and the members of the class joined in their expressions of hope that he would have every prosperity in the financial world in which he has embarked.

RINGLING BROS' CIRCUS IS HERE.

And has Attracted Thousands of People to Town

A MAGNIFICENT PROCESSION.

The Finest Ever Seen in Peterborough—The Elephants in Line—Twenty in Number—The Menagerie

Excursionists from lake, river and railway points came pouring into the town to-day in vast numbers to see Ringling Brothers' circus. At an early hour this morning all the small boys of the locality hastened to the G. T. R. station and took great delight in watching the unloading of chariots, dens, carriages, etc., and watching the life and activity that only a vast show that is made up of 1,000 men, women and children, over 500 horses, 100 cages, floats, etc., and hundreds of trained and wild animals can produce. The circus outfit was conveyed to town from Belleville by five trains, drawn by eleven engines.

George, Water, Charlotte and all the streets, were lined with thousands of people, who watched the procession with the greatest interest. It left the Fair Grounds about 10 a.m., and was certainly a gorgeous and stupendous display. It was viewed by thousands, all the vantage points in the way of windows, balconies, etc., being occupied. The parade itself was blocks in length, and yet was quite compact. In the way of animals, bands, attractive special features, richly gowned horsemen and horse women, and golden chariots, contained all that was worth seeing. The display of horses was large, and consisted of some splendid specimens. There were 20 elephants in line as well as camels and numerous caged animals. The specialties were too numerous to begin to mention. The parade was orderly, devoid of the rough element and is considered to be the best ever seen in the town.

The city beneath the canvas opened its doors to the many thousands at two o'clock this afternoon. One of the peculiar features is the great variety and almost absolute perfection in every respect of the menagerie. With Ringling Bros. is a band of musicians whose music compares favourably with many high-class orchestras. The historic small boy was not needed to fill the great tent. It was filled to over-flowing. The show itself was one of the finest ever seen here. In its completeness, smoothness of operation, and the novelty of innumerable acts the performance is a wonderful revelation. It would be hard to find a greater company of clever clowns than that which entertained the vast audience. There were forty of them and they caused the tent to ring with the heartiest and most genuine laughter.

In the rings the equestrian acts and bareback riding were marvellous and at times approached absolute perfection. The flying trapeze artists and the slack wire performers gave a novel and exceedingly clever exhibition of thrilling and at times dangerous feats. The slack wire performance of the three Holloways was a prime feature. One of the trio, a young woman, turns handsprings upon a slender steel cord with as much grace as though performing on the stage floor. Among the notable features are Miss Amelia Feeley, a lady rider, the Garcinetti, a troupe of nine Italian acrobats, the Da Coma Aerialists, and John Rooney, champion bareback rider.

The trained animal features were most interesting, especially the thirty elephants who performed in the one ring. They stood on their heads, played on handorgans, drums and mouth-organs, and performed wonderful feats. John O'Brien's great creation in the arena, in which he in one ring controlled 61 horses, can not be duplicated.

Thirty-five thousand people attended the circus at Ottawa and concerning the same the Citizen speaks thus:

"The circus which exhibited in Ottawa Monday deserves special mention as possessing probably the most orderly, respectable looking employees of any aggregation of the sort that has ever visited Canada. It spent Sunday here, so Ottawa people had an opportunity of judging of its character. It is also pleasant to be able to bear testimony to the fact that the performance and meanagerie were as much superior to the general average of circuses as were the personnel and management of the show."

THE COLTS WON

In a Game of Cricket Against the Grove Eleven, of Lakefield.

The Grove Cricket Team, of Lakefield, visited Peterborough yesterday afternoon and played a game with the local Colts. The Colts were successful in defeating them by three runs. The Peterborough boys enjoyed the game very much and are becoming very enthusiastic in this line of sport. Only one innings was played. The score was as follows:

TOWN COUNCIL'S REGULAR MEETING

The Wm. Hamilton Co'y Will Divert the Course of the Creek.

TOWN WILL ASSIST THEM.

And Thereby Save the Cost of Erecting a New Bridge—A Big Batch of Communications Were Cleared off the File.

At the regular meeting of the town council last evening there were present Mayor Donne and Ald. Best, Corkery, Shortly, Batten, Clinkscale, Rush, Roger, Edgcumbe and Sawers.

COMMUNICATIONS

From Town Solicitor Edwards, enclosing bylaw to appoint assessors and a bylaw to provide for the diversion of the stream across Reid and McDonel streets and for an agreement with the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. in respect thereto; also a bylaw to confirm bylaws Nos. 928, 939 and 941, and to consolidate the debentures thereto authorized.—Received.

From S. R. Armstrong, town clerk, returning officer, giving the number of votes polled for the bylaw to aid the Peterborough Shovel Co., Limited, as 274 against 11, leaving a majority of 263 in favour of the by-law.—Received.

From John Giles, A. Brown and 25 other ratepayers praying that a pipe sewer be laid on Charlotte street from Park street westward to a point opposite the western limit of lot 56.—Board of Works with power to act.

Mayor Donne represented the need of a sewer on Charlotte street to be imperative stating that no relief was afforded by the drain which was constructed last year.

A number of declarations as to ownership of property on Charlotte street by petitioners for the sewer were also submitted.

From Town Solicitor Edwards re. Martin vs. Peterborough as follows: "The third party, Mr. W. H. Bradburn arranged a settlement of this case with the palintiff upon the basis of paying her $150 in full settlement of her claim, the several parties paying their own costs. I had previously discussed this matter with the solicitor for Mr. Bradburn and informed him that I thought the Town would agree to pay $50 of the $150, but that I had no authority to offer that amount. Under the circumstances it appears to me not unreasonable that the Town should without admitting any liability, agree to pay the sum of $50 towards the settlement rather than have a prolonged litigation over the case. In this connection I beg leave to call attention to the necessity for the strict enforcement of the bylaw which was recently passed prohibiting the discharge of water, snow or ice from adjoining properties upon the street or sidewalk. Had it not been that in this case the water was discharged from the building of Mr. Bradburn in such a way as to flow upon the sidewalk and form ice there in direct contravention to the bylaw, I feel quite confident no liability could be attached to the town."—Referred to Finance Committee with power to make payment.

The Town Solicitor re Ormond & Walsh vs. Peterborough, as follows: "I have, as instructed by the Legal Committee, arranged with Mr. Dennistoun for a settlement of this case upon the basis of the town, paying $50 and undertaking to make all reasonable efforts to avoid the accumulation of water at the corner adjoining the plaintiffs premises.—Referred to Board of Works.

From ratepayers on Parnell street petitioning to have a drain constructed there.—Referred to Board of Works with power to act.

From Mrs. L. Ensign, asking an adjustment of her assessment whereby she believes herself to have been doubly taxed.—Referred to Court of Revision.

From Clarke Allen, B. F. Ackerman and T. Rutherford stating they were not liable for assessment for dog tax.—Court of Revision.

From R. Sheahy, requesting the council to pass his account of fifteen per cent. held back on last contract.—Referred to Board of Works.

From T. Knowlson, town clerk of Lindsay, asking, as instructed, if Peterborough would rent Lindsay the road roller.—This request was refused as the roller is in use every day.

From John Bell asking permission to put in a drain to carry the overflow from a cistern near his residence on Park street.—Referred to Board of Works with power to act.

From R. C. Braund asking that a sidewalk be constructed on the west side of Park street from Reid street to Albert street, 250 feet.—Referred to Board of Works.

From Hatton and Bradburn, claimants solicitors re. arbitration, Morrow vs. Peterborough, stating that the extension of time as asked by the town in this matter to enable the latter to lay a pavement on Brock and George street corners had almost expired, the town had taken no active steps to put the pavement in place. As the time remaining was scarcely sufficient to enable the arbitration to make their award, the claimant was forced to proceed with the arbitration.—Received.

From A. B. Cunningham, for permission to lay a private drain from his residence on Reid street to run 150 feet on the said street to Charlotte street and there connect with the sewer.—Referred to Board of Works.

From Magistrate Dumble suggesting that the council grant one Trombly the sum of $20, the amount of fine imposed upon John McFarlane for assault last fall on Trombly, who, as a result had his leg broken and has since been unable to support himself.—Finance Committee with power to act.

From T. A. S. Hay, Secretary of the Historical Society, asking on behalf of that institution a grant of $50 towards the cost of purchasing cases and fitting up Victoria Museum.—Received.

From John Montgomery explaining that he had been laid off work at the fire hall for a few days as the result of a cold caught while taking the place of a fireman. He asked to be allowed his full month's pay in full.—Referred to Finance Committee with power to act.

From W. G. Ferguson pointing out an error in his assessment and asking to have it rectified.—Court of Revision.

From residents of Albert street asking to have that thoroughfare improved.—Referred to Board of Works.

From the Secretary of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council enclosing a copy of the order respecting the proposed G.T.R. gates on Simcoe and Charlotte streets.—Received.

From A. Stevenson, secretary Town Trust Commissioners, respecting an arrangement for the issue of debentures made in 1899 with the chairman of the Finance Committee of the Town Council.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From T. A. S. Hay, Town Engineer, suggesting that the public be notified as to the amendment to the building bylaw requiring permits for the erection of buildings within the fire limits.—Referred to the Property Committee.

From W. H. Bradburn, executor of the estate of the late Thomas Bradburn, stating that as the proposed sewer on London street would not be of benefit to lots 10, 11 and 12, south of London and west of George street, he would object to said lots being assessed for frontage tax.—Referred to the Board of Works to take necessary action on the advice of the Town Solicitor.

From Mrs. W. Howden, requesting the indulgence of the council in regard to the payment of taxes which she and her husband were unable to pay.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From the George Matthews Company, Limited, requesting a reply to their petition with reference to a siding, as the size of a building which they propose erecting in Belleville would depend on a measure whether they have direct connection with the Grand Trunk at Peterborough.—Received.

From Sarah Drake requesting a remission of her taxes, which she was unable to pay.—Referred to Court of Revision.

From Mrs. Thornton, pointing out the necessity of a hydrant on Rubidge street between King and Sherbrooke streets.—Referred to Board of Works.

From Edgar Willis, secretary of the Board of Trade, Toronto, enclosing a circular seeking co-operation of civic bodies in developing Canadian old home week, beginning June 30.—Received.

From A. McDonald, stating that it was not a siding from the G.T.R. he wanted to cross George street, but for his lumber cars from his mill into his yard west of George street, said cars to be operated by horses.—Received.

From John Watt, asking for adjustment of assessment.—Received.

From W. E. McCall, requesting that he be permitted to use for a few months a building he had erected at the rear of his blacksmith shop without regard to the provisions of the town bylaw.—Received.

THE BOARD OF WORKS

reported through its chairman, Ald. Best, as appended:

1. Your Board received an application from the Peterborough Light and Power Co., asking to be permitted to make some changes in their pole line on George street, moving some poles so as to equalize the distances and to substitute new poles for old ones, the number of poles not to be increased, and the changes in positions of poles to be made subject to the approval of the Town Engineer. We recommend that the application be granted.

2. While your Board is anxious to do all it can to facilitate manufacturing and to assist manufacturers, it regrets that it cannot recommend that the application of the George Matthews Co. for a siding along George street be granted, as such a siding on a thoroughfare like George street is, would not only be an inconvenience but very dangerous.

3. Mr. Samuel Kennedy offered to crush such stone as the town required with the town crusher, and to furnish all labour to move the stone, and crush it, and keep up the ordinary repairs, the town to take the crushed stone away, for $1.50 per cord. Your Board accepted the offer and gave instructions that an agreement be prepared and that as soon as it was signed by Mr. Kennedy that he should go to work. We recommend that this be confirmed, and that he be paid on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

4. Your Board received a letter from the William Hamilton Mfg. Co., in regard to the diversion of the stream that crosses McDonel street at Downie street, and asking that the town give them a grant, as the diversion which they proposed to make would save the town the expense of rebuilding and maintaining a bridge on Reid street, and they offered at the same time to build the culvert on McDonel street, and do the filling required on the present course of the stream. Your Board gave instructions to the Town Solicitor to prepare a Bylaw to give the company a grant of $1,700 towards the work.

5. Your Board recommend that a claim against the late Dr. King for $3.45 be withdrawn and charged to miscellaneous account.

6. Your Board also recommend that J. Doris be paid $13 for gravel according to the certificate of the Town Engineer.

7. An application was received from the Peterborough Light and Power Co. to be permitted to put in poles in some parts of the town where the distances between the poles were too great, the work to be done under the supervision of the Town Engineer, and we recommend that the matter be referred to the Chairman of this Board and the Town Engineer, with power to act.

8. We also recommend that the Town Engineer prepare a plan for raising the sidewalk at the corner of George and Brock street, in accordance with the Bylaw, and submit it to the owners affected, and that on securing their approval of the plan he be authorized to

A GOOD AND BRAVE MAN.

The appended splendid eulogy from the Toronto Globe of the late Hon. A. S. Hardy, will receive the heartfelt commendation of all who were familiar with the career of the Provincial statesman:

"Mr. Hardy lived bravely and died bravely. All who were near the death bed speak of his serene and noble fortitude. This was in keeping with the signal courage he displayed through all his career. He was an exceptionally able platform speaker, and his speeches had that aggressive quality which so distinguishes the oratory of Mr. Chamberlain. He could defend but he chose to attack, and there was one of the secrets of his power. In Parliament he was even more effective than on the platform, and be ranked with the late Hon. C. F. Fraser as one of the very strongest debaters that the Local Legislature has known. His loyalty to his comrades was conspicuous, and he had also that fine characteristic of gratitude for good service done in his behalf which not too many politicians possess. When he gave his word to a political opponent it was as sacred as when given to a political friend, and one likes at this moment to recall the strong personal friendship which always existed between Mr. Hardy and Mr. Whitney. He had a strong esteem for Sir Oliver Mowat and served under him for two score years of his public life with rare fidelity and zealous concern for the fame and fortune of that invincible leader. Two years ago he withdrew from the Legislature and laid down the office of First Minister, but his relations of positive brotherliness with Mr. Ross remained unbroken, and he greatly cherished the memory of the sympathetic and whole-hearted support he had received from his Cabinet associates. Mr. Hardy had a remarkable social popularity. He had a fine, old-fashioned courtesy, a word of cheer for the old, a kindly jest for the young, a fund of historical incident and anecdote, a sensitive appreciation of what was timely and fitting in any circumstance. His heart turned often to the fisherman's haunts. He was responsive to the beauty of forest and field. He loved all wholesome sport. He was always a man among his kind. He had a keen taste in literature, and read many books, and one could not easily get at the depths of his information or touch the limits of his reading. There has passed a genial and loyal comrade, a prudent and progressive legislator, a good citizen and a faithful public servant and all Ontario will mourn the loss and sympathise very deeply with the stricken household upon whom that loss falls so cruelly and so heavily.

HON. MR. STRATTON SPEAKS AT MITCHELL.

The Chairman's Complimentary Remarks.

A Business Government Run by Business Men—Honest Administration.

Hon. J. R. Stratton addressed a meeting of the electors in Mitchell on Tuesday evening last and in reporting his remarks the Toronto Globe says:

The Chairman in introducing Hon. J. R. Stratton, said the Government was run by business men on business principles. They did not run the Government into debt and get into trouble at the end of the year. Hon. Mr. Stratton was received with loud applause. In opening he said he was in hearty sympathy with the remarks of the last speaker in reference to the ex-Premier, Hon. Mr. Hardy. I know of no man, said the Minister, who has been for so many years engaged in public life who has always stood up for the people as has Hon. Mr. Hardy on all occasions and at all times. No matter what his political opponents may have said, he always stood up for the rights of the people. No politician knew this better than those who were opposed to him in the Legislature. (Cheers.) After referring to the pleasure of meeting the electors of Perth for the first time, he spoke of the representation of South Perth in the Legislature. Nine elections had been held since Confederation. Seven had been Liberal, two went Conservative. There were only two breaks in all those years. The average Liberal majority in eight elections was 275, and he thought South Perth would be easily brought back with Mr. Stock to the average figures. Why should it not be? The Administration had been honest and careful. The Province had been governed wisely and well. Substantial progress had been made in every direction. Enterprise and diligence had made Ontario the first of all the Provinces. We were the only civilized country in the world without a public debt, except perhaps Switzerland, which was a model republic; but if they have no debts they levy heavy State taxes for State purposes, while Ontario saves municipal taxes by contributing largely from the Provincial treasury. All the other Provinces have big debts. They started Confederation on equal terms. While they borrowed money to erect their public buildings, Ontario erected all its public buildings from current income, and had a surplus, interest-bearing assets, counting $8,000,000 of railway obligations as presently payable, which they are not, of $2,580,471. Before Quebec can spend one cent on public service she must pay one and one-half millions of interest upon debts almost enough to pay Ontario's entire cost of education and maintenance of public institutions—this year $1,680,000. How does Ontario stand? Before we touch a cent of subsidy and special grant of one and one-quarter millions, or a cent of cash in the bank, we receive in interest from a surplus over $300,000 more than the cost of civil government—$280,000. The amount Quebec pays in interest, if added to interest on our surplus—$1,800,000—is nearly half our total revenue. We started even with Quebec at Confederation. Why is this difference? It is that our finances have been splendidly handled by a Liberal Government, while over twenty years since Confederation Quebec was under Conservative rule. Since Confederation the Ontario receipts were $106,000,000, the expenditure $107,000,000, and we had a cash surplus in the bank of over one million dollars. (Applause.) Is not that good financing? (Applause.) Can it be beaten by monetary institutions or banks? he asked. Think of it—$216,000,000 passed through the hands of the Government, every cent accounted for, not a cent astray, and Provincial financial records tallying to a cent! (Cheers.) The Province has been kept going, every want being supplied, every public service looked after, and at the end of the third of a century a million dollars ahead. (Applause.) All done by good, honest methods and no scamping or cheeseparing.

It was true that the expenditure had increased; the public needs demanded it; but the increase was not very great when it was considered that the expenditures for education, hospitals and charities, public institutions, administration of justice and colonization roads were the items of increase, all helping the people. These five services increased 52 per cent., while the total expenditure had only increased 35 per cent.—two and a half millions yearly given to the people, avoiding so much direct taxation. He closed the financial reference to the Province by asking where was there a country—in so sound a financial condition which spends so much for the benefit of the people? Where a Government that takes so little from the people and none directly, and gives so much to lessen the people's burdens? Mr. Stratton then gave a history of the public institutions, how they had increased and the work done daily in each. The audience were surprised at the recital, apparently not having any knowledge of the enormous undertakings of the Government in caring for the unfortunate classes of the community. He explained the development policy of the Government, taking first the pulp concessions, afterwards the railways and the exploration parties. He referred to the parks that had been set aside for the future, and closed with an appeal to the electors to consider what principles were in the best interests of the Province.

As the Provincial Secretary resumed his seat, the Chairman arose amid enthusiasm and said:—Ladies and gentlemen, I think you will all agree with me that this is the best address on the policy of the Government that was ever given in the Town of Mitchell. We have heard many good speeches here, but we have just listened intently to one that excels them all. (Cheers). In the old times they used to say that the wise men came from the east, I think the old saying holds good to-day. (Laughter and applause.)

WILL NOT RETIRE.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt Denies he Intends to Leave the Government.

Hon. R. Harcourt, Minister of Education, stated to a Globe reporter yesterdaythat there was not a scintilla of truth in the statement of a Toronto Conservative paper that he intended to retire from the Ontario Government.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The case of Harrison vs. O'Brien will come up at the County Court before His Honor Judge Weller tomorrow.

—The Spilsbury case will come up before Magistrate Edmison on Tuesday, it having been adjourned from this morning until that date.

—At the Police Court this morning John Fry was fined $2 for being drunk. In default of payment he is to spend ten days on the hill, which he will most likely do.

A VERY SAD DEATH.

Miss Elizabeth Hatrick, Formerly of Peterborough, Passes Away at Niagara Falls.

The sad intelligence of the death of Elizabeth Hatrick, which occurred on Tuesday last at Niagara Falls, will be received with universal feelings of regret by her many friends and acquaintances in Peterborough. The deceased young lady's demise was due to heart failure, which carried her away after only a few hours illness.

The late Miss Hatrick was an exceptionally clever young lady of 19 years, whose loving disposition won for her the esteem of a wide circle of friends. She was the daughter of Mr. Michael Hatrick, formerly of Peterborough and now of Seattle, Wash., and left here about three years ago. Since that time she has very successfully fulfilled the duties of travelling companion, her amiable and cheerful manner being eagerly sought for. She had been at Niagara Falls only three days prior to her untimely demise.

The remains were brought to Peterborough on Wednesday and the funeral took place on Thursday morning from the residence of her cousin, Miss Nellie Smith, No. 243 Stewart street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic burying ground for interment.

Mr. Michael Hatrick, of town, is a brother of the deceased young lady.

INDIGESTION.

Successful Use of Olive Oil For That Disagreeable Malady.

One has only to consider how olive oil is used in the warm parts of Europe where the olive is cultivated and how ghee is used in India in order to satisfy oneself that oily matter may be taken with facility in hot countries as well as in cold. You hear nothing about indigestion in these lands; you find that a bad olive harvest or scant supply of ghee is a great national calamity. A Hindoo servant of a friend who kept up his Indian habits of eating in London has told me that in his own case nothing would make up for a deficiency of ghee or butter, and that his experience in this matter was the common experience of his countrymen at home or away from home. Indeed, it may be taken for granted that oil may be used in large quantities throughout the year in hot, olive growing countries of the south of Europe, not only without making the people bilious or out of order in any way, but with unmistakable benefit.

Dr. Cohnheim at the international medical congress detailed his experience with large doses of olive oil in cases of severe gastric distress. In his first case the young man had suffered from an injury in the gastric region, and it seemed probable that an ulcer had resulted. The pain on eating was so great as to make him avoid food. A wineglass of olive oil taken before meals gave complete relief. The same remedy was tried in other cases in which stomach discomfort was a prominent symptom. Even in cases of gastric cancer relief was afforded to many symptoms. In cases of pylorus stenosis most satisfactory results were secured as far as the alleviation of symptoms was concerned. Cohnheim has treated 11 cases of gastric catarrh by this method with uniformly good results whenever the patients bore the oil well. Patients who had lost so much in weight as to appear almost cachectic began immediately to gain in weight and within a couple of months had gained from 15 to 30 pounds.

Professor Mathieu of Paris said that in certain parts of the country, both of Germany and France, olive oil is used as a family remedy for all stomach pains and has a high reputation. In his practice at the Hospital Andral Dr. Mathieu has often used this remedy and knows how efficient it is where less simple remedies have failed. He recommends it with confidence, despite the fact that it is a popular hygienic rather than a drug medicine. —Dr. M. L. Holbrook in Health Magazine.

CHAMPAGNE MAKING.

Why It Is Not More Extensive In the United States.

"What the dickens is the reason," asked an inquisitive friend of a well known California wine man, "that we can't make as good champagne here in the United States as they do in France?"

"Because it doesn't pay," replied the wine man promptly. "There is no physical reason why we can't do it. We have the climate, we have the soil, and the champagne grape, grown from imported clippings, does just as well here as it does in France. But there is no money in the business. The situation is briefly this," continued the Californian. "To make high grade champagne requires an enormous investment of capital. After the stock is bottled it must mature for several years in subterranean vaults at a constant temperature of 45 degrees.

"In Reims and the other champagne districts of France the old Roman catacombs are utilized for that purpose, and their existence has undoubtedly made the business possible. They are tunneled for miles through solid rock, and if they had been excavated for use as wine vaults their cost would have been prohibitive. You can see, too, on a moment's reflection that the ripening stock must be very large in order to return a decent profit. It must run up into the millions of bottles, meaning the tying up of a small fortune every season. In France, where the people are educated to solid investments and slow returns, that sort of thing is practical; but here—no. An American wants to turn over his money quickly and won't listen to a proposition involving four or five years' inaction.

"Out in my district the winemakers have all they can do in supplying the market with claret and still vintages, and they very naturally argue that they would be foolish to sink a lot of money in a champagne plant that would bring them to a standstill for years. We are making a little good champagne in this country now and have been doing so for some time past, but the reason why we haven't entered the field as serious producers is the one I have just skeletonized."

Be Musician as Well as Singer.

Possessed of a voice, the first thing necessary, if one would be a singer, is to become a thorough musician. Select your teacher with great care, and having selected him, stick to him if you have faith in him, and do not change your instructor every two or three months.

When you begin to sing and know a little, do not go to a musical performance to criticise your colleagues, but to learn. Take the good away with you; for no matter how bad a singer may be there is always some good in him. Take the good, and leave the bad.

Try to improve all the time, and with that end always in view you will stand in no danger of getting an enlarged cranium.

You cannot expect to please the entire public; that would be impossible, but study out the faults.

Modesty is the chief thing with an artist. The greatest artists I have ever met have been the most modest.

I made my career with patience; I waited.—T. Campanari

Bronchitis is now Epidemic.

Bronchitis is becoming very prevalent, but is not now incurable for Catarrhozone cures even the worst cases. Catarrhozone Inhaler sends the healing medicated air into every air passage in head, bronchial tubes and lungs; it reaches the germs and destroys them. Catarrhozone soothes and cures the dry cough and feverishness, and the laborious breathing and soreness in the wind-pipe are relieved at once. When Catarrhozone is inhaled, Bronchitis is cured in one to five days. It has been extensively used, and never once failed. Even cases of 5, 10 and 20 years standing that have baffelled the skill of the best physicians, have been cured by Catarrhozone. Your doctor can tell you that Catarrhozone is one of the grandest discoveries of the century, and that he always prescribes it for Bronchitis, Asthma and Catarrh. Get it to-day and be cured. Price $1.00; small size 25 cents, at druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Some Exploded Food Fallacies.

Fish as a food of the brain worker must be consigned to the limbo of vanities, though certain forms of fish are the cheapest of all foods, notably the bloater. Oysters and turtle soup are frauds. It would take 14 oysters to equal the nourishment of one egg and 223 to provide the same amount of nutriment contained in a pound of beef.

Salt fish, especially salt fat fish, is the most valuable food for the poorer classes, and whole races in the south of Europe live on the Newfoundland cod. Canned salmon we see at 12 pence a pound is no more expensive than cod at sixpence. Millions of people live on it, and the North American settler who is not well provided with cash finds it a good substitute and change from flesh meat at times.

Frogs' legs are not of high nutritive value, which need not surprise us. Turtle soup from the chemist's point of view is not worth a tenth of the price paid for it.—Exchange.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

His Finish.

With low bowed head the editor sat
In his easy office chair.
A troubled look was on his face;
His brow was lined with care.

His great brain throbbed, his breath came fast,
He heaved him sigh on sigh;
He clinched his hand and bit his lip
And stifled a soul wrung cry.

On his desk a sheet of paper lay,
The source of his bitter woe,
And it caused him torture as keen and great
As mortal may ever know,

For on that daintily scented sheet
His love a rhyme had penned
And had asked him please to publish it;
Poor man! He saw the end!

If he sent it back with thanks, he knew
His offer she'd surely spurn;
If he published it—ye gods, ye gods!
His subscribers would ne'er return.
—St. Paul Dispatch.

Down on His Luck.

Signor Plato Slimhouse, the eminent tragedian, was temporarily out of a job and was touring the provinces, mostly on foot.

"You have no baggage," said the landlord of the village hotel. "You have to pay in advance."

"Sir," replied the gifted actor, scowling darkly, "I never travel without baggage."

And he handed over his toothbrush and strode into the dining room.—Exchange.

Love Letters of a Schoolboy.

The grass is green, the sky is blue,
Honey is sweet, and so are you.

I feel all throbby when I see
You look across the room at me.

Oh, how I like to sit all day
And watch you while you teach away!

The room is nice and sweet to smell;
My love for you no tongue can tell.

I wish that I was thirty-three,
For ma says that's what you must be.

In China.

The dowager empress was in a droll mood today.

"A note from the German emperor!" announced the chamberlain.

"A Billy doux," observed her majesty.

"And a note from the United States!"

"A Yankee Doodle doux!" cried this remarkable woman, while gales of merriment swept over the servile court

The Robin and the Robber.

With twigs and strings and other things
The robin builded it strong.
And as it plaited them into shape
It carolled a cheerful song.

"Why so busy?" the jaybird asked.
"What are you doing, pray?"
"I suppose," said the robin, "I'm making a nest
For you, you blooming jay!"

He Was Cheerful.

"Well, old man, you're lookin mighty cheerful this mornin."

"Yes, I'm feelin so. Every prediction I made when April come in has come true. News is that cotton is damaged, cold has cornered the peach crap, watermelons will be a failure, with prospects of snow in June! Now let 'em say I didn't know what I wus a-talkin 'bout!"

Emblematic.

An urchin with a puzzled look
Unto his father said,
"Why is it upon all the coins
They stamp a woman's head?"
The father thought a moment; then
He gave him this reply,
"My child, they say that money talks;
I think that must be why."

The Rest of It.

"I don't see why you aren't industrious and economical like the man next door," said the wife. "You will scarcely have time to get to your office in season. The man next door has his lunch in a basket and starts out at 6 o'clock in the morning."

"Yes, and goes fishing."

His Bright Prospects.

Day talks erbout de money,
But I doesn't want it, honey,
For soon I will be comin ter de resurrick,
For de moonlight will be shinin
When I'm pinin, dus a-pinin,

The Song of the Grouse.

Certain birds when the period of courtship comes round repair to particular trysting places and announce their presence there by well known calls or signals.

The ruffed grouse, as every one knows, seeks an old log or other convenient perch and drums with his wings, a hint to any lady grouse within hearing that "Barkis is willin."

The performance of the grouse is one frequently heard, but comparatively seldom seen, and for many years there were numerous conflicting theories concerning the means by which the drumming was produced. Some said that the sound was vocal, and others declared that the grouse struck the log with its wings. Even today the precise cause of the sound is not known, for, although the bird has been closely watched, its wing movements are so rapid that it is next to impossible to tell exactly what takes place. This much, however, is known: During the performance the grouse stands upon the leg of other perch and strikes the air in front of his body somewhat after the manner of an elated barnyard cock. The first few strokes are measured, but they become faster and faster until the individual thumps are lost, as in the rolling of a drum. Whether the sound is due entirely to beating of the air or whether it is increased by the striking together of the wing tips is a question yet to be settled.

Why Dinah Wept.

Not long ago a lieutenant in the navy was ordered away on a three years' cruise. The order had been dreaded for weeks, and when it came the young wife, who was to be left in a Brooklyn flat with a baby and a colored servant, was in despair.

She controlled her sorrow very well, however, until the actual moment of parting came, and then she wept as though her heart would break. The cruiser was to leave the navy yard early next morning, and the lieutenant had gone to report for duty.

In the midst of her lamentations the young wife heard a sniffing and sobbing in the dining room, and upon glancing through the door she saw Dinah, the colored maid, rocking her body to and fro in a chair and weeping violently.

"Why, D-D-Dinah, what's the m-matter?" cried the mistress. "You seem to t-t-take Mr. Blank's departure as much to heart as I d-do."

"'Deed I doesn't, Mis' Blank; 'deed I doesn't!" sobbed Dinah. "What am boderin dis chile am de fac' dat a culud gemman friend o' mine am gwine sail hisse'f on dat same ole cruisah!"

Heart Disease

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.

Heart trouble, at least among the Americans, is certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way, also, the heart is affected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contains valuable, harmless, digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Full sized package of these tablets sold by druggists at 50c. Little book on stomach troubles sold free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

It was after 10 by the clock when I remembered that I was to meet the lawyer, the arbiter of my new fortunes. Money is a balm for most things, and coupled with travel it might lead me to forget. He was the family lawyer, and he had come all the way north to see that I received my uncle's bequest. He was bent, gray and partially bald. He must have been close to 70, but for all that there was a youthful twinkle in his eyes as he took my card and looked up into my face.

"So you are John Winthrop?" he said in way of preliminary. You may hand a cardcase full of your name to a lawyer and still he will insist upon a verbal admission.

"I have always been led to believe so," I answered smartly, placing my hat beside the chair in which I sat down. "How did you manage to locate me in this big city?"

"Your uncle had seen some of your signed articles in New York papers and said that in all probability I should find you here. A few inquiries set me on your track." Here he pulled out a lengthy document from his handbag. "I confess, however," he added, "that I am somewhat disappointed in your looks."

"Disappointed in my looks!" was my cry. "What sort of a duffer were you expecting to see?"

He laughed. "Well, your uncle gave me the idea that I should find a good for nothing hack writer, a dweller in some obscure garret."

"If that is the case, what under the sun did he send you up here for?"

The merriment went out of the old man's face, and his eyes became grave. "Of that anon. Let me proceed with my business and read the will to you. You will find it rather a remarkable document."

I settled back in my chair in a waiting attitude. To tell the truth, I was somewhat confused by all this preamble. To his son my uncle left the bulk of his property, which amounted to more than $1,000,000. I was listless. The head overseer received the munificent sum of $50,000. To the butler, the housekeeper and the cook he gave $10,000 each. I began to grow interested. He was very liberal to his servants. Several other names were read, and my interest assumed the color of anxiety. When the lawyer stopped to unfold the last flap, I spoke.

"And where in the world do I come in?"

"In the sense you understand you do not come in."

I stared at him in amazement. "I don't come in?" I repeated vaguely. "Ah," reaching down for my hat, "then I go out, as it were, as brilliant as a London yellow fog. What the devil does all this mean?" I started to rise.

"Wait!" he commanded. "'To my nephew, John Winthrop, I bequeath the sum of $1,000, to be presented to him in person immediately after this will is probated and with the understanding that he shall make no further demand upon my son and heir in the future.' That is all," concluded the lawyer, folding the document. "I have the check in my pocket."

"Keep it," said I, rising. A hot flush of indignation swept over me. I understood. It was his revenge. To have a man make sport of you after he is dead and gone, leaving you impotent and with never a chance to retaliate! "Keep it," I said again; "throw it away, or burn it. I understand. He has satisfied a petty revenge. It is an insult not only to me, but to my dead parents. You are, of course, acquainted with the circumstances of my mother's marriage. She married the man she loved, disregarding her brother's wishes."

"I knew your mother," said the lawyer, going to the window and looking out and beyond all that met his gaze.

"To think," I went on, cooling none, "that my mother's brother should die in this manner nourishing so small and petty a spite! When he did this, he knew that I should understand his motive. In the first place, I never dreamed that he would remember me in his will—never entertained the least idea of it. I am independent; I am earning a livelihood, small, but enough and to spare. I'll bid you good morning." I took a step toward the door.

"Young man, sit down," said the old man, coming back to his chair. "I want to talk to you for a few minutes. Your uncle was a peculiarly vindictive man. What he considered a wrong he neither forgot nor forgave. His son pleaded with him not to put in that final clause. He offered eyes to share with you. Your uncle swore he would leave it all to the stablemen first. This journey was forced upon me, or I should not have taken it. This is my advice to you: Accept the check and in the privacy of your room tear it up or light a cigar with it; that's about all it's worth. You will feel no little satisfaction in lighting a cigar with it—that is, if you are anything like me. Think of it—a thousand dollars to light your cigar! It is an opportunity not to be missed. When you grow old, you will say to your grandchildren, 'Once I lit a cigar with a thousand dollar check.' The oldest inhabitant will be silenced forever. It may become history. And then, too, if there are spirits, as Scripture says there are, your uncle will writhe at the performance. I trust that you will forgive me my part in the matter. I have taken a fancy to you, and if you will accept my friendship I shall be happy to accept yours. Your uncle's revenge will not be a marker to the restitution his son will make."

"Restitution! His son?"

"Yes. To my sincere regret he is an invalid who may or may not live the year out. He has already made a will in which he leaves all to you. The will is in my safe at home. I return tonight, so I may not see you again in this world of sin and tribulation." The merry twinkle had returned to his eyes. "I am very old."

"It is worth all the trouble to have met you," said I. "You should have made the jolt very easy."

So we shook hands, and he gave me a cigar, around which was wrapped the check. He winked; then he laughed, and I joined him, though my laughter resembled mirth less than it did the cackle of a hen which was disturbed over the future of her brood. I left him and went down into the wineroom and ordered a stiff brandy and soda. When that disappeared, I ordered another. I rattled the ice in the glass. "Ha, ha, ha!" I roared as the events of the past 24 hours recurred to me. There must have been a suicidal accent to my laughter, for the bartender looked at me with some concern. I called for another brandy and shot the soda into it myself. I watched the foam evaporate. "Ha, ha, ha!"

"Hard luck?" the bartender asked sympathetically.

"Yes," said I. I seemed to be speaking to several bartenders who looked at me with several varieties of compassion.

"Have another on me," said the bartender.

I had another and went out into the street. I walked down Broadway, chuckling to myself. What a glorious farce it all was! My fortune! Phyllis my wife! What if she had accepted me? I laughed aloud, and people turned and stared at me. Oh, yes! I was to travel and write novels and have my pictures in book reviews and all that! When I arrived at the office, I was on the verge of total insanity. I was obliged to ask the paragrapher to write my next day's leader. It was night before I became rational, and once that, the whole world donned cap and bells and began capering for my express benefit. The more I thought of it the more I laughed. What a whimsical world it was! And was there anything in it so grotesque as my part? I took the check from my pocket and cracked it between my fingers. A cigar was in my mouth. Should I light it with the check? It was for $1,000. After all it was more than I had ever before held in my hand at once. But what was a paltry thousand, aye, a paltry ten thousand, to a man's pride? I bit off the end of my cigar, creased the check into a taper and struck a match. I watched it burn and burn. I struck another. I held it within an inch of the check, but for the life of me I could not light it.

"The devil take it!" I cried. I flung the cigar out of the window and laid the check on my desk. Courage? Why, it needed the courage of a millionaire to light a cigar with a $1,000 check!

The office boy, who came in then, was salvation. The managing editor wanted to see me. I sprang up with alacrity. Anything but the sight of that figure 1 and the three demon eyes of that $1,000 check!

"Winthrop," said the managing editor to me as I entered his office, "you've got to go to London. Hillars has gone under"—

"Not dead!" I cried.

"No, no! He has had to give up work temporarily on account of drink. If it was any other man, I'd throw him over in short order. But I feel sorry for Hillars, and I am going to give him another chance. I want you to go over and take care of him if possible. The London work is not new to you. You can handle that and Hillars too. If you can keep him in check"—

I shuddered. The word "check" jarred on my nerves.

"What's the matter?" asked the editor.

"A temporary chill," I said. "Go on."

"Well, if you can manage to keep him in check for a month or so, he'll be able to get on his feet again. And it will be like a vacation to you. If anything happens to Hillars, you will be expected to remain permanently abroad. Hillars suggested you in his letter. Will you be ready to go next Monday?"

"Tomorrow, if you like," I answered readily enough.

I was much pleased with the turn of events. If I could get away from New York, I might forget Phyllis—no, not forget her; I loved her too well ever to forget her, but the prolonged absence would cure me of my malady.

Before going to bed that night I lit a cigar, but not with the check. On sober second thought I calculated that the sum would pay up all my debts and leave me a comfortable margin. A man can well pocket his pride when he pockets a thousand dollars with it. And why not? I was about to start life anew and might as well begin on a philosophical basis. Who knew but my uncle had foreseen the result of his bequest; my rage, my pride, and finally lighting a cigar with his check? It really might make his spirit writhe to better effect if I became benefited. Sober second thought is more or less a profitable investment.

On the morrow everything was arranged for my departure. I was to leave Saturday morning.

It was a beautiful day, crisp and clear, with a bare ground which rang to the heel. In the afternoon I wandered over to the park and sat down on a bench and watched the skaters as they glided to and fro. I caught myself wishing that I was a boy again, with an hour's romp on the sheeny crust in view. Gradually the mantle of peace fell upon me, and there was a sense of rest. I was going to forgive the world the wrong it had done me. Perhaps it would feel ashamed of itself and reward me for my patience. So Hillars was "going to pieces." It is strange how we men love another who has shared and spent with us our late patrimonies. Hillars and I had been friends since our youth, and we had lived together till a few years back. Then he went to Washington, from there to Paris, thence to London. He was a better newspaper man than I. I liked to dream too well, while he was always for a little action. Liquor was getting the best of him. I wondered why. It might be a woman. There is always one around somewhere when a man's breath smells of whisky. A good deal of this woman's temperance business is caused by remorse. I was drawing aimless pictures in the frozen gravel when I became aware that two skaters had stopped in front of me. I glanced up and saw Phyllis and Ethel, their eyes like stars and their cheeks like roses.

"I was wondering if it were you," said Ethel. "Phyllis, where is my cavalier?"

"I believe he has forsaken us," said the voice of the woman I loved.

"Will you not accept part of the bench?" I asked, moving along.

The girls dropped easily beside me.

"I was just wishing I was a boy again and was in for a game of hockey," said I. "I am going to London on Saturday. Our foreign correspondent has had to give up work on account of ill health."

"You haven't"— Phyllis stopped suddenly.

"Oh, no!" said I intuitively. "I am growing rusty, and they think I need a vacation." I was glad Ethel was there, with her voluble chatter.

"Oh, a foreign correspondent!" she cried.

"Yes."

"You will have a glorious time. Papa will probably return to B. when the next administration comes in. You know papa was there 20 years ago. I suppose you will be hobnobbing with dukes and princes."

"It cannot be avoided," I said gravely. "I do not expect to remain long in London. When my work is done, perhaps I shall travel and complete my foreign polish."

"Oh, yes!" said Phyllis. "I forgot to tell you, Ethel, that a fortune has been left to Jack, and he need not work but for the love of it."

I laughed, but they thought it a self conscious laugh. Somehow I was not equal to the task of enlightening them.

Horse Sense.

"Any fool can take a horse to water, but it takes a wise man to make him drink," says the proverb. The horse eats when hungry and drinks when thirsty. A man eats and drinks by the clock, without regard to the needs of nature. Because of careless eating and drinking "stomach trouble" is one of commonest of diseases. Sour and bitter risings, belchings, unnatural fulness after eating, dizziness, headache, and many other symptoms mark the beginning and progress of disease of the stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach diseases of other organs which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach, and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, cures obstinate cough and heals weak lungs.

"I was taken with Grippe, which resulted in heart and stomach trouble," writes Mr. T. R. Caudill, Montland, Alleghaney Co., N. C. "I was unable to do anything a good part of the time. I wrote to Dr. Pierce about my condition, having full confidence in his medicine. He advised me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did. Before I had finished the second bottle I began to feel better. I have used nearly six bottles. I feel thankful to God for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I can highly recommend it to all persons as a good and safe medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep the bowels healthy.

let the contract for the work, subject to the approval of the chairman of this Board, and that this recommendation be submitted to the Town Solicitor for his approval before being acted on.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. BEST, Chairman.

On motion of Ald. Roger and Rush, the report was amended by striking out the last clause. The report was then adopted as amended.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE,

through its chairman, Ald. Roger, reported as follows:

1. Your committee recommend that a grant of $50 be made to the Peterborough Historical Society for the Victoria Museum.

2. Your committee also recommend that Messrs. T. E. Bradburn and E. H. D. Hall be appointed trustees under the mortgage from the Midland Ry. Co. to the town.

3. Your committee recommend that the following accounts be paid:

R J Wolstenholm... ... ...$	3 00
Mail Ptg. Co.....	6 40
Registrar County Peterborough...	5 00
Salisbury & Co.....	3 10
Wm Hetherington...	4 50
Bell Tel. Co.....	10 75
Times.....	77 70
T H G Denne.....	0 00

The Committee also recommends that the expenses of the Railway Gates Committee be paid on the certificate of the Mayor.

G. M. ROGER, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

THE APPOINTMENTS COMMITTEE,

reported as subjoined through its its chairman, Ald. Sawers:

1. That W. Aldridge, Thos. B. McGrath, John Kincaid and Thomas McKee be appointed assessors at the same salary as last year.

2. That Messrs. McKee and Aldridge be assessors for Wards Numbers two and Four, and Messrs. McGrath and Kincaid for Wards Numbers One and Three.

3. That R. H. Adams, C. McGinty and Jos. Stewart, policemen, be given an increase of salary of $50 per year each from the first of June, 1901.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN SAWERS, Chairman.

Ald. Best and Roger moved that the third clause be referred back to be dealt with by the Finance Committee.

Ald. Sawers urged that the clause be put through. The town had a good police force and should show its appreciation of the work done.

Ald. Roger explained that his reason for seconding the amendment was that the application for a raise in salary had never come before the council to be discussed but had been dealt with only in committee.

The amendment was carried, and the report adopted as amended.

Ald. Best introduced the bylaw providing for the diversion of the stream across Reid and McDonel streets by the Wm. Hamilton Co., in accordance with the Board of Works report on the matter. The work of diverting the stream will be completed by Oct. 1st. The bylaw received its several readings and was passed.

Ald. Sawers fathered the bylaw appointing assessors for 1901. It was passed after receiving its several readings.

A bylaw confirming certain former debenture bylaws, as called for by statute, was introduced by Ald. Roger and passed.

Ald. Roger and Rush moved that the Mayor and the chairman of the Finance Committee be authorized to dispose of such of the debentures as they can sell at par.—Carried.

On motion of Ald. Clinkscale and Batten Mr. Parnell will be paid for performing the work of John Montgomery while the latter was sick. Hereafter substitute drivers will be paid on the certificate of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

On motion of Ald. Sawers the Finance Committee was given power to set in reference to the police constables' salaries.

At the suggestion of Ald. Roger, the chairman of the Property Committee will look into the matter of erecting a bath house for the accommodation of children wishing to bathe in the river.

Ald. Best and Corkery moved that the expenses incurred in the valuation of the Waterworks be defrayed by cheque issued by the Chairman of the Board of Works.

A SUMMERLESS YEAR.

The Year 1816 a Sad One in the History of the Province of Ontario.

People who feel depressed on account of the late gloomy weather have much less reason to complain than the early settlers of this country.

The Toronto Weekly Sun the other day interviewed Benjamin D. Waldbrook of the township of Trafalgar, in Halton county, whom it describes as "a man whose memory forms one of the most complete links connecting the Ontario of to-day with the Ontario of pioneer times." "The spring of 1816," he told a representative of the Sun, "was probably as promising as is the outlook to-day. But the brilliant promises of early summer in that season was speedily followed by the blackness of despair. That was the 'summerless year.' Snow commenced falling in the middle of June; by the middle of August it was a foot in depth and from the first fall in June until the following spring, the earth remained under the covering of the wintry blanket. Absolutely nothing in the way of harvest was gathered, everything in the way of crops rotting in the ground. What did people live on? Meat — meat and fish. There were no vegetables and there was no flour. It was venison and fish to-day, relieved by fish, and the flesh taken from slaughtered cattle, for which there was no sustenance all the winter through. My father did not come in until the following spring, but when he came the country was still full of stories of the horror of the year long winter which had just passed away. One of these from whom my father heard some particulars of this dreadful period was the late Sheff. Conkrite. Mr. Conkrite was nine years old at the time, and he told father that his people lived through the long winter on porcupines, ground hogs and any other meat they could get. Hay was shipped from Ireland to save the starving cattle about Quebec, and it sold there at $45 per ton. Even next spring, when father arrived, flour was selling at $17 per barrel at Quebec, and potatoes were a penny per pound."

But that was not the only bad year that the settlers had cause to remember. "Even in my own day," continued Mr. Waldbrook, "we have had something almost as bad as the 'summerless summer.' The army worm swept over the land like a plague of locusts in '33. The pests appeared in countless millions. The roads and fences were covered to the depth of—and Mr. Waldbrook laid his hand on the table to show the thickness of the covering. "The worms swarmed over the trees," the speaker went on, "and these were soon as bare in midsummer as they ordinarily are in midwinter. Even at the doors of houses, unless the broom was kept going constantly, the insects would collect like a swarm of bees. The condition in which the growing grain was left may be imagined. What was left was barely fit for hog feed."

"Early in the thirties, there came also a visation of frogs. The frogs came down in showers, falling from a clear sky. They descended in thousands. I remember as a lad, how I jumped when they fell on me. But this was not all. The continued raining with the blazing sun and decaying frogs gave us a West India climate in this province. The air was poisoned with decaying matter, and then pestilence stalked through the land. Almost every home was visited by the cholera, and the victims were numbered by hundreds."

COURT ZION'S PICNIC.

A Large Crowd Spent a Pleasant Day Down the River.

The annual picnic of Court Zion No. 227, C. O. F., took place on Wednesday, and was very largely attended. The steamer North Star and palace barge left Oak Orchard at 8.30 a.m., calling at Campbelltown, Willis' Landing, and other points, well laden with merry picnicers, and baskets filled with the good things which the fair daughters of Otonabee alone know how to make, and arrived in Hastings for dinner

After spending a few hours viewing the "dusty" sights of the village, the homeward journey was commenced, calling at Jubilee Point, where supper was partaken of. Home was reached about 9 o'clock, everybody voting it the most successful of the many picnics held under the auspices of Court Zion.

Not the least enjoyable portion of the trip for some of the excursionists, was the ride through the Campbelltown woods in a wagon, the reins being ably handled by Mr. "Wat" Dickson.

The committee who worked so hard and are deserving of warm praise for the successful way in which the welfare of the excursionists was looked after, was composed of John Lancashire, Walter Dickson and John Kindred.

ABOUT STITCHING.

Stitching is to be very elaborate. You remember how carefully all stitching was once made to follow the seams. One row of stitching each side of a seam was the acceptable tailor-made finish. Then there came three or four rows. Now there is stitching, but rarely is it put on in rows. In place of the plain row stitching there is a trimming made out of the machine stitch. Machines that will sew a chain stitch are sought and the stitching is done with coarse silk, Corticelli stitching silk, is chosen and the stitching done with the chain upon the right side. A very a big needle and a long stitch. It is put on to follow a pattern, and the most elaborate designs are carried out in the machine stitch. Great scrolls are used for bordering seams. Up the skirt they go in such a way as to form a panel, and, round the foot, they are carried, making a deep trimming.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

GOLF.

The Golf Club's fortnightly tea was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. (Hon.) Hamilton, Honorary President of the Ladies' Club. The largest number of ladies who have yet graced the links with their presence were in attendance, and a great many of the men were also out. Mixed foursomes, of course, were the order of the day, and the afternoon passed off most pleasantly, Mrs. Hamilton making a most charming hostess.

BASEBALL.

The sporting public are asked to bear in mind the game of baseball to-morrow afternoon on the P.A.A.A. grounds between Port Hope and Peterborough. These teams are old time rivals and are noted for the excitement they generally cause when they run up against each other. Let there be a real good turnout.

The Port Hope Guide has the following to say concerning Wednesday's game,—"Eh! Yes, Peterborough and Port Hope were playing "at" baseball in the Town Park yesterday afternoon, and the khaki clad visitors got the big end of a poor game—17 to 8. Heavy hitting and errors galore were the chief feature of the game, both teams contributing most liberally in these departments, and although Peterborough won, there was very little difference between the two aggregations. The visitors exceeded our boys in base running, as usual, and their outfield could simply get under everything, and to these two features the defeat of Port Hope can easily be traced, not uttering a syllable about the home team's 14 errors.

There were some specialties in hitting during the game—Bob Edmunds getting two "three-baggers," and Kehoe one, and a double. Henderson had his batting eye with him, but could not swat the leather sphere clear of the outfielders.

To-morrow's game between the locals and the Port Hope team promises to be a hard game. Port Hope is very sore over the trimming they received on Wednesday, and have engaged a Toronto battery to perform for them. Kehoe will be in the box for the home team, and as this is his initial appearance on the slab, a large crowd should turn out and see him put them over. Ladies will be admitted free of charge to all games during the season, and a large crowd is sure to be on hand. The team will be:—Kehoe, p.; Connor, 1b; Scott, 2b; Sheridan, 3b; Parnell, ss; Grady, lf; Earls, cf; McCabe, rf; Graham, c; Davidson, spare. Game starts at three o'clock.

Outlook Rich For the Harvest.

Winnipeg, June 14.—The Government crop bulletin says the following table, for convenience of reference, gives a comparison of the area in crop for 1901 with that of 1899 and 1900.

	1899.	1900.	1901.
Wheat	1,629,845	1,457,399	2,011,325
Oats	575,136	424,108	680,901
Barley	182,912	255,111	191,049
Flax	21,780	20,427	20,978
Potatoes	19,151	16,889	24,409
Roots	10,079	7,482	10,214
Totals	2,449,078	2,123,500	2,981,409

There is a marked increase of area under crop this year, as compared with any year in the past history of the Province.

Saved by Chum's Wife

Port Perry, June 14.—Wednesday night Howard Stone, Harry Harrison and Ira Anderson, aged 14 to 18, sons of well-known families, while preparing to bathe from a boat in the middle of Lake Scugog, were capsized. Stone had not undressed, and would have drowned except for the gallant conduct of Harrison, who pulled him on the upturned boat, where the three clung for an hour until saved by Charles Hiscox and Charles Bowerman, who sailed two miles to the rescue. Stone was just slipping off the keel, and for some time his life was despaired of.

A Melancholy Affair.

Montreal, June 14.—An awful tragedy took place last evening at the residence of Mrs. John K. Redpath, Sherbrooke street. At about 6 o'clock Mrs. Redpath, 45, and her son, Clifford Redpath, aged 24, and a law graduate of McGill, were found in the lady's room, one dead and the other dying. It is believed that Mrs. Redpath attempted to commit suicide, and upon the son interfering, she shot him fatally and then killed herself.

Later:—Clifford Redpath died later at the hospital, without having regained consciousness.

Hessian Fly's Ravages.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 14.—Investigation shows that the ravages of the Hessian fly grub in the wheat fields of Yates County are much worse than was at first supposed.

Lord Milner Seated.

London, June 14.—Lord Milner of Cape Town took the customary oath and his seat in the House of Lords yesterday afternoon. He was warmly cheered.

TO KILL "HERRICK."

Prof. Doherty, of the Agricultural College, on That Mission.

Something That Should Prove of Great Interest to the Farming Community.

Mr. W. Doherty, professor of Botany and Zoology in the Agricultural College, Guelph, was in Belleville on Wednesday and the Intelligencer had the pleasure of a short conversation with him.

The Professor's mission in this district is to conduct experiments looking to the destruction of the wild mustard or "herrick" which infests many parts of Ontario.

Yesterday the Professor conducted spraying operations on the farm of Mr. John Thrasher, near Foxboro.

"Tell us something about your method, Professor," said the newspaper man.

"Well," said the Professor, "I am sent out by the Ontario Government with a view of letting the farmers see for themselves what can be done. One practical demonstration, you know, is worth any number of bulletins. I do not claim to have discovered the receipt, in fact I got it from a French journal. A man had been spraying his apple trees with this solution, and he noticed that the solution as it dropped off the trees fell on some wild mustard, which subsequently died. I thought it might be used in Canada with good results."

"What is the solution?" he was asked.

"Ten pounds of copper sulphate to 45 gallons of water. That is sufficient to spray one acre. The best time to spray is when the mustard is about 4 or 5 inches high, before it blooms. At that period eight pounds of the sulphate would be sufficient. Later on, when the plant matures, it will take ten pounds."

"And the solution doesn't injure the grain planted?" asked the newspaper man.

"On the contrary," said the Professor, "we claim that the benefit to the grain crops will be large enough to pay for the cost of spraying the mustard."

"How long does it take to kill the mustard?" he was asked.

"On the third day the weed will be dead," was the answer.

"And how do you account for the solution killing the herrick and not injuring the grain?" said the scribe.

"Well," said the scientific man, "the mustard has a porous surface, into which the poison soaks. The oats or wheat has a smooth surface from which it runs off without injury. Anything with a porous surface would be killed by the solution, burdock, for instance."

"Will it kill burdocks?" said the newspaper man, eagerly.

"It will," said the Professor.

And the newspaper man made up his mind to at once try it on some exceedingly healthy specimens which flourished in his garden.

Professor Doherty lecturs at Hamilton to-night and will visit Picton to-morrow.

THE STRIKE NEGOTIATIONS.

Ultimatum of the President of the B. of R. T. of A., Mr. John T. Wilson—Both Sides Standing on Their Dignity—The Company Says That Its Men Are Well Treated.

Montreal, June 15.—Although the knowing ones wink and say there will be no strike in the end, the situation to ordinary mortals looks most threatening. One thing is certain, if Mr. Shaughnessy does not give way and the men are not bluffing, there will certainly be a strike. The following is President Wilson's demand and ultimatum:

1. You to concede that the committee which has been practically ignored by your subordinate officials, are your maintenance-of-way-men's chosen representatives, with myself as their spokesman.

2. That the committee and the men they represent should not be humiliated and discouraged by the company refusing to enter into an agreement with the committee, setting forth the terms and conditions of their employment, and that the agreement be signed by the proper official of the road.

3. Conferences to begin to-morrow (June 14), and to continue daily thereafter until we agree or disagree.

4. You to employ one stenographer, competent to report the proceedings, and the committee to employ another, equally as competent.

5. Our committee and such officials as you desire to have present, to meet to participate in the conferences. Our committee, representing your maintenance-of-waymen, voted last night without a dissenting vote to order a suspension of work. The matter is now in my hands, and, if I am not advised by you before 8 o'clock this afternoon (June 18), that you will endeavor to effect a settlement along the lines above indicated, my sanction for the committee to order a suspension of work will be given. I sincerely hope that the trouble can be avoided, and I certainly do not desire to consent to anything that might inconvenience the public or embarrass any of the C. P. R. officials, but the men I am speaking for are as essential to the successful operation of railways as any other class, and are entitled to similar treatment from the officials of the company. Yours respectfully,

John T. Wilson,
President B. of R. T. of A.

Strike Postponed.

Up to the hour of 4 o'clock on June 18 no answer had been received from Mr. Shaughnessy, and our order for the new men to suspend work was sanctioned by our president. In consideration, however, of the rights and safety of the traveling public, we decided that the strike should not become effective until 6 o'clock a.m. on June 17. The general manager of the C. P. R. contends that he has offered to make liberal concessions to the men we represent, and that, if we were reasonable men, we would accept and be satisfied with the new rules adopted by the company for the government of our craft.

All members of the B. of R. T. of A. are earnestly requested to refrain from saying or doing anything which would reflect discredit upon them, or cause the honest-thinking people of Canada to withhold their support while we are struggling with a giant corporation to secure a just share of the wealth we help to create.

(Sgd.), Joseph Lennon, Chairman,
A. F. Stout, Secretary.

Mr. Wilson, being asked how many men would be affected by the strike, replied that in all the number would come close to five thousand. The men asked an increase which all round would amount to twenty cents per day. This, Mr. Wilson admitted to-day, would amount in the year to about $300,000.

The Company's Position.

When President Shaughnessy received the letter signed by President Wilson, which is embodied in the foregoing correspondence, he felt that from the tone in which it was written it was a document that he could not reply to. It was regarded by the company as an attempt by an outsider to dictate to the responsible officials the manner in which they should conduct their business.

Mr. McNicoll said yesterday that he had not received from the committee official notice of their decision. "I can only say," said he, "that the condition of our trackmen is as good as that of any railway on the continent; that since we first met the committee in these negotiations we have made advances aggregating about $100,000 per annum; that the statement in the correspondence, purporting to be a letter received by the committee regarding the wages being reduced, and not increased, has no foundation in fact; that there is nothing in the new rules to justify such a construction, and that the company have not the slightest intention of cutting down or reducing the pay of any of the men. The tendency, as a matter of fact, has been entirely otherwise."

The Western End of the Road.

Winnipeg, June 15.—General Superintendent Leonard of the Western Division of the C. P. R., said yesterday that he had no word from headquarters. Asked as to whether the men on his division would go out, Mr. Leonard said that he had not been approached by them. Trackmen did not wish to discuss the situation until they had received definite word from their committee at Montreal. It is said forty per cent. of this class of men in the west are Swedes, and do not belong to the union.

A STRUGGLE FOR LIFE

Big Ferry Boats in Collision Off Staten Island.

REPORTED HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE.

Passengers Jumped Overboard in Their Fright—Many Gallant Rescues—Contradictory Stories As to the Actual Loss of Life—Police Captain Gully Says One Hundred Drowned.

New York, June 15.—The ferry-boats Mauch Chunk of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Northfield of the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company were in collision about 6 o'clock last evening, while entering their slips, which adjoin each other at the battery. Several persons who were injured in the collision were brought to the ferry house, where they are being cared for. The Northfield has sunk in the East River near pier 5. The passengers of the Mauch Chunk were landed at the battery, after which the vessel proceeded to Communipaw.

Over 100 of the passengers on the sunken Northfield were dragged out of the water by people along shore, and the crews of the fleet of river tugs, which responded promptly to the ferry boat's call for help.

A few of the Northfield's passengers were hurt in the accident, and the police believe that some lives were lost. Captain Daniel Gully of the tugboat Mutual, says that immediately after the collision between 25 and 30 of the passengers leaped into the water and many of these perished. Captain Gully declares that he is sure over 100 of the Northfield's passengers were drowned. The captains of the other tugboats who were early on the scene, however, think the disaster was not as serious in regard to loss of life as Captain Gully says.

Captain Gully, however, was alongside the ferry boat from the start to the finish and his estimate of the loss of life may be correct. The tug Mutual saved in all about 75 persons from the Northfield, and the tugs Unity and Arrow saved between them 150 people from watery graves. Policeman Michael F. Walsh and John W. Walters of the Old Slip Station, claim to have rescued nearly 80 people between them.

The wildest sort of a panic followed when the hundreds of passengers realized their danger.

The swift-running flood tide and the question of which boat had the right of way was the cause of the disaster. Capt. Abraham Johnson was in charge of the Northfield, and Capt. S. C. Griffin was in command of the Mauch Chunk. Each lays the blame for the collision on the other, but by orders of the officials of the ferry companies, neither of the captains would make a statement concerning the occurrence.

The Northfield had a load of passengers variously estimated to be between 800 and 1,200.

All the passengers rescued were landed at Pier No. 10, East River, and they looked a sorry sight, indeed. One young woman named Lizzie Ivers, of Sailors' Snug Harbor, was the most seriously injured so far as known. She was in the forward part of the Northfield's cabin when it was crushed in by the collision. Her face was lacerated, and she was injured internally.

A PUBLIC FUNERAL.

Widespread Regret at the Native City of Mr. Hardy.

Brantford, June 15.—The news of the death of the Hon. A. S. Hardy, which took place in Toronto on Thursday evening, did not become generally known until yesterday morning. There was widespread regret expressed that the plucky fight which the ex-Premier had waged during the past week with death was of no avail. Throughout the day and evening there was nothing else talked about in the city. Conservatives, with whom the ex-Premier had been an antagonist during many battles, vied with the Liberals in the expression of regret and sorrow.

The funeral will be a public one, carried through under Masonic auspices, of which order the late Mr. Hardy was a devoted member.

The remains will arrive in Brantford on the evening train via the T., H. & B. From there they will be conveyed to the court room of the Court House, and may be seen by the public on Sunday from 9 a. m. to 2.30. The funeral will be held on Sunday, at 3 p. m., the Rev. Rural Dean Mackenzie conducting a service at Grace Church. The remains will be interred in Greenwood Cemetery in the family plot.

At a meeting of the Law Society Thursday afternoon a resolution of condolence was passed. The City Council passed a similar resolution at a special meeting the same night. Yesterday afternoon the meeting of the South Brant Association was held to make final arrangements in connection with the funeral.

Cage Tender Fell to Death.

Rossland, B. C., June 14.—Joseph Gill, cage tender at the Le Roi mine, was fatally injured yesterday morning. In some unknown manner he fell from the skip, at the 700-foot level and was picked up shortly after on the bulk head, at the 800-foot level. He managed to gasp out in reply to a question as to the manner of the accident the single word "fell" and then lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he did not rally.

TELEPHONE, NO. 6.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Supplying Coal for the Dominion Buildings," will be received at this office until Saturday, June 22nd, 1901, inclusively, for the supply of Coal for the Public Buildings throughout the Dominion.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application at this office.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party declines to enter a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

TORONTO AND THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT.

There will be a responsive amen throughout the province to the pointed observations of the Hon. Mr. Stratton on the relations of the Ontario Government to the City of Toronto. Mr. Stratton puts his case strongly and with good judgment. He might have gone further, and considered the political aspect of the question. He might have parodied the historic language of the late John Sandfield Macdonald to the delegation from Strathroy, and have reminded Toronto of the way in which its shows its appreciation of the fairness and generosity of a Liberal Government. But Liberals do not make their treatment of cities or municipalities dependent on political favours. And so the Liberal Government has gone right on benefitting Toronto while she sends a solid delegation to oppose it. Recent illustrations of a very different spirit on the part of the city are its refusal to give aid to its own horse show, which has a Government grant, and its evident intention not to seise the opportunity to help Toronto University by the purchase of the old Upper Canada School grounds, when the Government offers them for less than they are worth. But all the people in Toronto are not like those who control its civic policy. Some day Toronto will look at things governmental in their proper light and become Liberal.

Bobcaygeon Independent: "The nomination of Mr. S. C. Wood for West Victoria, is a very strong card by the Liberals. If Mr. Wood accepts, it is as good as an election."

In the prohibition State of Vermont, alcoholic stimulants have been supplanted by opium in its several forms. Recent inquiries have disclosed that the consumption of opium in Vermont is at the rate of one and one-half grains a day for every adult.

SURE OF WINNING NEXT ELECTION.

The Provincial Secretary Sizes up the Situation.

GOV'TS PROGRESSIVE POLICY.

Ontario Never Stood Up to Her Place at the Head of the Dominion More Proudly Than To-day.

(From the Stratford Beacon.)

Hon. J. R. Stratton, the energetic Provincial Secretary, and Hon. Jno. Dryden, the efficient Minister of Agriculture in the Ross Government, were in the city Tuesday on their way to Mitchell, where they addressed a meeting of the electors of South Perth last night. A representative of The Beacon was at the station and had a brief but interesting interview with the Provincial Secretary in reference to the political situation in Ontario. Hon Mr. Stratton is an experienced campaigner and his experience in this line and the ability it has given him in estimating public sentiment and guaging the political outlook, entitle any remarks he may make upon the subject to unusual value.

In reply to a question of the reporter as to his opinion regarding the general political situation in this Province, Mr. Stratton, who was in the most hopeful spirits, said the position of the Ontario Government in popular estimation was excellent and he had no doubt that at the coming general elections next year the Government would be strongly sustained. This was not, he said, a mere optimistic and haphazard venture of opinion, but a conclusion arrived at after careful consideration and study of the conditions prevailing. There were good reasons for this confidence in the contrasting claims of the Government and Opposition.

On the one hand the Government had a splendid record of administration to its credit which, co-operating with the natural conditions, had contributed to making Ontario the most prosperous, the most progressive and the most promising self-governing colony in the Empire, and one of the most prosperous and advanced communities in the world. The practice of the Government in the past had been, and its present watchword was, "forward."

On the other hand we had an Opposition, led by Mr. Whitney, whose policy was a standstill, stationary policy, a policy of hesitation and doubt. Mr. Stratton said he only needed to quote Mr. Whitney himself to show where he stood. He had no faith in Ontario and its resources, no faith in its future, and apparently no respect for its good name and no hesitation in belittling and decrying its resources. In his Massey Hall speech he had described New Ontario to which at present all eyes—the eyes of the capitalist and homeseeker alike—were turned with longing confidence and hopefulness—as the land of the stunted popular," a sentiment and sneer such as we should expect from the leader of the "stunted policy." The Ontario Government had faith in New Ontario, and had the courage to enter boldly upon the development of its great resources. The Government had forseen the possibilities of the pulp industry and had granted concessions to strong and enterprising companies. The result of the first concession—to the Clergue Syndicate had resulted in development that had brought about the expenditure of ten millions of dollars. To keep these industries supplied the company projected a railway into the hitherto unknown wilderness, the Government aided the enterprise and at the same time benefited the Province, developing the new and stimulating the industries of the old. This railway plunged into an inaccessible region, bringing its stores of ores and mineral wealth within reach. The land grants to the railway had made accessible, and therefore valuable, lands which were valueless before, because they could not be reached. The same applied generally to the land grant to the North Shore and Manitoulin railway, which would bring into commercial life the now dormant resources of New Ontario and bring them and the northwestern country into connection with Old Ontario east and west, bringing the long settled and agricultural portions of the province into direct commercial touch with the new Provincial Eldorado, more valuable than gold mines, for its development and settlement would give employment and furnish homes to thousands. The Government had thus helped to solve the transportation problem which lay at the base of all progress and prosperity.

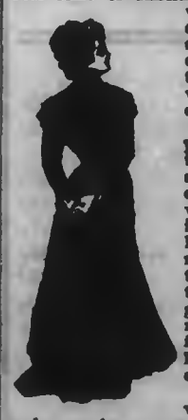
A new departure had also been made in the proposal to build a railway to the Temiscaming District, a rich agricultural region, which would open a country with not only a million of acres of first-class farming land, but pass within reach of pine enough to build ten such roads. It was probable that this road would be built as a Government enterprise and the survey of the line would immediately begin. In all these railway enterprises the Government had protected the people's interests by reserving to themselves the right of control of freight and passenger rates. The Government had also helped Old Ontario, not only indirectly through its development policy, which had brought millions of dollars into Old Ontario for the purchase of machinery, commercial supplies, and and food products, but also directly by devoting a million dollars for good roads and a quarter of a million to encourage the Beet Root Sugar Industry, and probably before the year was out, Mr. Stratton said, we might see two large factories, representing a million dollars in buildings and machinery, producing sugar from Ontario beets to replace so much German beet root sugar now imported.

The Government deserved to be sustained, not only for its policy of progress but for its past record. In the past third of a century the Liberal Government had spent about 107 millions of dollars and of this large sum at least 90 millions had been returned to the people to sustain services wich otherwise would have had to be gone without, or paid for by direct taxation, thus, in view of the benefits received, saving so much direct taxation, yet with all this large expenditure, the Government, though it spent over a million and a half more last year than in 1871, had a surplus of assets of 2 1-2 millions, of which a million and a half was cold cash in the bank. That was a record, Mr. Stratton said, which could not be beaten, either as a record of administration or, he believed, in an appeal to the country, and the present Government since its taking office in 1899 had bettered the grand old record. Hon. Premier Ross, whose patriotic belief in Ontario was only equalled by his energy and enterprise, had compiled a big program of promises which had either been kept to the letter or were in progress of fulfilment. Ontario never stood up to her place at the head of the Dominion more proudly than she was doing to-day. The Ross Government had faith in the country and the country faith in the Government, and he (Mr. Stratton) was sure the people would never "turn down" the Ross Government with its progressive, live, go-ahead policy, to give place to the policy of petty politics and pessimism, of which Mr. Whitney, by his own words, and his colleagues, were the embodiment.

"I hope," concluded Mr. Stratton, as the 'All Aboard' of the conductor brought the interview to a close, "that the country will be as sure of a good harvest as the Government is of winning the next election."

THE POISE

Of a woman in perfect health attracts the eye at once. Such a woman is all too rarely seen. The most of women bear scars of suffering on their faces which no smiles can hide, and often in their very carriage betray the womanly weakness which oppresses them.



There can be no perfect health for the woman who suffers from disease of the delicate womanly organism. Her general health is so intimately related to the local health of the womanly organs that these must be cured before the general health can be established.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It cures womanly disorders and diseases; brightens the dull eye, rounds out the hollow cheek and gives strength for wifely duties and maternal cares.

"My health is the best now that it has been for four years," writes Mrs. Phebe Morris, of Ira, Cayuga Co., N. Y., Box 52. "I have taken but two bottles of your medicine, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines have done me more good than all that I have ever taken before. I couldn't do my work only about half the time, and now I can work all the time for a family of four. Before I took your medicines I was sick in bed nearly half the time. My advice to all who are troubled with female weakness is to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery'—the most wonderful medicines in the world."

PITIFUL CASE OF A LITTLE GIRL.

Child at the Age of Two a Crippled Victim of Disease.

Edna Rathburn of Hampstead, N.B., Fell and Broke two Ribs—Injured the Kidneys and Diabetes Developed—Dodd's Kidney Pills in Curing Kidneys Straightened Injured Spine.

Hampstead, N.B., June 12, (Special).—Little Edna Rathburn of this place has had a sad experience for a child so young. She is now nearly eleven years old. Eight of her few short years have been passed under the saddest cloud possible in life.

At the age of two the child met with an accident which left her with two ribs broken, split off at the backbone. Though they were set and healed her body did not straighten. For eight years she could hardly walk, being almost doubled up. The accident affected her kidneys and diabetes set in. Diabetes is a particularly dangerous form of kidney trouble, in this case particularly severe by nature of the injuries to the spine.

The family doctor was, of course, consulted. He diagnosed her case correctly but couldn't cure it. She was sent to the Public Hospital at St. John, in the hopes that the greater skill and facilities there would avail. They could do nothing for her. The authorities advised the mother to take the child home to nurse her and give her good care while she lived, which would not be very long.

The suffering of the little one was heartrending to the mother and friends. She cried with pain night and day. The mother grew desperate and determined she would find a cure for her child if it took every cent she possessed.

She saw Dodd's Kidney Pills advertised and immediately purchased some. From the first they were beneficial. The little girl commenced to get better. Every day saw an improvement. Dodd's Kidney Pills were doing the work. Six boxes in all were used and once more diabetes was conquered.

Not only that but with the return of health the spine commenced to straighten. The little girl is now almost physically perfect. Says the grateful mother in her words:

"There is nothing to be compared to Dodd's Kidney Pills. We thank God we ever heard of them. Edna is now full of colour, runs and plays about as smart as a whip, where once she was a puny little thing as pale as a ghost."

Two Nurses Drowned.

Montreal, June 15.—A very sad accident took place last evening, resulting in the death by drowning of two night nurses at the Verdun Asylum, named Rachael Muldoon of Smith's Falls and Hannah Brast of Perth. They were crossing over to Heron Island with A. H. Robinson and Robin Graey, also of the asylum, and, the boat upsetting, the girls were drowned.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The College Reports Were Presented on Friday and Were Satisfactory—A New Professor Appointed.

Ottawa, June 15.—After the formal opening of the Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday the moderator announced the appointment of a committee to draft loyal addresses to the King and to His Majesty's representative in Canada.

The Clerk of the Assembly, Rev. Dr. Campbell, read the report of the special committee appointed by the last General Assembly to consider an overture from the Presbytery of Hamilton asking for the revision of the book of forms. The committee stated that a revision as suggested by the overture would be timely, inasmuch as the present edition of the book is exhausted. It was recommended that a committee be appointed to deal with the matter.

The Committee on Assembly Roll reported that 304 ministers and 293 elders had been appointed commissioners, making a total of 597 in all.

The assembly then took up the consideration of college reports.

A letter was read from Dr. John Proudfoot, resigning the lectureship of homiletics, pastoral theology and church government in Knox College, which he had held for thirty-four years.

The report of Knox College, Toronto, presented by Mr. W. Mortimer Clark, showed that during the past session 67 students were enrolled in the theological classes, and of those 27 received their diplomas. Mr. Clark pointed out that the affairs of Knox were in a most flourishing condition. They had a balance on the right side of the ledger, which was somewhat unusual in their history. Dr. Proudfoot had rendered admirable service to Knox for a good many years, and his lectures had been highly appreciated.

Mr. Clark moved a resolution for the adoption of the report and the appointment of Rev. W. Halliday Douglas to the chair of apologetics, homiletics and pastoral theology, at a salary of $2,500 per annum; also instructing the Presbytery of Toronto to arrange for the induction of Rev. Mr. Douglas.

On the moderator's suggestion, Mr. Clark added a clause to his report accepting Dr. Proudfoot's resignation, and suggesting the appointment of a committee to draft a suitable resolution on the matter. Mr. J. K. Macdonald seconded the motion for the adoption of the report, which was agreed to.

Principal Grant then presented the report of Queen's College and University.

Mr. Macdonald of St. Andrew's College, Toronto, addressed the assembly on the position of the first boys' college connected with the Presbyterian Church, though not affiliated with it. The college attendance had increased in the past year 100 per cent., and provision will now have to be made for a further increase.

Rev. Dr. Campbell, general agent of the Twentieth Century Fund, gave his report of the work done for that fund. The fund amounted to $1,025,000 in cash. When everything is paid up the church will have $1,500,000.

The report of the Aged and Infirm Minister's Fund was presented by Rev. Andrew Rogers of the eastern section, and by Dr. J. K. Macdonald, for the western section. Rev. Mr. Forbes also spoke.

Last night at the foreign missionary meeting the annual report was presented by Rev. Mr. Gandier and Rev. Dr. R. P. McKay. The missionaries, who spoke were: Revs. Norman Russell, (Central India), Dr. Woods, medical missionary, Central India; Wilson, Central India; Robbs, Corea; Dr. Menzies and J. Goforth, both of Honan, China.

Didn't Marry for Money.

The Boston man, who lately married a sickly rich young woman, is happy now, for he got Dr. King's New Life Pills, which restored her to perfect health. Infallible for jaundice, biliousness, malaria, fever and ague and all liver and stomach troubles. Gentle, but effective. Only 25c at Jas. Lynch's drug store.

BARGAINS IN SHOREY'S MAKE OF CLOTHING.

The pre-eminent position which the high-class clothing made by Messrs. H. Shorey & Co., of Montreal, holds with the people of Peterborough, is the reason why so much of it is sold by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. The representative of the house made a special visit to Peterborough last week and closed out to H. LeBrun and Co. a very choice selection of Shorey's high-class summer suits for men, young men, boys and children at a reduction of about one-fourth off wholesale prices. Shorey & Co. are preparing for their winter work and made Mr. LeBrun a tempting offer, which the people of Peterborough will get the benefit of. These suits will be sold at one-fourth less than regular prices. They consist of well-tailored garments in fine black worsted, serge and extra tweed. Every suit has a ticket in the pocket of the coat guaranteeing that if anything goes wrong it will be made right. Messrs. LeBrun & Co. also secured a great snap in trousers for working men and for fine wear, which are to be sold at a similar reduction.

THE LATE EX-PREMIER

Everywhere There Is Regret at the Death of Hon. A.S. Hardy.

MANY TRIBUTES TO HIS MEMORY

Premier Ross Speaks of Ontario's Great Loss—Praise From His Old-Time Opponent, Mr. J. P. Whitney—Funeral Services at Toronto on Saturday and at Brantford on Sunday Afternoon.

Toronto, June 15.—The death of the Hon. A. S. Hardy was the main topic of conversation throughout the city and in many parts of the Province yesterday. For the time political views were suppressed, and all united in regret at the ex-Premier's sudden passing, and in appreciation of his great ability, his zeal as a public servant and his courtesy and large-heartedness in private life.

Throughout the day messages of sympathy poured into the family residence on St. Alban's street. Telegrams from leading men in all parts af Canada were received, testifying to many warm friendships which were severed only by the hand of death. Many public men who were brought into personal contact with Mr. Hardy, when asked to give expression of their feelings, did so in words of the warmest friendship and appreciation. Resolutions of sympathy were also passed at the meetings of the Anglican Synod and the Ontario Medical Council. The Board of Control, at a meeting, decided that the City Council should attend the funeral in a body.

Funeral Arrangements.

Final arrangements were made yesterday for the funeral. The service will take place at Mr. Hardy's late residence, 86 St. Alban's street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Canon Welch, rector of St. James' Cathedral, will conduct the service. After the service the remains will be taken to the Union Station, whence they will be conveyed to Brantford by the Canadian Pacific train leaving at 4.40. On arrival in Brantford they will be taken to the Court House. On Sunday they will lie in state from 9 a. m. to 2.30 p. m. At 3 o'clock a memorial service will be held, and the remains taken to Greenwood Cemetery, there to be laid beside the father and mother of the ex-Premier.

A special train will be run from Hamilton to Brantford, connecting with the regular Grand Trunk train leaving Toronto at 1 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. The special will return from Brantford to Hamilton in time to catch the regular 9.30 p. m. train from Hamilton to Toronto.

ONTARIO'S GREAT LOSS.

Premier Ross' Tribute to the Late Hon. A. S. Hardy.

Brockville, June 15.—Premier Ross in speaking of the death of Hon. A. S. Hardy said to a reporter, at the residence of Mr. George P. Graham, M. P. P., yesterday:

"Mr. Hardy was a warm friend, and a man whose word could be received with the utmost confidence in regard to any transaction, public or private. As Commissioner of Crown Lands he laid the foundation of our present park system, which was declared by a member of the United States Congress to be an achievement which in itself entitled him to more than ordinary fame. He also evinced the greatest anxiety to develop the latent resources of the Province, and many of the colonization roads, which were constructed during his time, were projected with the object in view. When Provincial Secretary he had charge of the license branch and the law at present with regard to licenses is chiefly his handiwork. Though not a temperance man, the trend of his legislation was always in favor of temperance and public morality. As Attorney-General the statutes were consolidated in 1897, under his direction, no small undertaking, when the two bulky volumes which compose the revised statutes of 1897 are considered.

"We have lost in Mr. Hardy a man of great energy and great application. Had he pursued a literary course he could have achieved success. For he had certainly a literary instinct beyond the average. As a Liberal and a politician, however, he made for himself a lasting name in his native Province."

From His Old-Time Opponent.

In reply to a message from The Toronto Globe, Mr. J. P. Whitney telegraphed the following from his home in Morrisburg: "The sudden death of Mr. Hardy has been a shock to me. Politically we were very far apart, while personally we were warm friends. I took my seat in the Legislature during the session of 1888 and received a kind welcome from Mr. Hardy the same afternoon. This little attention impressed me very much then, and as time passed my esteem for him increased. He was of a social disposition, very bright and witty in conversation and always ready to appreciate the good points of others. The news of his death will awaken in the minds of many men recollections of pleasant half-hours spent in social companionship when political views and differences were thrown aside entirely.

"I do not care to allude to his political career, except in a general way. The present is not the time, nor am I willing to do so. The party of which he was a prominent member and which he led for a time in high esteem, and, in my opinion, properly so. Mr. Hardy was an able man. He gave his time and ability freely to the performance of his public duties. He was alert and watchful as a party leader and a very ready and very forcible debater. He left office a poor man. I am afraid that what I have said will sound more or less formal. If so, then I will have totally failed to convey my meaning. For many reasons, some of which I have indicated above, others of which must be left untouched, I feel his loss to be a personal one."

Toronto Council at the Funeral.

Toronto, June 15.—Ald. Hubbard and Ald. Lamb took occasion to refer to the loss sustained by the death of Hon. A. S. Hardy at the meeting of the City Council yesterday. Tributes were paid to him as a legislator and a citizen, and the Mayor agreed to call Council together at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon at the City Hall to attend the funeral.

Resolution of Condolence.

Toronto, June 15.—The Medical Council yesterday morning passed a resolution of deep regret at the death of the late Hon. A. S. Hardy. It was moved by Dr. Thorburn, seconded by Dr. Moore, and passed by a unanimous standing vote.

YOU CANNOT CURE PILES

By Internal Remedies.

The only sure way to cure every form of piles is to use a remedy like the Pyramid Pile Cure, which is applied directly to the parts affected, and its wonderful healing effects are apparent from the first application because the medicinal properties are rapidly absorbed by tissues and sensitive membranes of the rectum, and the cure is made speedily and almost before the patient is aware of it every trace of piles has left him.

This is one of the reasons why the Pyramid Pile Cure has been so uniformly successful. It is applied directly, just where it is needed, and where it will do the most good. Not by the roundabout way of the stomach, nor the harsh barbarous methods of various surgical operations and so-called systems.

Direct application to the seat of the disease is the only rational way, and this is fully accomplished by the Pramid Pile Cure.

If the voluntary testimony of thousands who have tried this remedy is worth anything then no sufferer has any excuse for longer delaying in giving it a fair trial, knowing that when you do so the Pyramid Pile Cure will have made one more friend, the best possible advertisement we can have. The chief advantages of the remedy are: It cures without pain, the cure is lasting, it contains no poison, and, lastly, it is the quickest and cheapest cure yet found. Your druggist can tell you what it has done for others.

Testimonials of cures from all parts of the United States will be sent on application to the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich.

James Henigan Killed.

Hamilton, June 15.—James Henigan, the well-known bookmaker and sporting man, met with a fatal accident yesterday morning. While riding his wheel near the City Hall, he ran into a street car and fractured his skull. He died in St. Joseph's hospital an hour afterwards, never regaining consciousness. Deceased was about 42 years of age. He was a whole-souled, genial man, who made friends wherever he went, and lost none of them. He was full of dry humor and an excellent public speaker.

WEAK FROM INFANCY

THE UNFORTUNATE CONDITION OF MISS ERNESTINE CLOUTIER.

As She Grew Older Her Trouble Became More Pronounced—Doctors Said Her Case was one of General Debility, and Held out Small Hope of Recovery—She is now Well and Strong—A Lesson for Parents.

From the Telegraph, Quebec.

No discovery in medicine in modern times has done so much to bring back the rich glow of health and the natural activity of healthy young womanhood to weak and ailing girls as has Dr. William's Pink Pills. Girls delicate from childhood have used these pills with remarkably beneficial effects, and the cherished daughter of many a household has been transformed from a pale and sickly girl into a happy and robust condition by their use.

Among the many who have regained health and strength through the use of Dr. William's Pink Pills is Miss Ernestine Cloutier, the fifteen year old daughter of Mr. G. A. Cloutier, residing at No. 8 Lallemand street, Quebec city. Mr. Cloutier in an interview with a representative of the Telegraph gave the following account of his daughter's illness and recovery: "Almost from infancy my daughter had not enjoyed good health, her constitution being of a frail character. We did not pay much attention to her weakness as we thought that she would outgrow it. Unfortunately this was not the case, and as she grew older she became so weak that I got alarmed at her condition. For days at a time she was unable to take out of doors exercise; she became listless, her appetite failed her, and as time went on she could not stand without supporting herself against something, and at times she would fall in a faint. I called in a doctor but his medicine did not help her and she was growing weaker than ever. Another physician was then consulted, who pronounced her case one of general debility and gave me very little hope for her recovery. Some months ago while reading one of the daily papers I came across the case of a young woman cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so I determined to give them a trial. After she had used about three boxes the colour began to come back to her cheeks and she began to grow stronger. Greatly encouraged by this she continued to use the pills for several months and now she is as well as any girl of her age. Her appetite is good and she has gained thirty-five pounds in weight. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have built up her system and have made her healthy and active after doctors failed to benefit her. I believe that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest known remedy for growing girls and I would advise their use in all cases similar to that of my daughter's."

Miss Cloutier's story should bring hope to many thousands of other young girls who suffer as she did. Those who are pale, lack appetite, suffer from headache and palpitation of the heart, dizziness or a feeling of constant weariness will find renewed health and strength in the use of a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams 'Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Teamsters Are Up in Arms.

Hamilton, June 15.—The Hamilton Teamsters' Union Executive Committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon, and, it is said, ordered a strike on city work. About 200 teams are interested. A member of the union stated that the cause of the trouble is the presence on city jobs of five teams belonging to William Milne, a hotelkeeper, who is not a member of the union. These teams were ordered on by an alderman, although the foreman protested.

The father of Ald. Birrell, an active man around the City Hall, is in the employ of Milne at wages in excess of wages he received from a union employer. It is likely the Board of Works will investigate the matter at once.

Fresh Chinese Proposals.

Paris, June 15.—Despatches received here from Pekin yesterday say the Foreign Ministers are considering fresh proposals from Mr. Rockwell, affecting the Chinese concessions, looking to the payment of the indemnity. The propositions concern minor matters, and may or may not be accepted. But, until they are disposed of, the Ministers will not pronounce a decision as to the manner in which China is to pay the powers, though it is virtually settled that the British proposal will be accepted.

The Anglican Synod.

Toronto, June 15.—At 10 o'clock last night the Anglican Synod concluded its business. The weighty question of introducing a system of voluntary schools in Ontario came up for discussion in the afternoon. The Synod was unwilling to commit itself to any action upon the matter. Delegates will be sent to the Provincial Synod at Montreal in the fall to advocate the formation of a Provincial Synod of Ontario to deal with marriage questions, and so forth.

Message From the King.

Boston, June 15.—The Y. M. C. A. delegates at the jubilee convention last evening received a congratulatory message from King Edward VII., which was followed by the singing of "God Save the King."

Wouldn't Hang the Jury.

An old negro named Ephraim, having been sworn on the jury in a murder trial in one of the southern states, for some time stubbornly resisted a verdict of guilty for no other apparent reason than his strong aversion to capital punishment in general. Finally the foreman explained to him that it was a question either of hanging the prisoner or hanging the jury and that it all depended on him. "'Fo' gracious, suh," replied Uncle Ephraim, "on dem reasonments de prisoner am sho' guilty."

The services in George Street Methodist Church will be in the interests of the Women's Missionary Society. The address in the morning will be given by Mrs. Morrow, formerly Superintendent of the Chinese Girls' Home, Victoria, B.C., and in the evening the pastor, Mr. Wilson, will occupy the pulpit. Special music will be given by the choir, assisted in the morning by Mrs. W. U. Daly, and in the evening by Mrs. Dr. Morgan, Bridgenorth and Miss Florence Carolyn Hall, town.

Always Welcome.

Captain Maurice Lane, of the Str. Manita, which runs on the course between Bobcaygeon and Chemong, was in town yesterday, shaking hands with his numerous friends. Capt. Lane brought down a large number of excursionists from Bobcaygeon and other points, who were conveyed to town by busses from Chemong. Mr. "Jim" Tobin, well-known in local steamboat circles, who is first mate on the Manita, also ran down from Chemong to see his friends here. Capt. Lane and Mate Tobin are a pair of the most genial and obliging officers as are on any boats and are always welcome visitors to Peterborough.

AN ACCIDENT YESTERDAY

That Occurred to Bus When Going to the Circus.

Yesterday afternoon as one of Mr. Whitenholm's busses was going down to the circus grounds, an accident occurred which came very nearly being attended with serious results. When turning out to pass another carriage the street car rails which projected, caused a very sudden jar to the bus and the driver was thrown out. The bus contained a great many people who were going to the circus and a sort of panic ensued. An attempt was made by those who remained in the front seat to gain control of the lines and in a very brave attempt to do so Mr. Robert Missen, the well known hardware traveller, was thrown to the ground and received a very nasty cut in the forehead. The passengers were scattered all over the street until near the bay when a young man named Doris succeeded in getting hold of the lines and brought the horses to a standstill. Concerning the occurrence a prominent citizen of the town writes:

"I beg to call the attention of the Council to the serious matter of the street railway tracks again. What came close to fatal results yesterday afternoon, in the way of a runnaway team going to the circus, is quite all the further warning that should be required to have this matter effectually dealt with in some way acceptable to all parties. As it is, there are two incidents that the public should be informed of in connection with the runaway. Messrs. Robert Missen, of the Sherwin-Williams Co., of Montreal, and Mr. B. Doris, of town, made highly creditable attempts to stop the runaway. The latter gentleman with complete success. Mr. Missen unfortunately got a very bad fall and a painful bruised face and I am sure he will not be able to leave his room this morning. Hoping you may succeed in awakening the public to demand their rights,

Yours, etc.,

Seen in connection with the matter this morning, Mayor Denne pointed out that every effort was being made to cover up the rails and that the steam roller, as soon as finished with the work on George street, would be sent over on Charlotte street.

Sunday Reading.

"Kenosha."

The Examiner has received a neat little Leaflet from Mrs. Maurice Lane, of Bobcaygeon, announcing the beauties of "Kenosha." This resort for summer guests is the old Commercial Temperance House, which for many years held an enviable reputation under the management of Mr. Alex. Orr. The house, now re-opened, has been thoroughly renovated, refurnished and fitted with modern improvements, and it is hoped that under the new management will resume its old position in the estimation of those desirous of a comfortable, pleasant and healthful holiday.

Y.M.C.A. "At Home" Thursday, June 20th, 8 p.m. Hear Peterborough's favourite musical talent. Refreshments. Tickets for admission 10 cents. Proceeds for building furnishing fund.

THE EXAMINER'S NEW PREMISES AND FACILITIES.

The Examiner is now fairly installed and settled in its old quarters, or more strictly speaking, its new premises, for the renovation of the interior and of the exterior of the building occupied since 1885 by the Examiner, has been as complete as if the whole had been built anew. The fire that literally "cleaned out" the Examiner establishment last March, while a severe blow in one sense, left its compensations. Everything had to be new, and that is the present condition. The Examiner can now boast of having the most elegantly and most conveniently equipped buildings and the most complete, modern and up-to-date printing and book-binding establishment in Ontario, outside the large cities, with, perhaps, one exception.

In the commercial and general job printing department will be found the most varied and modern type faces, and the latest styles and conveniences in the way of printing material, and, in a word, the most complete equipment, required by the skilled workmen employed to produce promptly, and in the very highest style of the printing art, all sorts of book and job printing.

Auxiliary to this department are the press rooms, provided with several new electric power presses, combining the most recent improvements, and auxiliary to these is the book-binding department, equipped with the best of new machinery and appliances necessary, along with skilled workmen to turn out the best examples of the book-binder's art in every form, including blank books, ruling, numbering, paging, etc.

The intimation is given the public that the Examiner is prepared to implement whatever orders the public may intrust to its execution, from the newspaper, daily and weekly, printed from new type, with the most striking, modern and effective advertising faces, or from a book of any kind or size to the humblest visiting card, in the very highest style of the art in every department concerned in and necessary to first rate printing.

We have to recognize with thanks the forbearance which our patrons, and the public generally, have extended to the shortcomings incidental to the unsettled and transitory nature of our printing and other facilities in temporary quarters.

But we have changed all that. We are now completely equipped in every way to meet any demand upon our complete resources the kindness of the public may see fit to make.

THE POLICE COURT.

John Black of Hastings in Trouble—Henry Connors, too.

At the police court this morning John Black of Hastings, was fined $2 and $2.25 costs for being drunk and disorderly. John came in to see the circus but the excitement was too much for him. He had no money to pay his fine and went up on the hill very reluctantly, as he said there was no one at home to feed the cattle, but if he could get word to Mr. —— of Hastings, the fine would be paid.

Henry Connors got into trouble some four years ago, and was sentenced to a fine of only a small sum, but even so the fine was not paid. He has behaved very well in the meantime, but yesterday he thought he would celebrate. He is now asked to pay his old fine, and went up on the hill linked hand in hand with his new found acquaintance, Black. While Connors was in the police station last night it is said that he tried to hang himself with his suspenders.

SOME FINE HORSES.

Great Sale of Western Horses on Saturday June 22nd.

On Saturday, June 22nd, people of Peterborough and surrounding district will have another opportunity of procuring first class horses, Mr. John King, the great Kansas stock man, will offer for sale at Kennedy's stock yards, Peterborough, about thirty well bred western horses.

The magnificent horses are colts from one year upwards, served by Kentucky trotting stallions, amongst them being a lot of well matched pairs and some splendid drivers.

Buyers need be under no misapprehension regarding these animals. They are gentle and docile, and are as easily broken as the native horses.

Mr. King has hundreds of testimonials regarding these horses, from those who bought from him before, amongst whom are Messrs. C. Stapleton, Alex. Elliott, Dr. Robinson, Peterborough; Rev. W. Bell, U. S. Government Veterinary Inspector, Kingston; W. M. Ross, Brockville.

On the day of the sale at three o'clock there will be given an exhibition of lassoing to which the ladies of the town are specially invited.

THE CIRCUS PERFORMANCE.

Was First-class in Every Detail—Everybody Pleased.

The Ringling Brothers' Circus have no reason to complain of the business done by them in Peterborough. The attendance was large and the performance undoubtedly first-class. It would be impossible to particularize all the good features, but the slack wire performance of the Holloways was certainly remarkable.

The performance of the trained elephants is probably the greatest achievement in animal training ever presented to a circus audience. People who saw elephants perform as they did yesterday must certainly in future class them with animals who possess high intelligence.

The riding was superb, both of the male and female riders. Crandall, and his trick mule were out of sight.

The clowns were many and funny, and the joke which grandfather used to tell was noticeable by its absence.

The menagerie contained many rare animals from all quarters of the globe, and everything about them, their cages, etc., were clean.

It will be a long time before people forget the magnificent lot of horses which belongs to the show. No such number of fine horses has ever been seen in this locality before.

Everbody is hoping that Ringling Brothers may visit Canada again.

REV. DR. SYMONDS.

His Appointment to Trinity College School Discussed.

The Church Record, in its current issue, says: "The Rev. Dr. Langtry of Toronto, has written to the Mail and Empire a vigorous letter protesting against the appointment of Rev. Dr. Symonds as headmaster of Trinity College School, Port Hope. Dr. Langtry is personally kindly and much loved by those who know him, but he has a genius for controversy and a command of vehement language that is not always edifying. He protests, for instance, that he would as soon put a child in a rattle snake's den as send him to a school presided over by anyone holding Dr. Symonds' views. Dr. Symonds' chief offence appears to be that he is a liberal-minded man, who sees good in other communions outside of the Anglican. He believes that the Christian Church did not begin its work with a fully-matured organization, but that as its work developed, its machinery for doing it developed also. For holding views which are supported by the great names of Lightfoot and Westcott he is held up to scorn as a godless evolutionist! It appears further that Dr. Symonds agrees with some of Canon Driver's critical views. What are his specially dangerous opinions we are not told, but there is a long indictment of the higher criticism in general. Towards some aspects of the higher criticism we find ourselves, as we do not doubt that Dr. Symonds finds himself, as antagonistic as is Dr. Langtry. Reasonable men, however, will not be smitten with panic by a word; the really salient thing to ask is whether men believe that God has spoken to man authoritively in the Bible or left them to the light of nature. The more destructive of the higher critics seem to bear to the latter view, which is, we think, subversive of the whole Christian scheme of life. Those who know anything of Dr. Symonds' faith and aims cannot with justice class him with the higher critics of this school. Canon Welch, the Rector of St. James' Cathedral, writes to the Mail and Empire a spirited rebuke of Dr. Langtry's needless vehemence. Is it too much to hope that we shall have no more controversy in the spirit in which this attack upon Dr. Symonds was begun? Real faith in the word of God should be content to use persuasive language."

IN THE MILITARY WORLD.

Interesting Items of a Local Nature.

A Number of Promotions Gazetted Today—The Shooting in the Association Matches.

The first match of the local series in the Canadian Military Rifle League Competition, took place yesterday at Curtis' Ranges, when the members of No. 1 team, under Capt. Clegg, tried their ability at the target. The rules of competition are slightly changed this year. At 200 yards there is only a seven inch bull's eye, and at 500 to 600 yards there is a 20 inch bull's eye, instead of a 24 inch, as was previously the case.

The scores yesterday were as follows:

Pte. C. Curtis	95
Pte. J. B. Pentland	92
Pte. Geo. Fitzgerald	90
Pte. D. Cameron	90
Pte. A. Blade	89
Capt. S. B. Clegg	75
Capt. Eastwood	72
Sgt. Sturgeon	69
Pte. Joe Gibson	68

Captain C. H. Winslow, of the Millbrook Co., 46th Regt., was in town yesterday.

Lt. Gerald Hayward, who before leaving with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, held a commission in "B" Squadron, Third Dragoons, will again be in camp with his squadron on 10th, at Kingston.

Major Hopkins and eight men of the 45th Victoria Regt., will proceed to camp at 6 a.m., on Monday, 17th inst., to make preliminary arrangements for the camp.

Has Peterborough no Boys' Brigade? Other towns have flourishing organizations of this kind and why should not Peterborough have the same?

The Toronto Boys' Brigade has arranged to go into camp at Belleville this year, the time fixed being about the same time as last year. The Cobourg Company expects to join with the Toronto Boys and help swell the number to something over six hundred.

The 15th Regiment will leave Belleville on the night of June 29th, arriving in Buffalo next day, remaining over Dominion Day, and returning July 2nd, providing, of course, the braves secure permission from Washington. This is likely, as the entrance of the fighters to Uncle Sam's domains could not possibly be construed to mean a menace to the Monroe doctrine.

The Cobourg Post says: "The officers of the local companies of the 40th Regiment are making active preparations for the approaching camp. The armouries are open every night for the purpose of receiving recruits and issuing clothing, etc. So far both companies have received a number of recruits, and it is possible that they will go out full strength. Mr. A. O'Geiger has accepted a Second Lieutenant commission in No. 1 Company."

Major David Sutton, of the 3rd Dragoons, is in town to-day.

Mr. G. H. Williamson, who will have charge of the Y.M.C.A. camp at Kingston, will not go down until Friday next.

The second team of the 57th Regt., in the Military Rifle League Series, is shooting this afternoon.

The next shoot of the first team in this series will be held on June 29th.

Lt. W. T. Hall of "B" Squadron, 3rd Dragoons, is in Millbrook this afternoon, assisting in the work of outfitting the men of his squadron.

Lt.-Col. Rogers of Grafton, formerly commanding officer of the 40th Northumberland Regt., was in town this morning.

The following military promotions are gazetted to-day:

14th Durham Field Battery — To be Lieutenant, Sergt.-Major V. A. Hall, to complete establishment.

3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons — G. F. H. Hayward, having been discharged from special service in South Africa, is reinstated as a lieutenant.

40th Northumberland Regiment — Provisional Second Lieut. D. R. Smith retires. To be Captain, Lieut. J. A. Fraser, vice R. C. Birdsall, appointed Adjutant. To be second lieutenant, provisionally, J. A. S. McGlennon, vice Dr. Smith retired.

45th Victoria Regiment—To be second lieutenant, provisionally, Sergt. W. A. Ellery, to complete establishment.

46th Durham Regiment—To be lieutenant, Second Lieut. W. D. Leach, to complete establishment.

The steamer Hero, of the Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte Steamboat Co., was burned at her dock at Belleville last Thursday night. The origin of the fire is unknown. The Hero will be remembered as the boat that invariably carried "C" Squadron 3rd Dragoons from Picton to Kingston.

New life for a quarter. Miller's Compound Iron Pills. Sold by Wm. Madill.

Moonlight Excursion.

The Canadian General Electric Co. Glee Club will run a moonlight excursion down the river on Monday night, June 24th, per steamer Water Lily and scow. A very fine musical programme will be given during the trip. Only a limited number of tickets will be sold, thus crowding will be avoided. The committee is determined to make this trip a pleasure to everyone. Tickets must be purchased from members of the club, as no tickets will be sold on the boat. Tickets 25 cents. Wm. Hill, H. Allen, J. J. Fullford, D. Holt, J. Legg, G. W. Mulligan, Committee.

An Accident.

A bad accident occurred on Wednesday of last week at the Lakefield Cement Co's gravel pit. The gravel train was running out of the pit when a heavy plank fell off one of the cars, striking a tie on the track. The tie came in contact with the axle of one of the car wheels, which caused it to fly back, hitting Mr. Stewart, Tighe, who was aboard of the car, a terrible blow on the right shoulder. Mr. Tighe was knocked down by the force of the concussion and severely injured. On being taken to his home it was discovered that his collar bone was fractured and that he had received a very severe bruise on the shoulder. Had the plank struck Mr. Tighe on the head he would certainly have been killed.

Mr. H. Rogers came out to Peterborough with the Trinity College School Cricket Club.

Mr. Fred Leach, of Millbrook, who has been in town for a day or two, returned home at noon.

Mrs. Brodigan and Miss Ethel Brodigan, of Toronto, are visiting at the residence of Dr. Caldwell.

Dr. Victor McWilliams has returned from Toronto, where he has been writing on some examinations.

Mr. Henry Johnston, the Hastings millionaire, is in town to-day. He has recently returned from a trip south.

Mrs. J. J. G. Terrill, of Belleville, is spending a week or so with her son, Mr. Alf. Terrill, of the Examiner staff.

Rev. Messrs. Yule of St. Paul's, and Potter, of St. Andrew's, exchange pulpits to-morrow night and will preach to young men.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of Omemee, will conduct all services in St. John's Church to-morrow, Rev. J. C. Davidson taking his place in Omemee.

The Campbellford Despatch says: "Ven. Archdeacon Casey of Peterborough, and Rev. Father McGuire, of Wooler, were guests of Rev. Father McCloskey on Wednesday.

Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. J. M. Gibson and Hon. John Dryden were pallbearers at the funeral of the late Hon. A. S. Hardy to-day. Hon. J. R. Stratton and Hon. E. J. Davis also attended the funeral.

Mr. H. C. Francis, Teller of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, has received notice of his transfer to the Sydney, C.B. Mr. Francis, during his residence in Peterborough made many friends, all of whom will regret to learn of his removal from town.

Mr. S. Dickson Hall, of Richard Hall & Son, leaves this evening on a business trip, to visit the English and European markets. The Peterborough public will no doubt appreciate the enterprise of a local business house in sending a buyer direct to the great centres of fashion where he will have an opportunity of selecting the most up-to-date styles at the lowest market prices. Mr. Hall will sail from Boston on the New England, on Wednesday morning.

Mr. Adam Hall, President of the Canadian Cordage Company, and Mr. R. R. Hall have returned from a business trip to Chicago, where they had access to the McCormick and the Deering works, which are probably the largest binder-twine factories in the world. The factories at Dayton Xenia and Mainisburg were also visited. Arrangements are now under way for the purchase of a modern plant for the equipment of the Canadian Cordage Company's Works.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BOWLING.

In order to accommodate those who could not make arrangements to play of the first draw in the Skip Competition during the week, the time for so doing has been extended until Wednesday. The second draw will be made on Wednesday night from the returns then in the hands of the Secretary.

As soon as the rinks are selected for the season. Trophy play will be started at once.

GOLF.

A large number of the men are playing off their second draw in the Stratton Trophy Competition this afternoon.

The Eganville Star has discovered that Noah Webster, when not otherwise engaged on his dictionary, wielded the brassy and chased the gay golf ball. Here is Noah's soul-stirring, not to say thrilling, definition of the game of golf: "A game played with a small ball and a bat or club crooked at the lower end. He who drives the ball into each of a series of small holes in the ground, and brings it into the last hole with the fewest strokes is the winner."

BASEBALL.

The Port Hope baseball team arrived in town this morning and are playing the local nine on the P.A.A.A. grounds.

FOOTBALL.

The Centreville Football Team has been organized with the following officers:

Capt.—Percy Donaldson.
Sec.-Treas.—Fred Deyell.
Committee—Ab. Reynolds, John Rutherford, Arthur Wood, with the Captain and Sec.-Treasurer.

The team practices on Tuesday and Saturday evenings and is open for games with any of the local teams.

CRICKET.

The Trinity College School Second eleven are in town to-day and will play the Peterborough Colts this afternoon on the Nicholls Oval.

The Millbrook Junior Cricket Club has organized for the ensuing year, and has elected the following officers:

Pre.—Mr. H. M. Wood.
1st Vice-Pres.—F. J. Leach.
2nd Vice-Pres.—B. Whyte.
Capt.—H. Leach.
Treas.—H. Collins.
Sec.—G. Scotheran.

Here is a chance for the Junior Colts to get on a game.

A BIT OF DIPLOMACY.

CLEVER TRICK OF AN ENGLISH GOVERNOR OF THE PORT OF ADEN.

The Curious Story Connected With the White House of Bab-el-Mandeb. A Monument of the Undoing of a French Admiral.

On the foreshore of the Arabian coast in the strait of Bab-el-Mandeb, at the southern entrance to the Red sea, stands a large white house concerning which the travelers to the far east may hear a curious story. In the middle of the nineteenth century, when M. de Lesseps, after many difficulties, had successfully floated the Suez Canal company, the governor of the British port of Aden, about 100 miles distant, was surprised one morning by the visit of a French squadron of very unusual size for that part of the orient which, having encountered a terrific storm off Sokotra, had put in for repairs.

In the mind of the governor curiosity was at once aroused as to the destination of so large a command, a curiosity which increased as he found it impossible to extract any further information from the French admiral or his officers beyond the statement that they were upon an ordinary cruise, an explanation which the former was not the least inclined to believe.

Firm in the belief, therefore, that some political move of great importance was afloat if not afoot, the governor, in order first of all to gain time, gave orders to go very tortoiselike on the repairs and then set to work to take the Frenchmen off their guard by giving a succession of such entertainments as both his slender means and the awful barrenness of the place would afford.

But though at the end of two weeks the French and British officers had got upon the best of terms the immediate destination of the French squadron remained as much of a mystery to the governor of Aden as before, and in spite of all possible delay the repairs were nearly completed.

Now, it happened that the wife of the governor possessed an Irish maid, who had been receiving attentions from one of the French petty officers—attentions which the girl did not regard seriously. It occurred to the governor that by such means something might be learned of his unexpected visitor's plans, and a private conversation between the governor's wife and her maid resulted in another between the latter and her French admirer, by which it was discovered that Perim island was the objective point.

At this information the governor opened his eyes wide indeed, for, if the Suez canal were cut through, Perim, as commanding the southern entrance to the Red sea, in the middle of the strait of Bab-el-Mandeb, would be a place of great strategic importance, over which, without doubt, it was the intention of the French admiral to hoist the tricolor.

Secretly giving orders, therefore, for a gunboat to immediately embark a detachment of soldiers and steal away in the night for Perim island, the governor then announced a farewell banquet and ball for the day but one following, a final act of courtesy with which the French admiral would willingly have dispensed, for he was anxious to sail, but which he could not well refuse on account of the use he had made of the British supplies and machinery at Aden.

So the dinner and party in due course came off, the governor being in high spirits, because in the meantime he had received the news of the occupation of Perim, which under the circumstances would surely be followed by the longed for promotion, and the French admiral was equally happy, for he hoped on the morrow to add the same important little speck of land to the dominion of his own country, thereby covering his breast wi'' the stars and himself with maritime glory.

Next day, after an interchange of cordial farewells, the French squadron sailed away to an apparently unknown destination, until, when clear of the land, the course was laid full speed direct for Perim island.

Then what was the dismay and disappointment of the French admiral and his officers when, on coming in sight of their destination, they beheld the British flag flying and a company of soldiers drawn up to give them a proper salute. It is said the French admiral was so mortified at being thus outwitted that he first flung his cocked hat overboard and then followed it himself into the sea.

Be this as it may, as Perim was clearly already occupied by the British, the only counter move which the French could make was to take possession of a strip of the foreshore on the opposite Arabian coast, where they built the fortified white house in question, but as the place was entirely at the mercy of the guns on Perim island it was shortly abandoned, to remain to this day as a monument of a French admiral's undoing.—Exchange.

RUBBER HISTORY.

Man That Came With Columbus Saw Haitians Playing Ball.

"The world was a long time learning the uses and value of rubber," says H. E. Armstrong in Ainslee's. "For two centuries after the Spaniards saw the gum in the hands of natives of the new world it was little more than a curiosity. Old Herrea, who went with Columbus on his second voyage, made a note of an elastic ball which was molded from the gum of a tree. At their games the nude Haitians made it bound high in the air. The Aztecs were familiar with the gum and called it ule, and from them the Spaniards learned to smear it on their coats to keep out the wet. They had crossed the seas for gold and never dreamed of a time when the sticky milk the uncouth Indians drew from strange trees would be worth more than the treasure of the hills.

"Jose, king of Portugal, in 1555, comes down to us as the wearer of a pair of boots sent out to Para to be covered with a waterproof gum. Yet 300 years were to elapse before a Connecticut Yankee should make a pair of boots of rubber which would not decompose. Dr. Priestly, author of a work on 'Perspective,' now forgotten, recorded that caoutchouc (pronounced kachook) was useful in small cubes for rubbing out pencil marks; hence the name rubber. The India linked with it refers to the savages who gathered it in the Amason wilderness. Dr. Priestly's cubes were half an inch long and sold for 3 shillings, or 75 cents, apiece—a stiff price, for the finest rubber today is $1 a pound. Its price for ten years has ranged from 62 cents to $1.00.

"The conversion of the gum to useful purposes made but slow headway. The first waterproof cloth in 1707 was the work of an Englishman. It was tentative, and, of course, it would not stand heat. In 1823 Charles Mackintosh of Glasgow discovered naphtha and, dissolving rubber in it, produced a varnish which, when spread on cloth, made it really impervious to water. Most of the rubber used in the world still comes from equatorial South America, and the forests where the Indians gathered ule are as dense today and almost as little known to white men as in the time of Cortes."

Bronchitis is now Epidemic.

Bronchitis is becoming very prevalent, but is not now incurable for Catarrhozone cures even the worst cases. Catarrhozone Inhaler sends the healing medicated air into every air passage in head, bronchial tubes and lungs; it reaches the germs and destroys them. Catarrhozone soothes and cures the dry cough and feverishness, and the laborious breathing and soreness in the wind-pipe are relieved at once. When Catarrhozone is inhaled, Bronchitis is cured in one to five days. It has been extensively used, and never once failed. Even cases of 5, 10 and 20 years standing that have baffelled the skill of the best physicians, have been cured by Catarrhozone. Your doctor can tell you that Catarrhozone is one of the grandest discoveries of the century, and that he always prescribes it for Bronchitis, Asthma and Catarrh. Get it to-day and be cured. Price $1.00; small size 25 cents, at druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Too Classic For Them.

A resident in a small suburban town had a visit from a German friend who knew little English, but played the violin well. One of this resident's neighbors gave a "musicale," and of course he and his visitor were invited. The German took his violin, and when his turn came he played one of his best pieces from one of the great masters.

When he had finished, there was an awkward silence and no applause. The people were still looking expectantly at the German, who looked disappointed and flustered. The silence grew painful.

Finally the hostess, quite red in the face, edged over to the side of the German's friend.

"Can't you get him to?" she whispered.

"What do you mean?"

"Why, now that he's got tuned up, isn't he going to play something?"—London Tit-Bits.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N.Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Jas. Lynch. Trial bottles free.

Why They Were Selected.

It has been recorded that General Henry Knox, in 1733, was the "greatest" of 11 distinguished officers of the army, weighing 280 pounds. Noah Brooks, in his book entitled "Henry Knox," gives the following incident relating to the general's full habit:

With a Captain Sargent, he was selected to present the hard case of the starving and naked men at Valley Forge to the attention of a committee of congress. One of the congressmen, wishing to show his wit and sarcasm, said that he had never seen a fatter man than General Knox nor a better dressed man than his associate.

Knox managed to keep his temper and remained silent, but his subordinate retorted, "The corps, out of respect to congress and themselves, have sent as their representatives the only man who had an ounce of superfluous flesh on his body and the only other man who possessed a complete suit of clothes."

All Liver and Stomach Troubles cured by Miller's Granules. Sold by Wm. Madill.

Inopportune.

"I just saw the young Widow Weeds. She looked just charming in her mourning," said the pretty woman.

"I suppose," remarked her crotchety husband, "that you wouldn't mind being a widow yourself."

"Oh, it's hateful of you to talk that way, when you know I've got a blue silk waist that I haven't worn yet."

Parrots.

Some parrots are very quick in acquiring words and are generally fond of displaying these new acquisitions, but occasionally a bird will be profoundly silent until the teacher despairs of her mastering a certain phrase or word; then all at once and unexpectedly the "scholar" will repeat her lesson.

FAUST'S WILD CHARGE.

It Sent Marguerite Flying In Terror From the Stage.

The name of the hero of this anecdote I shall not give you, for he has long since been gathered to his fathers. Let it suffice that in his heyday he was one of the greatest tenors who ever sang to a breathless and enthusiastic audience. He had a penchant, however, for the red, red wine, which in the end proved his undoing and ultimately provided a pathetic ending for an otherwise great career. In his prime his drinking seemed only to affect his legs, but never his head or voice. He could always sing and sing true, but at times he had no more ability to guide his wandering footsteps than has a sufferer in the last stages of locomotor ataxia.

At one time, when he was singing Faust to Emma Abbott's Marguerite, he appeared at the opera house in an apparently hopeless condition. The management was wild, but there was no one to take his place, and so they had to chance it with him as Faust. All went well until they came to that scene where Faust, in leaving Marguerite, crosses the stage and then, giving way to an impulse, rushes back and kisses Marguerite yet once again ere taking his departure.

Faust on this occasion got to the other side of the stage all right, but trouble arose when he tried to get back. Marguerite sits in the window of her cottage, and Faust comes back and kisses her through the window. Faust measured the distance with a wabbling eye, but made a start when his cue was given. Then he seemed to lose control of himself. One-quarter way across he was trotting, one-half way the trot was a run, and the remainder of the way it had become a gallop.

Up to this point Miss Abbott stood her ground bravely, but that rapidly approaching figure awed her, and with a frightened scream she fled. Faust, poor Faust, charged on. He reached the place he had last seen Marguerite and essayed to clasp the atmosphere in outstretched arms. Then his impetus carried him through the window, and all that the astounded audience looked upon were his waving legs. Somebody pushed him back, and, absolutely undisturbed, he finished the opera, singing in an unusually superb manner. Not so with the unfortunate Marguerite, however, for from then on she was suffering from a case of "rattles," which in simple justice should have been the property of Faust.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"It is jolly to be rich," said Ethel, clicking her skates together. "It's a bother at times, however, to know what to do with the money. I buy so many things I do not need just because I feel compelled to spend my allowance."

"It must be very inconvenient," I observed.

"And now that you are a man of leisure," said Phyllis, "you will write that book you have always been telling me about?"

"Do you wish it?" I asked.

"I do. What I have always found lacking in you is application. You start out to accomplish something, you find an obstacle in your path, and you do not surmount it. You do not persevere."

My pulse beat quickly. Was there a double meaning to what she said? I could not tell, for her eyes remained averted.

I sighed. "It would be nice to become a successful author, but when a man is as rich as I am, fame tarnishes." I took out an envelope from my pocket.

"What is that?" asked Phyllis.

I turned over the back and showed it to her.

"Figures!" she laughed. "What do they mean?"

"It is what I am going to do with my fortune," said I. I was holding out my vanity at arm's length and laughing at it silently.

And then—and then they sped away.

"Your air castles will be realized now," said Phyllis.

"I shall build no more," said I. "The last one gave me a very bad fall."

Phyllis looked away again. A vague perfume from her hair wafted past my nostrils, and for a space I was overwhelmed with sadness. Soon I discerned Mr. Holland speeding toward us.

"I shall not see you again," I said, "so I'll bid you goodby now. If you should chance to come abroad this summer, do not fail to look me up."

"Good luck to you," said Ethel, snapping my hand. "You must bring home a princess or a duchess." Then she moved off a way, thoughtfully.

"You must write to me occasionally, Jack," said Phyllis, "if only once a month. I shall always be interested in your career." The smile faltered as she put out her gloved hand.

"You will make some man happy, Phyllis," I said.

"Goodby."

"Goodby."

And then—and then they sped away, and I followed them with dimming gaze till I could see them no more. I trudged home.

* * * * * * *

I stood on the upper deck. The spires and domes of the city faded on my sight till all merged into a gray, smoky patch on the horizon. With a dead cigar clinched between my teeth I watched and watched with a callous air, as though there had been no wrench, as though I had not left behind all I loved in the world. And yet I gazed, the keen salt air singing past my ears till there was nothing but the sea as far as the eye could scan.

Thus I began the quest of the elusive, which is a little of love, a little of adventure and a little of all things.

CHAPTER III.

Hillars hadn't been down to the office in two days, so the assistant said.

"Is he ill?" I asked, as I carried a chair to the window.

"Ill?" The young man coughed affectedly.

"Do you believe it possible for him to come in this afternoon?"

"It is quite possible. One does not use the word impossible in regard to Hillars. It is possible that he may be in St. Petersburg by this time, for all I know. You see," with an explanatory wave of the hand, "he's very uncertain in his movements. For the last six months he has been playing all over the table, to use the parlance of the roulette player. I have had to do most of the work and take care of him into the bargain. If I may take you into my confidence"—with some hesitancy.

"Certainly," said I. "I want you to tell me all about him. He was my roommate at college. Perhaps I can straighten him up."

"The truth is, the trouble began last September. He came back from the continent, where he had been on an errand, a changed man. Hillars always drank, but never to an alarming extent. On his return, however, he was in a bad shape. It was nearly November before I got him sobered up, and then he went under on an average of three times a week. I asked him bluntly what he meant by it, and he frankly replied that if he wanted to drink himself to death that was his business. When he isn't half seas over, he is gloomy and morose. From the first I knew that something had gone wrong on the mainland, but I couldn't trap him for a farthing. No man at his age drinks himself to death without cause; I told him so, but he only laughed at me. I'd give a good deal to know what the truth is; not from curiosity, mind you, but to find the disease in order to apply a remedy. Dan's father died of drink."

"No," said I coldly; "he was shot."

"Oh, I know that," was the reply, "but give a conditioned man the same wound and he will recover nine times out of ten. The elder Hillars was so enervated by drink that he had no strength to fight the fever which came on top of the bullet hole. Something happened over there, and it's pounds to pence there's a woman back of the curtain. It is some one worth while. Hillars is not a man to fall in love with a barmaid."

I began to respect the young man's wisdom.

"So you believe it to be a woman?"

"Yes; the wind blows from one point at a time. There are four points to the vane of destiny—there is ambition for glory, ambition for power, ambition for wealth and ambition for love. In Hillars' case, since the wind does not blow from the first three, it must necessarily blow from the fourth. You know him better than I do, so you must certainly know that Hillars is not a man to drink because glory or power or wealth refused to visit him."

"Yes are a very discerning young man," said I, whereat he laughed. "Did he get my cable?"

"No; I thought that it was some order from headquarters and opened it myself. I put it in his desk. I spoke to him, but he was too drunk to pay any heed to what I said. Well, I must be going. I am getting out a symposium of editorials from the morning papers on the possibility of a Franco-Russian alliance. It must be at the cable office in half an hour. If you are going to wait, you'll find the Berlin and Paris files in the next room. I'll see you later," and he departed.

It was 5 of the clock. The Strand was choked. Here and there I saw the color of martial attire. Save for this and that the buildings were low and solid and that most of the people walked slower, I might have been looking down upon Broadway for all the change of place I saw. There is not much difference between New York and London except in the matter of locomotion. The American gets around with more rapidity than does his English cousin, but in the long run he accomplishes no more. It is only when one steps on to the continent that the real difference in the human races is discerned. Strange as this may seem, it is not distinguishable in a cosmopolitan city. Suddenly my roving eyes rested upon a familiar face. It was Hillars, and he was pushing rapidly across the street. Any one would have instantly marked him for an American by the nervous stride, the impatience at being obstructed. I went into the fireroom, intending to give him a little surprise. I did not have long to wait. The door to the main office opened, and he came in singing a snatch from a drinking song we used to sing at college. The rich baritone that had once made the old glee club famous was a bit husky and throaty.

"Dick!" he called. "Hi, Dick! Well, I'm hanged!" Evidently he had discovered my cable.

"Dick isn't in," said I, crossing the threshold.

In a moment our hands were welded together, and we were gazing into each other's eyes.

"You old reprobate!" I cried. "Not to have met me at the station even."

"Bless my soul, Jack, this cable was the first intimation that you were within 3,000 miles of London. But it does my heart good to see you!" pumping my hand again. "Come out to dinner with me. Now don't begin to talk till we've had something to eat. I'm almost famished. I know all the questions you want to ask, but not now. There's a Bohemian joint a block above that'll do your heart good to see. We'll have chops and ale, just like we did in the old days, the green and salad days. I would they were back again," soberly. "Oh, I've a long story to tell you, my son. Time enough when we get to my rooms. But not a word of it now—not a word. It will all be forgotten in ten minutes with you. We'll rake up the old days and live 'em over for an hour or so. I'm glad that I suggested you in my letter. What did the old man say about my nervous prostration?" with half a laugh.

"He put quotation marks around it," I answered. "I wanted to see you particularly. They told me that you were rolling down hill so fast that if some one did not put a fulcrum under you you'd be at the bottom in no time at all. I'm going to be the lever by which you are to be rolled up hill again."

He smiled grimly. "If any one could do that—well, here we are." And we entered the chophouse and took a table in one of the side rooms. "Wooda," he said to the waiter, "chops for two, chipped potatoes, and fill up those steins of mine with ale. That will be all. I brought those steins from across, Jack. You'll go crazy over them, for they are beauties."

A college bred bachelor nine times out of ten has a mania for collecting pipes or steins or both. Dan and I had been affected this way. During the year I had studied at Heidelberg I had gathered together some fifty odd pipes and steins. I have them yet, and many a pleasant memory they beget me. As for the steins of Dan, they were beyond compare.

"I'll tell you a story about them," said Dan after he had taken a deep swallow of the amber ale. "Few men can boast of steins like these. Not many months ago there was a party of men and women, belonging to the capital of a certain kingdom, who attended a dinner. It was one of those times when exalted personages divest themselves of the dignity and pomp of court and become free and informal. There were 200 of these steins made especially for the occasion. By a circumstance over which I had no control I was the only alien at this dinner. The steins were souvenirs. How I came by two was due to the lady whom I took down to dinner and who presented hers to me after having—after having—well, kissed the rim. Do you see the crest?" pointing to the exquisite inlaid work.

"Why," I said eagerly, "it is the crest of"—

"Yes, a noted king," Dan completed, "and these were made by his express command. But never mind," he broke off, "it's merely a part of the story I am going to tell you when we get to my rooms. I am always thinking of it, night and day, day and night. Talk to me or I'll be drinking again. This is the first time I've been sober in a month. It's drink or morphine or something like. Do you ever see anything of the old glee boys?"

"Once in awhile. You know," said I, lighting a cigarette, "all the fellows but you and I had money. Most of them are carrying on the business of their paters and ornamenting dinner parties and cotillons."

"I thought that you had a rich uncle," said Dan.

"I did have, but he is no more." And I told him all about the bequest.

He laughed so long and heartily over it that I was glad for his sake that it had happened. Already I was beginning to look wholly upon the humorous side of the affair.

"It is almost too good not to be printed," he said. "But his son may square matters when he dies."

"I do not want matters squared," I growled. "I can earn a living for a few years to come. I shan't worry."

"By the way, is that Miss Landors whom you used to rave about in your letters married yet?"

"No." Miss Landors was Phyllis only to her intimate friends. I called the waiter and ordered him to replenish my stein, Dan watching me curiously the while. "No, Miss Landors is not married yet."

"I have often wondered what she looked like," he mused.

"When do you go on your vacation?" I asked irrelevantly.

"In a week or ten days—maybe tomorrow. It's according to how long I stay sober."

VARICOCELE

No matter how serious your case may be or how long you may have had it our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure it. The "enemy veins" return to their normal condition and hence the sexual organs receive proper nourishment. The organs become vitalized and manly powers return. No temporary benefit, but a permanent cure assured. NO CURE, NO PAY. NO OPERATION NECESSARY. NO DETENTION FROM BUSINESS.

STRICTURE

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, sharp, cutting pains at times, weak organs, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue, hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened, the nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

Cures Guaranteed

We treat and cure BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, IMPOTENCY, STRICTURE, VARICOCELE, SEMINAL LOSSES, BLADDER and KIDNEY DISEASES. CONSULTATION FREE. BOOKS FREE. CHARGES MODERATE. If unable to call, write for a QUESTION BLANK for HOME Treatment.

Gained 23 Pounds in Weight as Result of Taking Powley's Liquified Ozone.

316 Dovercourt Rd Toronto. April 6th 1901

Ozone Company Toronto.

Gentlemen

I have pleasure in testifying to the benefit I have received from the use of Ozone. I have had serious trouble with my kidneys for about four years, and was generally run down from overwork, my nervous system being quite shattered.

About four months ago I began using Ozone, and to-day I am quite a new man in every respect. Kidney trouble entirely disappeared, and my system generally is thoroughly built up, in fact, I have gained 23 pounds weight.

I know of numerous cases where I have recommended Ozone, and in none of which it has failed to do what was expected of it.

I am faithfully
Chas. F. Davis
Inspector.

The only thing that will appeal to you is what Powley's Liquified Ozone does. We say that it will cure disease, because it is condensed oxygen, and therefore the most natural way to cure disease known. We don't ask you to take our word for that—we give you the statements of reputable people—men and women who are responsible and influential citizens of the Dominion, showing what Powley's Liquified Ozone has done for them. You can write to these people. You'll find every one of our testimonial givers most happy to say a good word for Powley's Liquified Ozone because it has done them so much good.

50c and $1.00, all druggists. If you want any information regarding the treatment we will give you all the advice we can. Write the Ozone Co., of Toronto, Limited, 48 Colborne St., Toronto, or the Liquified Ozone Co., 229 Kinzie St., Chicago, Ill.

THE DOCTRINES OF MADAME EDDY

Christian Science Healer States Her Position.

USES HER POWER SPARINGLY

Clears Some Points Raised in the Recent Libel Suit of Mrs. Woodbury.

Boston, June 14th.—Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy has given out a statement concerning her attitude to Mrs. Woodbury, who has just lost her libel suit for $150,000, against the founder of Christian Science. Mrs. Eddy also touches upon her views in general concerning the discipline of the church, her position as teacher, and her beliefs as to the Bible.

The statement is made through Edward A. Kimball, of Chicago, who has been in Boston for the last ninety days assisting Mrs. Eddy in preparing her defence in the Woodbury case. Mr. Kimball makes the following explanations on behalf of Mrs. Eddy:

"Mrs. Eddy has solemnly declared from the first that she did not allude to the plaintiff when writing about the Babylonish woman and the only dignified and consistent course open to her is to rest peacefully on that declaration, and let others contend, if they will.

"Mrs. Eddy does not believe, or teach, or want anyone else to believe that she is infallible. We and she believe in the infallibility of God only.

"She does not think that she is the 'woman clothed in the sun' spoken of in Revelation. She does not teach or want anyone to believe that. On the contrary, we do not believe that the word 'woman' means any woman, but rather refers to conditions of thought, or the revelations of truth.

"The witness did not explain our belief about Mrs. Eddy because there is no formulated belief on the subject. She discovered Christian Science and founded or established Christian Science as a religious belief or faith. It may be said in a general way that Christian Scientists regard her as the one who has perceived this spiritual science, and all one who, by reason of her moral and spiritual culture has become the logical, beloved and well-equipped leader of this denomination. She is generally recognized as being one of the foremost religious teachers of the age.

"She has never taught privately or otherwise any theories concerning generation or any of the phenomena of existence contrary to or in addition to those which have been uniformly presented in her classes and stated in her books. In her work '-Retrospection and Introspection,' she writes: 'We do not question the authenticity of the scriptural narrative of the virgin mother and Bethlehem Babe, and the Messianic mission of Christ Jesus, but in our time no Christian Scientists will give chimerical wing to his imagination or advance speculative theories as to the reoccurrence of such events.'

"Regarding the effort made to show the exercise of unusual control by her over the affairs of the church, it may be said that the by-laws of our church are originated by her, or by the directors, or by the 'first members,' but they are not adopted without her approval. On the other hand, no by-law can be enforced unless the church does enact it. These by-laws do seem to lodge with her considerable discretion or veto power, but it is not for any other purpose than to maintain the integrity of the denomination and its affairs. As a matter of fact she seldom exercises any of her privileges provided for, and all of our branch churches are independent organizations.

"Regarding the comment about Mrs. Eddy's income and financial affairs, the facts are that there are over 500 church societies in our denomination. None of the usual provisions has been made for the financial support of the central denominational organization. Other churches take up quarterly and annual collections for this purpose; we have none. The only money we get for such purpose is derived from the sale of literature, including Mrs. Eddy's works. I think that during the last five years a very large part of her means have been devoted to the advancement of the cause.

"I am convinced that Mrs. Woodbury made a great mistake in assuming that Mrs. Eddy was willing to do her gratuitous injury. Some day she may learn that she has made a mistake and realize that Mrs. Eddy was ever a tender, loving teacher, intent upon the genuine welfare of a student. I have never yet talked with anyone who said he thought that the reference Mrs. Eddy made meant a person."

BACKACHE

No more Backache or Kidney Troubles need be endured.

Read the statement made here by a reliable citizen, and if you have an ache or a pain go at once to the nearest drug store and get a box of Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. There need be no doubt about their efficacy for all forms of kidney troubles. Here is the proof: Mr. W. A. McLean, a well-known Toronto citizen says: "I am willing to answer all questions, by letter or personal, about Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. No one can do it with more certainty, for I have tested the medicine and know what I speak of. I would not recommend Dr. Arnold's Pills, nor any other medicine, if I did not know it to be good. Now, I do know Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills to be good. I have used them. I've used other medicines as well. I had Kidney complaint and Backache for three years, and took various remedies in hopes of effecting a cure. I got no relief, however, till I began using Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. Now, when I started using them I was in severe pain, was very nervous and could hardly straighten myself. I had difficulty in urinating and the liquid was of a brick red colour. I took three boxes of Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills, and no wam completely cured. I mean what I say—I am cured. My back is strong and free from pain or ache; I can eat and sleep well, the urinary trouble are gone, and I feel ten years younger than I did before I began using Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. Anyone wishing any further information may apply to me, and I will cheerfully give it.

CARD OF THANKS.

Peterborough, June 13, 1901.

Messrs. Davis, Thompson & Co.,
Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Sirs, — It has been our intention for some time to write you in reference to our loss by fire, but the matter has been overlooked. However, at this late date we beg to thank you and your company, for the kind attention and prompt and liberal settlement of our claim.

It was a great convenience to us to have the loss adjusted the day after the fire, thus enabling us to have the necessary repairs made and work resumed without further delay.

We have no hesitation in recommending your office to the insuring public.

Yours truly,
MANN & BEAVIS.

Perhaps 30 Are Dead.

Port Royal, Pa., June 15.—Rumors were abroad yesterday that more men than the 18 first accounted for are buried in the Port Royal mine. Two men from Smithton have been missing since the night of the explosion, and a story is being circulated that the number of unknown victims will reach thirty.

Reciprocity With Canada.

Boston, June 14.—A special meeting of the Boston Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday, and the following memorial was adopted:

To His Excellency, the President:

The Boston Chamber of Commerce earnestly petitions that such steps as are necessary be taken to reconvene the United States and British joint commission for the purpose of preparing, on the basis of equivalent concessions, a reciprocal trade agreement between the United States and Canada, which may be brought before Congress for its approval at its next session.

Canada Is Excluded

Berlin, June 14.—Canada is specially excepted in the official announcement that the Federal Council, on the basis of the law of May 28, has decided, from July 30, to extend to the products of Great Britain and her colonies the most favored nation treatment.

YOUNG REDPATH FIRED THE SHOTS.

They Resulted in Death of Himself and Mother—Jury's Verdict.

Montreal, June 15.—The terrible shooting affair at the Redpath home, Sherbrooke street, has caused the deepest regret throughout the city. It appears now that the son fired the fatal shots. The coroner's jury delivered the following verdict: "That Mrs. Redpath came to her death by the gunshot wounds inflicted by her son, Clifford Redpath, while in a fit of temporary insanity, brought on by an epileptic fit, and while unconscious of what he was doing, and that at the same time he came to his death by a gunshot wound inflicted by himself."

The evidence of the physicians showed that Mrs. Redpath had been shot in the right shoulder, and the back of the head, and that her son had been shot in the left temple.

TRAIN KILLS FOUR.

Clear View of the Track Was Shut Off From Persons in a Carriage.

Flint, Mich., June 15.—The Pere Marquette passenger train yesterday struck a double carriage and instantly killed these four well-known people: Major George W. Buckingham, Flint; Miss Abbie Buckingham, Flint; Mrs. Thomas Applegate, Adrian, and Mrs. William Humphrey, Adrian. Several factory buildings adjoin the track at Hamilton avenue and prevent a clear view of the track. Major Buckingham drove directly in front of the train, which was traveling at high speed.

Boy Shot Himself Dead.

Toronto, June 15.—Another sad fatality occurred yesterday afternoon at 701 Yonge street, when 6-year-old Harry Sedgwick shot and killed himself while playing with a revolver. It was a little after 4 o'clock when the boy returned home from school, and in putting the books away till Monday morning he discovered a revolver, owned by his father.

With childish glee he carried the weapon down stairs to the store, where his 10-year-old sister, Olive, was playing, and showed her what he had found. The two children then began to examine the revolver, thinking it was not loaded. It exploded. The bullet entered the boy's head behind and above the left ear. Almost instantly the lad fell to the floor and became unconscious. Notwithstanding the best medical efforts the boy expired in less than half an hour.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Will Fortify and Protect the Weak and Sickly.

A time of danger to the physically weak and broken down is coming. The hot and trying days of July and August test the strength and endurance of even the strongest men and women. It is terrible to think of what the sick and ailing must suffer in the weltering days of midsummer. Inflamed nerves, sleeplessness, physical exhaustion, impure blood, slow circulation, tired stomach, with liver and kidneys deranged, will leave thousands in agony and peril.

To avoid suffering and danger, Paine's Celery Compound should be used at this time. For the banishment of disease, for the recruiting of strength and spent energy, there is nothing equal to it. The remarkable power of Paine's Celery Compound over disease lies in its active replacing of wornout parts by new, healthy ones, and its healing and purifying action among the most minute tissues of the body.

Paine's Celery Compound induces the nerves and brain to feed themselves more liberally, and saves men and women from chronic neuralgia, rheumatism, sleeplessness and failing mental power. The use of a few bottles of Paine's Celery Compound this month will put the weak and sickly in a condition to battle against the terrors and dangers of the hot weather.

Never Washed Herself.

Benevolent Old Lady (to little girl)—My little dear, do you wash your face and hands every morning?

"No, mum."

"Good gracious! That's perfectly dreadful. Do you wash your face in the middle of the day?"

"No, mum."

"Dear me! When do you wash yourself?"

"I never washes."

"Horrible! It is shocking how depraved the lower classes are! I must organize a society to see that children are properly washed. Tell me, little one, do you really never wash yourself?"

"No, mum. Mamma washes me every morning."

Nervous Dyspepsia.

How it shakes one up, invades sleep, destroys strength, adds a real misery to life. Not the stomach but the nerves are affected. You need Ferrozone because its a great nerve food. It supplies the elements that are needed to make rich red blood. This is the savings bank of health. The richer the blood in red cells, the richer you're sure to be in health. Ferrozone quickly makes blood, strengthens the nervous system, strengthens the digestive organs and presto! the nervous disturbance disappears. Sold by Ormond and Walsh.

She Was Willing.

"And do you really and truly love me?" asked Miss Frocks.

"I love you madly," replied Clarence T. Brainbridge. "I'd die for you."

"If I only could believe that," mused the maiden, "and if I could induce him to insure his life in my favor first!"

But she hesitated to mention the matter to him, and he went away dejected.

Gossip.

There is at least this to be said to the credit of whisky: It never looks you up; it will let you alone if you let it alone. Gossip hunts you up whether you are in the game or not.

CAPTURED A CONVOY.

A British Success Against the Enemy Under Dewet.

VICTORIAN RIFLES SURPRISED.

British Casualties Were 60 Men, Besides Those Taken Prisoners by the Boers and Afterwards Released—Two Pompoms Were Also Captured by the Enemy—Probably Due to Lax Picketing.

London, June 17.—Lord Kitchener telegraphs the War Office from Pretoria under Saturday's date as follows:

"During the march from Vrede (Orange River Colony) Elliot's column engaged the enemy under Dewet on June 6, and after severe fighting captured a convoy of 71 loaded wagons, 45 prisoners, 58 rifles, 10,-000 rounds of ammunition and 4,000 cattle.

"The Boers left 17 killed and 3 wounded on the field. Our casualties were 3 officers and 17 men killed and 1 officer and 24 men wounded."

VICTORIAN RIFLES SURPRISED.

Suffered Severely at Hands of the Enemy at Steenskoolspruit.

London, June 17.—Lord Kitchener has cabled from Pretoria, under today's date, as follows:

"Near Welmansrust, 20 miles south of Middleburg, 250 Victorian Mounted Rifles from General Beaton's column were surprised in camp at Steenkoolspruit by a superior force of Boers at 7.30 p. m., June 12. The enemy crept up to within short range, and poured a deadly fire into the camp, killing two officers and 16 men, and wounded four officers and 38 men, of whom 28 were slightly wounded. Only two officers and 50 men escaped to General Beaton's camp. The remainder were taken prisoners, and released. Two pompons were captured by the enemy. Full details have not yet been received."

The Serious Reverse.

London, June 17.—The serious reverse which Lotd Kitchener reports is the first accident of the kind that has happened to the Australian contingent, and it is supposed to be due to neglect of proper picketing.

More or less fanciful accounts are published on the continent of alleged peace negotiations, but there is nothing in them, and nothing has come of the interview between Mrs. Botha and Mr. Kruger beyond revealing the fact that Mr. Kruger will listen to no proposals unless they are accompanied with a guarantee of the independence of the Republics.

1,000 Boers to surrender.

Durban, Natal, June 16.—It is reported here that the surrender of 100 men under Commandant Van Rensburg at Pietersburg is preliminary to the surrender of 1,000 men in that district.

Andries Dewet Coming.

Berlin, June 17.—Andries Dewet, Boer leader, says he is going to the United States in the middle of July to lecture.

A $60,000 FIRE AT BATHURST.

New Brunswick Town Suffered Heavy Loss Sunday.

Bathurst, N. B., June 17. — The town suffered a disastrous fire yesterday. The fire broke out at 11 o'clock in Summer's lumber yard, and was still burning last night, but there is no more danger unless the wind changes. Efforts were successfully concentrated in saving the large mills, stable, the burning of which would have meant the probable destruction of the whole village. The total losses are over $60,000; chiefly lumber.

Nearing Absolute Zero.

London, June 17.—One of the most interesting topics of the week is the triumph of science over nature shown in experiments before the Royal Society last Thursday. It is sufficiently wonderful to say that Prof. James Dewar carried in a jar, through the streets of London to his lecture-room nearly two quarts of liquid hydrogen which, until recently, was the most intangible form of matter known to man.

On arriving before his audience, this wizard of science, who deals with temperatures, compared with which Arctic cold is like a seething furnace, produced marvels never before witnessed outside of his own laboratory. He reduced hydrogen to a solid, which appeared like snow in the test tube, and announced that a temperature had been produced eight or ten degrees lower than this, or within nine degrees of absolute zero.

There is but one substance now known which has not yet been reduced to a liquid; that is the new gas, helium. This is a difficult and expensive enough problem to occupy the scientific world for many a day.

Two Young Men Drowned.

Montreal, June 17.—Alfred and Harold Smith, two young Englishmen, 18 and 15 years old, respectively, were drowned at Verdun, near Montreal, yesterday. They were out fishing in a canoe, when young Harold dropped over into the water. His brother made an attempt to rescue him, but both were drowned. The boys had only been a few months in the country, but had relatives here.

Taken to Smallpox Camp.

Hamilton, Ont., June 17.—Miss F. Hutty, 282 Caroline street south, was taken from her home to the smallpox isolation hospital camp, near the high-level bridge, late Saturday evening. She had been slightly ill for a day or two with what the family supposed to be chickenpox. Miss Hutty protests that she hasn't smallpox, and is greatly annoyed at being removed from her home.

Hon. A. S. Hardy Asleep With His Kindred at Brantford.

PROMINENT CITIZENS ATTEND.

His Home People, Who Loved Him, Honored Him by All the Means in Their Power—Ten Thousand Men, Women and Children Lined the Streets and Followed Body to the Grave.

Toronto, June 17.—The attendance of prominent citizens at the short funeral service at the residence, 86 St. Albans street, of the late ex-Premier Hardy on Saturday afternoon was remarkable for the large number and representative character of those present. The brief service was conducted by Canon Welch and Bishop Sweatman.

The pall-bearers were Premier Ross, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Hon. John Dryden and Chief Justice Armour, Judge MacMahon and T. Hodgins.

The mourners were Dr. Hardy and Arthur Hardy, sons; Judge Hardy, brother; J. D. Buchanan, brother-in-law; R. Buchanan and J. C. Baldwin, nephews.

The floral tributes were very choice, and filled an open carriage.

When the funeral started St. Albans street was thronged by spectators. The cortege went by University avenue, and was nearly a mile in length.

The casket was placed in the parlor car Brandon at the Union Station.

Mrs. Hardy, Miss Gladys Hardy and Mrs. Ferguson of Montreal arrived at the station shortly after the funeral procession and entered the car, where they were accompanied by the brother, sons and other relatives of the deceased. The car was attached to the train which left at 4.20.

WITH HIS KINDRED.

Loving Final Tributes to the Late Hon. A. S. Hardy at Brantford—Honored in Death.

Brantford, June 17.—Hon. A. S. Hardy was laid at rest yesterday beside his father and his mother. The people among whom he had lived his life honored him by all means in their power. Ten thousand men, women and children lined the streets or followed his body to the grave, and special trains from Toronto, Hamilton and Stratford brought many citizens from these places to do honor to his memory. For hours a constant stream of citizens of every class passed through the Court House to look for the last time upon the well-known face. The open casket lay beside the barristers' table, on the very spot where, as a young man, the type of alert vigor and rugged health, he had won fame and position for himself by his eloquence and ability. Yesterday the walls that had echoed his clear, ringing voice formed a black background for a sad scene. The face that lay among great masses of flowers was cruelly wasted by disease, and many of his friends who had seen him only in robust health were shocked at the evidence of the closing struggle. The bench, the barristers' table and a raised platform were entirely covered with flowers of remarkable beauty, emblems of widespread admiration, friendship and love. A guard of honor from the 38th Battalion kept watch over the casket. From the Court House the body was conveyed to Grace Church, where a full choral service was held, the procession being as follows:

Police.
Masonic Orders.
Clergymen.
Hearse.
Pallbearers.
Flower Bearers.
Mourners.
Cabinet Members.
Members of Parliament.
Friends from a distance.
City Council.
Law Association.
County and Township Councils.
Reform Associations.
Board of Trade.
School Boards.

The procession took over half an hour to pass a given point, and was estimated at from 8,000 to 10,000.

Service was conducted at Grace Church by the rector, Rural Dean MacKenzie, who delivered an eloquent and touching address.

The services at the grave were performed according to the Masonic rites. Past Grand Master Hugh Murray read the beautiful service of the order, after which all that was mortal of the deceased statesman was laid by the side of his ancestors.

Special trains were run from Toronto, Hamilton and Stratford, and many distinguished visitors, including Premier Ross, were present.

Railway Accident at Montreal.

Montreal, June 17.—A horrible and most likely fatal accident happened to Sydney Jones, ex-workman, in the Grand Trunk yard, Point St. Charles. He was caught by the legs in a cow-catcher and hurled under a freight car. His skull was crushed, and he is not likely to live.

More Royal Trees For Toronto.

Toronto, June 17.—The City Council have decided to plant two trees in front of the City Hall. The planting will be done by the Duke and Duchess of York.

Date of Coronation.

London, June 17.—It is said the King favors Wednesday, June 25, as the date of his coronation.

TEELPHONE, No. 6.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Supplying Coal for the Dominion Buildings," will be received at this office until Saturday, June 22nd, 1901, inclusively, for the supply of Coal for the Public Buildings throughout the Dominion.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application at this office.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party decline to enter a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,
JOS. K. ROY,
Acting Secretary.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The many friends of James Sisson will be glad to hear that he is recovering under the care of Dr. Keith, who has been very regular in his visits during his illness.

Mrs. T. Harkness of Ida, is very ill.

Posters say that Hon. J. R. Stratton is to speak at Millbrook, in the Township of Cavan on the 20th inst., and as he hails from the township I hope he will get a good hearing. We ought to be proud of the fact that he claims this township as his native place. Come one and all and hear what he has to say. He's a hustler. I remember when the late Hon. Geo. Brown was refused a hearing in Millbrook, but the wolf and the lamb lie down together now and peace and order prevail at all our political gatherings in Millbrook. Although we may differ in our opinions in reference to the Governments of this great Canada of ours, yet we are all brethren, sons and daughters of the good old stock, and should allow all to think and act for themselves as British subjects should.

Our township council is getting out of the old rut, having purchased a road grader. They are in unison with this age of progress, and they are bound to have roads that will reflect credit on themselves. The future will show that our new reeve is a live man, and that he will impart the same spirit to his associates in office; that they are not courting the favour of the ratepayers, to be kept in office, but that they will do their duty while in office justly and to the best of their ability.

Ontario is prospering beyond all measure; high prices for all the people have to dispose of, excepting wheat, so that very soon they will be money lenders, dealers in mining and other stocks, and may form combines equal to some we have in existence now.

Crops on high lands give promise of filling the barns and adding to the already large deposits to their credit in the different banks.

Query. — Has the Government anything to do in the matter of progress? Are we going to get any peat for fuel this season—or what's the matter?

FIVE YEARS OF IT.

Toronto Man Goes Through a Living Purgatory—Dyspepsia Makes His Life a Torment—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Have Proved His Greatest Blessing.

James Beck, 561 Shaw street, writes as follows:

"I have suffered over five years with dyspepsia. I could not touch any kind of pastry. I could not eat the simplest dishes without pain and sour uprising from the stomach.

"I lost all relish for food and ate not because I felt hungry but because I knew I must eat. The slightest variation from a plain, monotonous diet—and I would suffer for it.

"I was told of several remedies and tried them all. I saw others advertised and tried them. Nothing whatever did me the slightest good. I could nowhere get any relief.

"Then I heard of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. But not knowing that they were different to other remedies I expected little from them. However, I tried them.

"I used three boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. To-day I can eat anything that's put before me. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets made all the difference in the world. Not only is my dyspepsia entirely cured, but I feel better in every way."

That is the way Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets acted in the case of Mr. Beck. That is exactly the way they will act with you. That is exactly the way they act with everybody.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by physicians. They are a compound of pepsin, diastase and other natural digestants mixed in sugar. There is no secret about their composition. Easy to carry, pleasant to take, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets exactly fill the want of this busy, hurrying age of hasty meals, excitement and poor digestion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale all over the world at fifty cents a box.

STRIKE ON THE C. P. R.

The Trackmen Claim That 6,000 Will Go Out To-Day.

BOTH SIDES SEEM DETERMINED

Men and Company Are Both Confident of the Result—What Mr. McNicoll Believes of the Men's Move—Says He Is Assured of Plenty of Workmen to Operate the Line.

Montreal, June 17.—The strike of the C. P. R. trackmen was scheduled to begin this morning at 6 o'clock, and both sides express themselves as confident of the result. Mr. Wilson, President of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, says that of the 5,000 or so employed in that department fully 95 per cent. are members of the association, that they are well organized, and are sure to win. On the other hand, Mr. McNicoll says that he does not believe that such a large percentage belong to the organization, and that in any case the company is assured of plenty of workmen to operate the line as usual.

Few Trackmen in Toronto.

Toronto, June 17.—Local officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway are little concerned over the threatened strike of the trackmen. In Toronto there are only between 12 and 15 men on the tracks, this number being sufficient to keep the system in this city in proper condition. The men here are affiliated with the Parkdale Branch, No. 87, United Brotherhood of Railroad Trackmen. They are waiting word from their headquarters, when such action as is ordered will be taken.

Maine Central Railway Strike.

Portland, Me., June 17.—General Manager Evans of the Maine Central Railroad, when interviewed yesterday about the strike of his section men, said that there was really no strike; that it was over, that he had been able to fill all the places and that many of the old hands were heartily sick of the position they had placed themselves in by listening to reckless advice from those who had nothing to lose by a strike. He said there was no truth in the claim of the section men that other organizations would join them, that the other organizations were well satisfied with their treatment, and had also expressed the opinion that the increases offered the section men were all that should have been expected; that they were making demands on the company that they could not hope to get for very many years yet.

Eastern Men Will Quit.

St. John, N. B., June 17.—The C. P. R. local trackmen say they will strike at 6 o'clock this morning unless word to the contrary is received from headquarters of their brotherhood in Toronto. The officials here have no notification as yet from the men.

The Fight Is to a Finish.

Kingston, Ont., June 17. — The union men locked out over the street car trouble have made all the concessions they will; the company refuses to accept them. The result is that a struggle is on. The company says its cars are all running, and it is ready to meet any boycott.

England Endorses Strike.

Boston, June 17.—A statement was made yesterday at the machinists' headquarters in this city that the Amalgamated Society of Engineers in England had indorsed the machinists' strike in this country. The boss strikers purpose to take advantage of this in their fight against the Atlantic works by urging the engineers on the British steamers to insist upon union conditions at the repair shops where the repairs to their vessels are made.

To Study Railway Rates.

Ottawa, June 17.—S. J. MacLean, Professor of Economics in the University of Arkansas, has been commissioned to investigate and report any complaints as to discrimination in railway rates, both passenger and freight. He has already started to work. Prof. MacLean is a graduate of Toronto University of the class of '94 and a Canadian by birth. He was formerly lecturer in economics at Varsity. He is a son-in-law of the Auditor-General.

Montrealers at Port Colborne.

Buffalo, June 17.—Six members of the Harbor Commission of Montreal yesterday visited Port Colborne to inspect the harbor and grain elevators there. They returned to Buffalo last evening, and to-day will make a careful examination of the elevators and appliances in this port. The six members of the commission are David S. Sneath, John Kennedy, Joseph Coutant, John Torrance, Alphonse Racine and Hon. Robert Mackay.

Methodist 20th Century Fund.

London, June 17.—Of the Wesleyan Methodist Twentieth Century Fund, of a million guineas, £622,000 has actually been paid in and promises have been received which bring the total up to £847,000. Many districts are apparently unable to fulfil their promises, and there is still about £153,000 to be raised.

Shanty Full of Loot.

Vancouver, B. C., June 17.—The police on Saturday discovered that a shanty occupied by one George Campbell contained an extraordinary quantity of loot, the fruit of many burglaries. The value of the articles is probably over $2,000.

It's the Baby.

If you lose a pound in flesh it doesn't matter much. But if it's the baby it may mean everything. There is no food in the world equal to Scott's Emulsion for making thin babies plump. If you have a thin baby in the house you'll be surprised to see how it will thrive on this nourishing and fat-forming food.

CENSUS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

The First Volume States the Population of United Kingdom to Be 41,454,575—An Increase.

London, June 17.—The first volume of the census returns shows the population of the United Kingdom to be 41,454,575, an increase in ten years of 3,721,656. England and Wales show 74.4 per cent. of the total, while Ireland shows a loss.

The volume chiefly deals with England and Wales, to which alone the following figures apply: Excess of females over males, 1,082,619 (the war, however, is responsible for the absence of many men). Number of families, 7,048,303; increase in ten years, 917,303; average number of persons to a family, 4.61, compared with 4.73; average inhabitants per house, 5.19, compared with 5.32. The population of towns is 77 per cent. of the whole. In addition to London eight towns exceed 250,000. The population of Liverpool is 684,947. Manchester, 543,969, and Birmingham, 522,182. The birth rate is steadily decreasing and so is the death rate. The excess of births over deaths from 1881 to 1891 was 13.97 per cent. and from 1891 to 1901 only 12.39.

The report says: "There has been a diminution in the loss of population by an excess of emigration over immigration to the extent of 601,499. But for the unusual drain on the resident population as the result of the war the loss would probably have been entirely wiped out and a gain established for the first time by the excess of immigration over emigration.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N.Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Jas. Lynch. Trial bottles free.

Three Convicts Break Jail.

Chatham, Ont., June 17.—Another chapter has been added to the sensations of the past week's criminal court. Saturday Andrew Epperson, the man who was found guilty of stabbing, and who made an attack upon the constable as the prisoner rushed at Judge Bell, was sentenced to five years in Kingston. As Epperson was being taken to the cells he shouted to the judge that he would not serve out his time. Yesterday he broke jail, and with him have escaped Frank Abrams, in on a charge of stealing silverware from George Stephens, M.P., and one Siddell, convicted of highway robbery, and awaiting removal to the Central Prison. The men got away about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Notes From Ottawa.

Ottawa, June 17.—Lord Strathcona has cabled that the Lloyds have developed two systems of wireless telegraphy, and tells the authorities here that Lloyds have instructed him to say that every facility will be afforded to any officer from Canada who may be delegated to witness experiments about to be made at the Lloyd signal stations.

An Order-in-Council has been passed, transferring all payments of bounties on steel and iron from the Customs to the Trade and Commerce Department, from July 1 next. It is also likely that bounties on lead will be handled by the Trade and Commerce Department.

BARGAINS IN SHOREY'S MAKE OF CLOTHING.

The pre-eminent position which the high-class clothing made by Messrs. H. Shorey & Co., of Montreal, holds with the people of Peterborough, is the reason why so much of it is sold by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. The representative of the house made a special visit to Peterborough last week and closed out to H. LeBrun and Co. a very choice selection of Shorey's high-class summer suits for men, young men, boys and children at a reduction of about one-fourth off wholesale prices. Shorey & Co. are preparing for their winter work and made Mr. LeBrun a tempting offer, which the people of Peterborough will get the benefit of. These suits will be sold at one-fourth less than regular prices. They consist of well-tailored garments in fine black worsted, serge and extra tweed. Every suit has a ticket in the pocket of the coat guaranteeing that if anything goes wrong it will be made right. Messrs. LeBrun & Co. also secured a great snap in trousers for working men and for fine wear, which are to be sold at a similar reduction.

The Nervous System

Each organ of the body is of great importance, otherwise a wise Creator would have omitted it. Of no less importance is the great network of nerves running all through the body. They all connect with the brain, which is a central office or bureau of information. Is there inflamation in some part of the body? The nerves convey the news to the brain and the pain caused by irritation of the nerves is located. If there is a weakness in any part of the body or some organ is being overtaxed, the nerves convey the news. Symptoms manifested by the nerves are sleeplessness, headache irritability, nervousness, dizziness, forgetfulness, dispondency, lack of muscular control, and general loss of tone and debility. What's the cure? Not stimulants, for they only intensify the exhausted condition and result in harmful after-effects. Not opiates which only stupify and hide the danger signal, but Merrill's System Tonic which soothes the irritated condition of the nerves, feed and reconstruct the fast decaying sensibility and then by its general curative action on the different organs of the body, bring the general health back to its normal condition. System Tonic is an honest medicine, doing good in nearly every instance and doing harm in none. Its chief aim is to build up and strengthen each organ in the body and nature can and will then restore perfect health.

A Remarkable Tale of the Remarkable Garments of Silk That Are Worn by Some Remarkable South American Indians.

Probably no country on earth is more interesting to the traveler on the lookout for queer things and unusual experiences than the silvas of the Amazon, and here is a story about an Indian tribe of that region told by Arthur Axtell, an American traveler, that can hardly be beaten.

These particular Indians were continually bent on discovery and experimenting, says Mr. Axtell. Somehow they had come into possession of some silkworms. These worms were not known before in that country, and most of them died before the natives found out how to raise them. But they persevered and by feeding them on the tender leaves of some native plants produced a good quality of silk, not so good as the Chinese product by feeding the worms on white mulberry leaves, but nevertheless a strong, serviceable silk, certainly good enough for the dusky bodies of these savages, for this silk has not yet become an article of commerce.

Their method of obtaining the silk and transforming it into garments was crude. When the moths laid the eggs, the natives carried them in great quantities in belts about their bodies, thus giving the eggs the body heat. At the end of winter the eggs were hatched, and the result was an army of caterpillars. These were trained to crawl over the naked bodies of the natives. This was their home. They knew no other and seemed quite contented.

During eight weeks the savage is covered with these yellow crawlers. It would seem that thousands of creeping caterpillars over one's body from head to foot would tickle one to death. Certainly a white man would find it unbearable, but it must be remembered these natives of Brazil are scarcely human. To them it is intensely interesting to train these worms in the way they should go. Small bits of leaves are stuck on the bodies of the natives in regular rows, and round and round the worms go, feeding on the way. The natives help each other in the placing of the bits of leaves and in confining the worms to certain localities on the body.

These caterpillar covered niggers, as Dr. F. A. Marsh, who was of our party, called them, sleep on their backs at night and are careful not to turn over in their sleep. That would be a sad calamity. When we came to their village, there were ten Indians, men and women, in the act of raising silk caterpillars by this unique process. They were a sight to chill the blood. I know the blood stopped flowing in my veins. I stood still and shuddered. Yet there was a fascination about it, for I had been told what the object of it was, and I admired the savage ingenuity.

After the worms have become dizzy with playing the "merry go round" on the bodies of the savages they quit eating and commence spinning the outer covering for the cocoons. When this labor is done, the natural process of silkmaking is interfered with. The savages had found out that when the cocoons were finished they would burst or the worms would eat their way out. In either case the silk was destroyed. So the worms are prevented from making the cocoons. Instead the fiber for the outer covering is destroyed, and the poor caterpillars stop in perplexity. But they doubtless conclude the savages are right, and the worms are in debt to them for eight weeks of feeding, so they start soon to the spinning of the silk.

The natives are now in ecstasy. They make the worms hustle around them as they have been taught during all their little lives and spinning as they go the fine filaments of shining silk. Round and round crawl the worms, each one spinning 1,000 to 4,000 yards of silk thread around the swarthy, savage neck, around each naked arm, around the chest and abdomen and the lower limbs. The work of the worm is over.

And the result is a remarkable transformation. From a nude savage figure, loathsome and repulsive, with thousands of yellow worms crawling, twisting, writhing, squirming, to a conquering, proud native of Brazil, clothed in a perfectly fitting garment of rich silk. He has toiled not, neither has he spinned—he has only bossed the job—yet is he clothed in raiment as beautiful as the lilies of the field. What a feeling of supremacy he must have! He has interfered successfully with a divine plan. He has turned aside the course of nature and stands erect—in his own mind, at least—a man to be greatly admired.

YOUR DOCTOR will tell you how difficult a matter it is to diagnose disease. Certain symptoms may be caused by ten different diseases. Where Powley's Liquified Ozone has the advantage is due to the fact that it removes the cause of every disease—germs. That it is of great value is proven by its having cured so many cases that have been given up to die. If there is the least possibility of life, Powley's Liquified Ozone will carefully foster the vital spark until you become restored to health.

This preparation is of special value for lung trouble. Wm. McKay, of Sutton West, Ont., was given up to die by the physicians. He is back at work to-day, sound as a dollar. George Young, of Roach's Point, had consumption, and five physicians pronounced his case hopeless. He is in splendid health to-day. We have many other cases even more remarkable than the foregoing. They all show the extraordinary value of the condensed oxygen treatment.

If you have been given up to die, don't despair. Powley's Liquified Ozone will give you a good fighting chance.

SHOWED POOR SUCCESS.

Falling Off in the Sunday School Attendance of Presbyterian Church.

Ottawa, June 17.—Sunday school work in the Presbyterian Church in Canada last year did not accomplish all that was expected of it, and the Rev. John Neil, secretary of the Sabbath School Committee, in giving his annual report Saturday urged the assembly members to do their best to bring up to a higher standard the work of the church.

The statistics show a decline of 1 per cent. in attendance. A scheme to set aside men who will look specially after the Sabbath school work of the church is proposed.

The statistics show that there are 3,044 schools, 180,709 scholars and 200 teachers. The scholars gave $113,097 for all purposes of the church.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Mayor Carscallen of Napanee was unanimously chosen as local candidate on Saturday by the Conservatives of Lennox.

The annual meeting of the Oxford alliance was held on Saturday afternoon at Woodstock. Dr. McKay delivered an address. It was decided not to put a temperance candidate in the field for the Legislature.

Bismarck Statue Unveiled.

Berlin, June 17.—The Bismarck statue was unveiled at midday yesterday in the presence of the Emperor and Empress, Prince Herbert Bismarck, Count Von Buelow, Prince Hohenlohe, the ministers and the members of legislative houses and the Memorial Committee.

A Whaler on Fire.

Victoria, B. C., June 17.—The steamer Tacoma arrived yesterday morning from the Orient. One June 2, three days after she sailed, she sighted a ship on fire, which proved to be the San Francisco whaler, Charles W. Morgan. The Tacoma bore down and stood by. Flames were seen rising 30 or 40 feet from the midships of the whaler, and it was thought she would be destroyed, but, after the Tacoma came alongside the fire was placed under control and, the whaler not wanting further assistance, the Tacoma came on. The take of the whaler was reported lost.

The Y. M. C. A. Congress Closed.

Boston, June 17.—The work on behalf of the religious life of the young men of the world over was told in words of earnestness, force and eloquence from the many more than a hundred pulpits in Boston yesterday, for this was the great occasion and practical close of the International Jubilee Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association. Not in Boston alone were delegates assigned to pulpits morning and evening, but to churches in neighboring cities and towns.

Lady Minto's Visit.

Toronto, June 17.—Her Excellency the Countess of Minto was a guest at Government House on Saturday. During the afternoon she laid the corner stone of the new preparatory building of Upper Canada College. A dinner for sixteen was given in her honor in the evening, after which she took the 11.30 train for Niagara, where she remained over Sunday. To-day Lady Minto will proceed to Buffalo to catch a glimpse of the Exposition before returning to Ottawa on Wednesday.

Kennedy Jury Cannot Agree.

New York, June 17. — The jury which listened to the evidence against Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy, accused of the murder of "Dolly" Reynolds, reported to Judge Newburger at 10.25 o'clock yesterday morning that they could not agree on a verdict. The judge at once discharged the jury. There were a number of ballots taken, and it is said that the final ballot stood four for conviction and eight for acquittal. This is Dr. Kennedy's third trial for this crime.

Remanded Till Wednesday.

St. Catharines, June 17.—James Murphy, who was charged by the coroner's jury with manslaughter in the matter of John Pattison's death, came before Magistrate Comfort on Saturday and was remanded till Wednesday.

Sir A. P. Caron.

Montreal, June 17.—Sir A. P. Caron will permanently reside in Quebec, resuming his legal practice.

A Cherokee Dish.

An article of food much used by the Cherokees is made from corn. The process is first to soak the corn in strong lye made from hickory ashes, just as white people in the country make hominy. This removes the hulls. The corn is then put into a large mortar made by hollowing out the end of a large log and is pounded by a huge pestle.

As the process of pounding goes on the crushed corn is removed from the mortar and riddled with a sieve made of cane and then fanned in the wind to remove the hulls. The "grit," as the course meal is called, is then replaced in the mortar and pounded into a fine meal. It is then boiled up with cayenne pepper and other ingredients. A small amount of lye is left in the meal, and it has a tendency to preserve it for a long time. However, if the stuff sours, it is regarded as a great delicacy. It is known as "con-a-hanna." The food is sometimes varied by the addition of nuts, which is considered especially fine. With the nuts it is called "ca-nutch."

In the olden times cakes were made of "con-a-hanna" by baking the substance in rudely constructed rock ovens or in hot ashes. These cakes would keep for a long time and, in connection with the wild game, provided nourishment for the Indians on their long hunts. Many of the older Cherokees still use the mortar and pestle to make the dish.

ROBT. NEILL

He Hadn't Lost a Burglar.

"John," she said, suddenly shaking him, "there is a burglar in the house."

"Are you sure?" he asked.

"Positive," she replied. "Don't you hear him?"

He got up and began to dress hastily, but quietly.

"What are you going to do, John?" she inquired.

"I am going to sneak out the back way and get a policeman," he answered.

"But if you go right down stairs now," she said, "you'll find him in the dining room."

"Oh, I'll find him, will I?" he retorted sarcastically. "Well, now you just look me over carefully."

"Yes, John; what of it?"

"Do I look like a man who has lost a burglar anywhere?"

"No; of course not, but"—

"Do I have the reputation of being an impertinent fellow who is always interfering with other people's business? Do I in any way resemble the lost and found department of a daily newspaper?"

"No."

"Then why should I get tangled up with other people's property?"

"You're afraid, John."

"Afraid nothing!" he retorted indignantly. "I am looking at it from an ethical point of view. This burglar undoubtedly has been lost by the police, and if I took charge of him they might think I was trying to steal him and make a lot of trouble for me. Besides, I'm no searching party. You women don't understand the ethics of business at all."

Testing the Schoolmaster.

In the town records of the city of Boston there is a curious passage which records how a schoolmaster was examined and what happened. The manner in which the visit of inspection is recorded makes one incline to the view that the unlucky schoolmaster may not have had fair play, although if he was really inefficient he may be said to have been judged by his peers.

In the record for the 22d of May, 1722, it is set forth that:

"Coll Pen Townsend, Jeremiah Allen Esqr, & John Edwards together with the Select men, Visaitted the wrighting School at the Southerly End of Bostop on Thirsday the 24th apll 1722. and Examined the Scholars under mr Ames Angers tuition as to their proficiency in Reading writing Seyphering & the masters ability of teaching & Instructing youth his rules & methods therefore And are of Opinion That it will be no Service to the Town to Continue, mr anger in that Employ."

Whereupon it was voted that the said Mr. Ames Anger should not continue master of the "Said South school."

It is true that nothing is said of the methods of spelling inculcated at the "wrighting School," and it is also possible that a clerk rather than the committee was responsible for the errors of the record, but there is certainly something absurd in the passage as it stands.

Didn't Marry for Money.

The Boston man, who lately married a sickly rich young woman, is happy now, for he got Dr. King's New Life Pills, which restored her to perfect health. DEMISE OF MISS A. A. PATERSON

A Death That Will be Sincerely Mourned by all Citizens.

It has never fallen to the lot of the Examiner to record a death attended with sadder circumstances than those surrounding the demise of Miss Aggie Paterson, eldest daughter of the late Walter Paterson, Esq., who passed away on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Miss Paterson took sick on Monday last, her illness taking the form of a paralytic stroke. Though affected to a considerable degree her case was not considered hopeless until Friday, when she showed symptoms of a change for the worse, and since which time she gradually sank into a comatose state, passing away at five o'clock, as stated, without recovering consciousness.

Of an exceedingly sweet and obliging disposition, Miss Paterson was known and beloved by a large number of friends whom she had drawn to her side by the many admirable traits of character which she possessed. Closely identified with the work of St. Paul's church, she was ever ready to lend her assistance when called upon. Her home life was characterized by the same Christian attributes as endeared her to all her friends, and the loving manner in which she has waited upon her mother, has placed her high in the esteem of all.

The hand of death being laid upon so great a favourite comes as a great shock, to which additional sadness is added by the fact that the funeral will take place on Tuesday, which was the date set for the marriage of the deceased to Mr. Edw. Dawson, an event which the bride elect had anticipated with no thought of aught save happiness—no thought of the bar which death would raise. She will be buried in the dress which was intended for her wedding gown.

Sincere sympathy will be extended to the grief stricken family, and to Mr. Dawson.

The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon from the family residence, Hunter street.

THE LABOURERS' UNION.

A Largely Attended Meeting on Saturday Evening.

A largely attended meeting of the labourers of the town interested in the formation of a local Labourers' Union, was held in the Sons of England Hall on Saturday evening, with Mr. Robert McGreggor, President of the Carpentera' Union, in the chair. Considerable enthusiasm was manifested throughout the meeting and indications point to the fact of a very strong Labourers' Union being organized next Friday evening in the S.O.E. Hall at eight o'clock.

SOME FINE HORSES.

Great Sale of Western Horses on Saturday June 22nd.

On Saturday, June 22nd, people of Peterborough and surrounding district will have another opportunity of procuring first class horses, Mr. John King, the great Kansas stock man, will offer for sale at Kennedy's stock yards, Peterborough, about thirty well bred western horses.

The magnificent horses are colts from one year upwards, served by Kentucky trotting stallions, amongst them being a lot of well matched pairs and some splendid drivers.

Buyers need be under no misapprehension regarding these animals. They are gentle and docile, and are as easily broken as the native horses.

Mr. King has hundreds of testimonials regarding these horses, from those who bought from him before, amongst whom are Messrs. C. Stapleton, Alex. Elliott, Dr. Robinson, Peterborough; Rev. W. Bell, U. S. Government Veterinary Inspector, Kingston; W. M. Ross, Brockville.

On the day of the sale at three o'clock there will be given an exhibition of lassoing to which the ladies of the town are specially invited.

Photographs 15 years old, and as bright as the day they were taken, can be seen at G. E. Whiten's studio. His work does not fade. Sign of the Golden Camera, Hunter street.

C.P.R. TRACKMEN ON STRIKE

Five Thousand Men Went Out at Six O'clock This Morning.

For some time past the Grievance Committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen have been negotiating with the officials of the C. P. R., asking for an increase in wages, which would amount, it is said, to an increase of twenty cents per day all round. Owing to the failure of negotiations, Mr. J. F. Wilson, President of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen, has issued an order to strike.

The Examiner interviewed local trackmen to-day and was informed that every man along the line was out on strike with the exception of a few Italians who were employed in the vicinity of Myrtle.

It was rumoured on the streets to-day that the engineers had refused to run trains over an unprotected road, but it turned out to be only a rumour.

The Examiner has received the following special despatches;

Montreal, June 17. — The strike of the C. P. R. trackmen from the Atlantic to the Pacific was inaugurated this morning at six o'clock. The committee men who are in the city, claim that they have received advices from all parts of the line indicating that 95 per cent. of the men have obeyed the orders of the committee declaring a strike. John Wilson, the president of the International Trackmen's Union, will arrive in the city to-day from Portland, and will assist the men actively in the strike.

Toronto, June 17. — Reports received at the office of the Ontario Division of the C.P.R. this morning show that about 60 per cent. of the trackmen struck work according to notice, on the western portion of the line. From Toronto to Windsor the men are pretty well at work, but on the section from Smith's Falls to Owen Sound, most of the men went out. The men all went out in a most orderly manner, no disturbance of any sort being reported. There are 115 sections on this division, with four men to each, or 460 men in all.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

Attend Divine Service in Mark Street Church, Sunday Evening.

On Sunday evening the members of Sherwood Forest Camp, Woodmen of the World, to the number of about sixty, marshalled by Sov. J. Fegg, attended divine service in the Mark Street Church, where they listened to the scholarly and instructive address by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Thompson, during the course of which he dealt fully with the aims and objects of this excellent organization. The musical portion of the service is worthy of special mention, the choir having prepared special music for the occasion.

At the conclusion of the service the Woodmen marched back to their hall, where votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. Mr. Thompson and his choir.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Susie Barnett and Mr. W. E. Loch.

Mr. W. E. Loch and Miss Susie Barnett were quietly wedded this morning by Rev. W. L. Armitage, of All Saints' Church, at the residence of Mrs. J. A. Turner, sister of the bride, No. 344 McDonel street, and left by the 7.10 C.P.R. train for Toronto, and the lake trip to Montreal and the East.

Since graduating from the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses some few years ago, the bride has resided in Peterborough, and became very popular. Mr. Loch is well known as one of the town's most progressive young business men.

Their many friends will join with the Examiner in extending the most hearty congratulations and well wishes for the future.

ELECTORS OF N. MONAGHAN.

A Meeting to be Held in the Town Hall To-night.

O'BRIEN VS. HARRISON.

The Case Heard on Saturday at the General Session of the Peace.

At the General Sessions of the Peace on Saturday afternoon before His Honour Judge Weller, the case of O'Brien vs. Harrison came up for hearing.

This was a case in which John O'Brien, a Collegiate Institute student, was fined by Police Magistrate Dumble for committing an assault on Mr. R. Harrison, of town. The circumstances of the case are well known to the public. It arose out of an alleged habit on the part of various school boys of pulling the whiskers of certain citizens of the town who were branded as victims. Mr. Harrison was singled out as one of these, but while Mr. Harrison says that O'Brien touched his beard, the latter swears positively that he did not. The Magistrate found O'Brien guilty and the case was appealed before His Honour Judge Weller.

No new evidence of a material nature was offered, and His Honour dismissed the appeal, holding that it was practically a new trial, and he did not purpose to interfere with the decision of the Police Magistrate, who he thought was as capable as he was of delivering judgment on the evidence submitted.

D. O'Connell appeared for O'Brien; R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, appeared for the prosecution.

POLICE STATION.

John Oakley, who has been an occupant of a cell at the Police Station as a vagrant, was given instructions this morning to get employment or a sentence of six months in the Central Prison would be served up to him.

The Police want an owner for a hymn book which was found on the street.

The Health Inspector has nearly completed his first round and will commence his second round of inspection in a few days. If the notices this official serves are not complied with, prosecutions will follow.

The Town Clerk has furnished the Chief of Police with a list of citizens assessed for dogs. A study of the list reveals the fact that there are a large number of tagless dogs in town and that a number of those assessed do not possess a canine. The police are determined to prosecute all parties who do not comply with this bylaw.

The Chief of Police states that his department was unusually quiet on circus day. A number of ladies, however, complained of losing their pocket books at the circus.

APPRECIATED HIM.

Mr. W. H. Hogg Presented With a Travelling Bag and Gentleman's Companion.

A Regina Exchange makes the following reference to a presentation which was made to Mr. Hogg prior to his leaving that town to assume the management of the Peterborough branch of the Bank of Montreal: "Mr. Hogg, who has been manager of the Regina branch of the Montreal for the past few years, left on Friday evening for Peterborough, to which place he has been transferred. A large number of the customers of the bank took occasion before his departure, of showing their appreciation of his courtesy by presenting him with a splendid travelling bag and gentleman's companion. The presentation took place in the manager's room of the bank, on Friday afternoon. Among those who were present when the presentation was made, were Robt. Martin, J. A. Kerr, E. McCarthy, J. Dobbin, Hugh Armour, W. B. Pocklington, Ford Jones, D. A. MacDonald, F. N. Darke, R. H. Williams, and others.

The following is a copy of the address read when the presentation was made:

To W. H. Hogg, Esq.,
Manager Bank of Montreal,
Regina.

Dear sir,—A large number of the customers of the Regina branch of the Bank of Montreal desire to express to you their appreciation of your uniform courtesy in the management of the branch here since you have occupied that position.

Our business relations with you have been of the most satisfactory kind, and while expressing regret at your departure to assume the management of the branch at Peterborough, we are pleased to know that it means promotion.

As a slight token of our appreciation we beg of you to accept the accompanying present.

Signed on behalf of the customers.
Dated Regina, June 7th, 1901.

LOCAL EXHIBITS WANTED.

Peterborough Fruit Should be at the Pan-American.

Local fruitgrowers will be glad to learn that the Ontario Department of Agriculture has made arrangements which will enable them to place choice exhibition samples of fruit upon the tables of the Horticultural Building at Buffalo, without any expense to themselves. Each sample of fruit ought to be accompanied by a card giving the variety name of the fruit and the full post office address of the owner.

This enables all Pan-American visitors to trace each sample to the actual producer, and will often lead to a correspondence that will be profitable in the end. Exhibitors will also receive a notice through the local press.

Mr. R. A. Dutton has kindly consented to make occasional shipments at stated times in September and October. About seven apples or pears of each variety will answer as a sample for shipment.

Fruit-growers will no doubt show samples to Mr. Dutton at the proper season and get full particulars from him.

As fruit receivers have been selected at leading fruit centres throughout Ontario, moderate shipments of the very choicest fruit are expected from each point. If fruit-growers in any locality fail to put in an appearance that locality will not figure on the honour roll.

CARD OF THANKS.

Peterborough, June 13, 1901.

Messrs. Davis, Thompson & Co.,
Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Sirs, — It has been our intention for some time to write you in reference to our loss by fire, but the matter has been overlooked. However, at this late date we beg to thank you and your company, for the kind attention and prompt and liberal settlement of our claim.

It was a great convenience to us to have the loss adjusted the day after the fire, thus enabling us to have the necessary repairs made and work resumed without further delay.

We have no hesitation in recommending your office to the insuring public.

Yours truly,
MANN & BEAVIS.

"OLD BOYS" WIN FROM PETERBOROS

The Port Hopers Downed the Local Baseballers.

A GAME FULL OF ERRORS.

It Was a Day Off for the Peterboroughs —Next Game Will be Watched With Interest.

The ball game on Saturday on the P. A. A. A. grounds between the Port Hope team and the local team was one of the fiercest games ever played on the local diamond. The home team went down to Port Hope on Wednesday last with a patched up team and gave the "Old Boys" a beating by 17—8. Port Hope played the return game here and beat our pets by 16—12. Jack Kehoe was given his first trial in the box, and got a very warm reception from the Port Hope sluggers. He was very nervous and anxious, and all the home team displayed symptoms of the same disease. He wanted to do his prettiest and all the rest of the boys were quite anxious to help him.

The game was lost in the very first innings, the "Old Boys" getting nine runs on two hits, base on balls, dead ball and six juicy errors. After the fireworks were over and the smoke cleared away a great big "9" coul dbe seen on the score board, and after the word Port Hope, too. It was very hard luck to lose the game, as the locals outbatted the visitors, and stole eighteen bases against six. Kehoe pitched the second innings and struck out two men, the other going out on a fly to Parnell. He seemed to be steadying up, but in the third two more errors and a hit gave the "Old Boys" two more runs, and Dan McCabe, the old war horse, took his place in the box. He pitched a good steady game, not one run being earned off him. Errors in the sixth and eighth innings gave the Port Hope team two and three runs, making the total 16 The game could have been won if in these two innings the boys had played an errorless game.

Sheridan and Parnell were off in their fielding, falling down on chances a large number of times. The ground around short and third is bad, and caused a lot of errors.

Port Hope hit the ball hard, and all of the chances were pretty hot.

About seven hundred people saw the game, but the gate was less than the expenses of the game which were around $30. It is very discouraging to the local management to see so many deadheads and fence warmers lined up on the boards. They are going to make an example of some of these cheap sports by having them appear before the beak, and see if it would be cheaper to come in by the gate than beat an amateur organization.

The next game will be with the Park Nines of Toronto and a lot of practice is down on the cards for the home team.

The Game by Innings.

First Innings. — Edmunds was the first visitor to face Kehoe, and he placed one over second for a single. Marvin followed and popped up a fly for Scott. McMahon, the next batter, got his ribs in front of an inshoot and walked to first. McGill hit one at Kehoe who fumbled, Edmonds scoring. Burt put one at Sheridan, and he did likewise. Fogarty shot a daisy cutter at Kehoe, but it let in another run. Henderson batted one at Parnell and he got in the baloon too, and another error was down on the score book. Tutton got a base on balls; Pethick made a hit, and the runs came piling in. Edmunds came to bat again and sent a liner to Parnell, who had forgotten to cut his parachute loose, and he was safe at first Marvin hit one to Kehoe and was out at first; McMahon sent one at Connors, and he was safe too; McGill then came to bat and ended the fireworks and balloon ascensions by putting up a fly for Scott, and at last the side was out but not before 9 men had crossed the plate.

The home team then came to bat, and Sheridan was first up. He put a lovely three base hit out in centre; Earls reached first on fielder's choice to catch Sheridan, who was safe at third. Graham sent a liner at Edmunds, and it stayed in his mit. Parnell struck out and Connors hit an easy one to Edmunds and was out at first, leaving Sheridan and Earls on the bags, and the score Port Hope, 9; Peterborough, 0.

In the second innings Burt flew out to short, Fogarty reached first on shortstop's error and Henderson and Tutton each put three big holes in the atmosphere and the side was out. The Peterborough team knew it was up to them so they went at Pethick with a vengence in their half of the second. Scott was first up and put a two bagger out in centre. Grady separated a single from his hat and Scott scored, Kehoe fanned and McCabe made a single, scoring Grady. Sheridan followed with a fly to the centre fielder, who dropped it, Earls landed a warm one to third and beat the throw to first, Graham reached first on a fielders choice, stole second, Parnell put single to left and Earls and Graham scored. Connors followed with a three sacker and Scott went out second to first. Score—P.H.-9, P.-6.

In the third innings Pethick was first up for the "Old Boys" and hit one to Sheridan, who threw high to Connors, landing him on second. Edmunds hit safely and Marvin hit one to centre, scoring Pethick and Edmunds. Kehoe then gave way to McCabe. McMahon faced Dan first and put up a fly for Grady, who took care of it. McGill went out second to first and Burt flew out to Parnell, retiring the side. Grady was up first in the third and went out third to first. Kehoe fanned. McCabe hit a fly to left, who dropped it. Dan stole second and third and Sheridan flew out to left. Score—P. H. 11, P. 6.

Fourth innings—Fogerty hit a grounder to Sheridan who threw him out at first. Henderson put a fly to right, which was dropped. Tutton reached first on Sheridan's error; Pethick put three holes in the air and Edmunds sent a long fly to Earls who gathered it in nicely. In the Peterborough half the locals went out in 1 2 3 order. Earls fanned, Graham went out short to first, and Parnell flew out to short. P.H. 11, P. 6.

Fifth innings—Marvin made a single. McMahon flew out to Earls and McGill struck out. Burt retired the side by hitting an easy one at McCabe. Peterborough got two more in the fifth. Connors reached first on third's error. Scott got four wide ones; Grady flew out to second; Kehoe made a single; McCabe placed a safe one in left, scoring Scott and Kehoe; Sheridan hit one to second and was out at first.. P.H. 11, P. 8.

Sixth innings—Fogarty fanned; Henderson got first on battery error; Tutton put one through short and Pethick hit one at Sheridan, who made another error; Edmunds made a safe one, scoring Henderson and Fogarty, and Pethick tried to score but was caught at the plate; Marvin flew out to left. Peterborough then came to bat and landed two more runs. Earls reached first on thirds error; Graham sacrificed; Parnell and Connors hit safely; Scott got a base on balls and Grady made a single Parnell and Earls scoring; Kehoe flew out to centre and McCabe went out shortto first and ending the innings with the bases full. P.H. 13, P. 10.

Seventh innings—McMahon flew out to Connors; McGill hit safely; Burt hit one to short and was out at first; McGill reaching third on the play; Fogarty hit one to Kehoe, who threw McGill out at the plate. The throw was a very pretty one. Sheridan hit a high one to second; Earls flew out to third and Graham fanned. P.H. 13, P. 10.

Eighth innings—Henderson, the first "Old Boy" up in the eighth, hit safely; Tutton was out at first on Parnell's stop and Pethick hit one through Parnell, scoring Henderson; Edmunds put a slippery one at Sheridan, who fumbled; Marvin hit safely, scoring Pethick; McMahon made a hit and Edmunds scored; Marvin was caught off third and McGill went out second to first. It certainly looked bad for the locals, but they went to bat with that do-or-die look in their eyes. Parnell hit a long one to centre and stole second and third; Connors made a hit; Scott got four wide ones and Grady followed with a two bagger, scoring Connors and Parnell; Kehoe went out short to first and McCabe put three dents in the air; Sheridan hit a high fly to centre and the side was out. P.H. 16, P. 12.

Ninth innings—Burt made a hit; Fogarty sacrificed; Henderson went out second to first and Tutton done things to the atmosphere, retiring the side. Earls flew out to first; Graham drove on throught McGill but Parnell was out pitcher to first and Connors fanned, game ending. P.H. 16, P. 12.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. W. Hickey and son, of town, are visiting in Port Hope.

Miss Lillian Hall has returned from a very pleasant holiday spent in Chicago.

Miss Owen, of Toronto, is visiting Miss Winnie Macfarlane, Homewood Avenue.

Rev. Father Murphy, of the Paulist Order, New York City, is home on a visit to relatives.

Dr. Grey left this afternoon on a business trip to Galt and other towns in Western Ontario.

Miss Ada McBain left to-day to spend a few weeks in Kingston with Miss Effie Robertson.

Mrs. Charles Wilkins, of Belleville, is in town visiting her grand daughter Mrs. A. H. Stratton.

Mr. Michael McGeough and wife of Lindsay are visiting in town, the guest of Mrs. P. Fitzsimmons.

Miss Rose, late with Sutcliffe & Sons', and Miss Carruthers leave tomorrow for ten days holidays in Buffalo.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor was in Lindsay Sunday administering the sacrament of confirmation to a large number of candidates.

Mr. Geo. Wesley, who has been in the employ of Mr. H. LeBrun & Co., left to-day for Niagara Falls, where he has secured employment in a leading dry goods house.

Major Macdonald of Peterborough, who with his wife and son, spent the winter in Europe for the benefit of his health, is on his way back to Canada.—Toronto Star.

Mr. James O'Brien of town, left to-day at noon for Rochester, where he will reside in future. Mr. O'Brien was the energetic recording secretary of St. Peter's T.A.S., and his services will be greatly missed by that organization. His removal from town will also make a vacancy in the Vatican twelve, "Jimmy" being one of the stalwarts of that organization.

Mr. E. Morden, of Niagara Falls, Ontario, is making a trip through the Province in order to secure a fair representation of the various varieties of fruit grown about each important fruit centre, for the tables in the Ontario section of the Horticultural Building at the Pan-American. No similar general organized effort has been made for previous exhibitions, where so much ground is covered. Only a small supply of the choicest fruit is needed from each point.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

In All Saints' last evening the anthem sung was entitled "Gently Lord O Gently Lead Us."

Rev. W. L. Armitage spoke last evening on the advantages and blessing of church attendance. This is the first of two sermons on this subject and next Sunday evening Mr. Armitage will speak on "Why it is neglected."

MARK STREET CHURCH

In the morning the pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Mr. Kilgour. The choir sang "I Was Glad," by Dungan. During offertory the duette "Over and Over Again" was sung by the Misses Nellie and Winnie Courtney, with highly pleasing effect.

The evening service being the occasion of the attendance of the Woodmen of the World Society, a sermon especially suitable was delivered by the pastor, Rev. C. L. Thompson. The choir sang "Come Thou Fount," by Excele, the solos of which were ably taken by Miss A. Smith, and Messrs. C. Thornton and A. Saunders. During the service the male quartette "Guiding Star" was sung by Messrs. C. and J. Thornton, A. Saunders and E. S. Watson. During offertory Mr. A. Saunders pleased his listeners with the singing of "The Palms," by Faure in his usual fine voice.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

In St. Andrew's yesterday there assembled two large congregations. Rev. Mr. Yule preached an interesting sermon to men in the evening.

In the morning the choir sang "Hear My Cry O God," Miss Belleghem taking the solo.

At the evening service the anthem "Praise Ye the Father," was rendered with good effect.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH.

Miss Morrow, who was formerly Superintendent of the Chinese Girls' Home, Victoria, British Columbia, spoke in the George Street Methodist Church yesterday in the interests of the Women's Missionary Society. After tracing missionary work from its origin in the time of the disciples to the present day, Mrs. Morrow discussed women's missionary work in general and the work of Methodist women in particular. Only a short half century ago women's missionary work was unhead of, to-day there are fifty-two organized societies and thirty-one auxiliaries. Hosts of women are to-day publishing the tidings, yet many more are needed, as the only way the heathen women can be reached in their homes is through Christian women.

Miss Morrow's description of the work amongst the Indian and Chinese on the Pacific coast was very interesting and enabled the congregation to obtain a great deal of information concerning the progress which is being made.

At the morning service Miss Gertie Kendry sang a solo very sweetly. Mrs. W. W. Daly sang a missionary selection. The anthems were "Messiah is King" and "Praise Unto the Father."

Mrs. Dr. Morgan, of Bridgenorth, very pleasingly sang the solo "Ye Have Done it Unto Me," in the evening Miss Florence Hall sang "Fear Not Ye O Israel," by Buck, in a very artistic manner.

BREAKFAST IN NAPLES.

It Is Not a Very Costly Meal For the Poorer People.

In the "short and simple annals of the poor" in Naples there is no getting up and lighting the fire to cook the family breakfast. The wayfarer arriving on an early train or the reveler returning from some gay ball at dawn sees the first movement of the immense wheel of human appetite in the shape of a dismal looking creature muffled in a ragged overcoat and shuffling sluggishly from door to door of the opening basel, or ground floor shops and tenements. He carries a long handled iron pan half filled with smoldering charcoal, whereon simmers a quaint copper pot full of a mixture that purports to be coffee. This compound, which he duly administers to his clientele, is the sober Neapolitan "eye opener." Well sweetened and well warmed, it costs only 1 cent and is the beverage of the early risers; of hackmen returning from the night's chill station; of watchmen making their last weary rounds; of workmen shaking off the lethargy of insufficient sleep; of women half poisoned by the night's rest in houses devoid of ventilation.

Very soon the air becomes vocal with the characteristic calls of the breakfast venders. "Hot, hot, and big as apples!" about the sellers of peeled chestnuts. These are broiled in huge caldrons in a reddish broth of their own making, which is further seasoned with laurel leaves and caraway seed. A cent's worth of the steaming kernels, each of which is as big as a large English walnut, is a nourishing diet that warms the fingers and comforts the stomach of troops of children on their way to school, or rather to the co-operative creches, for nurseries, where one poor woman, for a cent a day each, takes care of the babies of a score of others who must leave them behind to earn the day's living.

Meantime dignified cows pass by "with measured tread and slow," shaking their heavy bells and followed by their beguiled offspring, whose business it is to make them "give down" their milk at the opportune moment and to let the milkman take it. Nothing can be funnier than this struggle between the legitimate owner, the calf and the wily subtractor of the lacteal treasure. Although tied to his mother's horns by a rope long enough to reach and even lick her bag, but not to get any satisfaction out of it, his bovine wit is often sharp enough to give the slip to the noose and elude the vigilance of the keeper, occupied perhaps for the moment in quarreling with some saucy maidservant over the quantity of milk to be paid for. The scene which ensues is worthy of the cinematograph. As a sequel, calfy's tail is nearly pulled off, but he has spoiled the oppressor's game for one day anyhow.—Mary Scott-Uda in Century.

TWO PRAIRIE TERRORS.

The Havoc That Is Wrought by Fire and Snowstorms.

One of the most terrible of the dangers encountered by the homesteaders on the prairie has been the prairie fire. Its beginning was a trifle—a careless brand from a hunter's campfire perhaps—but the outcome is dreadful and momentous indeed.

At first there is only a low bank of dark cloud on the horizon. An hour later or less the cloud, like a black band across the sky, has risen half way to the zenith, and along the lower edge of it runs a fringe of visible flame.

It is quick work then. Nobody who has not seen a full fledged prairie fire can realize its immensity, its tremendous rate of progress, which is swifter than that of the fastest horse, and its power of destruction. The mass of heated air thrown up from it causes a great suction, producing a wind which follows the fire and pushes the column of smoke to the front.

When there is time enough, a fire is started in the grass toward the approaching fire, so as to make a burned space that will check the coming flames. If there be not time for that, a fire is started in the same direction, so as to leave in its wake a space in which shelter may be found.

Great snowstorms, accompanied by cold waves, in the east are commonly called blizzards, but they are not at all like the western blizzard. In a real blizzard the air is filled with a peculiar vapor of snow which drifts before the wind at the rate of 40 to 60 miles an hour. The vapor is so dense that in it the traveler can hardly see his hand before his face.

A person caught abroad in a blizzard is in a dreadful plight indeed. The snow drifts through his clothing and beats directly against his skin. No clothing, however thick, will keep it out. Thus he is subjected to dreadful distress, but what causes most of the deaths that occur in blizzards is that the snow vapor is carried into the lungs in breathing and paralyzes those organs. Often it has happened that a man has ventured out of his house a few yards to the barn and in returning has fallen dead before reaching his threshold.

Humor In Some Old Wills.

A certain Lieutenant Colonel Nash left an annuity to the bellringers of Bath to "toll dolefully" on each anniversary of his wedding day, and contrite Mr. Withipol of Walthamstow left the bulk of his property to his wife, "trusting," he says, "yea I may say as I think, assuring myself, that she will marry no man, for fear to meet with so evil a husband as I have been to her."

Mr. Jasper Mayne at least considered himself witty when he bequeathed to his valet a wornout portmanteau, as it contained something, said the will, which would make him drink. The excited valet ripped open the trunk and found a red herring in it. So, doubtless, did the Scotch gentleman who, in 1877, left to his son's care his two worst watches, "because," he said, "I know he is sure to dissect them."—All the Year Round.

Left Struggling.

A Turk had fallen into a well. A Jew ran for a ladder to get him out.

"No, no," said the son of the Crescent; "I am not going to climb your ladder, as this is Friday, the day consecrated to Allah."

In spite of his entreaties the Jew had to go away and leave the Turk paddling in the water up to his chin.

The next day the Jew went to see how the disciple of Mohammed had spent the night.

"The ladder, for Allah's sake, the ladder!" shrieked the Turk in desperation.

"Allah forbid!" replied the Israelite. "Don't you know this is Saturday, our Sabbath?" And off he went, leaving the Turk still struggling in the water.

Bronchitis is now Epidemic.

Bronchitis is becoming very prevalent, but is not now incurable for Catarrhozone cures even the worst cases. Catarrhozone Inhaler sends the healing medicated air into every air passage in head, bronchial tubes and lungs; it reaches the germs and destroys them. Catarrhozone soothes and cures the dry cough and feverishness, and the laborious breathing and soreness in the wind-pipe are relieved at once. When Catarrhozone is inhaled, Bronchitis is cured in one to five days. It has been extensively used, and never once failed. Even cases of 5, 10 and 20 years standing that have baffelled the skill of the best physicians, have been cured by Catarrhozone. Your doctor can tell you that Catarrhozone is one of the grandest discoveries of the century, and that he always prescribes it for Bronchitis, Asthma and Catarrh. Get it to-day and be cured. Price $1.00; small size 25 cents, at druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

OLD TIMES.

Old Times, come near,
Bend low, and let me hear
Thy sweet refrain;
Bring my blocks and toys,
My careless childhood joys,
Just once again.
Run them up and down the floor
Same as happy days of yore,
I'll laugh and prattle,
I'll cry a little,
Now in joy, now in pain,
For sunshine always follows rain,

Old Times, come near,
Bend low, so I hear
Thy faintest whisper.
Where is the girl I loved when a kid,
The one who always had my sled?
A painted spinster!
Why, we've swapped many a hunk o' gum,
An' many a nibble I took at her bun;
Ruby lips, each tooth a pearl,
Foolish, foolish, little girl.
Still ever in life the same refrain—
Sunshine and shade, pleasure and pain.

Old Times, come near,
Bend low, so I can hear,
And tell me this:
The old schoolmaster, the big tall chap,
Who wielded well a thick black strap
And never made a miss?
And the bully who chased me home from school,
Broke my slate, and stole my rule?
The bully doin' kid-gloved preachin',
The other chap a-still a-teachin'.
Yet ever in life the same refrain—
Sunshine always follows rain,

Old Times, come near,
Bend low, and let me hear
More of thy story.
The dunce who always wore the cap
And danced before the big black strap?
Now splurged with glory!
And the chap who spelled the last
And always tattled on the rest,
The teacher's pet?
A-studyin' yet!
Still ever in life the same refrain—
Sunshine always follows rain.

Old Times, come near,
Bend low, and let me whisper in thine ear
The oft-told story.
I love thee, Good Old Times;
In thee a lingering memory finds
Some added glory.
The teacher lickin', the bully kickin' and stealin' o' my rule;
A-swappin' gum, a nibblin' buns — those happy days at school.
Old Times, good-bye, you've made me kinda' sad,
When I remember all the happy days I've had,
Still ever in life the same refrain—
Sunshine and shade, pleasure and pain.

Consolation.

Mrs. Murphy (to her husband, excitedly)—Run for the doctor, Pat. The child has swallowed the halfpenny you gave him to play with.

"Oh, keep your mind aisy, Bridget," replied Pat. "It was a bad one anyway."

A boy boasts of what he is going to do when he becomes a man, and an old man brags of what he did when he was a boy.

The Chinese began to write books before they migrated from the region south of the Caspian sea.

PRETTY IRISH GIRLS.

Why the Lasses of the Emerald Isle Are Beautiful.

The Irish peasant girls have long been famous for their beautiful, clear skins and healthy complexions. They owe much of their loveliness to the moisture of the climate and the simplicity of their lives. Plain, wholesome fare and rainwater for the wash basin tell their own tale. No matter how homely are the features of the genuine peasant girl, her skin is almost invariably soft and firm, the arms nicely rounded, the eyes brilliant and expressive.

There are no eyes finer than those of the healthy daughter of Erin's isle. Soft and tender one moment, to flash with passion if aroused; dark blue, gray or brown, the Irish eye is peculiarly lovely and possesses a luster all its own. Long lashes shadow these bewitching orbs—lashes that curl upward to sweep the cheek when the face is betrayed into blushes.

So much time is spent out of doors that the feet, usually bare, become enlarged. The ankle, however, is usually well shaped and neat, the instep high and the skin of baby fineness. The Irish girl of humble station is proud of her shapely feet and believes that walking through the grass before sunrise in summer enhances their beauty, which, of course, it does.

No need to powder that fair skin—it owes its peachy bloom to health, happiness and the freedom of outdoor life; no need to resort to the rouge pot—the roses are there hard and fast, nature's own coloring. The hands may be rough by hard work, not diminutive, but shapely; the hair burnished and often luxuriant.—London Answers.

How to Lie When Sleeping.

The correct posture for sleep is to lie on the right side with the limbs stretched out to their full length and the arms either straight down by the body or in any comfortable position, provided they are not raised above the head. The mouth should be closed, and all the muscles of the body should be relaxed.

The lungs work with greater deliberation during the hours of sleep, and if the arms are raised above the head at this time and for any period the action of the heart drives the blood away from the arms and sends it to the head, frequently making one very restless when it does not prevent sleep entirely.

Having a Purpose In Life.

Ambition to achieve has saved many a man and woman from an early grave. From a health point of view a definite purpose in life, something which the mind is bent on accomplishing, is a factor which is too rarely considered. The will power which holds one to a set task oftentimes wards off physical weakness and weariness better than the drug or medicine which the physician prescribes. "I must accomplish this before I die," has been the expressed purpose of more than one of the world's great workers.—A. S. Atkinson in Woman's Home Companion.

The perfumers of Rome lived in a special quarter set apart for their use, and whole streets were filled with their shops, which were lounging places for wealthy young nobles.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

I was sorry that he had recalled to me the name of Phyllis. It dampened my sociability. I was not yet prepared to take him into my confidence. The ale, however, loosened our tongues, and, though we did not talk about our present affairs, we had a pleasant time recounting the days when we were young in the sense that we had no real trouble. Those were the times when we were earning $15 and $20 the week; when our watches were always in durance vile; when we lied to the poor washerwomen and to the landlady; when we would always be "around tomorrow" and "settle up" with our creditors.

"There was no ennui those days," laughed Hillars.

"True. Do you remember the day you staid in bed because it was cheaper to sleep than work on an empty stomach?"

"And do you remember the time I saved you from jail by giving the sheriff my new spring overcoat to pay a washerwoman's bill of six months' standing?"

"I hung around Jersey City that day," said I. And then there was more ale, and so on. It was 9 when at last we rose.

"Well, we'll go back to the office and get your case," said Dan. "Where's your trunk?"

"At the Victoria."

"All your luggage must be sent to my rooms. I will not hear of your going elsewhere for lodging while in town. I have a floor, and you shall share it. It's a bachelor's ranch from basement to garret, inhabited by artists, journalists, one or two magazine men, a clever novelist and three of our New York men. There is no small fry save myself. We have little banquets every Friday night, and they sometimes last till Saturday noon. I've taught the Frenchman who represents the Paris Temps how to play poker, and he threatens to become my Frankenstein, who will eventually devour me." Hillars laughed, and it sounded like the laughter of other days. "Jack, I think you will do me good. Stay with me and keep me away from the bottle if you can. No man drinks for pure love of liquor. My father never loved it, and God knows what he was trying to forget. For that's the substance of it all, to forget. When you start out to the point of forgetfulness, you must keep it up; regret comes back threefold with soberness. It seems silly and weak for a man who has been buffeted as I have, who is supposed to gather wisdom and philosophy as a snowball gathers snow as it rolls down hill, to try to drown regret and disappointment in liquor. A man never knows how weak he is till he meets the one woman and she will have none of him."

And somehow I got closer to Hillars spiritually. There were two of us, so it seemed, only I was stronger or else my passion did not burn so furiously as his.

The apartments occupied by Dan were all a bachelor could wish for. The walls were covered with photographs, original drawings, beer stains, pipes, a slipper here, a fan there and books and books and books. I felt at home at once.

I watched Hillars as he moved about the room, tidying up things a bit, and I noticed now more than ever how changed he was. His face had grown thin, his hair was slightly worn at the crown and temples, and there were dark circles under his eyes. Yet, for all these signs of dissipation, he was still a remarkably handsome man. Though not so robust as when I last saw him, his form was yet elegant. In the old days we had called him Adonis, and Donie had clung to him long after the Cambridge time.

"I'll tell you why I'm going to the dogs."

"Now," said he when we had lighted our pipes, "I'll tell you why I'm going to the dogs. I've got to tell it to some one or go daft, and I can't say that I'm not daft as it is."

"It is a woman," said I after reflection, "who causes a man to drink, to lose all ambition."

"It is."

"It is a woman," I went on, holding the amber stem of my pipe before the light which gleamed golden through the transparent gum, "who causes a man to pull up stakes and prospect for new claims, to leave the new country for the old."

"It is a woman indeed," he replied. He was gazing at me with a new interest. "If the woman had accepted him he would not have been here."

"No; he would not," said I.

"In either case, yours or mine."

"In either case. Go on with your story. There's nothing more to add to mine."

Some time passed, and nothing but the breathing of the pipes was heard. Now and then I would poke away at the ashes in my pipe bowl, and Dan would do the same.

"Have you a picture of her?" I asked, reaching for some fresh tobacco.

"No; I am afraid to keep one."

To me this was a new phase in the matter of grand passions.

"A likeness which never changes its expression means nothing to me," he explained. "Her face in all its moods is graven in my mind. I have but to shut my eyes, and she stands before me in all her loveliness. Do you know why I wanted this vacation? Rest?" His shoulders went up, and his lips closed tighter. "My son, I want no rest. It is rest which is killing me. I am going across. I am going to see her again, if only from the curb, as she rolls past in her carriage, looking at me, but not recognizing me, telling her footman to brush me aside should I attempt to speak to her. Yet I would suffer this humiliation to see that glorious face once more, to hear again that voice, though it were keyed to scorn. I am a fool, Jack. What, have I gone all these years free heart to love a chimera in the end? Verily I am an ass!

"She is a princess. She has riches. She has a principality. She is the ward of a king. What has she to do with such as I? Three months in the year she dwells in her pretty palace. The other months find her here and there—Paris, St. Petersburg or Rome, as fancy wills. And I—I love her! Is it not rich? What am I? A grub burrowing at the root of the tree in which she, like a bird of paradise, displays her royal plumage. 'Masters, remember that I am an ass. Though it be not written down, yet forget not that I am an ass.' The father of this princess once rendered the present king's father a great service, and in return the king turned over to his care a principality whose lineal descendants had died out. It was with the understanding that so long as he retained the king's good will, just so long he might possess the principality, and that when he died the sovereignty would pass to his children. The old king died, and his son sat upon his father's throne. The father of the princess also died. The king of today made the same terms as his father before him. The Princess Hildegarde accepted them, not counting the cost. Last spring she was coronated. Shortly before the coronation Prince Ernst of Wortumborg became a suitor for her hand. The king was very much pleased. Prince Ernst was a cousin of the Princess Hildegarde's father and had striven for the principality in the days gone by. The king, thinking to repair the imaginary wrongs of the prince, forced the suit. He impressed upon the princess that it was marry the prince or give up the principality. She gave her consent, not knowing what to do under the circumstances. Prince Ernst is a prince without principality or revenues. In marrying the princess he acquires both. I shall tell you how I became concerned."

Hillars laid his smoking pipe in the ash pan. He got up and roamed about the room, stopped at the window and stared at the inken sky, then returned to his chair.

CHAPTER IV.

I shall tell Hillars' story as he told it. He said: Last August I went to B——. My mission was important and took me to the British legation, where I am well known. I was most cordially invited to attend a ball to be given the next evening. The notables of the court were there. For a few moments the king let his sun shine on the assemblage. It was a brilliant spectacle. At midnight I saw for the first time a remarkably beautiful woman. I was looking well myself that night. All women like to see broad shoulders in a man. It suggests strength—something they have not. Several times this young woman's eyes met mine. Somehow, mine were always first to fall. There was a magnetism in hers mine could not withstand. Later an attache came to me and said that he wished to present me to her serene highness the Princess Hildegarde of—let us call it Hohenphalia. He whispered that she had commanded the introduction. I expected to see some red faced dowager who wanted to ask me about my country and bore me with her guttural accents. To my intense pleasure, I found myself at the side of the beauty whom I had been admiring. There was a humorous light in her eyes as she put some questions to me.

"Do you speak German?" she asked in that language.

"Poorly, your highness," I answered.

"Perhaps, then, you speak French?"

"As I do my mother tongue," said I.

"I am interested in Americans," she said.

"Collectively or individually?" I tried to say this with perfect inpocence, but the smile on her lips told me that I had failed.

"Yes, I was sure that you would interest me." She tapped the palm of her hand with the fan she held. "Shall I tell you why I desired to meet you?" I nodded.

"I have heard it said that the American bows down before a title, and I am a woman and curious."

Said I, laughing: "Your highness has been misinformed. We never bow down to a title. It is to the wearers that we bow."

This time her eyes fell.

"This sort of conversation is altogether new to me," she said, opening the fan.

"I hope that I have not offended your highness," I said.

"Indeed, no. But it seems so strange to have any one talk to me with such frankness and deliberation. Have you no fear?"

"There is seldom fear where there is admiration. If you had used the word awe, now"—

Soft laughter rippled over the fan. She had the most wonderful eyes. "Are all Americans brave like yourself?" she next asked.

"Brave? What do you call brave?"

"Your utter lack of fear in my presence, in the first place. I am called dangerous. And then your exploits in the Balkistan, in the second place. Are you not the M. Hillars whose bravery not so long ago was an interesting topic in the newspapers? I know you."

"This is truly remarkable," said I. "The only thing I did was to lead a regiment out of danger."

"The danger was annihilation. If a captain or a colonel had done it, we should have thought nothing of it, but an utter stranger, who had nothing in common with either cause—ah, believe me, it was a very gallant thing to do."

"This is positively the first time I was ever glad that I did the thing." I placed my hand over my heart. "But, after all, that is not half so brave as what I am doing now."

"I do not understand," said she, puzzled.

"Why, it is simple. Here I am talking to you, occupying your time and keeping those fierce generals at bay. See how they are gnawing those fierce mustaches and biting their lips and asking one another who I am. There are as many as five challenges waiting for me the moment I depart from your side."

There was mischief in her eye.

"Then you shall stay with me, find me an ice and waltz once with me, for if anything happened to you I should always have myself to blame."

I waltzed with her, and the perfume of her hair got into my head, and I grew dizzy. When the dance came to an end, I went into the smoking room. Suddenly it went through my brain that the world had changed in an incredibly short time. I tried to smoke, and for the first time in my life tobacco was tasteless. I was falling in love with a princess. I confess that it did not horrify me. On the contrary, I grew thrilled and excited. There was a spice here which hitherto had been denied me. The cost was unspelled. I fell as far as I could fall. The uncertainty of the affair was in itself an enchantment.

ATTENTION

To physical warnings will often prevent a serious illness. When there are oppressive fullness after eating, bitter risings, belching, headache, dizziness, nervousness, with physical and mental sluggishness, prompt attention should be given to the condition of the digestive and nutritive systems. Not all these symptoms will occur at once or in any single case, but any one of them indicates a disordered condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition.

A prompt cure of these conditions will be effected by the timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It heals diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, perfectly and permanently. Many diseases, seemingly remote from the stomach, have their origin in a diseased condition of the organs of digestion and nutrition. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures through the stomach diseases which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach, and hence diseases of liver, lungs, heart and other organs are cured by use of the "Discovery." It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, or other narcotic. It is a true temperance medicine.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing else "just as good."

"I was a total wreck—could not sleep or eat," writes Mr. J. O. Beers, of Berryman, Crawford Co., Mo. "For two years I tried medicine from doctors but received very little benefit. I lost flesh and strength, was not able to do a good day's work. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and when I had taken one bottle I could sleep, and my appetite was wonderfully improved. I have taken five bottles and am still improving."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation by curing the cause. They do not beget the pill habit.

NOT BURIED AT SEA.

The Humane French Boatmen and the Dead Englishman.

A long expected French lugger was seen making for the roadstead, and the Lowestoft free traders were on the alert, anxiously seeking an opportunity for communicating with her crew. While they waited for a lapse of vigilance on the part of the excisemen, a boat was lowered from the lugger and rowed toward the shore. A curious crowd of beach men and excisemen assembled to meet her, and as she came in on the crest of a roller it was observed that she contained a coffin.

The French boatmen had a mournful tale to tell. On board the lugger had been an Englishman suffering from an illness which soon proved fatal. In his last moments of consciousness he had begged the captain not to bury him at sea, but to keep his body until a resting place could be found for it under the green turf of a churchyard in his native land. Sympathy with his sad fate and the knowledge that the lugger was not far from the English coast had induced the captain to consent, and now he had sent the body ashore for burial. In spite of his broken English, the Frenchmen's spokesman told his tale well.

Both excisemen and beach men—especially the latter—loudly expressed their admiration of the captain's conduct. A parson was summoned, and in a little while a mournful procession made its way from the beach to the churchyard. Even the chief officer of the excisemen was present and is said to have shed tears.

That night the local "resurrectionists" were busy, and at dawn the churchyard contained a desecrated grave. A little way inland, however, in the midst of the marshes, a smugglers' store received the addition of a coffin filled with silks and lace!—"Highways and Byways in East Anglia," W. A. Dutt.

Easy.

"Pshaw," said the youth with the earnest intellectual expression, "is so hard to attain! It is so difficult for one to get himself talked about!"

"Humph!" rejoined the woman with cold blue eyes and a firm jaw. "You just ought to live up in our neighborhood."

Preparation For Confession.

A priest was engaged in instructing and catechising a Russian boy. Presently he said, "Now, my boy, tell me what you must do by way of preparing for confession and penance." "Sin, your reverence," was the unexpected answer.—London Telegraph.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

CRICKET.

The Second Eleven of the Trinity College School, proved to be a too well coached aggregation for the Peterborough Colts to win from on Saturday, and the consequence was that the local boys were beaten by 86 runs and six wickets. The match, however, was one from which the Colts could pick up many pointers, and the game was thoroughly enjoyed:

The score was as follows:

GOLF.

In the finals in the Ladies' Competition for the Stratton Cup on Friday, Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun succeeded in defeating Mrs. Peter Campbell. The competition was unfinished last year amongst the ladies and a great deal of interest was manifested on Friday afternoon when the final draw was played off. Mr. Myles Hamilton was the winner of the cup from the men's section.

HE LIKES NEW ONTARIO.

Opinion of a Haliburton County Man.

Based on a Ten Days' Stay in the Temiscamingue District.

Lindsay Post.

Mr. Joseph Beatty, of Bosking, one of the leading men of Stanhope township, was in town last night, on his way back from the settlers' excursion to New Ontario, and in the course of an interview with a Post representative he spoke in glowing terms of the appearance of the country and the advantages it offers to the husbandman with a limited capital.

Mr. Beatty, who is a life-long Tory, admitted that he went to New Ontario as a critic of the Government policy, and for that reason his impressions will be all the more valuable to those who perhaps have had the idea that some of the newspaper articles were coloured in order to attract settlers and create a boom. Having a son in the storekeeping business at Ox Cliff, on the main line of the C.P.R., Mr. Beatty under his guidance spent three or four days travelling about in the sections already settled and others lately opened up, and as a result of what he saw he is now preparing to boom New Ontario as ardently as the warmest friend of an enterprising Government could wish. Mr. Beatty says he found all settlers contented and very sanguine as to the future. Many of them have 40 or 50 acres under crop as the result of two or three years' labour and the yield of wheat, oats and clover, is large.

The land in the vicinity of Wabigoon River is particularly good; while there is very little timber in that section, its absence makes the clearing of the rich land a very easy task, it being only necessary to cut down and burn a growth of alders and "sally" bushes when ploughing can at once be proceeded with.

Mr. Beatty paid a visit to the Dryden Model Farm, and says it is as pretty a 300 acre flat as ever he saw in Canada or in England. It is nearly all under cultivation and the young crops were growing most luxuriantly.

As a result of Mr. Beatty's visit it is likely that a number of settlers will leave Stanhope and adjoining townships next spring for New Ontario. Mr. Beatty was particularly impressed by the fact that even where the land is diversified and traversed by rocky ridges the settler can plough close up without meeting any fragments or boulders. It is not so in Haliburton county unfortunately.

GONE TO THE VERGE.

He Thought He Had Reached Friendship's Limit.

This young man is not so confiding as he was, and his ideas of friendship are not so exalted. Yet he takes it philosophically and is willing to place a heavy credit in favor of experience.

"I started in a small way," he tells, "and I had an idea that my business would expand rapidly. But I find a good many leaks and drains. Of course you know Jones. He is my friend and knows about horses. So when my one horse went lame I consulted him as being the one friend I had who, I thought, could help me out.

"'Pretty bad shape,' he said as he looked the nag over. 'Need him on your delivery wagon, don't you?'

"I need him or some other horse and asked Jones what I could get for the lame one. He looked him over, felt his legs, examined his eyes and teeth and finally said that, being a friend of mine, he'd give me $40 for the horse. I took it. That same afternoon he sold the horse for $80, a fact I learned about a week later.

"'Now,' said Jones, 'I'm not the man to leave a friend in a scrape. I'll just rustle around and find you another horse.'

"'Thank you, but keep within a hundred. I can't afford to pay more.'

"Next morning my friend showed up with a horse he told me I could have for $98, though he was really worth more. He was sound, gentle, 7 years old, according to Jones.

"He had bought that horse for $60. He had spavin and ringbone, was knee sprung and 13 years old. So Jones had made $78 off me and left me with one of the worst old crowbaits you ever saw. I'm not saying much about it, for Jones is my friend, you know. But an old codger that buys groceries from me says friendship ceases in a horse dicker."

A Kindly Joke.

Judge Braxfield, famous in England for his love for hanging criminals, when on circuit always put up near Perth with a crony who was devoted to chess. The laird had rather the better of his lordship at the game. In the revolution of the circuits Braxfield found himself trying his hospitable friend, who had got awkwardly mixed up in some abduction of cattle. The evidence was clear, the panel was convicted and the judge passed the solemn sentence of death. Then, bending down, he chuckled to the unfortunate prisoner—the accommodation in the provincial courts was cramped—"And now, Donald, my friend, I think I've checkmated you for once." But Braxfield delighted in a kindly joke.

Trifling With Charon.

Just as Charon was about to make the ferry slip the ex-distiller nudged him in the ribs.

"If it isn't too much trouble," said the latter, "I wish you would put me with the arrivals from Boston."

"But you are from St. Louis," protested Charon. "Wouldn't you feel out of place among so much culture?"

"No, indeed. I always feel at home in the midst of refined spirits."

Thereupon the ancient ferryman tossed the ex-distiller in the Styx

THE NIAGARA CAMP.

Major-Gen. O'Grady-Haly Present at the Divine Service Parade.

Niagara, Ont., June 17.—The whole division paraded to divine services at 9 a. m., and formed up beside the officers' headquarters, making the three sides of an immense rectangle over 60 yards across. The Rev. Walter Whitten, chaplain of the 35th Simcoe Foresters, assisted by Rev. S. Key of the 2nd Dragoons, officiated, and from a drum-head pulpit preached a very earnest and eloquent sermon. The three great requisites, he said, of the soldiers of Christ, as of the King, are obedience, endurance and courage. As the Canadian volunteers at the front endured hardship, fatigue, forced marches and thirst, so in Christian life we must endure as good soldiers. He spoke very feelingly of Her late Majesty, our lamented Queen, and exhorted all to offer true allegiance to our rightful Sovereign, King Edward, a true gentleman and sovereign.

The whole division, including the staff officers, were present, besides a large number of guests. The staff officers stood immediately in front of the chaplain. They are Major-General O'Grady-Haly, Col. Otter, Lt.-Col. Neilson, Capt. Gooderham, Major Howard, Lt.-Col. McDonald, Lt.-Col. Graveley, Major Gunther, Major Galloway and Major Nattress. All were resplendant in full-dress uniform.

A large number of guests and friends were also present.

A MURDEROUS FARMHAND.

James Churchill Kills His Wife and Her Father and Attempts Suicide.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 17. — James Churchill, a farmhand, who worked near Ithaca, early yesterday morning murdered his wife, Minnie Churchill, at her father's home in Newfield, a village nine miles distant from this place. He mutilated her head with a heavy bar of iron while she slept peacefully beside her daughter, aged 7. Her father, Daniel Minturn, who was over 80 years of age, also fell a victim to his son-in-law's wrath. Mrs. Churchill died two hours after the assault was committed. She was 30 years old. The old man still lives, but will survive but a few hours, it is thought, as his skull has been fractured.

Churchill himself attempted suicide by taking an ounce of carbolic acid, but was revived, and Sheriff C. S. Seaman arrested him and brought his prisoner to Ithaca last night.

The crime was the result of extreme jealousy.

The Railroad Is Open.

Halifax, N. S., June 17.—The southwestern portion of Cape Breton is now to the fore. The Inverness & Richmond Railway, which will eventually traverse the whole length of Inverness County, was opened on Saturday from Broad Cove to Port Hastings. Fifty-seven miles of the road are now in operation. The road was constructed by McKenzie & Mann.

Woman Hanged Herself.

Montreal, June 17.—The wife of Jeremie Beauregard, one of the most prominent farmers of Contre Colur, down the river, a few miles from Montreal, committed suicide yesterday by hanging in a stable. She was 51 years of age, and had been deranged for some years.

Unknown Cripple Killed.

Utica, N. Y., June 17.—An unknown man, aged 28 years, a cripple, who has been selling court plaster about the city, was instantly killed, and his body terribly mangled, by a Central train here yesterday morning.

Alcoholism Can Be Cured

REV. FATHER QUINLIVAN'S ADVICE.

To whom it may concern: The good points of Mr. Dixon's new discovery for the cure of the liquor habit in my opinion, are the following: First, if taken according to directions it completely removes all craving for liquor in the short space of three days; its use for a longer time is intended only to build up the system. Second, it leaves no bad after effects, but on the contrary aids in every way the health of the patient, whilst freeing him from the desire for drink. Third, the patient may use it without interfering with his business, or leaving his home. All other liquor cures I have yet heard of are very costly, operate slowly, are doubtful as to effects and often impair the health and constitution of the patient. I therefore look upon the remedy as a real boon, recommend it heartily to all concerned, and bespeak for it here in Montreal and elsewhere every success. J. Quinlivan, S. S., Pastor of St. Patrick's, Montreal.

Full particulars of this new medicine mailed free to all applicants. Address, Mr. Dixon, 81 Willcocks st., Toronto, Ont.

Question and Answer.

A woman carrying a suit case and several umbrellas bustled up to a weary looking servant of the company in the Pennsylvania railroad ferryhouse at Jersey City the other day.

"Does it make any difference which ferry I take for New York?" she asked.

"It don't make any difference to me, ma'am," he replied.

C.P.R. TRACKMEN OUT

Story of the Strike Told From Both Standpoints.

REPORTS FROM ALL SECTIONS.

Strike Committee Claims That 95 Per Cent. of the Men Have Laid Down Tools—Officials of Company Say They Will Have No Trouble in Keeping Their Road in Condition.

Toronto, June 18.—When the order came from headquarters yesterday morning for the C.P.R. trackmen to strike, the members in Toronto obeyed the summons and laid down their tools. The workmen here, as ordered by the union, reported for work at 6 o'clock, but when no settlement had been arrived at at the appointed time, there hurriedly came the word to strike. The number of trackmen on the system in Toronto is about 10, constituting one gang. They are located along the Esplanade, and connect with gangs at East Toronto and Toronto Junction. The men on strike held a short meeting and decided to stand by the other strikers. They will remain out until ordered to return by the committee. The strikers in Toronto expect to have the support of the other railway organizations in their fight, and in this way look forward to win.

On the other hand local C. P. R. officials were little concerned yesterday over the strike. General Superintendent Timmerman was of the opinion that the men who went out will soon return to work. The officials say that the places of the strikers will be taken by men, some of whom are already engaged.

AT MONTREAL.

Information From Railway Officials and Trackmen's Union Officials.

Montreal, June 17.—(Special.)—The strike which has been predicted for some days past, and as often denied, is now on, and it now remains to be seen which side will first come to time.

Mr. D. McNicoll, manager of the C.P.R., states that a good many men have quit, but he cannot say definitely as to the number; reports are coming in slowly.

Statement by Mr. McNicoll.

Montreal, Que., June 17.—In reply to an enquiry regarding the strike of trackmen this morning Mr. McNicoll, second vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said this evening that while some of the trackmen had quit work the great majority had not, and he fully believed that within twenty-four hours the trouble would be over.

Those who had gone out were, no doubt, actuated by a desire to redeem their promises to the committee rather than by any feeling of discontent at their treatment by the company. As a matter of fact, the Canadian Pacific Railway paid higher wages to its trackmen than any other road on either side of the line traversing similar territory. The wages paid east of Lake Superior, for instance, were higher than those paid by the Grand Trunk or Intercolonial; the wages west, than those paid by the Northern Pacific or Great Northern.

Rules had lately been put in force for the purpose of removing any possible cause for complaint that might arise. Some of the questions discussed with the committee were of such a nature that long and careful consideration would have had to be bestowed on them before they could have been put in such a shape as to prevent them from becoming a source of continual annoyance to the men, as well as to the company. Under these circumstances, the best of men, those who had been in the company's service for years, were sure to feel that there was no justification for the proclamation of a strike.

Meanwhile, the company's lines from end to end of the system were in splendid condition, and any number of new men were soliciting work, the high wages paid by the company being an attraction even in good times like the present.

On being asked whether the question of recognising labor unions was a factor in the dispute, Mr. McNicoll replied that it was not a factor in the dispute so far as the company was concerned. The conditions attending work in the track department are different from those in other departments of the railway, and it seemed impossible to formulate any scheme that would be workable. Nearly every man in the more important branches of the company's service is a member of one or other of the railway brotherhoods or unions, and no friction has resulted or is likely to result. The president, said Mr. McNicoll, in conclusion, had made this very plain to the Trackmen's Committee, when they called on him.

From the Men's Side.

Mr. John T. Wilson, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen of America, said:

"Our men have responded nobly, and I may say truthfully that every division of the Canadian Pacific is to-day swept clean of its trackmen, bridgemen and track watchmen. From St. John, N.B., to Vancouver, B.C., our advices tell only one story. We had not dared to hope that more than 60 per cent. of the boys would go out to-day, for doubtless many of them have not yet received the strike order. We are extremely hopeful of victory, and that before a great while.

"Between Montreal and Ottawa there is only one gang at work; in all probability they will quit to-night. Between Megantic and St. John, N.B., the men are all out, and they will remain out until they are granted an increase to $1.50 per day, whether it be a week or a year."

Mr. Wilson, who had gone to Portland, Maine, to attend a meeting of representatives from the other organized bodies on the Maine Central, was asked what the situation there promised.

"We are certain of victory," he answered. "Our men are standing firm, and the company is unable to fill their places. Eighty Italians, who were brought from Boston last Tuesday, threw down their shovels on Saturday and returned home. They told me they had been engaged to work on an extension to be built, but when they arrived they found their places were on the sections, which had been left by our men.

"Telegrams have been sent to the grand chiefs of all the railway brotherhoods, notifying them that trouble has occurred between the Canadian Pacific and its trackmen, and asking them to be governed accordingly."

Detectives at North Bay.

North Bay, June 18.—The sectionmen and bridge men of this division went out on strike here yesterday morning. There is no excitement and everything is quiet. The C. P. R. has about 20 special detectives stationed along this division.

All Out at Brockville.

Brockville, Ont., June 18.—Every C. P. R. trackman on this division, complied with the order to strike yesterday morning.

Trackmen Idle and Quiet.

St. John, N. B., June 18. — The strike of C. P. R. trackmen yesterday morning affects about 450 men on the Atlantic division. The trackmen here are idle and quiet.

Not Out at London.

London, June 18.—The anticipated strike of the C. P. R. trackmen, which was scheduld for yesterday morning, did not materialize. The statement was made that no order had yet been received by the men.

Still Working at Woodstock.

Woodstock, June 18.—The C. P. R. trackmen strike has not affected Woodstock thus far. There are three sections of men and all are at work. They cannot say whether they will remain on duty long or not.

Forty Men Quit at Chatham.

Chatham, June 18.—About 40 sectionmen on the C. P. R., comprising four gangs, went out on strike yesterday morning at 6 o'clock.

All Quit But the Foreman.

Owen Sound, June 18.—The sectionmen employed by the C.P.R. in this section struck work yesterday morning, all but the foreman going out. The men say they are out to stay, if necessary.

No Trouble at Guelph.

Guelph, June 18.—Yesterday morning the trackmen on the Guelph Railway were hard at work as usual, notwithstanding the rumor that a strike among all C. P. R. trackmen along the line would be called.

Working as Usual.

Sault Ste. Marie, June 18.—The C. P. R. trains arrived here sharp on time yesterday, and trainmen report the trackmen working as usual on this branch.

All Ottawa Men Out.

Ottawa, June 18.—Obeying the mandate of the International Union, the trackmen of the C.P.R. yesterday went on strike, and Ottawa, in common with the rest of the line, is affected. In this city 25 men quit work, and at the yards and junctions of the C. P. R. all operations have been suspended.

Only Three at Quebec.

Quebec, June 18.—There are only three sectionmen or trackmen on strike on the Quebec Division of the C.P.R.

Conditions at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, June 17.—(Special.)—The local C. P. R. trackmen are still at work this afternoon, and one of their number, questioned to-day, stated that they had not yet received notification from headquarters in the east. He expected that they would act in conjunction with the eastern trackmen, when such notice was received. It was also expected that many who were working on the track, who were not union men, would go out in sympathy with them. There were about 30 men engaged on the C.P.R. tracks in Winnipeg.

Later it was stated that the men had gone out.

PACIFIC COAST DIVISION.

Seven Hundred Men at Vancouver and Kootenay Sections Quit.

Montreal, Que., June 17.—A special to The Star, from Vancouver, B. C., says: The track and bridge men on the Pacific Division of the main line and on the Kootenay sections, went out this morning. They number seven hundred. They had absolutely no grievance, but were ordered out, and obeyed.

A Few Out at Nelson.

Nelson, B. C., June 17.—A few of the trackmen have gone out on strike here, but they do not seem to know what they have struck for, as the Spokane Falls and Northern Railway, which runs in here, is not paying its men as high wages as the Canadian Pacific. Much dissatisfaction is expressed here at the action of the Montreal committee, and many of the men have decided not to recognize the order to strike.

At Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, B. C., June 17.—The section men here are asking $1.75 per day, but feel that, in getting $1.60 and $1.50 per day, the committee should have accepted the same. Several of the gangs have, as a consequence, refused to go out, and the company is having no difficulty in filling the places of the few that did strike.

No Strike at Calgary.

Calgary, N. W. T., June 17.—Labor is very plentiful here, and the trackmen, altho they have had several meetings, have not yet decided to go out on strike.

Crow's Nest Line Not Affected.

Cranbrook, B. C., June 17.—The Crow's Nest Pass Board is not affected by the trackmen's strike. The wages were recently advanced to $1.60 and $1.50 per day, with which the average sectionman is satisfied.

Plenty of Men at Moosejaw.

Moosejaw, N.W.T., June 17.—The trackmen's strike is not taken seriously here, owing to the fact that there are a large number of foreign settlers in the locality, to whom employment on the railway would be a great help. If the men should go out there will be no difficulty in filling their places.

Three Men Drowned.

Portage la Prairie, June 18.—William Arbuthnot, a wealthy farmer, north of here, in the Longburn District, was drowned on Thursday, with two surveyors, in Long Creek. The report has just reached here.

Offers $50 Reward.

Stratford, June 17.—Somebody fired off a rifle the other day, and the bullet, a 22 calibre one, lodged in the horse owned by Joseph Walsh. The horse died Saturday. Mr. Walsh has offered $50 reward for the apprehension of the shooter.

Tavistock Terrorized.

Stratford, June 17.—Tavistock has been terrorized by the depredations of burglars. On Sunday morning the houses of Dr. Steele and Messrs. Field A. E. Bate and J. Adams were entered. Eighty-five dollars and a bicycle are missing.

COUNTY WEDDINGS.

HEFFERNAN-ENGLISH.

A very happy union took place at nine o'clock on June the eleventh in the first year of the new century, it being the marriage of Mr. Edward English and Miss Hannah Heffernan, both of Asphodel.

Precisely at the time appointed the bridal party were in their places in St. Paul's Church, Norwood, and immediately after the ceremony took place in the presence of a few of their most intimate friends and was performed by Rev. Father Conway, who afterwards celebrated nuptial high mass for the happy young couple.

The bride was charmingly attired in a beautiful costume of cream silk with pearl trimming and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Kate English, youngest sister of the groom, was daintly attired in white French organdie trimmed with white silk lace and ribbon, and carried a shower bouquet.

The groom was attended by the bride's brother, Mr. Richard Heffernan, both gentlemen being attired in up-to-date suits of black.

After the ceremonies were over the party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where they were greeted by a large number of friends who awaited their arrival. Congratulations being completed, a few moments of social intercourse were indulged in before they were ushered into the dining room which revealed to the guests a pleasing scene.

The tables were profusely adorned by nature's wand of flowers, while the edibles which were unsurpassable in variety and excellence, were dispensed with in the customary formula incidental on such happy occasions.

The number of guests were increasing all afternoon and as the stars began to blink the juveniles were brightened by everything pleasing and generous and all sailed in clouds of musical delight till morning.

The presents were more than usually numerous and valuable and represented a host of friends as appreciative as they were important in numbers.

The bride and groom being exceedingly popular their many friends wish them a long life of future happiness and prosperity.

The young couple will take up their future home in their beautiful residence, lot 14, concession 3, Asphodel.

A HARVEY WEDDING.

The wedding on Wednesday, the 5th, at the residence of Mr. Herbert Cairnduff, was so far the event of the season, and was witnessed by 75 guests. The number was so large and the day being fine the ceremony was performed on the verandah, with the guests gathered on the lawn, and a most picturesque assemblage graced the occasion. The young couple were supported by Mr. W. Tate and Miss Annie Cairnduff, and the wedding march was played with fine effect by the bride's aunt, Miss Mary Cairnduff. The ceremony took place at five o'clock, and the wedding feast lasted from six to half-past eight. The usual merry making was kept going to a late hour, and the whole company joined most heartily in wishing the young couple a long and prosperous life. The bride and bridesmaid were both gowned in cream cashmere, trimmed with satin and ribbons, and each wore flowers in their hair. The general opinion was that a prettier wedding had not been seen for a long time. The popularity of the bride was shown by the great number of presents, many of them being costly, and one of the most noticeable was a beautiful marble clock, the gift of the young lady's uncle, Mr. W. H. Cairnduff, of Chicago.

FATHER O'LEARY'S PICNIC.

It was a Decided Success on June 4th.

The picnic held at Bobcaygeon, June 4th, proved a decided success. The weather, though very unfavourable for some time before, was all that could be deserved. During the whole morning teams were winding their way to the beautiful seat of the Kawartha Lakes. The boat from Fenelon Falls, the two from Lindsay, one from Bridgenorth and one from Lakefield brought in a great number. Everything was prepared to satisfy the demands of an enjoyable crowd. Dinner began promptly at ten o'clock ending at 2.30. Tea began at three and finished at seven o'clock. The sports were the means of much enjoyment, as a great many of these bore such a comical feature. Owing to the great list of sports the horse races were delayed. The dancing platform was well patronized. The check office, over which Mrs. Stewart presided, was well received by all, as nothing would be lost if properly checked. The receipts were about $850 and the expenses $150, leaving the net receipts $700. This has been increased by $50 presented by Hon. J. R. Stratton towards building a presbytery in Galway. The travelling outfit brought $294.85, booth $140, gate $212, dinner and tea $200.

The contest for the five dollars was won by Miss Deilia Welsh, of Bobcaygeon, she having sold $83.25 worth of tickets. The others worthy of mention were Miss Maggie Conway $63.25, Maggie O'Leary $49.45, Mary A. Allen $44, Emmie Doherty $33.

Much credit is due to the manner in which the ladies of Bobcaygeon conducted the dining room. Under the guidance of Mrs. R. Welsh everything was in order and all were pleased. Mr. R. Welsh, H. Gallice and J. O'Donnel attended to fires, boiling water, etc., in a very creditable manner.

In a word, the citizens of Bobcaygeon deserve many thanks not only for the manner in which they united to make this picnic a success, but in all their undertakings there is a so much unity among the principal classes that the word failure is never used. Even the mills were closed and the men allowed a free day, thus showing how the town well deserves to be called the principal seat of the Kawartha Lakes.

Growing Children in Summer Thrive Wonderfully on

Malt Breakfast Food

Mothers who use Malt Breakfast Food in summer for their children call it a family friend. It keeps the growing child in perfect health; it nourishes the body and keeps the bowels regular. Malt Breakfast Food being predigested, is readily absorbed by the system, quiets the inflamed and irritated stomach and gives the little ones restful sleep. All children thrive on Malt Breakfast Food. At all grocers.

BENSFORT.

Mr. Herman Thompson attended the flower service held in Christ church, Ballieboro on Sunday last.

Sergt.-Major Thos. J. Nimmo is attending camp at Kingston with his regiment, the 46th, of Port Hope.

We are glad to see Mr. John Emberson around again, after rather a severe attack of appendicitis.

Mr. J. C. Turnbull of Peterborough, was renewing acquaintances in and around Bensfort last week.

The members of the League of the Methodist Church,, held a spelling match on Tuesday evening last. Mr. Harry Kerr proved the best speller, consequently won the honours.

Mr. John Kerr left on Tuesday, for Souris, Manitoba, to visit friends there.

Miss Maddie Kerr, of McKendry's, Toronto, is spending the holidays at home.

Mr. Raymond Kerr is progressing favourably after having had his left hand shattered by the bursting of a gun. He was attended by Dr. Montgomery, of Baillieboro.

We are happy to announce the wedding of Miss Fannie Perrin and Mr. Rorke of Norwood, on Wednesday of last week. The presents were many and costly. We understand that they will visit the Pan-American, and take up their residence in Norwood on their return.

The trustees of S. S. No. 4, intend putting in a watering tank at the school for the benefit of the travelling public. So much for the enterprise of the citizens of Bensfort.

We understand the new pleasure boat owned by Jas. Wedlock and a few other pleasure seekers, will soon be launched. The delay has been caused by not being able to get the boiler as soon as expected.

Statute labour is the order of the day in Bensfort. All the beats are as busy as bees, repairing the roads, the good quality of which the township of Monaghan is note dfor.

CARD OF THANKS.

Peterborough, June 13, 1901.

Messrs. Davis, Thompson & Co.,
Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Sirs, — It has been our intention for some time to write you in reference to our loss by fire, but the matter has been overlooked. However, at this late date we beg to thank you and your company, for the kind attention and prompt and liberal settlement of our claim.

It was a great convenience to us to have the loss adjusted the day after the fire, thus enabling us to have the necessary repairs made and work resumed without further delay.

We have no hesitation in recommending your office to the insuring public.

Yours truly,
MANN & BEAVIS.

Moved by Messrs. Campbell and Bullied, that collector's time be extended till Aug. 20th.

FIVE YEARS OF IT.

Toronto Man Goes Through a Living Purgatory—Dyspepsia Makes His Life a Torment—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Have Proved His Greatest Blessing.

James Beck, 561 Shaw street, writes as follows:

"I have suffered over five years with dyspepsia. I could not touch any kind of pastry. I could not eat the simplest dishes without pain and sour uprising from the stomach.

"I lost all relish for food and ate not because I felt hungry but because I knew I must eat. The slightest variation from a plain, monotonous diet—and I would suffer for it.

"I was told of several remedies and tried them all. I saw others advertised and tried them. Nothing whatever did me the slightest good. I could nowhere get any relief.

"Then I heard of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. But not knowing that they were different to other remedies I expected little from them. However, I tried them.

"I used three boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. To-day I can eat anything that's put before me. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets made all the difference in the world. Not only is my dyspepsia entirely cured, but I feel better in every way."

That is the way Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets acted in the case of Mr. Beck. That is exactly the way they will act with you. That is exactly the way they act with everybody.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by physicians. They are a compound of pepsin, diastase and other natural digestants mixed in sugar. There is no secret about their composition. Easy to carry, pleasant to take, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets exactly fill the want of this busy, burrying age of hasty meals, excitement and poor digestion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale all over the world at fifty cents a box.

MAD MULLAH REPULSED.

In Three Attacks He Lost 800—British Loss Ten Killed—Cut Off From His Base.

London, June 17.—A despatch to the Foreign Office from the consul-general of Somaliland, says that the Mad Mullah expedition had heavy fighting on May 28.

The flying column of mounted infantry, under Capt. Merewether, struck the Mullah's supply camp during a night march and captured 5000 head of cattle, killed one important chief and captured another, covered 100 miles, fought a shar paction and returned to its base, all in 24 hours.

The main force of the British, under Col. Swaine, departed for El Dab, June 2, leaving McNeill, with 300 men, to guard Zariba. Swaine's column advanced against the Mullah's base. In the meantime the Mullah, with 3000 followers, attacked Zariba three times. He was finally driven off by Capt. McNeill, with a loss of 500 men. The British in Zariba had 10 men killed and 9 wounded.

The Mullah is now cut off from his base and a decisive action is imminent.

ARRESTED FOR BIGAMY.

Earl Russell Charged in London With This Crime.

London, June 18.—Earl Russell was arrested yesterday on a charge of having contracted a bigamous marriage in the United States. The nobleman appeared to be quite unconcerned when formally charged at the Bow Street Police Station.

While Earl Russell awaited in the ante-room the summons to appear before the magistrate, the woman he married in America joined him. The Earl sat at a table unconcernedly chatting and swinging his legs. When the case was called a representative of the public prosecutor said the prisoner was charged with feloniously marrying Mollie Cooke in America on April 15, 1900, while his wife, Mabel, Countess Russell, was alive.

About a year ago it was announced that Earl Russell had obtained a divorce in Nevada, and had there married Mrs. Mollie Somerville, daughter of the late George Cooke, of Combernauld, Scotland. Mrs. Somerville had also obtained a divorce, in Nevada, from her husband, George J. Somerville, a Scotchman. Later the Earl and his new countess went to England, and the first countess threatened to have the Earl arrested for bigamy.

Gen. O'Grady-Haly at Niagara.

Niagara Camp, June 18.—The weather continued fine yesterday and very satisfactory progress was made in drill. The afternoon was devoted to brigade drill, including the march past. This was preparatory to the grand review, which will come off this forenoon at 10 o'clock. The whole division, including both brigades of infantry and the cavalry, was marched over to the River road, while Major-General O'Grady-Haly and his staff took their stand at the west of old Fort George. The signal being given, the massed bands began the "march past," and 8,500 men, stretching in an unbroken column from the town to Paradise Grove, marched before them, first in open order, then in quarter column, with the cavalry on the gallop.

Heavy Loss at French River.

Parry Sound, Ont., June 18. — Word reached here yesterday that all the lumber yards of the Ontario Lumber Company at French River were destroyed by fire on Sunday. The yard was full of lumber, and, probably four or five million feet were burned. Charlebois' boarding house and J. Gillies' dwelling were also destroyed. The sawmill, storehouse and other buildings were saved.

Later reports of the fire at French River place the quantity of lumber destroyed at between fourteen and fifteen million feet and the probable loss about $250,000. The lumber was insured, but to what amount could not be learned last night.

Sore Throat and Hoarseness.

with their attendant dangers may be speedily averted and remedied by the use of Polson's Nervilina. Excellent to gargle with—ten times better than a mustard plaster and more convenient for the outside. Nerviline penetrates the tissues instantly, sooths the pain, allays inflammation, and cures sore throat and hoarseness simply because that's what it is made for. The large 25 cent bottle of Nerviline is unexcelled as a household liniment. It cures everything.

Miss Muriel Dobell Married.

London, June 18.—Hanover Square Anglican Church was the scene of a fashionable wedding yesterday, in which the Canadian colony in the metropolis took a lively interest. Miss Muriel Dobell, daughter of Hon. R. R. Dobell, Quebec, a member of the Canadian Government, and grand-daughter of the late Sir David Macpherson of Toronto, was married to Capt. Amyot Hull of the Scotch Fusiliers. Among the distinguished guests present were Lord and Lady Aberdeen and Lord and Lady Strathcona.

Didn't Marry for Money.

The Boston man, who lately married a sickly rich young woman, is happy now, for he got Dr. King's New Life Pills, which restored her to perfect health. Infallible for jaundice, biliousness, malaria, fever and ague and all liver and stomach troubles. Gentle, but effective. Only 25c at Jas. Lynch's drug store.

BARGAINS IN SHOREY'S MAKE OF CLOTHING.

The pre-eminent position which the high-class clothing made by Messrs. H. Shorey & Co., of Montreal, holds with the people of Peterborough, is the reason why so much of it is sold by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. The representative of the house made a special visit to Peterborough last week and closed out to H. LeBrun and Co. a very choice selection of Shorey's high-class summer suits for men, young men, boys and children at a reduction of about one-fourth off wholesale prices. Shorey & Co. are preparing for their winter work and made Mr. LeBrun a tempting offer, which the people of Peterborough will get the benefit of. These suits will be sold at one-fourth less than regular prices. They consist of well-tailored garments in fine black worsted, serge and extra tweed. Every suit has a ticket in the pocket of the coat guaranteeing that if anything goes wrong it will be made right. Messrs. LeBrun & Co. also secured a great snap in trousers for working men and for fine wear, which are to be sold at a similar reduction.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Most Important Question the Church Has to Deal With.

PRESERVATION OF THE SABBATH

The Report of the Committee on Sabbath Observance and Legislation Presented by Rev. Dr. Drummond, After Which Discussion Took Place—Proposals to Appoint Field Secretaries.

Ottawa, June 17.—Rev. Dr. Drummond presented the report of the Sabbath Observance Committee at this morning's meeting of the General Assembly. He spoke of the question of Sunday observance as the most important the church had to deal with. It was the right arm of the church, the hope of the great army of toilers, which is constantly increasing, the bulwark and defence of our nation's highest life. There were perils attaching to Sabbath observance at present, and, tho these perils existed, the Assembly should not be forgetful of the fact that, probably, as a nation, Canada was among the best Sabbath observers to be found anywhere. Nevertheless, as compared with the importance of the day, and the spirit of Him who has given His impression to it for all time, many desirable things were lacking.

Mr. Drummond said a feeling appeared to be growing that everything must be subservient to material prosperity. The spirit of pleasure-seeking, being met by a desire for gain on the part of the railway and steamboat companies, was making serious inroads upon the sanctity and integrity of the Sabbath.

The speaker thought the great corporations should not be allowed to judge as to what was necessary work for the Sabbath, and expressed pleasure at the manner in which the various labor bodies were co-operating in securing the observance of the Lord's Day. He moved the adoption of the report, which embodied a number of recommendations.

Rev. J. W. McMillan moved a resolution in favor of appointing an assistant to Rev. Dr. Robertson, Superintendent of Home Missions in British Columbia, Manitoba and the Territories, the Home Mission Committee to make the appointment, after conferring with the Synodical Committee of the West. The motion was seconded by Prof. Bryce of Winnipeg, and carried unanimously.

Rev. Dr. Robertson returned thanks for the action of the Assembly.

Rev. Dr. Robertson moved the concurrence of the Assembly in the following recommendation: That the Home Mission Committee, finding it necessary to be provided with a larger revenue, and from more assured sources, are anxious for the organization of the women of the church for this purpose, and ask the Assembly if it is not possible to so alter the constitution of the W.F.M.S. as to admit of its serving a double function in regard to both foreign and home missions, and render unnecessary the organization of distinctively women's home mission societies.

Rev. Dr. Maclaren said that the Women's Mission Committee objected to the kind of double arrangement proposed by the Home Mission Committee, and desired no interference in their work. He moved that the recommendation be laid on the table.

Rev. Dr. Bain, Pembroke, seconded the motion.

Dr. Robertson withdrew his first motion, and, in its place, moved, seconded by Dr. Hart, that the Assembly recommend the organization of a Women's Home Missionary Society.

Dr. Johnson supported Dr. Maclaren's motion. He said the movement suggested tendency to sectionalism, and that to organize another society would create friction.

After Mr. Chalderhose, North Bay, had spoken, the vote was taken. Dr. Maclaren's motion to lay the recommendation on the table was carried by a large majority.

Next year the General Assembly will meet in Bloor-street Church, Toronto. Invitations were received from Vancouver, Kingston and Sault Ste. Marie.

The assembly endorsed the proposal to appoint traveling field secretaries in connection with the Sunday school work. A secretary will be appointed for each Synod.

To-night the report of the Committee on French Evangelization was read, and was presented by Rev. Prof. MacVicar of Montreal, and seconded by the Rev. Dr. Johnston of London. Rev. E. F. Bayley, Ottawa; N. MacLaren, Cathneau; Camere, Huron; E. H. Brandt, Pointe Aux Trembles; Boudreault, Grenville, French evangelists, were the speakers.

Sir James Grant, president of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, addressed the assembly at the evening meeting, on the necessity of safe-guarding against consumption.

It's the Baby.

If you lose a pound in flesh it doesn't matter much. But if it's the baby it may mean everything. There is no food in the world equal to Scott's Emulsion for making thin babies plump. If you have a thin baby in the house you'll be surprised to see how it will thrive on this nourishing and fat-forming food.

THE COLONIAL CLUB.

Lord Strathcona and General Buller Were the Speakers.

IN THE CONCENTRATION CAMPS

Over 40,000 Persons Are in the Two Colonies—The Deaths During May Were 98 Women and 318 Children—Government Willing to Release All Who Can Get Protection.

London, June 18.—Sir Redvers Buller and Lord Strathcona were the principal speakers at the annual banquet of the Colonial Club last night. Replying to the toast of the Imperial forces, General Buller said in his blunt way the worst thing that could happen to any country was what was known as a jingo feeling. Expenditure on the forces of the Crown should not be for conquest or oppression. Lord Strathcona, who presided over the banquet, in proposing the Colonial Club, referred in felicitious terms to the attachment of the people of the colonies to the institutions of the mother country. Colonists knew, he said, that in fighting to help Great Britain they were fighting for their own best interests. The High Commissioner was loudly cheered on resuming his seat.

IN CONCENTRATION CAMPS.

Over Forty Thousand Persons in the Two Colonies.

London, June 18.—Replying to questions in the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Brodrick, the War Secretary, said there were 40,229 persons in the "concentration camps" of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony. The deaths in these camps for the month of May numbered 98 women and 318 children. The announcement of the mortality was received with groans from the Irish members and cries of "scandalous." Mr. Brodrick added that the authorities were arranging for the release of the women and children who had friends to receive them, but the Government could not undertake to feed them in isolated positions.

The division in the House of Commons on the motion made by Mr. Lloyd-George (Welsh Nationalist) to adjourn the House on the question of treatment of Boer women and children, which was rejected by a vote of 253 to 134, served to accentuate the split in the Liberal party on the government's war policy. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, supported Mr. Lloyd-George in denouncing the policy of concentrating women and children in camps, and with Sir William Vernon Harcourt (Liberal) and the Right Honorable William Bryce (Liberal), voted in the minority on Mr. Lloyd-George's motion.

About 50 Liberal Imperialists, led by the Right Honorable H. H. Asquith (Advanced Liberal) and Sir Edward Grey (Liberal), abstained from voting, as a protest against the Bannerman-Harcourt-Morley section of the House of Commons, identifying themselves closely with the extreme pro-Boers.

Rush Orders For Horses.

New Orleans, June 18.—British activity in the port of New Orleans, which slackened a month or so ago, has suddenly revived. Orders have just been received to keep rushing horses and mules to South Africa at least throughout the summer. Within 24 hours two special trains with 1,200 head were rushed in from the west on passenger schedule, and eight of the largest transports to be got are steaming here for loads.

Rhodes Speaks.

London, June 18.—Cecil Rhodes, speaking at Buluwayo Saturday, predicted a federation of South African states in three or four years, but contended that to grant self-government to the republics before federation was impossible.

Jailbirds Still Free.

Chatham, Ont., June 18.—It is reported that the three escaped prisoners, Epperson, Abram and Siddell, were seen in St. Thomas Sunday night, but nothing definite is known. The Sheriff has offered a reward of $100 for the capture of Epperson and Abram, or $50 for either of them.

Magistrate Caught.

London, June 17.—Overseer McVean on Saturday discovered several persons fishing illegally. A county magistrate caught a bass, and instead of throwing it back into the river, put it with his other fish. He will be prosecuted. He will be summoned on three charges of violation of the fish laws—one of catching bass out of season, one of fishing off a dam, and one of fishing with more than three rods.

Lady Minto at Buffalo.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 18.—Lady Minto, the wife of the Governor-General of Canada, accompanied by Mrs. Maude and her children, who have been visiting the Falls, left here yesterday morning on the International Navigation Company's steamer for Buffalo, where she will be the guest of Director-General Buchanan. She will visit the Exposition and will remain for the illumination, returning on the steamer New York to Niagara Falls. To-day she will leave for Government House, Ottawa.

Hon. Wm. Mulock Coming Home.

London, June 18.—Hon. William Mulock, the Canadian Postmaster-General, who represented the Dominion at the ceremonies connected with the inauguration of the Australian Commonwealth, is on his way back from the Antipodes, with Mrs. Mulock and Master Cawthra Mulock. He sailed from Melbourne for London by the steamer China on June 4. On his arrival here it is expected he will confer with the postoffice authorities.

Indians Declare War.

Tacoma, Wash., June 18.—The younger members of the Hidah Indian tribe, near Hetchikan, Alaska, have declared war against the whites because Deputy-Marshal Jones last week shot Kitcoon, their aged chief, because he resisted arrest for cutting timber on Government land. The chief was hit twice, and badly wounded.

Diver Allowed to Drown.

New York, June 15.—Martin Anderson, a professional diver, lost his life while at work in the East River yesterday. The contractor, George Rogers, was arrested, and was remanded to the custody of the coroner.

CRYING!

What for? If you ask her she will tell you she doesn't know. She just feels nervous, that's all. A man is apt to have very little sympathy with this condition in his wife. He can't see any earthly reason why she should cry. She has plenty to eat, plenty to wear, and he does everything he can, he thinks, to make her happy; and in spite of that, she sits down and cries softly to herself, apparently without any cause or reason. But there is a cause, and that cause is some disorder or disease of the delicate womanly organism. Unhealthy drains have taken away the vital force. Inflammation is fretting the nerves of the whole body. If women did but understand the intimate relation of the general health to the local health of the delicate womanly organs, they would realize that the quick way to establish the general health is to cure the local disorders. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription dries the drains that enfeeble women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is a medicine that can absolutely be relied upon to make weak women strong and sick women well. It contains no alcohol, and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Women suffering from disease in chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free of charge. Dr. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has in a little over thirty years treated and cured more than half a million sick and ailing women. All correspondence is strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

COULD SCARCELY WALK.

"For the sake of poor, suffering women, I feel it my duty to inform you of the great benefit your medicine has given me," writes Mrs. Callie Bowles, of Watts, Iredell Co., N. C. "I was in a miserable condition when I wrote to you. I had uterine disease so bad I could scarcely walk and suffered such dreadful misery I hoped to be relieved by death. You wrote to me to take your 'Favorite Prescription' and I have taken eleven bottles of it, and two of your Pleasant Pellets. I am entirely well and feel like a new woman. I feel thankful to God and to Doctor Pierce for the blessings I now enjoy. I have a fine, big boy, two months old and never got along as well in my life. I can't praise your medicines enough."

NO USE FOR DOCTORS.

"About five years ago I had very poor health," writes Mrs. S. E. Whalen, of Holden, Johnson Co., Missouri. "After doctoring four years with our town doctors they gave my case up; said they had done all they could. I had been confined to my bed half my time; the other half could hardly drag around. I had such pains in my back and abdomen I could not stand on my feet for more than a few minutes. My feet were cold or burning, and my periods came too often. The doctors said it was change of life, so, as I had heard of Dr. Pierce's medicines, my husband got me a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' I took it and it helped me in some ways, so I wrote to you and followed your advice. I commenced 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' as I was so constipated all the time and pills would weaken me so that I would have to go to bed. To the great surprise of everybody I got well, and when I met my friends they would say, 'I never thought you would be here now.' But I can say it was your medicine, which no doubt is the best in the world. Have had no use for doctors since I tried your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an effective medicine for the bowels and liver. They do not re-act upon the system.

THE NEW TENANT.

Now, when he left my life I drew
Close shut the casements of my heart
And locked the door, and in each part
Strange darkness reigned, forlorn and new.
There pierced no happy sunshine through
The barrier of fastened doors;
The dust lay thick upon the floors
Where rosemary was strewn and rue.

But on a certain day came one
Who knocked and would not be denied
And threw the rusted casements wide
And entered with the wind and sun.
The dingy webs that grief had spun,
The dust that sad neglect had laid,
The faded hangings, rent and frayed,
Had vanished ere his work was done.

Oh, he hath swept my heart for me
Clean of old sorrowing and doubt,
And he hath set it all about
With peace and happy certainty!
Oh, home be glad for such as he
And very sweet nor let him find
That ghost one tenant left behind,
That silent, sad eyed memory!
—Theodosia Garrison in Harper's Bazar.

NO BREAKING OFF.

Just a Little Disagreement Between the Peppery Lovers.

"See here, Daniel," began the old farmer when he had cornered his son out by the corncrib, "what's this here circulatin round 'mong the neighbors 'bout yon and Patience breakin off yer engagement?"

"Nuthin to it 'tall," with a sullen tone and look.

"Blamed funny. I never see so much smoke where there wasn't some fire. Did you and her have some words?"

"I said there wasn't no breakin off, didn't I? What's the use of cross questionin a feller like he was on the witness stan'?"

"Lots of use, my young man. Hain't I tole you more times 'n you've got ingers a toes that my mind and ma's mind is set on this here marriage? Don't our farms jine, and isn't she a only chile, and hain't you a only chile? Hain't you got no gumtion nur common sense?"

"She said not. She said I didn't know enough to peel b'iled pertaters afore eatin 'em or to keep awake when I was a-courtin of her."

"She hain't so fur wrong, either. And what did you say?"

"I tole her she didn't have interleck enough to talk so's to keep nobody awake and that of I was a-pickin and a-choosin fur beauty she'd be at the foot of the class. That's what I tole her."

"Well?"

"She ordered me to git out and said of she ever see me on that farm from hencefor'ard she'd set the dogs on me, and I tole her the dogs would have a confounded easy time of it so fur as I was consarned. But there was no breakin off."

Then the old man informed the boy that if the engagement wasn't renewed within 24 hours he'd leave every "durned dollar to a sannytorium fur fools."

A Terrible Explosion

A GRAVE CHARGE.

Mr. Wm. Spilsbury is Charged with Attempted Cattle Poisoning.

County Police Magistrate Edmison held court at the Court House this morning when a case of unusual interest came up for hearing.

Wm. Spilsbury, a farmer of North Monaghan, was charged with placing on Friday, June 7th, a parcel said to contain Paris green in the pasture field of Mr. Adam Dobbin, a farmer of the same township, and a neighbour of the accused. County Crown Attorney Wood looked after the interests of the Crown, while Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the accused.

Mr. Adam Dobbin, who was the first witness, testified that he was at work harvesting in his field on Friday, June 7th. At 11.30 he unhitched a colt to let it rest. While sitting on the grass he noticed a drove of cattle coming down the road. He proceeded to a knoll to see who was after them. He noticed Mr. Spillsbury coming to the fence on his land. He got over the fence on to the road and stood for about three minutes looking up and down the road and then crossed towards witness' pasture. The accused then threw a parcel into the pasture field where there were four head of cattle and a colt. The cattle were between 25 or 30 yards from the parcel. Witness could not tell at that time the colour of the parcel. Accused then went on to his property. Witness attended to horses and called to his wife. She ran down to the lane where accused threw parcel. She could not find parcel. Witness proceeded to follow tracks of accused in order to locate the parcel, but Mrs. Dobbin had discovered it. The contents of the parcel she told him looked like Paris green and salt. Mrs. Dobbin left the parcel on the ground. He put the cattle in the stable with the intention of seeing the authorities in reference to the matter. After dinner he spied Mr. Spillsbury going after the parcel. He told his wife about the movements of accused after which he proceeded to see the authorities. He met Mr. Elias Thompson and son on the road near his gate. Witness then went down the road and discovered accused hiding behind a fallen tree, a short distance from where the parcel was thrown. Witness then went back to Thompson, who, together with his wife, went and examined the parcel. After the witness came back from town he found his wife still guarding the parcel. Thompson and his wife told him the contents looked like Paris Green. After coming from town witness put the parcel into a fruit jar. Mr. Cochrane then came along and the jar was given to him.

The case is still on and will occupy the entire day.

PERSONAL.

Miss Owens of the Barnardo Home, was in Port Hope on Monday looking after the wards of that institution.

Miss Armstrong, head milliner at Robert Fair & Co's, is in Toronto today making purchases for her department.

Mr. John Green this morning showed the Examiner some very interesting issues of "The Australian," containing most magnificent illustrations of the welcome which was extended Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York in Australia. The papers, which are well worth seeing, will be at the Examiner office for a day or so.

Dr. C. H. Amys has opened an office in Ashburnham, having secured suitable apartments at the residence of Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald, Elisabeth street. Dr. Amys has many friends in town as well as in Ashburnham, who will be pleased to learn that he has decided to locate in the village. He was with Mr. George Schofield in the drug business here for four years, taking his degree from the Ontario College of Pharmacy. He then took a course of medicine at Queen's University, Kingston, and in graduating stood very high in his classes, being successful in carrying off the Chancellor's Scholarship. After taking his degree, Dr. Amys walked the London, Eng., hospitals for a year, and on his return passed the examinations of the Ontario Medical Council. Ashburnham is to be congratulated on having a practitioner of such brilliant attainments locate in the village.

COUNTY COUNCIL NOW IN SESSION

Warden Fitzgerald's Speech From the Throne.

HE SPEAKS OF THE BRIDGES

And Says the Prospects are Bright for a Good Season With the Farmers Communications Received.

The Midsummer Session of the County Council opened this afternoon with Warden Fitzgerald in the chair,, and the following councillors in attendance: Messrs. Casement, Eastland, Shaw, Anderson, Dr. Jeffs, Pearce, Crowe, Costello and Peck.

After the reading of the minutes of the last council meeting, Warden Fitzgerald addressed the members as follows:

Gentlemen,—It gives me great pleasure to have the opportunity of addressing you on this occasion. I am sure you will agree with me when I say that we have every reason to believe that this will be one of the most profitable seasons for the farmers in this district that we have had in years.

It is true that there was too much wet weather for the farmers to be able to do very much with their low land, but in the section of our county where the rain did not interfere with the work there promises to be an abundant harvest.

You will remember that in January the matter of the repairs to the Douglass bridge on the boundary between the townships of Cavan and North Monaghan was referred to me. With the County Engineer I visited and inspected this bridge and we found it in a very dangerous condition and decided to communicate with the Council of Northumberland and Durham in reference to building a new bridge. The County Engineer prepared plans and specifications for a new bridge and forwarded a copy to Northumberland and Durham. No reply has yet been received.

The matter of repairing the locks and Ashburnham bridges was referred to a Joint Committee. At a meeting of the Committee it was decided to re-joist and re-plank the Locks bridge and that work is now being completed. It was also decided to build a crib work approach to the east end of the Ashburnham bridge and the timber has been secured and the work will soon be under construction.

The Joint Committee visited the old Mud Lake Bridge in the spring and found it in a very bad state of repair. Mr. Kelly made an agreement with the Committee to furnish all material and keep the bridge in a fair condition for traffic until the new bridge is completed for the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars. The work on the new bridge is progressing very favourably and no doubt will be finished in the time specified in the contract. The Ennismore approach is nearing completion under the supervision of the Chairman of the Road and Bridge Committee. I think it would be advisable for the whole Council to inspect the new Mud Lake Bridge and would suggest that we make the inspection some day this week.

The debentures issued under bylaw No. 800 have been secured at a good figure and the purchase money has been placed in the bank to our credit.

At our January meeting a resolution was passed instructing me to personally present memorials to the Dominion and Provincial Governments asking that the usual subsidies be granted to the Norwood and Apsley Railway Company to aid in the construction of a railroad from Norwood to Apsley. I decided that it would be better to send a deputation to interview the Minister of Railways and Canals at Ottawa and the Minister of Public Works at Toronto. The whole Council went as a deputation and were successful in obtaining subsidies from both Governments. The Dominion granted the sum of $93,000 and the Ontario Government granted $75,000 to aid in completing this railway.

There are several communications which have been sent to me in reference to other matters which will come before their respective committees and I am sure will receive your careful consideration.

The Warden's address was referred to a committee of the whole council.

Communications were received and dealt with as follows:

From Alex. Bell, M.D., Lakefield, in reference to remuneration received for acting as returning officer in the last municipal election. — Referred to the Finance Committee.

From John McNeally, County Clerk of Victoria County, in reference to a deputation waiting on the council. — Referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee.

From W. A. Stratton re Court House and grounds. — Referred to the Property Committee.

The Council then went into the Committee of the Whole on the Warden's address.

FOR MILITARY CAMP.

The 3rd Dragoons and Durham Field Battery Boys Leave Town This Morning.

This morning at 6.30 the left and centre sections of the Durham Field Battery, under command of Lieut. Bradburn and Lieut. Ackerman, left for Port Hope, where they joined the remaining sections, and the entire battery proceeded to Deseronto, where they will go into camp.

C Squadron of the Third Prince of Wales Dragoons, with horses and accoutrements, left at 9.30 this morning on a G.T.R. special, and proceeded to Kingston for camp. They will be joined by squadrons from Millbrook, Colborne and other points. C Squadron will be in charge of Lieut. W. H. Bradburn, Lieut. W. H. Hall will this year act as Adjutant of the Regiment. Lieut. Col. H. C. Rogers will be Brigadier of Cavalry, and Captain Johnston, Brigade Major.

The 46th Midland Battalion, with companies at different points in this district, also left for Kingston this morning. The Springville company of this Battalion has its headquarters at Ashburnham.

Those Who Will Take Part.

The following will take part in the Y.M.C.A. At Home to be held in the building on June 20 at eight o'clock. Gliddons archestra, Misses Stevens, Fairweather, MacDougal, will furnish instrumental music. Mrs. A. G. Parker, Messrs. A. G. Parker, J. A. Halpany and G. W. Mulligan will sing. Rev. Dr. Symonds will give a brief address on the Golden Jubilee of the Y.M.C.A. All are invited.

HON. J. R. STRATTON AT NORTH MONAGHAN

He Delivered an Interesting Address to His Constituents

RE LICENSE LEGISLATION

And Other Provincial Matters — Resume of the Record and Policy of the Government — How Reconstruction and Regulation Have Decreased Drunkenness—How Inmates of Public Institutions are Kept Employed.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, addressed a gathering of his constituents at the Town Hall, North Monaghan, on Monday night. There was a large attendance, especially considering the time of year, a feature of the gathering being the presence of many ladies. They do things very completely at North Monaghan. The work and taste of the ladies were to be seen in the floral decorations, the spoils of June having been devoted to the construction of several beautiful bouquets.

The chair was occupied by Mr. T. M. Hunter and an unexpected feature was the presentation of an address to Hon. Mr. Stratton, read by Mr. Richard Lillico Sr., as follows:—

Hon. J R. Stratton, M.P.P.,
Provincial Secretary,

We, your constituents resident in North Monaghan, desire, on this the occasion of your first visit to this Township in an official capacity, since your advancement to a position in the Ontario Government, to offer our most cordial congratulations upon the fitting recognition of the important services you have rendered the Province during your fifteen years of Parliamentary life.

We would on our own behalf and on behalf of your constituents at large, bear testimony to the excellent and faithful character of the services you have bestowed upon West Peterborough and the able and effective manner in which you have promoted its material interests.

This riding has been favoured with substantial government assistance in procuring conveniences which have contributed in no small degree to the improvement of our transportation facilities and general convenience. In these and numerous other ways you have earned our lasting gratitude, and we feel we voice the universal opinion, when we assert the belief that it has been very largely due to the untiring personal interest you have shown that the great services this riding has to be thankful for, have been rendered.

Not only West Peterborough, but the Province as a whole is to be congratulated upon the fact that your abilities have been recognized, as shown by your elevation to the Cabinet, in whose Councils your aptitude for affairs, your wide business experience and your energy and enterprise have contributed to strengthening the Government and promoting the success of its splendid policy of progress, which has already done so much in promoting the material interests of the Province and which, the country has good reason to expect, will continue to achieve similar results in an increasing degree in the future.

While expressing our confidence in the Government, which confidence is made the greater by your being a member of it, we would also reiterate our confidence in yourself, and would also join our wish with our belief that the exercise in your more responsible capacity, of the same qualities of ability and service that have placed you in the front rank of representatives will in due course advance you to a similar place in the Councils of the Government of this great Province.

George Young Sr.	Daniel McRoberts
John R. Young	Richard Lillico, Sr
Wm. Robson	Wm. Clarke
John Lynch	Alex. Turner
Jonathan Smith	John McIntosh
Harold Smith	T. M. Hunter
John A. Fowler	W. J. Laing
James B. Fowler	Frederick Wilson
	Geo. Dobbin.

In reply to the address, Hon. Mr. Stratton remarked that it was entirely unexpected, and in the sense of furnishing a knowledge of the friendly feelings of those who had signed the address, quite unnecessary, for he had had past pleasant experience of much kindness at their hands and as actions speak louder than words, the address was not needed to show him what warm friends he had in North Monaghan. Yet at the same time, thanks and generous recognition are always pleasant to receive, and he therefore thanked them from the bottom of his heart for the kind things they were pleased to say about him. If, Mr. Stratton said, he could hold himself to be deserving of all the kind things the address asserted he would have reason to be very proud. In what he had done he had simply done his duty as their representative and while he might not merit all the kind things said in the address, he at least claimed to deserve this, that he had faithfully tried to do his best in the service of his constituents, and would continue to do so long as he occupied his present representative relations. He thanked them on behalf of the Government for the references to it. As a member of it he fully sympathized with its progressive policy, which he was sure commanded the confidence of the people also.

Another pleasing addition to the programme was the presentation to Mr. Stratton of a magnificent bouquet of flowers by Miss Ella White, granddaughter of Mr. John A. Fowler.

With a few appropriate and complimentary preparatory remarks the chairman introduced the speaker of the evening, who, on rising to speak was greeted with very hearty applause, which was frequently repeated during his forcible address which was listened to with the closest and most intelligent attention.

After opening remarks of the usual character, Mr. Stratton presented concisely, yet comprehensively, the prominent features of the Government policy in the past and graphically dealt with the splendid results that have followed the development policy of the Government and outlined the course that would be pursued in still more extensively applying it. The speaker, during the course of his remarks, illustrated by means of the splendid map of New Ontario, just issued, the route of projected railways, the sites of the several pulp concessions, the location of the several forest reserves and the magnificent areas of agricultural country both north and south of the Height of Land. The excellent financial administration of the Government and the solid financial condition of the Province which has resulted, were also dealt with.

Mr. Stratton in connection with his address also furnished some very interesting information respecting the nature of the work of maintaining our Public institutions and their internal working. After referring to the expenditure of about a million of dollars a year by the department of which he is Minister, and the fact of the inmates being maintained at a lower per capita cost than the inmates of any similar institution in the world, he said:

Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory.

To most of the people of the Province the Central Prison and the Mercer Reformatory are but names, which convey no idea of the important industries carried on in them—especially the Central Prison. This is a penal institution such as is maintained in no other Province of the Dominion. The other Provinces have penitentiaries maintained by the Dominion Government. The Central Prison is a penal institution and as such is literally a "terror to evildoers." The average criminal prefers a term in the Penitentiary double the length of a term in the Central Prison, for at the latter, punishment more largely takes the form of work instead of preying on society and living upon the labour of others, which as criminals at large they would do, the prisoners are employed in productive labour—made to earn not only their own living but to contribute to the maintenance of others in the care of the Province.

The average yearly number of prisoners is 386 and the average yearly cost of maintenance per head is $1.60, a total cost for maintenance of $61,000 per year. The value of the average yearly output of product is $108,000. Seventy-six per cent. of the prisoners employed in productive industry, make a yearly average of net earnings of $22,500. The remaining 24 per cent. are employed in domestic work, sick in hospital or confined by day in the cells.

The industries carried on by the prisoners at the Central Prison consist of broom making, binder twine and rope making, blacksmithing, iron finishing, iron bedstead making, woollen mill, tailoring, shoemaking, carpentering, woodworking, painting, steam fitting, engineering and masonry. There are about 130 dozen brooms and whisks turned out a day, furnishing supplies of these articles for the Public Institutions, while the balance is supplied to the export trade. In the blacksmithing and iron finishing department are made the ironwork required in the construction or repair of lockups in unorganized districts, public buildings and repairs to prison machinery, etc. In the iron bedstead department are made these articles for all the public institutions as well as for the public hospitals and jails of the Province. In the woollen mills are made the cloth, flannels and blankets for the Prison and for the Public Institutions as well as yarns for knitting. The tailoring department supplies clothing for guards and attendants of the Prison and for the prisoners in the jails of the Province. The shoe shop turns out the shoes for guards, attendants and prisoners and for attendants in some of the Public Institutions. The carpentering and woodwork department is thoroughly equipped and produces broom handles, wash boards, croquet sets, etc., clothes horses, stepladders, children's sleighs, wagons and toy carts by the tens of thousands and other small lines of wooden ware. The painting of these products is done in the painting department. The tinsmithing department turns out a full line of household tinware and tinware supplies for the Mercer and other Public Institutions. All these departments are carried on by prison labour.

Mercer Reformatory and Girls' Refuge.

The inmates of the Mercer Reformatory are employed in laundry work on a large scale, which is all done by hand. Here is also done the making of undergarments etc., for the inmates, and for the Central Prison. The stockings for the inmates, and socks and mittens for the trade are produced in the knitting department.

In the Refuge for Girls the surroundings are made as pleasant as conditions will permit and a competent staff of teachers is employed to give instruction in general English branches, in plain and fancy sewing and in a full course of Domestic Science and Household Economics.

Public Institutions of Ontario.

Perhaps there is no country that exercises so much solicitude for the unfortunate, afflicted and dependent of its population, or makes more liberal and wisely directed expenditure in their care than the Province of Ontario. We have Asylums for those with minds diseased, Hospitals connected therewith specially equipped for those with physical ailments Refuges for the destitute and Reformatories for the morally deformed. All these are maintained by the Province without a cent of direct taxation. We have no direct taxation in this Province for these purposes. There is no charge upon the Municipalities in respect of them. The revenue for Succession Duties which is devoted as far as it goes—about 200,000—to the maintenance of our Public Institutions bears only upon the very wealthy and well-to-do.

We maintain eight Asylums for the shelter, care and treatment of the insane, and the public at large have little idea of the extent and nature of the work done in these institutions. It is to be remembered that in eight large buildings with acres of floor space and miles of corridors there are housed and cared for a population of about 5,000 demented persons, equal to the inhabitants of a large town; a population of every conceivable type of delusion, demanding special treatment and unceasing vigilance in supervision. These are to be sheltered, clothed, fed and given such treatment as the individual cases require. The matter of the purchase of supplies—sufficient and no more—is no small responsibility. Under authority of the detailed appropriations made by the Legislature, quarterly requisitions for supplies are forwarded to the Department, carefully investigated and, if approved, returned to the respective institutions with authority to purchase from time to time such supplies as needed. Supplies purchased under these conditions are deposited in store and distribution is made from the stores only on requisition of the head matron, endorsed by the superintendent. In addition to the storeskeeper's receipt for supplies deposited with him, every article of supply is recorded when it enters the store, and every issue also recorded, so that the returns made to the Department indicate the exact condition of the stores. The record of receipts and issues of the storeskeeper, the returns of such issues made to the Department, and the quantity remaining of the supplies covered by the receipts of the storekeeper, must exactly correspond. Every effort is made to keep down the expenditure to the lowest possible point consistent with efficiency, and it is, besides, the policy of the Government both from motives of economy as well as for the benefit of patients to provide productive employment.

Employment for Patients.

Popular ideas in regard to the insane are not always in line with the real conditions. There are degrees and forms of insanity in which the line of demarcation between reason and insanity is very lightly defined. There are monomaniacs whose minds are as sound in all other subjects except that of their special delusion and who can talk and converse as rationally and as collectedly on any subject as the sanest, at least until their "fad" is touched, when everything becomes mentally awry, and if their minds can be kept from the subject upon which they are insane the most astute cannot detect their mental peculiarities. For this type and indeed for all who are at all capable of working in any form, employment is one of the most beneficial forms of treatment. For this reason and on the grounds of economy of maintenance the inmates of our Asylums are kept as closely employed as possible.

The Toronto Asylum.

At the Toronto Asylum, with its seven hundred odd patients, the general form of employment is a type of that prevailing in all the other Institutions. The females are employed in all sorts of domestic work for which they are fitted, cooking, laundrying, sewing and mending, and knitting—their own garments and stockings. The men are furnished employment in the various trades they practiced in the world—tinsmiths make and mend the tinware used in the Institution, shoemakers and tailors ply their trades in the interests of the inmates and employment in gardening, trimming the lawns, grounds, etc., is provided for those not adapted to any particular mechanical calling. At the other Institutions the same general employment is provided for many of the inmates, but at those with large farms attached, as most of them have, the inmates are employed more largely in work connected with the tilling of the soil. It is not generally known that at some of the Asylum farms there is carried on perhaps the most successful and profitable intensive farming on the continent, as will be conceded when it is pointed out that the average profit per acre of the farm of 186 acres under cultivation at the London Asylum, is $41.29. This, as it would appear to the most successful farmer, abnormal average, especially considering the number of acres tilled, is due amongst other reasons to the fact that this farm is the oldest and has been longest under fertilizing treatment. The convenience to the city for manure supply, the utilization of the Institution sewage, with the careful and thorough cultivation largely by the labour of the inmates, account for so large a profit. The double benefit derived consists in the utilization of the labour of inmates for the reduction of the expenses of maintenance and the

THE TOWN'S OPPORTUNITY.

One of the essential qualities of the proper administration of civic, provincial or national affairs, is the faculty or practice of seeing ahead. To deal with a plain problem of administration when it confronts one—when it literally thrusts itself upon attention—is a mere matter of comparatively mechanical detail. But the true wisdom of governing, consists in looking ahead, foreseeing what is wanted and possible, and taking advantage of opportunities that a little foresight and consideration will suggest. The town of Peterborough and the village of Ashburnham have lost many good things by a failure to think in time, or to act boldly and promptly as the occasion demanded. A notable instance was the failure to take advantage of the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway across the river at Wolfe street, to secure for the use and convenience of the town and village, the addition of a footway and a wheelway. We all know that these could easily have been obtained at the time if the proper action had been taken by the councils of the day. Now a similar opportunity seems to be presented, and it is to be hoped that the councils of the town and the village will be alive to the situation, and at least investigate the subject, and if action is called for, be equal to it. It is understood that the new dam of the Cereal Company will be erected above the present Dickson Dam. It is also understood that a driveway will be provided, but this may be, as was and is the case in regard to the Dickson dam, a private, and not public, drive. In view of these facts, assuming that the plans of the company are such, or similar, to those mentioned, it is suggested that it is the duty of the council of the town, as well as the village, to take advantage of the opportunity presented to secure a public roadway, and, if it is thought desirable, a footway as well. Of course it could not be expected of the Cereal Company that it would, of its own initiation and cost, undertake anything like this. But the interests of the company and those of the two corporations are very intimately connected, and it should be easily possible to bring about co-operation in obtaining the facilities suggested. It should not be difficult, one would think, for the two corporations by contributing something to the cost of the dam, to cover the additional expense of constructing the dam so as to provide for a public roadway, and, if desirable, a footway. However, prompt and decided action will be necessary, and it seems there should be no great difficulty in arranging matters to secure the desired improvements to communication and desirable additions to the public convenience. The town and village have dealt liberally with the Cereal Company, and apart from the idea of reciprocation, we believe the company is sufficiently large-minded to be willing to co-operate with the town and village in the matter in question. We have nothing to offer in the way of suggested detail; that is plainly the duty of the councils concerned to work out. It is to be hoped that prompt action will be taken and the opportunity not be allowed to slip by unimproved. We believe if public opinion could be elicited, it would declare strongly in favour of steps being taken to secure the advantages suggested.

The Anaemic Young Girl.

Perhaps she is sixteen. Suddenly she seems to lose strength, her beauty fails, because her strength fails, her eyes lose their lustre. How her spirit droops! It alarms you, but all this may be corrected quickly. Get her Ferrozone, it is a nerve tonic, it aids the stomach to do its work. Appetite? She'll eat anything, and digest it, too. Ferrozone is an absolute specific for the anaemia of young people. Ask your druggist for it. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

WHAT SAID THE WIND

[Her thought.]
The wind is waving all the trees;
They whisper in the sun,
And over through the sweet, warm grass
The wayward shadows run.
Oh, turn you here or turn you there,
The thought will not away
That love comes as the wind comes,
And none may say it nay.

[His thought.]
The wind is scattering the leaves,
The clouds rush up the sky,
The vagrant snowflakes find no rest,
But whirl and toss and fly,
And still thought wanders with the wind,
Returning but to say,
"Oh, love goes as the wind blows,
And none may bid it stay!"
—Aldis Dunbar in Ainslee's Magazine.

ONE OF BROOKS' PUPILS.

He Was Unjustly Punished, but He Forgave the Offense.

After his graduation from Harvard college Phillips Brooks became a teacher in the Boston Latin school. And here, on the very threshold of his career, he met with failure. So much had been expected of him that his want of success was naturally a subject of much comment at the time, and after he had become a great preacher his early failure was still referred to and sometimes was used to point a moral.

It was a turbulent class that Phillips Brooks had to teach. Before he took charge of it three teachers had been driven away. The man who followed Mr. Brooks, to fill out the year, confessed himself so wearied by the frequent resort to corporal punishment that he was obliged to betake himself to the mountains for the summer to recuperate his strength. The boys were certainly in fault, but the blame was not wholly theirs, and long since they may be supposed to have repented of their mischief.

Phillips Brooks was then not yet 20 years old, little more than a boy. Naturally, perhaps, he made mistakes. On one occasion, says his biographer, he punished a boy who had committed no fault.

After Mr. Brooks had become bishop of Massachusetts, as he was moving in his majestic dignity across Boston Common, he met this boy, then a mature man occupying a post of trust and influence. Neither man had forgotten the incident.

Looking down upon his old pupil, the bishop made a certain appeal for forgiveness. "Tell me, now," he said, "that I did not make a mistake and punish the wrong boy."

"Yes, you did make a mistake. You punished the wrong boy," was the answer, "but I have missed so many punishments that I deserved that I ought to be grateful for that one, which I did not deserve."—Youth's Companion.

A Curious Chinese Custom.

According to the rule sanctioned by centuries of Chinese observance, no document can have the authority of the imperial throne of China unless it bears a red spot placed there by the sovereign. To the grand council the tsungli-yamen and all other departments of state take their business, and the grand council in its turn considers all documents and attaches to each a piece of red paper on which its own decision is written. Each morning at daybreak the grand council proceeds to the palace to submit the papers to the sovereign, who as each document is produced signifies approval by making a small spot with a brush on the margin of the red paper. With the red spot upon it the paper is the most sacred thing in the world to a Chinaman; without it it may be torn to shreds with impunity.

Out of His Latitude.

He understood all about the sun and the moon and the stars and something about the weather. Indeed, he was popularly supposed to regulate this last, and his indication of probabilities was received as gospel by his admiring fellow citizens in a certain southern colony of Australia. He went to England for a well earned holiday.

He was shown over a celebrated fruit garden there. He was observed to be sniffing about as if something were wrong. They asked him what was the matter. "Well," he replied, "these funny fellows have trained their peach trees against the south side of the wall to get the midday sun instead of against the north."—London Truth.

An Editorial Error.

"Did anybody ever try to start a newspaper here?" asked the intellectual looking man with glasses.

"Yes," answered Broncho Bill; "but it failed. The editor wouldn't tend to business."

"Was he a dissipated man?"

"No; but he insisted on sitting at his desk with his back to the door when he ought to have been standing with a six shooter in his hand and his eye at a knothole

A Long Mile.

The Swedish mile is the longest mile in the world. A traveler in Sweden when told that he is only about a mile from a desired point would better hire a horse, for the distance he will have to walk if he chose in his ignorance to adopt that mode of travel is exactly 11,700 yards.

The Deaf Made to Hear.

St. Thomas—A modern miracle was made known to-day when Mr. Riddle, of this city, announced that he had recovered his hearing. He has been almost entirely deaf, and it borders on the marvellous to find him able to hear everything with great distinctness. As his case is proving of such universal interest, we give Mr. Riddle's own statement. "My hearing was always poor, and not long ago I became almost deaf. It was the result of catarrhal inflammation, but nothing did me good until I used Catarrhozone. It cured my trouble and I strongly recommend it to the deaf." Fully nine-tenths of the deafness is the result of Catarrh and can be cured by catarrhozone. The cures of deafness wrought by this remedy in cases of even twenty years standing are really astounding. Among many others, ministers of the gospel testify to the wonderful powers of Catarrhozone, and your druggist can tell of some astonishing cases in his own experience. Better give it a trial, if your hearing is impared. Price $1; small size 25 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S..

The Wrong Instrument.

MARKET REPORTS.

Decrease in the Visible Supply of Wheat—Small Fluctuations in Liverpool and America—Quotations.

Monday Evening, June 17.

In Liverpool to-day wheat futures were little changed in price from Saturday. Maize options rose fractionally.

In Paris to-day wheat options advanced 15 to 20 centimes, and flour options 25 to 30 centimes.

In Chicago Sept. wheat to-day closed at Saturday's final figures, and July wheat ¼c per bushel off. Chicago corn declined ⅛c to ¼c.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 153,000 bushels; that of corn has increased 1,220,000 bushels, and that of oats has increased 244,000 bushels.

To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 75,919,000 bushels, against 77,612,000 bushels a week ago, and 77,560,000 bushels a year ago.

Mr. Wm. Young Dead.

Waterloo, Ont., June 18.—Mr. William Young, one of our oldest and best-known citizens, died at his residence, King street, at noon yesterday. Deceased was in his 82nd year, and came to this country from Omagh, Ireland, in 1846. For a great many years previous to his retiring in 1877, Mr. Young was a most successful egg dealer, during which time by shrewdness and industry he accumulated a very large competency. He was a large stockholder and a director for 27 years of the Waterloo Woolen Mills, also a large shareholder in the Dominion Life Assurance Company. A wife and nine children are left to mourn his death.

His Late Hours.

"You never think of staying out late," said the convivial and ill bred person.

"Sometimes I think of it," answered Mr. Meekton distantly.

"But you don't care for that sort of thing."

"Not in the least."

"Perhaps you never had any experience?"

"Oh, yes, I have. It was only last night that I was out at half past 2 a. m. Henrietta sent me out to see if I couldn't keep the back gate from slamming."

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for mental, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Drains, Blood Diseases, Varicocele, Stricture, Unnatural Discharges, Gleet, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. Everything confidential. Consultation Free. Books Free. Question Blank Free for Home Treatment.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

Well, the next day I strolled up the Avenue of Legations and saw her on horseback. She was accompanied by an elderly man with a face like an eagle's. There were various decorations on his breast. As the princess saw me she bent her head. She remembered me. That was all that was necessary for my transportation. Later I was informed that her escort was Prince Ernst of Wortumborg, who was destined to become her lord and master. I did not care who he was. I knew that I hated him.

For a week I lingered on. I met her time and again, alone on horseback, at the various embassies and at the opera. At these meetings I learned a great deal about her. She was known to be the most capricious woman at court, and that she was as courageous as she was daring, and that the prince might consider himself lucky if he got her, king's will or no king's will. She had little liking for her intended. She treated him contemptuously and held his desires in utter disregard. One fine morning I was told that the prince was beginning to notice my attentions, that he was one of the most noted pistol shots and swordsmen on the continent and that if I had any particular regard for my epidermis I would cease my attendance on the princess at once. This of course made me more attentive than ever, for I can hold my own with any man when it comes to pistols, and I can handle the rapier with some success.

It was one night at the opera that the climax was brought about. I sat in one of the stalls diagonally across from the royal box where she sat. She saw me and gave me the barest nod of recognition. Perhaps she did not wish to attract the attention of the royal personages who sat with her, for the nod struck me as clandestine. Between the first and second acts a note was handed to me. It was not addressed, neither was it signed. But it was for me. The bearer spoke my name. As near as I can remember the note contained these words:

"A carriage will await you two blocks south. It will be without lights. You will enter it exactly ten minutes after the opera is ended."

That was all, but it was enough. When I returned to my seat, I found the princess gazing intently at me. I made an affirmative gesture and was rewarded with a smile which set my blood to rushing. I made little out of the last act. I could not dream what the anonymous note had behind it. I suspicioned an intrigue, but what use had she for me, an American, a very nobody? Something unusual was about to take place, and I was to be a witness or a participant of it. That was as far as my talent for logical deduction went. Promptly at the stated time I stood at the side of the carriage. It was the plainest sort of an affair. Evidently it had been hired for the occasion. The door opened.

"Step in, monsieur," said a low voice in French. I obeyed. The horse started. As we spun along the pavement a light flashed into the window. The princess sat before me. There was a ringing in my ears, and I breathed quickly. But I said no word. It was for her to speak first.

"Monsieur is an American," she began. "The American is of a chivalric race."

"That should be the aim of all men," I replied.

"But it is not so. Monsieur, I have been studying you for the past week. Tonight I place my honor and my fame in your hands. It is for you to prove that you are a knight. I trust you. When I have said what I shall say to you, you may withdraw or give me your aid, as you please."

"I am grateful for your confidence, your highness," said I. "What is it that you wish me to do?"

"Have patience, monsieur, till the ride is done," she said. "Do not speak again till I permit you. I must think."

The journey was accomplished in half an hour.

"It is here, monsieur, that we alight," she said as the carriage stopped.

I was glad that her opera cloak was of dark material and that she wore a veil.

The building before which we stood was on the outskirts of the city. Far away to my left I could see the flickering lights of the palaces. A yellowish haze hung over all. Once within the building I noted with surprise the luxurious appointments. Plainly it was no common inn, a resort for the middle and traveling classes. Whether it was patronized by the nobility I could only surmise.

"We shall continue to speak in French," she said as she threw back her cloak and lifted her veil. "Monsieur has probably heard that the Princess Hildegarde is a creature of extravagant caprices, and he expects an escapade."

"Your highness wrongs me," I protested. "I am an obscure American. Your highness does not share your—that is"—

I stopped, not wishing to give the term escapade to anything she might do. As a matter of fact she has caused her royal guardian, the king, no end of trouble. She went to Paris once unattended. At another time she roamed around Heidelberg and slashed a fencing master. She had donned a student's garb. She is said to be the finest swordswoman on the continent. Yet notwithstanding her caprices she is a noble minded woman. She goes all these things called social vagaries because she has a fine scorn for the innate hypocrisy of the social organization of this country. She loves freedom not wisely, but too well. To go on:

"Monsieur wrongs me also," she said. "In what are termed my escapades I am alone. You appealed to me," with a directness which amazed me, "because of your handsome face, your elegant form, your bright eyes. You are a man who loves adventure which has the spice of danger in it. My countrymen"— She crooked one of her bare shoulders, which shone like yellow ivory in the subdued light. This rank flattery cooled me. A woman who has any regard for a man is not likely to flatter him in respect to his looks on so short and slight an acquaintance. "Monsieur," she proceeded, "this is to be no escapade, no caprice. I ask your aid as a desperate woman. At court I can find no one to succor me save at the peril of that which is dearer to me than my life. Among the commoners who would dare? An Englishman? It is too much trouble. A Frenchman? I would trust him not quite so far as the door. You are the first American not connected with the legation I have ever met. Will you help me?"

"If what you ask me to do is within my capabilities, I am yours to command."

"The reward will be small." As if to try me.

I laughed. I was so insanely happy, I suppose.

"There will be danger," she persisted; "secret danger. There will be scandal."

"The more danger the merrier," I cried.

"Ah, yes," smiling; "it is the man of Balkistan."

I leaned over the table and inhaled the ineffable perfumes which emanated from her person. Tell me from what must I succor the princess? Is she a prisoner in a castle over which some ogre rules? Well, then, I'll be Sir Galahad." My jesting tone jarred on her nerves. She straightened in her chair.

"Monsieur is amused," she said coldly.

"And he asks a thousand pardons!" I cried contritely. "Command me," and I grew chilled and serious.

"You have heard that I am to wed Prince Ernst of Wortumborg?"

"Yes." I gnawed the ends of my mustache.

"Monsieur, it is against my will, my whole being. I have no desire to contribute a principality and a wife to a man who is not worthy of one or the other. I refuse to become the king's puppet notwithstanding his power to take away my principality and leave me comparatively without resources. I detest this man so thoroughly that I cannot hate him. I abhor him. It is you who must save me from him. It is you who must also save me my principality. Oh, they envy me, these poor people, because I am a princess, because I dwell in the tinsel glitter of the court. Could they but know how I envy their lives, their homes, their humble ambitions! Believe me, monsieur, as yet I love no man. But that is no reason why I should link my life to that of a man to whom virtue in a woman means nothing. He caused my mother great sorrow. He came between her and my father. He spoiled her life. Now he wishes to spoil mine. But I will not have it so. I will give up my principality rather. But first let me try to see if I cannot retain the one and rid myself of the other. Listen. Tomorrow night there will be a dinner here. The king and the inner court will hold forth. But they will cast aside their pomp and become for the time being ordinary people. The prince will be in Brussels and therefore unable to attend. You are to come in his stead."

"I?" in astonishment.

"Even so," she smiled. "While the festivities are at their height you and I will secretly leave and return to the city. We shall go immediately to the station, thence to France."

I looked at her as one in a dream. "I—You! Thence to France?"

CHAPTER V.

Hillars went to the sideboard and emptied half a glass of brandy. Coming back to his chair, he remained in a reverie for a short time. Then he resumed his narrative:

The princess looked up into my face and smiled.

"Yes; thence to France. Ah, I could go alone. But listen, monsieur. Above all things there must be a scandal. A princess elopes with an American adventurer. The prince will withdraw his suit. The king may or may not forgive me, but I will risk it. He is still somewhat fond of me notwithstanding the worry I have caused him. This way is the only method by which I

"The prince will be in Brussels. You are to come in his stead."

may convince him how detestable this engagement is to me. Yet my freedom is more to me than my principality. Let the king bestow it upon whom he will. I shall become a teacher of languages or something of that sort. I shall be free and happy. Oh, you will have a merry tale to tell, a merry adventure. You will return to your country. You will be the envy of your compatriots. You will recount at your clubs a story such as men read, but never hear told." She was growing a bit hysterical. As she looked at me she saw that my face was grave.

"Is there no other way?" I asked. "Can it not be accomplished without scandal?"

"No. There must be scandal. Otherwise I should be brought back and forgiven, and no one would know. In a certain sense I am valuable. The Hohenphallians love me. I am something of an idol to them. The king appreciates my rule. It gives him a knowledge that there will be no internal troubles in Hohenphalia so long as matters stand as they now do. Still, there are limits to the king's patience, and I am about to try them severely. But monsieur hesitates. He will withdraw his promise."

"No, your highness," said I. "I have given my word. As for the scandal, it is not for myself that I care. It will be a jolly adventure for me, and then I shall have such a clever story to tell my friends at the clubs."

She saw that I was offended. "Forgive me, monsieur. I know that you would do no such thing. But let me explain to you. At the station we will be intercepted by two trusted and high officials at court."

"What!" I exclaimed. "Do they know?"

"No, but I shall write to them anonymously, the note to be placed in their hands immediately we leave the premises."

I looked at the woman in wonder. "But this is madness!" I cried.

"Directly you will see the method in the madness. Without their knowing there could be no scandal. They will try to stop us. You will overpower and bind them. There will also be several other witnesses who will not be participants. Through them it will become known that I have eloped with an American. Oh, it is a well laid plan."

"But supposing I am overpowered myself, thrown into jail and I know not what?" All this was more than I had bargained for.

"Nothing of the kind will happen. Monsieur will hold a pistol in each hand when the carriage door is opened. You will say: 'I am a desperate man. One of you bind the other or I fire!' It will be done. You will spring upon the remaining one, and I will help you to bind him likewise. Oh, you will accomplish it well. You are a strong man. Moreover, you are rapid."

I sat in my chair, speechless. Here was a woman of details. I had never met one before.

"Well, does monsieur accept the adventure or does he politely decline?" There was a subtle taunt in her tones. That decided me.

"Your highness, I should be happy to meet a thousand uhlans to do you service. What you ask me to do is quite simple." I knew that I should lose my head in case of failure. I rose and bowed as unconcernedly as though she had but asked me to join her with a cup of tea.

"Ah, monsieur, you are a man!" And she laughed softly as she saw me throw back my shoulders. There was unmistakable admiration in her eyes. "And yet," with a sudden frown, "there will be danger. You may slip. You may become injured. Yes, there is danger."

HEAD-ACHE

Is only one form of the suffering resulting from a diseased condition of the sensitive womanly organism. The only way to cure the headache is to cure the diseases which cause it.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of curing thousands of women of headache, backache, female weakness and other forms of disease peculiar to women. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures bearing-down pains.

"I think if it were not for your 'Favorite Prescription' I would have been in my grave," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, of Egypt, Plymouth Co., Mass., Box 14. "I had pain all over me, and such a dragging feeling it seemed I could not do my house work. I had to sit down to wash the dishes, even. In the year 1897 I was so sick I did not care to live and prayed many times that God would take me. One day I thought I would write to Dr. Pierce. In a few days I received an answer. I decided to try his medicine, and to-day I am a well woman. I have no headache, no pain at all. I used always to have headaches previous to the monthly period, and such pain that I would roll on the floor in agony. This sometimes would occur every two weeks, and I would be very weak afterward. I was in pain all over. My feet would slip from under me when I would try to go across the room, and I could not walk any distance without being in pain. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three vials of Doctor Pierce's Pellets, and was completely cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets stimulate the liver.

The Buskin

A Shoe with a Purpose

The purpose that it may, when on the foot, closely clasp the instep and yet allow every freedom to the joints of the foot. It's a twin of the slipper, but has, inserted in the instep, a yoke of elastic. The proper thing for home wear. Nice broad heel and fairly narrow toe. In Dongola kid. The price only $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

"Please keep off the Grass"

Is the injunction unless the tennis player wears a tennis shoe. The proper shoe affords an added facility to the movements in playing. Rubber soles, canvas tops, blue in colour. Only . . . . . 50c.

R. NEILL, George street.

Genuine Comfort Slipper

These are superb. The nicest thing for summer wear where genuine comfort is desired. Not the appearance of comfort—but the real thing. A strap slipper with the Comfort sole and heel. That means something reliable to carry the weight of the body distributed over the sole of the slipper in a common sense way. A perfect foot covering for comfort. We can't emphasize that point too strongly. The toe is a trifle broad—not too broad for comfort, and yet held in that the outline of the foot may be graceful and shapely. The price smacks of comfort for the purse, and is only . . $1.00

The Game of Bowls

Good old English sport. Has the verdict of antiquity in its favour. It is the village sport, par excellence of England. Even cricket does not excel bowls in popular favour. We've the proper shoe, If you haven't it you won't be allowed to play. Better get a pair of the right sort. Rubber soles, heels, canvas top. High or low. Low cut, $5o. per pair. High cut, $5o. per pair. Guaranteed correct.

drunkenness and crime, promoting healthy temperance sentiment, improving the character of hotels in respect to accommodation and otherwise, and in reducing the number of licenses. Owing to lack of space a report of this part of his address is held over. It will appear in full in a subsequent issue.

At the conclusion of Mr. Stratton's address, Mr. W. H. Meldrum make a few remarks. He said that the complete and comprehensive character of the speech they had just listened to made it unnecessary for him to add anything except that the results of successful administration which had been recounted and actually existed, reflected great credit upon the Government, and their spirited and patriotic policy for the development of New Ontario was worthy of especial commendation.

Mr. R. R. Hall complimented the Provincial Secretary upon the comprehensive and interesting nature of his address. It was a speech that reflected and emphasized the progressive element in the Government. He paid a high tribute to the resources and importance of Ontario which were becoming well known abroad, and were of such a character as to attract foreign capital. Combined with the public spirited policy of development of the Government these resources were attractive and would attract capital and he believed that in the space of ten years the development would be marvellous and that our population would in that time be doubled.

At the conclusion of the speaking, Mr. James Fowler sang in excellent style a spirited sailor song which was loudly applauded, Miss Bella Lillico furnishing the accompaniment. The meeting was brought to a close by the singing to the accompaniment of Miss Bella Lillico, of God Save the King. One seldom hears the Imperial Anthem sung with so much spirit and finish and with so general an evidence of good vocal powers as was the case last night.

AFTER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

The Matter of the Taxation of the Scott Estate.

About 26 years ago the Scott estate was taxed by the Ontario Government to the extent of $26,000 on some timber limits north of Peterborough. Since then, however, an effort has been made to recover the amount, which, with interest added, is a little more than $35,000, on the ground of unjust taxation. A year ago Judges Lister and Osler were appointed commissioners to investigate the matter. The commission held a preliminary hearing at the Parliament buildings, and an adjournment was made until next Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. G. H. Watson, K.C., appeared for the Scott estate, and Mr. Aemilius Irving for the Crown.

TRIPPED ON THE SIDEWALK.

South Ops Man Receives Injuries Which Result in Death.

Lindsay, June 16. — Harris Mulligan, a resident of South Ops, died from a fracture of the skull, sustained while walking home from Lindsay. He reached his home badly cut. Previous to his death he was in a delirious state and continued to call out, "Don't blame anyone; I tripped on the sidewalk." This is believed to have been the cause of his injury, and the coroner did not think an inquest necessary.

Farming Operations.

The profits of the farm at Hamilton, where 225 acres are under cultivation, is less than at London—being $37.05 per acre—because the farm has not been so long subjected to fertilizing cultivation and is not less carefully and skilfully tilled. It is however an average with which any farmer would be satisfied. The yield at the Mimico farm (220 acres) is still less per acre, the average being only $23.20, but even this is creditable when it is remembered that this is a newer farm still and that the soil is not of high-class quality. It will be recollected that Mimico was selected by the late Sanfield Macdonald as a site for the Agricultural College; but it was found that the soil was too poor for the purpose and the college was removed to Guelph.

At the Kingston Asylum, there are 124 acres of nominally farm lands. The soil, however, is of too little depth on the rock substratum to very successfully permit of profitable farming operations, especially in dry seasons.

The Brockville Asylum farm contains 211 acres, generally not very well adapted for farming, but more suitable for pasturage. These conditions do not, however, prevent a fair net profit from farming operations of over $1,500 a year at Brockville and over $4,000 per year at Kingston. At the Orillia Institution for the feeble-minded there is a fair profit derived from the 85 acres devoted to farming, of which 42 is pasturage. The net profits last year amounted to $3,778.68.

At all the Institutions more or less live stock is maintained. Altogether cows to the number of 230 are kept for the supply of milk to the patients—38 at Toronto, 44 at London, 46 at Hamilton, 35 at Mimico, 28 at Kingston, 26 at Brockville, and 25 at Orillia. The number of horses employed at the several Institutions is 65.

Altogether there is a systematic attempt by the Department to employ the inmates of our Institutions with the object of lessening thereby the expense of their maintenance.

Institution for the Deaf and Dumb.

The Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville was founded and is maintained to afford educational advantages to all the youth of the Province, who are on account of deafness, either partial or total, unable to receive instruction in the common schools. During the past session, which closed on the 12th of this month, there were 264 pupils in attendance and since the institution was opened in 1870, from all parts of Ontario, 1194 deaf and dumb children have passed through its classes. The course of instruction is similar to that of public schools of the Province, but in addition thereto, manual training, printing, shoemaking, carpentering, barbering and baking are taught the boys; the female pupils are instructed in general domestic work, tailoring, dress-making, sewing, knitting, the use of the sewing machine, and such ornamental and fancy work as may be desirable. In every day life the graduates are engaged in many other callings; numbers of them are well off, others are in comfortable circumstances, few are a burden on their relatives and none of them, as far as I can learn, are in gaol as prisoners. As a class generally, they are good and enjoy the respect and esteem of the people in the communities in which they reside. Parents and graduates, without exception, bear grateful testimony to the good work done at the Institution.

Hundreds of letters of testimonial are on file in the Department giving evidence of the grateful recollection, by parents and friends and former inmates of the Institute, of the benefits the latter have received from their stay in it, and the practical help they have gained in the form of a preparation for wrestling with the practical duties of life and maintaining themselves in the ranks of respected and self-supporting citizens. If the people of the Province could read these testimonials and catch their spirit of gratitude for favours and benefits received they would be to more fully appreciate the noble and beneficent work this Institute is performing.

The aim is to make the Institution for the Deaf at Belleville the best in the world, and every year a little advance is made in that direction; the latest and best methods are employed and only those whose hearts are in the work are retained in the service by the Government.

The cost per pupil averages about $170.00 a year, which includes board, tuition, care of pupils, besides the general working of the Institution, a sum little more than one half the cost of many United States schools of the same character. I feel sure the people of this Province do not begrudge the amount expended for the carrying on of the work at Belleville and are prepared to sanction even greater expenditure to further ensure its efficiency. The members of the Legislative Assembly never cavil at expenditures for this and kindred institutions, when they are assured the money voted is wisely used, as it always is.

Penetanguishene Reformatory for Boys.

This Institution, as its name implies, is a reformatory for the reclamation of boys who are not vicious but rather incorrigible, impatient of home restraint, or with an idle and dissolute tendency of habit and character, largely due, more to ineffective home training and control and unfavourable surroundings than to inherent viciousness of character. The Reformatory is not a penal institution, but a place where reformatory methods are practiced and general mixed educational and industrial training given, which will neutralise bad tendencies, foster habits of industry and fit the inmates for positions of usefulness in the world.

From the time of their entrance into the institution the boys are under the most careful supervision. Of course the lads that are sent to the Institution are morally deficient and a Protestant and a Roman Catholic chaplain, practically resident, have charge of their spiritual welfare. And of course they are largely illiterate, and two properly certificated and qualified teachers give regular instruction—every day in the week—in the simple English branches. To fit the boys for lives of usefulness they are taught gardening and farming and the care and feeding of live stock, though the soil at Penetanguishene not being well adapted for farming, the instruction in these branches is not as satisfactory or thorough as it will be when the Institution is removed to the better agricultural region in Oxford. This will admit of larger number of boys being instructed in farming and in being fitted for occupying our unsettled farming lands, and will to that extent relieve the congestion of the labour market where industrial occupations are concerned. Then several trades and industries are taught: engineering and fitting, tailoring, and carpentering, so that in these respects boys leave the Institution equipped for a pretty wide range of occupation, with better chances of employment and with therefore less temptation to enter upon vicious courses. And recreation such as boys need is provided, baseball, lacrosse, etc., and a qualified instructor in gymnastics is employed. The boys adapted to learn music are taught to the extent of performing in the musical band at the Institution and the practical value of this is frequently demonstrated. Only a few days ago a lad who had left the Institution, got employment at a trade he learned there because he was enough of a musician to take an instrument in a local band. The excellent record the lads make after a term at the reformatory are remarkable when it is considered that the boys received at the reformatory are not exactly the best to begin with. The records show that about 80 per cent. of the boys give a good account of themselves in the world. This is perhaps as large a percentage, if not larger, than the average boys of the general community achieve. Reformatory work has good effects in the Old Country. The British Home Secretary told a London deputation a few days ago that 2597 boys from reformatories and industrial schools had gone to the front in the war and had conducted themselves with great credit some of them winning the Victoria Cross and one being given a commission. Therefore the excellent results from the Penetanguishene Reformatory amply justify the expenditure made upon it and at the same time yield credit to the Government, which so efficiently administers it

Liquor License Legislation.

Mr. Stratton also gave an interesting and detailed consideration of Liquor License Legislation for the past 25 years. He dealt in detail with amendments in the direction of restriction and the results in decreasing

LACROSSE.

Oshawa defeated Lindsay in the latter town by a score of four to three. Lindsay claims that the victors had a team of ringers.

BOWLING.

The members of the Bowling Club are reminded of the fact that the first draw must be completed by to-morrow evening. If no notice reaches the secretary of the result of the play between any pair, both players will be considered as defaulting.

GOLF.

The spring competition of the Ladies' Golf Club was held yesterday afternoon. Mr. J. H. Burnham kindly acted as judge in a most efficient manner. The driving was won by Mrs. Peter Campbell, 116 yards; the cleeking by Mrs. W. H. Hill, 103 1-3 yards. Miss Barlee won the approaching and putting. The handicap round was played after tea and was won by Miss Tucker, nine holes being played. A great improvement in all round playing was evident.

The next tea will be held on Wednesday, June 26th.

BASEBALL.

Lovers of baseball will have an opportunity of witnessing a splendid game on Thursday when the crack Park Nine, of Toronto, will meet the locals on the P.A.A.A. grounds. The visitors will be accompanied by a large following.

This is what the Port Hope Guide says of the Peterborough-Port Hope game of Saturday:—"To-day we take off our hats to the File Works Baseball Club of this town—they have earned it and every enthusiast here is happy over the result of Saturday's game in Peterborough—Port Hope 16, Peterborough 12. We are not going to apologize for anything we have said regarding the ragged game played here Wednesday, June 12, but as promised, we all forgive, and will try and forget their misdeeds of the above mentioned incident. When the news reached town that our boys had turned the tables on Peterborough, it was a surprise, indeed, as the team was not at its best, being minus the able services of catcher McElroy, but "Giddy" Burt volunteered to do the receiving, even if he only stopped the ball, and we are informed he acquitted himself with honours, always being the most confident of winning—also the noisiest of the bunch. We said it was a surprise, and so it was to most Port Hope, but "Tip" O'Neil read the telegram with a smile, and remarked, "It is just what I said, the boys would win without a doubt. They went out full of 'ginger' and were determined to square accounts with Peterborough." President Outram's countenance also became radiant when he heard that his boys had won. He did not say much, but he was pleased, and you can bet he meandered down to the station that evening and shook the hands of all the players within reach, when the 10.35 train arrived.

Y.M.C.A. ATHLETICS.

The first round in the Tennis Tournament is almost completed and those that have witnessed as well as those who participated in the events have displayed great interest in the game. In the senior series the events have been most keenly contested and watched with interest by numbers. The result in the first round of the senior series resulted as follows:

McPherson defeated Kerr, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Burnham defeated Burnett, 8-10, 6-4, 6-3.

Pomette defeated Hall, 6-2, 6-2.

McWilliams defeated Cluxton, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

The second round of the tournament must be played by Friday, June 21st.

There will be a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Athletic Club to-morrow evening at nine o'clock sharp when important business will be transacted.

The lacrosse team are asked to turn out in full force for practice this evening on the Nicholls Oval and keep in condition for a return game with the Vaticans at an early date.

For Boys' Camp.

The boys going to the Y.M.C.A. camp this year will appreciate a gift that came from one of their number during the summers past. Mr. Percy McIsaacs, who for several years was a regular attendant at camp and very popular among the boys, shortly before his demise, expressed a desire that the camp should have the use of the water-polo ball which he always had there, and so the boys will still have something to remember one who has gone.

NEWS OF C.P.R. STRIKE

Reports From Both Sides Indicate Very Little Change.

MEN ARE STANDING TOGETHER.

C.P.R. Officials, However, Claim That the Line Is Fully Patrolled and That the Strike Is Not Affecting Business—President Wilson and General Manager McNicoll on the Situation.

Toronto, June 19.—So far as the Ontario portion of the Canadian Pacific Railway is concerned, there was very little change in the strike situation yesterday. The men, according to reports given out, are standing together, while officials of the system claim that the strike is not affecting business, and that several strikers will return to work this morning.

The men constituting the Toronto gang, who number about 10, held a short meeting yesterday to discuss the situation locally. They expressed themselves as highly pleased with the order given to strike, and felt confident of winning. The men have not waited upon any of the officials of the company, but are awaiting orders from Montreal as to what course to pursue. They say they will hold out until ordered to do otherwise. As yet, the other railroad organizations have not intimated as to what action they will take, but the strikers look for assistance from them in case it is necessary. In Ontario, the men claim that very few trackmen are at work, and that there is a possibility of the remaining workmen joining the ranks of the strikers, probably to-day or to-morrow.

General Superintendent Timmerman, when spoken to last night, declared that, up to 6 o'clock, there was little change in the strike situation on his division. He said that a number of those employed on the line between Toronto and Owen Sound would return to work this morning. He would rather have the old and experienced hands doing trackmen's work, but, should they remain out, their places would be filled.

In the western part of the Province, said Mr. Timmerman, the report that 250 of the 450 men employed had gone out was exaggerated. He thought that no more than 60 per cent. of the trackmen on the system had obeyed the summons to go out.

Only 200 Trackmen at Work.

Montreal, June 19.—There are no new developments in the C. P. R. trackmen's strike. President Wilson of the Trackmen's Union claims that there are not more than 200 trackmen now at work on the system.

No Strike at London.

London, Ont., June 19.—Locally the C. P. R. trackmen's strike has not materialized. Both gangs were at work yesterday as usual.

Winnipeg Men Have Quit.

Winnipeg, June 19.—General Superintendent Leonard of the C. P. R. was notified yesterday morning that the trackmen on his division had quit work, in sympathy with the strike among the men on the eastern district. Mr. Leonard stated that if all the men on the Winnipeg division went out, according to the statement made to him, there would be 250 men on strike yesterday. There were no trackmen working in the shop yards yesterday.

New Men Sent to Work.

Quebec, June 19.—Yesterday some five gangs of men were sent out by the Quebec C. P. R. agent to fill the places of the strikers. The latter are of a non-menacing disposition, and no trouble is expected to follow.

C. P. R. TELEGRAPH REPORTS.

C.P.R General Manager's View.

Montreal, June 19.—Mr. D. McNicoll, the general manager of the C. P. R., spoke hopefully yesterday of the outcome of the strike of trackmen on the system. The company believe that time will be on their side, and that in the course of the next few days, when the company have had time to put the whole facts before the men individually, those who have gone out will see the advantages which they are now sacrificing, and will return to work while the company remains disposed to accept their labor.

"Our advices show that several gangs who went out Monday returned to work yesterday," said Mr. McNicoll, "and the reports indicate that more will be likely to follow. The strike, however, is by no means general. At some sections not 10 per cent. have responded to the call of the committee.

"Some of the trackmen seem to be under the impression that if they should return to work after having once thrown up their employment, they will afterwards be discriminated against but this is not so. The company have no intention or doing anything of the kind.

"Looking at the situation all round, I am convinced that the strike is practically over—that it has fizzled out. Many of the men have not received our circulars yet, showing what has been done for them—showing that advantageous as their position was compared with other railways before this strike began, we have made concessions of a very substantial character, and that these place them far beyond what other companies, who are our competitors in the different parts of the system, are offering.

"The public need have no apprehension whatever as regards the condition of the track. Every mile of track is being patrolled. The line is in good shape, and is being thoroughly taken care of.

"One of the demands of the committee which the railway company did not grant is 'all maintenance-of-way department employes shall be granted passes once a month to and from any point on the roadmaster's division they are employed on, provided that not more than one-half of the force will be absent from duty at any time.'"

Out West.

Brandon, Man., June 19.—Not 10 per cent. of the C. P. R. section men have gone out. Labor is very plentiful, and all vacancies can be readily filled.

Revelstoke, B. C. June 19. — The few C. P. R. trackmen who have gone on strike are good-humored over the situation. They feel they have got all they expected, having been raised 15 cents per day, and have only gone out to keep their promise to the order, and they are anxious to assure their roadmasters that no trouble need be expected from them.

In the East.

Newport, Vt., June 19.—A number of C. P. R. trackmen who went out on strike have already returned to work.

McAdam, N. B., June 19.—Threats are being made by some of the C. P. are being made by some of the striking C. P. R. trackmen to the effect that now they have gone out they are going to demand from the company more than they originally intended.

St. John, N. B., June 19.—Several of the C. P. R. section gangs have returned to work. Everything is quiet.

HONORED THE PREMIER.

Bruce Township, in Non-Political Address, Welcomes Mr. Ross.

Underwood, June 19.—Irrespective of any past political adherence, the people of the Township of Bruce gave Hon. G. W. Ross a right royal welcome here yesterday. The committee having the arrangements in hand was elected by the people generally, with Mr. D. McNaughton, ex-M. P. P., Chairman, and Mr. Alex. McWhinney, Secretary, and to some extent the views of the people were expressed in a non-political address.

After addresses by Mr. C. M. Bowman, M. P. P., T. H. Preston, M. P. P., Geo. P. Graham, M. P. P., Andrew Malcolm, M. P. P., Premier Ross, in felicitous terms replied to the address presented, and in his speech told of his plans for the beet root sugar, the North Shore Railway, railway legislation generally, the veterans' land grants, education, etc., and clearly stating the point of issue between the parties.

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Ross held a reception upon the platform, and hundreds took occasion to greet him cordially, and many spoke to him in the Gaelic language. In the evening Premier Ross, the members of the Legislative Assembly present, and others, were entertained to dinner at the residence of Mr. Hugh Murray. The guests were received by Mrs. Murray, assisted by her daughter.

THE SYNOD AT OTTAWA.

Bishop Hamilton Spoke of Prospects and Denounced Secular Schools.

Ottawa, June 19.—At the Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Ottawa yesterday morning Canon Hannington was elected clerical and J. Ford lay secretary.

Bishop Hamilton, in his annual address, spoke of the bright auspices of the Anglican Church at the opening of the 20th century. He alluded to the death of the Queen and the accession of the King, and to the death of Archbishop Lewis and the Very Rev. Dean Lauder. In vigorous terms he denounced the present system of secular education. It was impossible to train all children up alike. Divers characters required distinct training, and he hoped the day was not far distant when the education of the young would be in the hands of the churches.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1901.

THE STABLER CASE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir, — In the weekly issue of your paper dated June 6th, 1901, there appeared an item of news in which it was stated that I was charged with having on May 27th committed fraud in tampering with the town scales.

It was quite true that such a charge was made against me, and investigated at the police court, and that the result of the investigation was an honourable acquittal, as you stated, as there was not the slightest evidence to support such a charge. But as a false impression might be left in the minds of the public, I must request you to permit me to use your columns for the purpose of stating all the circumstances surrounding the transaction upon which such charge was based.

On the 22nd of May last my father, Mr. W. A. Stabler, was engaged in purchasing a number of hogs at the town market from Mr. McCarroll, amongst which there was a small one, and a dispute arose between Mr. McCarroll and my father as to the weight of the small hog, Mr. McCarroll maintaining that the hog weighed 150 pounds, and my father contending that it did not weigh 130 pounds. While the dispute was going on I made my appearance, and learning the nature of it, I made a small wager with Mr. McCarroll that it did not weigh over 125 pounds. In order to determine this wager the hog was selected from the rest and placed upon the town scales to be weighed, and the scales indicated that the hog weighed 129 pounds. I thinking that my judgment of weight could hardly be so far astray, and having occasion to pass through the scale house, to assist my brother in another part of the yard to unload another quantity of hogs, I took occasion, at my father's suggestion, to move the weights back on the beam of the scales to see if the scales were properly adjusted. Upon this being done I discovered that the adjustment was such as to make the weight of the hog appear less than it actually was. When I ascertained this fact I struck the top of the regulator box and remarked to my father that I had evidently lost the wager, and then passed on to the other part of the yard where I assisted my brother in moving other hogs.

From these simple facts occasion was taken by some officious person to lay an information against me for tampering with the town scales. It is to be very much regretted that one should be wantonly subjected to the indignity of a trial upon a criminal charge, together with the unpleasantness of having his name dragged into the public press, when there is no foundation whatever for such an accusation. In this case if the ordinary prudence or common sense had been used to investigate the evidence before the charge had been laid all this subsequent annoyance to me would not have been occasioned, and it is only because from the account given of the matter in the public press, as I said above, that a false opinion might be formed as to the character of the transaction, that I now take the opportunity of setting forth all the facts, so that my good name and character might be vindicated.

I may say before concluding, that my father, my brother and myself are engaged jointly in the cattle and hog business in this town, my father having been engaged in this business here for a long number of years, during which time he has purchased and sold thousands of dollars worth of hogs. The invariable practice has been with us, upon purchasing hogs and having the same weighed on the market scales, to instruct the Market Clerk to first adjust them, and only when we ascertain that this has been done, that the cattle and hogs are then weighed. We have taken this precaution both for the benefit of ourselves and for the benefit of those from whom we purchase, and the practice has obviated any mistake in weight being made. As a proof of this, during the whole course of our experience, we have never yet had a person from whom we purchased, make any complaint to us of improper weight.

I remain, yours truly,
FREDERICK STABLER,
Dated June 14th, 1901.

FIVE YEARS OF IT.

Toronto Man Goes Through a Living Purgatory—Dyspepsia Makes His Life a Torment—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Have Proved His Greatest Blessing.

James Beck, 561 Shaw street, writes as follows:

"I have suffered over five years with dyspepsia. I could not touch any kind of pastry. I could not eat the simplest dishes without pain and sour uprising from the stomach.

"I lost all relish for food and ate not because I felt hungry but because I knew I must eat. The slightest variation from a plain, monotonous diet—and I would suffer for it.

"I was told of several remedies and tried them all. I saw others advertised and tried them. Nothing whatever did me the slightest good. I could nowhere get any relief.

"Then I heard of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. But not knowing that they were different to other remedies I expected little from them. However, I tried them.

"I used three boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. To-day I can eat anything that's put before me. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets made all the difference in the world. Not only is my dyspepsia entirely cured, but I feel better in every way."

That is the way Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets acted in the case of Mr. Beck. That is exactly the way they will act with you. That is exactly the way they act with everybody.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by physicians. They are a compound of pepsin, diastase and other natural digestants mixed in sugar. There is no secret about their composition. Easy to carry, pleasant to take, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets exactly fill the want of this busy, hurrying age of hasty meals, excitement and poor digestion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale all over the world at fifty cents a box.

THE MILITIA CAMPS.

Major-Gen. O'Grady-Haly and Minister of Militia Review the Troops—30 Heat Prostrations.

Camp Niagara, June 19.—The Grand Review of this Camp of Instruction by Major-General O'Grady-Haly and Hon. Dr. Borden came off yesterday afternoon.

The review ground was on the level green adjacent to Fort George. There the various battalions were drawn up, and while the massed bands played the Dominion grand march an inspection was made by the whole staff and the Minister of Militia.

The saluting point, made conspicuous by the assembling of the staff, was a few yards in front of the fort. The whole division, led by the cavalry, marched past in open order. For each regiment as it went along the massed bands played its distinctive regimental march.

Following the march-past an attack on an imaginary enemy was made. The enemy was entrenched behind the earthworks of the old halfmoon-shaped battery between Paradise Grove and the river, and the old railway cut at the south of Fort George. The right half of the firing line was composed of the 37th and the 30th, the left half the 12th and 44th. The 4th Brigade was the main body in reserve.

The G. G. B. G. advanced from the right under cover of the grove, and the Toronto Mounted Rifles came up on the left. The latter had dismounted and advanced, taking advantage of every bit of cover. Gen. Hutton's system of attack was followed. The order of advance was preserved by following the flags that had been previously laid out.

The enemy was annihilated.

Speaking of the review to Hon. Dr. Borden, Major-General Haly said he was thoroughly pleased with the showing made by the men.

Col. Otter declared the men had shown excellent spirit. A general inspection of the lines was made.

To-morrow the Major-General and Dr. Borden and party go to the Pan-American.

Friday will be the great field day. The soldiers will be dissipated over the country in the vicinity of the Niagara River, and tactical movements accompanied by musketry fire will be the day's order.

The No. 4 Hospital Corps were kept busy yesterday attending to the victims of heat prostration, of whom over 20 were in hospital by nightfall.

Camp at Carling's Heights.

London, Ont., June 19.—Yesterday morning the 2nd Division of No. 1 Military District went into camp at Carling's Heights.

The 2nd Brigade consists of the 22nd, Oxford Regiment; the 28th, Perth; the 29th, Waterloo, and the 30th, Wellington Regiments. Nos. 1 and 2 companies of the Guelph 16th Field Battery, and No. 7 Field Hospital Company, Toronto, are also in camp.

The brigade officers for the camp will be: Brigadier, Lieut.-Col. J. Peters, A. D. C.; Brigade Major, Major S.J.A. Denison, C. M. G., D. A. A. G.; Brigade Lieut., Col. J. Munro, R. D.; Principal Medical Officer, Major S. W. Belton, A. M. S.; Paymaster, Lieut.-Col. M. D. Dawson, superintendent of stores; Orderly Officer, Lieut. H. C. Becher, 7th Regiment.

Field Day at Deseronto.

Deseronto, Ont., June 19.—Yesterday was the first field day at the artillery camp. About 75 cadets from the Royal Military College, Kingston, were here to act as auxilliaries to the infantry engaged. After dinner the skirmishes began. The sham fight lasted until nearly 6 p.m., but the official scores were not given out last night.

SOUNDED FIRE ALARM

Ottawa Fire Brigade Turned Out at Rev. Dr. Warden's Call.

AGENT OF THE CENTURY FUND.

Report Concerning the Young People's Societies of the Church—Divergent Views Expressed by Members of the Presbyterian General Assembly—Rev. Dr. Gregg Sounds a Note of Warning.

Ottawa, June 19.—The delegates to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church had a diversion yesterday morning. Rev. Dr. Warden, the Moderator, sounded the fire alarm and the brigade was turned out for the entertainment of the commissioners.

The first business taken up was a report from the committee on the utilization of the services of Rev. Dr. Campbell, Perth, read by Prof. Bryce of Winnipeg. The report recommended that Dr. Campbell be continued as agent to the century fund up to the time of the meeting of the next General Assembly. The committee suggested that during the year Dr. Campbell be engaged in collecting subscriptions already made and tabulating and publishing returns, also in canvassing Manitoba, the Northwest Territories, British Columbia and other regions not yet even taken. Further, it was recommended that the Century Fund Committee be instructed to take into consideration what the position of Dr. Campbell may be after the next General Assembly.

The report was adopted.

Rev. Alfred Gandier presented the report of the young people's societies. He said the reports from those societies were less complete this year than ever, and the statistics were altogether inadequate to represent the actual state of affairs. He thought it would be necessary to add one-third to the members up in order to arrive at a correct estimate of the membership of the church. Mr. Gandier thought there should be unity of name as well as unity of aim and effort in the work of the young people. He also raised the point whether the time had not come to move along denominational lines and organize the young people as the Methodists and Baptists were organized. The young people were loyal to the Presbyterian Church, but there was not so much esprit de corps among young Presbyterians as there was among the young people of other churches. Ministers had a duty to perform in directing the young people to a class of reading which would strengthen their minds and enrich their character, and give them a worthy conception of the great periods in the history of Christ's church upon earth. At present the tendency of the young people was too much towards useless, shallow fiction. He closed by moving the adoption of the report.

Rev. Mr. Henderson of Hensall seconded the motion. He gave an instance showing discrepancy in the returns, and expressed the belief that the statistics were very incomplete. There should be unification of the young people's work under wise leadership, and it should be brought into closer touch with the church.

Rev. Dr. Gregg, Toronto, said that while young people's societies had done a vast amount of good, there was a tendency to create a line of cleavage between old and young, which was not desirable. The young people's societies, from their strength and influence, exerted much weight in the selection of a pastor, so much so that the opinion of the older members of the congregation was very much ignored. Ultimately the older people would be forced to organize in order to conserve their interests.

Rev. J. S. Conning, Walkerton, said that if the older members of the church would attend the young people's meetings they would be cordially welcomed. The church should do what it could to stay the decreasing interest in young societies. There were great opportunities for work in such organizations and therefore the church should exercise keen oversight.

Rev. Dr. Hogg opposed withdrawing from affiliation with the Christian Endeavor Society, and the Moderator said it was not proposed to do so.

Dr. Johnson of London expressed disappointment with the report of the committee and said it did not seem to realize the seriousness of the situation. He quoted figures to show a decrease of 12,000 members in five years. This was not caused by inaccurate returns, but a spiritual condition which the superficial suggestions of the committee fail to meet. He agreed with Dr. Gregg that there is too much cleavage in the church. He moved an additional suggestion that the committee consider whether or not it would not be better to have the young people's societies brought under the supervision of the Sunday School Committee.

Rev. Dr. Somerville said he knew societies where the members balloted to see whether their pastor should be admitted as a member or not.

The Christian Endeavor Society found an ardent champion in Dr. Dickson of Galt and Rev. Anderson Rogers of New Glasgow. The former said he was pained at the display of ignorance made about the C. E. movement.

After a discussion which lasted until 12 o'clock, Dr. Johnson's amendment was defeated, and the recommendations of the committee were adopted.

Mr. E. A. McCurdy presented the Finance Committee's report for the eastern section, showing contributions considerably in excess of those of the previous year.

Mr. George Keith of Toronto presented the report for the western section. Regarding the Century Fund, the report said that that Fund had not advers... schemes of the church.

The General Assembly Committee on Applications to Receive Ministers From Other Churches has been considering the case of Rev. J. O. Madill, and will report in favor of his application, if he can produce letters of distinction and recommendation from the Congregational Church.

The Augmentation Committee's report took up the afternoon meeting of the General Assembly, and at night the report on Church Life and work. The latter, on the whole, showed a hopeful tone.

It Is Not a Boy.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—The Czarina yesterday gave birth to a daughter. The child will be named Anastasia.

It's the Baby.

If you lose a pound in flesh it doesn't matter much. But if it's the baby it may mean everything. There is no food in the world equal to Scott's Emulsion for making thin babies plump. If you have a thin baby in the house you'll be surprised to see how it will thrive on this nourishing and fat-forming food.

Really Nice, These

Ladies' Dongola Oxford Shoes. Six holes, laced, soft tip, pretty, light and graceful, very flexible sole and made off a new cast. The price is, per pair $2.00

R. NEILL, George street.

Very Stylish, These

Ladies' Vici Kid Shoes. Polished, Graceful shape, light, easy and flexible, a very stylish shoe and exactly the thing for summer wear. Two qualities, with a difference of only 15c. in the prices, viz. $1.35 and $1.50.

R. NEILL, George street.

Neat things in Slippers

Ladies' Dongola Kid Slippers. Two strap, very dressy and the neatest thing we have. It holds its place as a charming article for ladies' foot-wear. Its lightness commends it, and the comfort of wearing a cool and yet graceful foot covering makes the slipper popular. The sole is turned—that is the sole is made on the slipper inside out and afterwards turned. Thus the sole is securely fastened and in the best possible way. Slippers in single strap. No difference in the price which is $1.50

R. NEILL, George street.

In Patent Leather

This stylish material has a place all its own. The gloss, polish, perfect surface, are highly admired. The outlines of the foot gain an additional grace when set off by a handsome Patent Leather Slipper. Very dressy, will keep polished, a desirable feature. The price $1.35

R. NEILL, George street.

The Buskin

A Shoe with a Purpose

The purpose that it may, when on the foot, closely clasp the instep and yet allow every freedom to the joints of the foot. It's a twin of the slipper, but has, inserted in the instep, a yoke of elastic. The proper thing for home wear. Nice broad heel and fairly narrow toe. In Dongola kid. The price only $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

"Please keep off the Grass"

Is the injunction unless the tennis player wears a tennis shoe. The proper shoe affords an added facility to the movements in playing. Rubber soles, canvas tops, blue in colour. Only ..... 50c.

R. NEILL, George street.

Genuine Comfort Slipper

These are superb. The nicest thing for summer wear where genuine comfort is desired. Not the appearance of comfort—but the real thing. A strap slipper with the Comfort sole and heel. That means something reliable to carry the weight of the body distributed over the sole of the slipper in a common sense way. A perfect foot covering for comfort. We can't emphasize that point too strongly. The toe is a trifle broad—not too broad for comfort, and yet held in that the outline of the foot may be graceful and shapely. The price smacks of comfort for the purse, and is only .. $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

The Game of Bowls

Good old English sport. Has the verdict of antiquity in its favour. It is the village sport, par excellence of England. Even cricket does not excel bowls in popular favour. We've the proper shoe, If you haven't it you won't be allowed to play. Better get a pair of the right sort. Rubber soles, heels, canvas top. High or low. Low cut, 55c. per pair. High cut, 85c. per pair. Guaranteed correct.

BOYS' BRIGADE.

Flourishing Organization in Connection With All Saints' Church.

Although many of the Boys' Brigade Companies which once existed in town are a thing of the past there is one exceedingly healthy company which continues to flourish in connection with All Saints'. It has thirty-two members with the following officers: Captain P. Adamson, 1st Lieutenant S. Rush, 2nd Lieutenant Geo. Dunford, 1st Sergeant C. Rush, 2nd Sergeant A. Hopkins, Colour Sergeant A. Cranfield, Warden Rev. W. L. Armitage, 2nd Warden Geo. Hankinson.

The corps is under the instruction of Mr. Albert Brundrette and drills every Monday evening at seven o'clock. An annual twelve day camp is held at Jubilee and is always much enjoyed. This season it will be held in August.

A BURGLAR DISCOVERED.

In the Residence of Mr. R. S. Davidson at Three O'clock This Morning.

Mrs. R. S. Davidson received a great fright early this morning, when she suddenly awoke to find a man standing in the hall, just in front of her doorway. At first she thought it might be the nightwatch who is sitting up with Mr. Davidson during his present illness, but on turning on the electric light she discovered, much to her alarm, that the man was a stranger. On finding himself discovered the intruder fled down the stairs and out the front door, which stood open.

Mrs. Davidson thinks that admittance was gained through a window on the ground floor and that the door was then opened to make egress easy. While unable to see the face of the burglar, Mrs. Davidson says that he was a large stout man, wearing a dark overcoat, and broad-brimmed felt hat. Nothing has been missed from the house, although the drawers in the sideboard had all been opened in the search for valuables.

The police are making every effort to trace the marauder.

TO-MORROW'S EXCURSION.

Mr. W. A. Noble, of town, is home from Manilla, Philippine Islands, where he has been for the past two years in the service of Uncle Sam, as a member of Company F, 45th Regiment of Infantry.

Mr. Noble feels none the worse for his two years' experience of army life, and his many friends are glad to welcome him home again.

TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

Non-Union Men not Popular in Peterborough.

During the past two days it is said that five non-union men arrived in town to take the place of the striking trackmen on this section of the C.P.R.

The reception accorded them, if reports are correct, was an exceedingly warm one. They have been refused meals at the different hotels, and have also experienced the greatest difficulty in getting lodgings.

Mr. Bamford, local agent of the C.P.R., states that the line on this division is fully protected by two patrol trains and that all trains are running on time.

A QUIET JUNE WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Jennie Rork, to Rev. G. W. Rose, B. A. of Mona Centre.

A very quiet wedding took place today at three o'clock at the residence of Mr. Thomas Rork, Deputy Collector of Inland Revenue, No. 358 Hunter street, when his youngest daughter, Miss Jennie, was united in marriage to Rev. G. W. Rose, B. A., of Mona Centre.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, a sumptuous wedding repast was served, after which the happy couple left on the 5.30 G.T.R. train for their future home in Mona Centre.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents from a wide circle of friends.

ON ARMOUR'S KOPJE.

The 57th Regiment's Manoeuvres There on Tuesday Evening.

The 57th Regiment held its weekly parade Tuesday evening, and the turn out was a creditable one in every particular. Headed by the Regimental Band, the Regiment marched across the river to Armour's hill, where an excellent drill of about an hour's duration was indulged in. The officers of the Regiment expressed themselves as delighted with the evening's work, and the members of the Regiment are determined to make a name for themselves when inspection day comes round.

On arriving at the Armoury the following orders were read:

Headquarters, Peterborough.
, June 18th, 1901.

Orders by Lieut.-Colonel E. B. Edwards, Commandant 57th Regiment, P.R.

No. 1.—Detail of duty for week ending June 25th: Captain for week, Capt. Hounsell; next for duty, Capt. Hayes. Subaltern for the week, Lt. Cameron; next for duty, Lt. McWilliams.

D Co.—Pte E J Wenger.
E Co.—Pte Argue.
F Co.—Ptes B Cameron, A Upton and B Sandilands.

No. 3.—Sgt. W. Langford and Sgt. T. Buller of B Co., having received their discharge, are struck off the strength of the Regiment; so also is Pte. McWilliams of the same company.

No. 4.—The following non-commissioned officers, having passed the required regimental examinations, are confirmed in their respective ranks from June 11th, 1901: Sgt W H Moore, Corpl L F Best, G C Burnham, B Halpin, J D Lundy, R B Morrison, E H Mowry, C Patterson, R F Reynolds, L G Payne.

No. 5.—The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotions:

A Co.—To be corporal, (pro.) Pte. R. Robertson.

B Co.—To be Sergeants, Corp. L. G. Payne vice Sgt. Langford, discharged; Corp. B Halpin, vice Sgt Buller, discharged.

D Co.—To be Sergeants, Corps. L F Best, G C Burnham and C M Patterson. To be Corporals, Pte E Best,; to be Corporals (pro.) Ptes. A C McLean and A F Padden.

E Co.—To be Lance Corporal, Pte Allison.

By order,
D. WALKER, Lieut.,
Acting Adjt.

After the orders had been read, Lieut.-Col. Edwards presented the non-commissioned officers with their certificates and congratulated them on the result of their examinations.

"ONE OF THE FINEST."

A Young's Point Stalwart on the Toronto Police Force.

Mr. William Anglesyc of Young's Point, was in town this morning on his way to Toronto, where he will join the police force of that city.

Mr. Anglesyc, who is only twenty years of age, is a fine specimen of Canadian manhood. He measures six feet eight inches in height, and tips the scale at 208 pounds.

A HANDSOME COTTAGE.

Mr. Wm. Overend Erects a Beautiful One at Chemong.

Mr. Wm. Overend, of town, can lay claim to possessing one of the handsomest summer cottages at Chemong Park, which has just been completed and is now ready for occupation. It was built after a design specially prepared by Mr. Overend and occupies a commanding position between the avenue and park proper. It is a commodious cottage of eight rooms with separate cottage kitchen. It is surrounded with a verandah, which is set off with a cosy octagon. The painters brush has finished the building in nile green with trimmings of red and dark green, the windows being finished in red, white and blue. A large flag floats from the octagon with "Hudson Lodge" inscribed thereon. Mr. Overend and family will open their handsome cottage the latter part of next week.

THE SPILSBURY CASE.

Evidence Taken all day Yesterday—Hearing Adjourned Until Thursday Next.

The following is the continuation of the evidence in the investigation into the charge preferred against Wm. Spilsbury, of North Monaghan, of placing poison in the pasture field of Mr. Adam Dobbin on Friday, June 7th. The investigation was held before County Police Magistrate Edmison and occupied the attention of the court until five o'clock Tuesday evening:

Mrs. Martha Dobbin was the next witness, and she related that on Friday, June 9th, her husband called her and she proceeded to the pasture field. Her husband did not indicate where to go, but when she reached the south-east corner of the field, she looked for something that her husband informed her, the accused had thrown into the field. She found it after searching quite a while. After her husband had gone to attend to the horses he proceeded to try and discover tracks. As he discovered what he considered tracks witness said, "Here's something here," just as she found parcel. It looked as if it was something large that had been squeezed. It was wrapped in brown paper and the bottom resembled a bag. The contents looked like a green and white substance. Her husband told her to leave it alone. Witness concluded that contents of parcel was Paris green and salt with pumpkin seeds mixed in it. She had seen Mr. Spilsbury in his own field after she first came out of her house. He was going in the direction of his house and stopped several times and looked back. She did not know where he finally went. During dinner she kept watch in the direction of the field where the parcel was found. Her husband discovered the accused moving about and drew her attention to his movements. She saw him down by a fallen tree near the fence north of the field. He proceeded south to a point nearly opposite to where the parcel was found. He kept looking towards witness' home. When opposite to where parcel was found, the accused stopped and then proceeded north, putting his hands on the fence several times. Eventually he disappeared. Mr. Elias Thompson then came down the road and was at the gate before Mr. Dobbin. Witness and Mr. Thompson went down the road and saw Mr. Spilsbury sitting under the broken tree. This was about 1.30. She showed Mr. Thompson the parcel. From the time her husband came to the house first until the arrival of High County Constable Cochrane, it was not possible for any one to place a parcel in pasture field. She kept a constant watch over the locality. The accused kept walking up and down on his own property until about 2.30 o'clock. He then proceeded through the woods to a point nearly opposite to where the parcel was found. He stopped there till nearly four o'clock. Her husband came back between five and six. She proceeded to the field and put the paper and contents into a sealer, giving it to Mr. Cochrane when he came.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Connell, the witness stated that they had Paris green on their premises which they used for potatoes. She further stated that they kept pumpkin seeds in a brown paper bag.

Elias Thompson was the third witness examined. He stated that he was out on Mr. Adam Dobbin's place on June 7th. He had a conversation with Mr. Dobbin and wife at their gate. Saw accused sitting on a log on his own property. This was when he was coming out of the woods where he was looking at timber. Mrs. Dobbin drew his attention to a parcel which was lying in the pasture field a short distance from the fence. This was about four o'clock. When leaving woods he saw Mr. Spilsbury working at fence setting up stakes. He did not see accused after leaving Mr. Dobbin's woods.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Connell, witness stated that Mr. Spilsbury was exposed to full view when reclinnear the tree. It did not strike him as peculiar to see the accused there. The stakes were all down in the morning, but were in position when he came out of the woods. He was acquainted with the accused over forty years. Accused had a good reputation and he found him a straight honest man.

In reply to Mr. Wood, witness, Mr. Thompson, stated there were only about one dozen stakes near where Mr. Spilsbury was working.

Mr. Bert Thompson's evidence was almost similar to his father's, whom he had accompanied on the 7th of June to cut timber at Dobbin's woods. He examined the contents of the parcel found by Mrs. Dobbin, and was under the impression that it was Paris green.

Mr. J. A. Fife, Science Master of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute who had analysed the contents of the glass jar, testified as to the result of his analysis. The contents of the jar, which was produced in court, consisted of a quantity of paper, which appeared to be a portion of a paper bag. It further contained about half a dozen pumpkin seeds. There was also common salt, arsenic compound and copper compound. In common parlance it contained the constituents of Paris green, and is usually known as Paris green. He was not in a position to say the physiological effect it would have on animals. The parcel consisted of from four to five per cent of Paris green.

The court then adjourned until Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, as the Crown had several witnesses to examine who could not be present at this investigation.

A PLAINFIELD WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Cora Sloan and Mr. George Green of Campbellford.

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening last at the home of Mr. David Sloan, Plainfield, when his second daughter, Miss Cora, of Campbellford, was united in wedlock to Mr. Geo. Green, one of Campbellford's popular young men. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Rennie, of Roslin, assisted by Rev. F. J. Anderson, of Plainfield.

At eight o'clock the bride appeared in white silk, and supported by Miss M. Williams, of Campbellford, while Misses May Parks and Lena Latta were maids of honour. Both bride and bridesmaid carried bouquets of carnations and roses. Mr. Robert Kemp of Campbellford was best man. The ceremony concluded, the company of relatives and immediate friends from Campbellford, Belleville and elsewhere sat down to an ample wedding repast. The bride who is esteemed wherever she is known, received many handsome and costly presents. Mr. and Mrs. Green left on Friday for their future home in Havelock.

JUNE WEDDING BELLS.

A Lindsay Bride Coming to Peterborough.

A large party of guests assembled Wednesday evening last at the residence of Mr. John Rear, Melbourne street, Lindsay, to witness the marriage of his second daughter, Annie M., and Mr. Geo. Webster, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Macmillan, of St. Andrew's church.

The bride was attired in white silk organdie, with chiffon and white lace trimming. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Chrysler, of Lindsay, who wore white organdie trimmed with lace and chiffon. Mr. Jos. Rear, of Belleville, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster left on the eight o'clock train for Ottawa, and on their return will take up residence in Peterborough. Many presents bore witness to the bride's popularity.

RELIGION VS. POLITICS.

Practical talks on practical themes is a leading feature of the Charlotte Street League. At last night's meeting Rev. D. O. Crossley presided, and Mr. M. A. Sorsoleil gave a stirring address on "AYoung Man's Attitude to Politics," showing that every young man should take an active, intelligent and progressive interest in political matters.

Mr. Froude followed with a concise summary of a young man's attitude to Religion.

Next Monday will be a social evening, with brief reports of the last six months work.

THE CIRCUS HABIT.

INDIANS HAVE THE WILDEST CRAZE FOR THE TENTED SHOWS.

After the Red Men the Negroes Will Go to the Greatest Lengths to See the Performance, and Third Place Is Held by Chinamen.

"You may talk about your city circus goers," said the old circus man, "but the Indian, the wild, untutored red man of the plains, has got them all beaten to death. There's no circus goer in the world like the North American aborigine. He will travel farther, endure more privations and skimp himself harder to get the price of admission than any other human being in the world. What's more, I believe he really enjoys the circus better than the negro, though he doesn't make any fuss over it.

"The negro, as every circus man knows, will sell the family cook stove to get money to see the elephant, but the Indian will barter off his papoose, his squaw or even his most cherished possession, his horse, to get a ticket. After the negro comes the Chinaman. The Mexicans, too, are not slow in responding to the toot of the calliope. The laziest greaser on the Texas border, who never paid a debt in his life, bobs up promptly on circus day with his 50 cents, though nobody knows where he got it. But the Indian is the greatest circus fiend of all.

"In the west our circus is known among the Indians as 'the heap big brothers' show.' It is the only circus that attracts the red man, and he waits for its yearly appearance as confidently as he awaits the return of spring. In Missoula, Mon., one of our regular stands, fully one-half of the audience is made up of Indians. They come from as far as 200 miles on horseback and even on foot, starting on their long journey days before the circus date and arriving promptly on the morning of the day of exhibition.

"On circus day it is a case of every man for himself with the Indians. The lord of the tepee brings enough trinkets in the shape of moccasins and bows and arrows to peddle around town and in this way gets money for his own admission ticket. His squaw brings willow baskets and has to hustle for her own ticket. They generally come in couples astride of a pony, and if the market is overcrowded with Indian relics they will sell the nag.

"When the show trains arrive in these western towns early in the morning 200 and 300 tents have already been pitched by the Indians, some of which have arrived the night before. Their little colony is almost as interesting as the circus itself. It is a veritable bazaar of relics and papoose exhibitions. While the old squaws are getting breakfast the children are playing games and the chiefs are taking their knickknacks to the market. They are the first ones after the doors of the big tents are opened to land on the blue planks. They fill a good part of the arena, and they never move during the entire performance. Applause is unknown to them. They make as little show of enthusiasm as their brothers in wood in front of the white man's cigar stores. If the trick elephant were to climb the center pole, they would no doubt enjoy the performance, but they would make no more show of surprise than if they were molded from clay. If the performing mule were to walk out on the hippodrome track and make a concert announcement in the Indian tongue, they would only grunt.

"After the show is over the chiefs proceed to fill their skins with the white man's firewater, and the squaws with the papooses wait on the lumber piles till the gray streaks begin to sprout over the hills, when the unsteady train winds out of town over the trail.

"Along the Pacific coast the Chinamen are among the firm friends of the circus people. Like the Indians, they are good patrons of this particular show. In San Francisco at least 50,000 Chinamen saw the circus one season. Some of them came in coaches drawn by handsome horses, and they sat in boxes. Mongolian merchants worth their millions gave matinee parties, the men wearing richly embroidered gowns and the women clad in costly silk cut not in the form of dresses, but as a man wears his broadcloth. At one matinee given in the California city 8,000 Chinese and fully 2,000 Japs attended. The remaining few of the spectators were Americans. The Chinaman is as undemonstrative as the Indian. He expresses his appreciation of the performance by attending time after time.

"Probably the strangest mixture of people that ever attended a circus was found beneath the tent of our show one day at Tucson, A. T., when Indians, Mexicans, greasers, Japs, negroes, Chinamen and a few American cowboys fairly packed the big canvas arena and sat promiscuously mixed over the blue seats. Though the Chinamen and Indians are undemonstrative, the cow punchers, Mexicans and negroes made as much noise that day as was ever made at a frontier massacre. The cowboys yelped like a pack of coyotes when Mme. Noble rode the bucking horse, the Mexicans yelped at every act, and the negroes laughed at the clowns till the earth shook. That night the cowboys and greasers turned the town into a shooting gallery, emptying their revolvers at the stars and manifesting their sorrow at the departure of the circus by licking up all the refreshments in the town.

A JOSSHOUSE.

Pen Picture of the One In San Francisco's Chinese Quarter.

In one corner is a miniature wooden warrior, frantically riding a fiery steed toward a joss who stands in his doorway awaiting the rider's coming. A teapot of unique design, filled with fresh tea every day, and a very small cup and saucer are always ready for the warrior. This represents a man killed in battle, whose noble steed, missing his master, refused to eat and so pined away and died. A welcome is assured to them in the better land if the work of man can accomplish it. The horse and rider are to them (the Chinese) what the images of saints are to Christians. In another corner is a tiny bowl of water. The gods occasionally come down and wash. At certain times of the year direct questions are written on slips of paper and put into the hands of one of the greatest josses. These disappear, and then the joss either nods or shakes his head in answer.

On the altar or altars are several brass and copper vessels, in which the worshiper leaves a sandalwood punk burning in such a position that the ashes will fall on the fine sand in the vessel. When one of these is full, it is emptied into an immense bronze vase on the balcony, and this, in turn, is emptied into the ocean. The Chinese take good care of their living and never forget their dead. Once a year, the fourteenth day of the seventh month, they have a solemn ceremony by which they send gold and silver and cloth to the great army of the departed.

A furnace is a necessity in a josshouse. It is lighted on ceremonial days, and paper representing cloth, gold and silver is burned, the ashes of the materials being, in their minds, useful in spirit land. Private families send to their relatives and friends whatever they want by throwing the gold, the silver and the cloth paper, also fruits, into a fire built in the street in front of their houses. The days of worship come on the 1st and 15th of each month.—Modern Culture.

A Sensible Query.

Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett once told a good story about his going to Ireland for the first time. "As soon as I landed in Ireland I attempted to look for traces of some of my ancestors, who came from the extreme north of Ireland. Meeting an intelligent looking Irishman, I informed him of my mission, saying that my ancestors emigrated from about that spot 100 years ago, and I was there trying to look them up. He answered: 'Ye say your ancestors emigrated from our town about 100 years ago? Thin why are ye looking for them here?'—London Tit-Bits.

Feelings and Fingers.

A boy was asked which was the greater evil, hurting another's feelings or his finger.

"The feelings," he said.

"Right, my dear child," said the gratified questioner. "But why is it worse to hurt the feelings?"

"Because you can't tie a rag round them."

Stale Candy.

Stale candy can generally be worked over by reboiling it. In the case of acid candies, such as lemon drops, the candy is boiled, the acid is withdrawn by the use of lime or chalk, and the sirup may then be used in the manufacture of that or any other species of candy.

Deaf Made to Hear.

St. Thomas—A modern miracle was made known to-day when Mr. Riddle, of this city, announced that he had recovered his hearing. He has been almost entirely deaf, and it borders on the marvellous to find him able to hear everything with great distinctness. As his case is proving of such universal interest, we give Mr. Riddle's own statement. "My hearing was always poor, and not long ago I became almost deaf. It was the result of catarrhal inflammation, but nothing did me good until I used Catarrhozone. It cured my trouble and I strongly recommend it to the deaf." Fully nine-tenths of the deafness is the result of Catarrh and can be cured by catarrhozone. The cures of deafness wrought by this remedy in cases of even twenty years standing are really astounding. Among many others, ministers of the gospel testify to the wonderful powers of Catarrhozone, and your druggist can tell of some astonishing cases in his own experience. Better give it a trial, if your hearing is impaired. Price $1; small size 25 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.

Young Sedwick's Death.

Toronto, June 18.—The jury which inquired into the circumstances attending the death of 6-year-old Harry Sedwick, who received fatal injuries while playing with a revolver with his 10-year-old sister Olive on Friday, returned a verdict that the shooting was accidentally done by persons unknown, and throwing the responsibility on those who permitted a loaded revolver to be kept in a place accessible to the children.

World's Longest Stairway.

The Philadelphia city hall contains the highest continuous stairway in the world, and tourists who have boasted of their muscular ability in climbing the stone steps of the Bunker Hill monument at Charlestown, the Washington monument or the monument to General Brock near Queenstown, Ontario, will tell their friends of their feat of ascending the 598 steps which lead from the seventh floor of the city hall to the landing about the feet of William Penn's statue. It extends from the seventh to the sixteenth floor and contains 598 steps of iron, arranged about a square central shaft, in which runs an electric elevator. To reach the tower stairway the climber may mount 245 granite stairs in the stairways at the northern end of the building, thus making a total climb of 743 steps.

Tower climbing is one of the fads of tourists. Hitherto the Bunker Hill monument, with its four hundred odd stone steps, and the Washington monument, which has a few more, have represented the acme of opportunity for tests of physical endurance in this country.

Remarkable Power.

A dear old lady was taken one day to a musical service in a Boston church. She had heard much about the fine voice of the soprano and was prepared for a treat.

She sat in rapt enjoyment until the service was over and then turned a radiant face toward her escort, who was a young grandson.

"Dear boy," she said, "you've given me a great treat. Her voice is perfectly beautiful. It made cold chills run all up and down my spine."

"It's too bad, grandmamma," said the boy, "but she didn't sing today, though she was there. The gentleman next me says she's been suffering from a bad cold, and one of the chorus had to sing the solos for her."

"What, dear?" said the old lady, looking momentarily distressed. Then her face cleared, and she patted his arm reassuringly.

"Never you mind," she said. "We can come again some time. But, after all, if she can make me feel that way without singing I don't know that it would be wise for me to hear her. Now, would it?"—Youth's Companion.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"Your highness," said I lowly, compelling her eyes to meet mine, "it is not the danger of the adventure or its results that I most fear." I was honest enough to make my meaning clear.

She blushed. "I said that I trusted monsieur's honor," was her rejoinder. "Come," with a return of her imperiousness, "it is time that we were gone." She drew on her cloak and dropped the veil. "I might add," she said, "that we will remain in France one hour. From there you may go your way, and I shall go secretly to my palace."

And the glamour fell away like the last leaves of the year.

I had to wake up the driver, who had fallen asleep.

"Where shall I say?" I asked.

"To your hotel. I shall give the driver the remaining instructions."

"But you haven't told me," said I, as I took my place in the carriage, "how I am to become a guest at the dinner tomorrow evening."

"I spoke to the king this morning. I said that I had a caprice. He replied that if I would promise it to be my last he would grant it. I promised. I said that it was my desire to bring to the dinner a person who though without rank was a gentleman, one who would grace any gathering, kingly or otherwise. My word was sufficient. I knew before I asked you that you would come. Twenty-four hours from now we—that is, you and I—will be on the way to the French frontier. I shall be ever in your debt."

Silence fell upon us. I knew that I loved her with a love that was burning me up, consuming me. And the adventure was all so unheard of for these prosaic times! And so full of the charm of mystery was she that I had not been a man not to have fallen a victim. What possibilities suggested themselves to me as on we rode! Once across the frontier I should be free to confess my love for her. A princess? What of that? She would be only a woman—the woman I loved. I trembled. Something might happen so that she would have to turn to me. If the king refused to forgive her, she was mine! Ah, that plain carriage held a wonderful dream that night. At length—too shortly for me—the vehicle drew up in front of my hotel. As I was about to alight her hand stretched toward me. But instead of kissing it I pressed my lips on her round white arm. As though my lips burned, she drew back.

"Have a care, monsieur; have a care," she said icily. "Such a kiss has to be won."

I stammered an apology and stepped out. Then I heard a low laugh. "Good night, Mr. Hillars. You are a brave gentleman!"

The door closed, and the vehicle sped away into the darkness. I stood looking after it, bewildered. Her last words were spoken in pure English.

With the following evening came the dinner, and I as a guest—a nervous, self conscious guest who started at every footstep. I was presented to the king, who eyed me curiously. Seeing that I wore a medal such as his chancellor gives to men who sometimes do his country service, he spoke to me and inquired how I had obtained it. It was an affair similar to the Balkistan, only there was not an army, but a mob. The princess was enchanting. I grew reckless and let her read my eyes more than once, but she pretended not to see what was in them. At dinner a toast was given to his majesty. It was made with those steins I showed you, Jack.

The princess said softly to me, kissing the rim of the stein she held, "My toast is not to the king, but to the gentleman!" I had both steins bundled up and left with the host together with my address.

It was not long after that the eventful moment for our flight arrived. I knew that I was basely to abuse the hospitality of the king. But what is a king to a man in love? Presently we two were alone in the garden, the princess and myself. She was whispering instructions, telling me that I was a man of courage.

"It is not too late to back out," she said.

"I would face a thousand kings rather," I replied.

We could see at the gate the carriage which was to take us to the station. Now came the moment when I was tried by the crucible and found to be dross. I committed the most foolish blunder of my life. My love suddenly overleaped its bounds. In a moment my arms were around her lithe body; my lips met hers squarely. After it was done she stood very still, as if incapable of understanding my offense. But I understood. I was overwhelmed with remorse, love and regret. I had made impossible what might have been.

"Your highness," I cried, "I could not help it! Before God I could not! It is because I love you better than anything in the world—you cannot be of it—and all this is impossible, this going away together."

Her bosom heaved, and her eyes flashed like a heated summer sky.

"I will give you one minute to leave this place," she said, her tones as even and as cold as sudden repression of wrath could make them. "I trusted you, and you have dared to take advantage of what seemed my helplessness. It is well indeed for you that you committed this outrage before it is too late. I should have killed you then. I might have known. Could ever a woman trust a man?" She laughed contemptuously. "You would have made me a thing of scorn, and I trusted you!"

"As God is my judge," I cried, "my respect for you is as high as heaven itself! I love you. Is there nothing in that? I am but human. I am not a stone image. And you have tempted me beyond all control. Pardon what I have done. It was not the want of respect"—

"Spare me your protestations. I believe your minute is nearly gone," she interrupted.

And then—there was a crunch on the gravel behind us. The princess and I turned in dismay. We had forgotten all about the anonymous note. Two officers were approaching us and rapidly. The elder of the two came straight to me. I knew him to be as inexorable as his former master, the victor of Sedan. The princess looked on mechanically.

"Come," said the count in broken English. "I believe your carriage is at the gate."

I glanced at the princess. She might have been of stone for all the life she exhibited.

"Come; the comedy is a poor one," said the count.

I followed him out of the garden. My indifference to personal safety was due to a numbness which had taken hold of me.

"Get in," he said when we reached the carriage. I did so, and he got in after me. The driver appeared confused. It was not his fare, according to the agreement. "To the city," he was briefly told. "Your hotel?" turning to me. I named it. "Do you understand German?"

"But indifferently," I answered listlessly.

"It appears that you understand neither the language nor the people. Who are you?"

"That is my concern," I retorted. I was coming about and not unnaturally became vicious.

"It concerns me also," was the gruff reply.

"Have your own way about it."

"How came you by that medal?" pointing to my breast.

"Honestly," said I.

"Honestly or dishonestly, it is all the same." He made a move to detach it, and I caught his hand.

"Please don't do that. I am extremely irritable, and I might throw you out of the window. I can get back to my hotel without guidance."

"I am going to see you to your lodgings," asserted the count, rubbing his wrist, for I had put some power into my grasp.

"Still I might take it into my head to throw you out."

"You'd better not try."

"Are you afraid?"

"Yes. There would be a scandal. Not that I would care about the death of a miserable adventurer, but it might possibly reflect upon the virtue of her highness the Princess Hildegarde."

"What do you want?" I growled.

"I want to see if your passports are proper, so that you will have no difficulty in passing over the frontier."

"Perhaps it would be just as well to wake the American minister," I suggested.

"Not at all. If you were found dead, there might be a possibility of that. But I should explain to him, and he would understand that it was a case without diplomatic precedent."

"Well?"

"You are to leave this country at once, sir—that is, if you place any value upon your life."

"Oh, then it is really serious?"

"Very. It is a matter of life and death—to you. Moreover, you must never enter this country again. If you do, I will not give a pfennig for your life."

He found my passports in good order. I permitted him to rummage through some of my papers.

"Ach, a scribbler, too!" coming across some of my notes.

"Quite right, Herr General," said I. I submitted because I didn't care.

My luggage was packed off to the station, where he saw that my ticket was for Paris.

"Good morning," he said as I entered the carriage compartment. "The devil will soon come to his own. Ach!"

"My compliments to him when you see him!" I called back, not to be outdone in the matter of courtesy.

"And that is all, Jack," concluded Hillars. "For all these months not an hour has passed in which I have not cursed the folly of that moment. Instead of healing under the balm of philosophy the wound grows more painful every day. She did not love me, I know, but she would have been near me, and if the king had taken away her principality she would have needed me in a thousand ways, and it is not less than possible that in time she might have learned the lesson of love. But now—if she is the woman I believe her to be—she never could love me after what has happened, and, knowing this, I can't leave liquor alone and don't want to. In my cups I do not care."

He found my passports in good order.

"I feel sorry for you both," said I. "Has the prince married her yet?"

"No. It has been postponed. Next Monday I am going back. I am going in hopes of getting into trouble. I may never see her again perhaps. Tomorrow, tomorrow! Who knows? Well, I'm off to bed. Good night."

And I was left alone with my thoughts. They weren't very good company. Tomorrow indeed, I thought. I sat and smoked till my tongue smarted. I had troubles of my own and wondered how they would end. Poor Hillars! As I look back today I marvel that we could not see the end. The mystery of life seems simple to us who have lived most of it and can look down through the long years.

"Go West,

Ranch it and rough it and you'll soon get rid of that weak chest and that hacking cough." That is what the doctor said to a young married man with a wife and child to care for and a modest salary to support them on. He couldn't go West. Love and duty tied him to his desk in the city.

People don't have to travel to cure coughs or strengthen weak lungs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, weakness, emaciation and other forms of disease which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate fatally in consumption.

"I will write you what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has done for me," says George H. Belcher, Esq., of Dorton, Pike County, Ky. "Thirteen years ago I was wounded by a ball passing through my lung. I have had a bad cough almost ever since, with shortness of breath, and it was very easy to take cold; the slightest change of weather would cause the cough to be so bad I would have to sit up in bed all night. Could not eat or sleep at times; was all run down; could not work at all. A few months ago I began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Have not used more than two bottles, and now can eat, sleep, and work, and I feel like a new man. I cannot find words to sufficiently recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, or tell the good it has done me."

Cheating the Cat.

The meanest man is around town in many guises and in considerable numbers, but the meanest woman is a recent discovery. She lives in Philadelphia, and for the sake of saving a cent a day she cheats the cat by giving her each morning a saucerful of milk, and after about two teaspoonfuls of it have been lapped up she dilutes the milk with water and continues to do so till evening. When remonstrated with by her husband recently she said: "Well, the cat doesn't know the difference. It looks like milk, anyhow, and if I didn't thin it out for her we'd have to have 2 cents' worth for breakfast each day."

An Acquired Taste.

"Yes, there is something in a name. There's my wife, for instance."

"What about her?"

"Why, her first name is Olive, and I didn't like her at all at first."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SOLDIERS OF CHRIST.

CONFIRMATION AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH SUNDAY.

The Sacrament Administered to One Hundred and One Children by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor of Peterborough.

(Lindsay Post.)

Sunday was a memorable day at St. Mary's Church for the children of the parish who had the happiness of receiving the sacrament of Confirmation from His Lordship, Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough.

There was a large congregation present at eight o'clock mass, the church being crowded to its utmost capacity with the parents and friends of the young candidates. The boys wore neat white badges on their sleeves and the girls were attired in immaculate white dresses and veils. It was a pretty and edifying sight. The children showed the most careful training and were complimented by His Lordship for the manner in which they had passed their examination in Christian Doctrine. He also congratulated the children on their deportment and the priests and teachers in the parish schools on the admirable results of their instruction.

His Lorship Bishop O'Connor celebrated mass, assisted by Monsignor Laurent and Rev. Father Phelan. Those of the children who had not done so last year made their FIRST COMMUNION.

Previous to administering the sacrament His Lordship delivered a very instructive address upon the nature and effects of the sacrament of Confirmation, and urged those to be confirmed to be always faithful to the graces they received in the sacrament. The Bishop required three promises, namely: to say their prayers night and morning, to go to their confession and communion at least once a year and to abstain from intoxicating liquor until they reached the age of 21 years. He spoke eloquently on the necessity of children leading sober lives, walking in the path of virtus and rectitude, being an honour to the church, to themselves, to parents, as good upright citizens. After Confirmation the Bishop again dwelt on the importance of the ceremony for the little ones who had been made soldiers of Christ. He spoke on the virtues of the soldier

COURAGE AND SELF-SACRIFICE

—and he exhorted in forcible terms to practice those virtues in the Christian life.

Then turning to the adult portion of the congregation, His Lordship reminded them of that memorable day—years ago — when they knelt at the altar, and in the presence of loving parents and devoted pastors, received the same sacrament and repeated the same promises. He asked how they had observed those promises made on that day, and he finally exhorted all to pray that these little ones of Christ, who still wore the white flower of a blameless life might never stain their beautiful innocence and never tarnish the purity of their young lives. After mass the children returned in procession to the convent, where they dispersed.

At High Mass, which was celebrated by Mgr. Laurent, His Lordship preached on the gospel of the day, taking for his text these words, "There shall be joy before the angels of God upon one sinner doing penance." The discourse was replete with instruction and produced a lasting impression upon the large congregation.

The children re-assembled in the church at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when they renewed their baptismal vows and were enrolled in the Confraternity of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. May the memory of the day ever be to those happy children one of the happiest recollections of their lives.

Old men as well as young men whose systems have to stand an excessive strain find that their mental and physical power is greatly invigorated by the use of Powley's Liquified Ozone.

This preparation arrests decay and makes new tissues no matter how old you are. The condensed oxygen is accountable for the wonderful efficacy of Powley's Liquified Ozone. The feverish and unnatural condition your system and blood are in this time of year is quickly removed by this preparation.

'James Stevens, 1218 Bloor St. West, had a running sore on his leg for thirty-five years. At the age of 70 years he was entirely cured by Powley's Liquified Ozone. The sore was dried up and his blood and skin made pure and healthy. The tissues of his body were renewed. John H. Dunlop Esq., the well known florist, Lansdowne Ave. and Bloor St., vouches for the accuracy of this statement.

PRESBYTERIAL CONVENTION.

The Annual Meeting was Held in Cobourg.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in the Presbytery.

The nineteenth annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterian Society of the W. F. M., was held in St. Andrew's Church, Cobourg, on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 4th and 5th, 1901.

The meeting opened with devotional exercises presided over by Mrs. Potter, Peterborough; Hymn 105 was sung. The President, Miss Forsythe, Peterborough, led in prayer. Mrs. Potter read and explained the 3rd chapter of I. Epistle of John, from the tenth verse. Mrs. J. MacNachtan and Miss Russel led in prayer. Hymn 562 was sung. Miss Dickson gave the closing prayer of the devotional exercises. The President, Miss Forsythe then took the chair. Minutes of the last meeting held in Norwood were ready by Mrs. J Davidson and confirmed by the meeting.

The Presbyterial reports from Auxiliaries and Mission Bands were read by Miss Dickson and others.

The question whether Mission Band funds should be appropriated for other purposes was then discussed. The meeting thought all funds should be given to our society. Anything given to other schemes should be extras over and above the regular givings. Miss Dickson stated that some bands had no members of the General Society which was not legal according to the constitution. The Mission Band President must be an adult and a member of the General Society.

Mrs. Craick, Port Hope, read the Treasurer's report adding a few words of explanation.

In the absence of Mrs. Tully, Peterborough, Mrs. Potter, Peterborough, read the report of the clothing committee, with instructions. Miss Dickson, called attention to several mistakes made by several auxiliaries. Mrs. Craick requested the Secretaries to follow closely her written instructions about the clothing.

Moved by Mrs. MacNachtan, Cobourg, and seconded by Mrs. Craick, Port Hope, and resolved that the members of the Peterborough Presbyterian Society now assembled, have learned with deep regret of the loss by death of our esteemed member of the Toronto Board in the person of Mrs. Jeffery, and further that this assembly give expression to their great grief over the death of the veteran missionary, the Rev. Dr. McKay, of Formosa. The resolution was unanimously carried, and the Secretary was instructed to send a copy to the General Board and the same to be entered in the annual report.

In the absence of Mrs. Kannawin, Omemee, her paper entitled "How to inspire the young to missionary activity," was well read by Mrs. R. R. Hall, Peterborough. The paper contained many useful suggestions.

Mrs. J. Davidson, Norwood, gave an address on Systematic Study for Mission Bands, with blackboard illustrations. A general discussion followed.

Rev. W. Beattie invited all present to attend a song service in the church at 7.30 in the evening.

Hymn 506 was then sung and the meeting closed with prayer.

TUESDAY, 2.40 P.M.

Meeting opened with the President in the chair; 96th Psalm was sung; 29th chap. of I Chronicles, 9th verse was read by the President; Mrs MacNachtan, Cobourg, made a beautiful comprehensive prayer for the work; minutes of the morning's meeting were read by Mrs. J. Davidson, Norwood.

The president's annual address was delivered earnestly and listened to with marked attention. The following are a few points from the same: (1) In looking back over the past we see where we have failed to enter the open doors; now they are closed. (2) Each member should make honest enquiry of how we are living, and to what purpose. (3) There were never so many opportunities as now. (4) Appealed to mothers to train their daughters for Christ and the church instead of for the world. In closing the president urged upon all to make this the very best year's work for their Master.

The Presbyterial report was read by Miss Dickson. This report showed 20 Auxiliaries, with a membership of 295; 11 Mission Bands, with a membership of 23; 153 General Society members, making the total membership 674. Though the membership is a little less than last year the contributions are the largest ever reached in the history of our society, namely, $1,708.35 plus $243.80 given to the Indian Famine Fund, making a total of $1,952.15, an increase of $289.78 over last year; $100 of this was a legacy. 780 pounds of clothing valued at $313.19, was sent to the Industrial School at Regina.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Craik, Port Hope.

Moved by Mrs. Burnet, Cobourg, seconded by Mrs. Ballagh, that the reports be adopted.—Carried.

Mrs. Potter led in the dedicatory prayer.

A solo entitled, "It may not be on the Mountain Side," sung by Mrs. Sinclair, added much to the enjoyment of the session.

Miss Pyke gave an interesting account of her work in Honan, China. The following are a few points from her address: (1) Work of teaching the women in the Compound in Chang Te Fee, North Honan. (2) Work among the women who came to the dispensary for treatment. (3) Work at the semi-annual station classes, Bible classes, special classes and out station classes. (4) Native converts are showing the true spirit of giving. (5) Missionary hours of work are very long and tiresome.

Miss Pyke's faith in the future of the work is stronger than ever.

While the collection, which amounted to $8.80, was being taken, Mrs. MacNachton welcomed the delegates, and invited all the ladies to tea in the church.

Miss Squires brought greetings from the Baptist Church. A letter of well wishes was read by Mrs. Holland from the King's Daughters; also greetings were expressed by Miss Campbell, Halifax. Hymn 454 was sung and Rev. Mr. Lord closed with the Benediction.

The members of the Board then adjourned to the school room for the election of officers. Miss Forsythe tendered her resignation. Moved by Mrs. MacNachtan, Cobourg, seconded by Mrs. Potter, that we express our deep regret that the retiring President, Miss Forsythe, has decided to sever her connection with our branch and move to Toronto, and that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered her for her faithful work in the past and especially for the efficiency with which she has performed the duties of her office as President and wish her success in her new field. Carried by standing vote.

The election of officers took place with the following result:

President—Mrs. Potter, Peterborough.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Torrance, Peterborough.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Kannawin, Omemee.
3rd Vice-President—Mrs. Thompson, Hastings.
4th Vice-President—Mrs. Sinclair, Port Hope.
5th Vice-President—Mrs. Reeves, Campbellford.
Treasurer—Mrs. Craick, Port Hope.
Correspondent Secretary — Miss Dickson, Peterborough.
Recorder and Literature Secretary—Mrs. J. Davidson, Norwood.

Mrs. Potter closed the meeting with prayer.

The Tuesday evening gathering was presided over by Rev. Mr. Beattie, pastor. A song service by the choir was very much enjoyed by the audience. Hymn 434 was sung. Psalm 72 was read by the chairman. Rev. Mr. Lord, Grafton, led in prayer. The pastor, in a few well chosen words welcomed the delegates to Cobourg.

He also spoke of the loss to the church in the death of its most zealous missionary, Br. McKay, of Formosa. The Presbyterian report was given by Miss Dickson. Rev. Mr. Sinclair followed with an excellent address. He spoke of (1) The increase of giving as shown by the report (2) Work done by the women of our Society. (3) The shortage in our membership. (4) The larger proportion of our church members are doing nothing for Foreign Mission work. (5) Our confidence for the future of the Gospel is shown by its power to sustain the converts in China. (6) The church always thrives on persecution. (7) Dr. McKay's address to the churches before he went to the foreign field. He was called an excited young man. A solo, "Great is our Lord," was sung by Madame Albertini and well received and enjoyed by all.

Rev. A. G. Goforth delivered a very forcible and instructive address.

The collection amounted to $23.77. The doxology was sung and the meeting closed with the benediction.

The Wednesday morning session was opened with the president in the chair. Hymn No. 454 was sung; 10th chap of John was read by the president, Rev. Mr. McCaig, Port Hope led in prayer. Minutes were read by Mrs. J. Davidson and confirmed by the meeting.

Moved by Mrs. Potter and seconded by Mrs. MacNachton, that Mrs. Mc-Pherson, Mrs. Munroe, Mrs. R. R. Hall and Miss Garrow, be a committee to look after the clothing for the Northwest.—Carried.

Mrs. Craik, Mrs. Clarke and Miss Brodie were appointed the apportionment committee.

It was decided to hold the next meeting in Peterborough on the first Tuesday and Wednesday in June.

Miss Pyke gave an earnest talk, an closed her remarks by reading a letter from a refugee in Honan.

Mrs; Potter, the new president, then took the chair, and spoke a few earnest helpful words to the members.

Votes of thanks were passed to the pastor, the managers of the church, organist, Mme. Albertini, choir, and all who opened their homes to the delegates and who provided tea in the church, and to Miss Pyke and Mr. Goforth for their interesting addresses. On motion Mrs. J. Davidson was appointed superintendent of Mission Band work. After singing hymn 216 an enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

A NURSE'S NOBILITY.

She Imparts Priceless Information to Her Fellow Mortals.

Miss L. Slean, a widely known professional nurse, publishes the following letter, which will be read by thousands, who are contending against difficulties such as she has overcome.

Miss Slean says:

"I desire to volunteer the following information: My duty as a nurse is very exacting, and some time ago I became very greatly run down. I would get dizzy spells with palpitation of the heart, on the least exertion. My blood became thin and watery, and I was utterly unable to perform my duties.

"My friends became alarmed and a physician was called in; but although following all his directions I did not improve. A friend who called on me suggested that I should try Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills, which I did, and I can truthfully assure you that I am thankful I did so, as I am my old self again, and feel better than I have done for many a long day.

"This is a frank, truthful and candid statement. I never gave a testimonial before but consider I am doing right in sending you this. I can get plenty of them from friends who have used your pills, and I will be glad to answer all correspondence relative to my case."

Yours sincerely,

MEN RESUMING WORK

Mr. McNicoll, General Manager Reads a Sample Letter.

TRACKMEN ALSO CONFIDENT

President Wilson, of the Trackmen's Union, Speaks in Toronto—Says Statement That Strike Has Fizzled Out Is Not True, as the Company Will Find to Its Cost Ere Long.

Montreal, June 20.—Mr. McNicoll, vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, when seen yesterday afternoon regarding the trackmen's strike, stated that reports were coming to him hourly that men were resuming work all over the system, and also gave the following as a sample of some of the letters he is receiving:

"I thought it my duty to let you know how myself and my brother, who is a section foreman, feel in regard to the trouble between the C. P. R. Company and trackmen. Myself and brother have been on the road since it was first started, and must say we have been used like gentlemen by the officials of the company. I have been a foreman for 20 years this fall, and, should the committee call a strike, though every man go out, myself and men, and my brother and men, will stay with the company, as we think they are asking unreasonable things. We are satisfied with our wages now. (Signed), —— ——, section foreman."

"These are the men," Mr. McNicoll added, "that the committee are ordering to turn on the company and thereby jeopardize the results of a lifetime, and risk the future of their families."

Striking C. P. R. trackmen who occupy the company's houses along the line, were notified yesterday that unless they returned to work to-day they would have to vacate their premises to make room for newly employed men. About 75 per cent. of these buildings are given free of rent to trackmen, and a nominal rent is charged for the balance.

The Company's Time Limit.

Brownville, Me., June 20.—Some of the trackmen who went on strike on the Maine Central Railroad, and whose places have been filled by that company, are endeavoring to get employment from the Canadian Pacific on its line through Maine. The Canadian Pacific Railway has given its men until to-day to return to work before replacing them with others, and many of the men are taking advantage of the opportunity.

Maine Central Strike Over.

Portland, Me., June 20.—General Manager Evans of the Maine Central Railroad says that the trackmen's strike on that road is a thing of the past. The last opportunity was given several days ago to the men to return to work, and nearly all places are filled now.

IN TORONTO.

President Wilson Addresses the Men and Reports Strike Progress.

Toronto, June 20.—The striking trackmen say they are encouraged by the news of the strike situation yesterday. The men remain firm, and some have reconsidered their position and joined the strikers. The C. P. R. officials are also encouraged. And there you are.

John T. Wilson, President of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen of America, and head of the strikers, came to town yesterday. He is a man about 45 years of age.

"We did the right thing with the company," said Mr. Wilson to a reporter, "and now we have the public with us." He claims the men were compelled to strike because their claims were ignored by the C. P. R. president. He feels sure the places of the strikers cannot be filled.

"What action will the other railway organizations take?"

"We have their sympathy," replied Mr. Wilson.

The present strike is the first since the organization of the order in 1889.

The feature of the local situation yesterday was the meeting at night in Forum Hall. Nearly every C. P. R. trackman in Toronto attended. Several labor bodies were also represented. Donald Wilkinson, chairman of the Local Committee, presided. He declared the company had not treated the men fairly. The treatment given men by American roads was better than that the C. P. R. offered.

President Wilson was the principal speaker, and he emphasized the statement that the strike had not "fizzled out," and intimated that the road would find it out in a few days. He gave a detailed account of the events leadingup to the strike, reading the correspondence that had passed between him and President Shaughnessy.

He assured the strikers that they had nothing to fear in the present struggle, and extorted them to continue the fight.

As to the statement that the places of the strikers were being filled, Mr. Wilson said: "The wages of the trackmen are so near the starvation point, and the work so extremely hard, that the company can not get men to do the trackmen's work."

In conclusion, he held that the company was now on the run.

Telegraphic Strike News.

Mr. Wilson returned to Montreal last night to join the committee. While in the city yesterday he received the following telegrams:

Dryden, Ont.—All foremen and men, Wabigoon division, out; will remain firm.

Mount Brydges, Ont.—At present all out, but three gangs, London to Windsor.

Presque Isle, Me.—Have not received any orders to stop work; please answer.

Winnipeg, Man.—Your orders have been obeyed, all out here.

Vancouver, B.C.—Everything solid here; boys will stay with you.

Vermillion Bay—Some pump men out here.

Moosejaw, N.W.T.—Quit at noon to-day.

Revelstoke, B.C.—All boys are out; trackmen and bridgemen on Pacific division.

Yale, B.C.—Extra sectionmen, bridgemen, shovelmen out. Solid as rocks.

Donald, B.C.—All the men out; everything O.K.; keep us posted.

Trail, B.C.—Pacific division solid to a man.

The following message was received from the committee at Montreal last night:

"Company making desperate efforts to-day toward inducing men to return to work. All reports are favorable. Special train over road and lengthy messages sent president and general superintendent to all men at work and on strike. All O.K."

NOT A SECTIONMAN WORKING

Between Montreal and Toronto Except Some New Italians—Trackmen's President Wilson Speaks at Toronto.

Havelock, Ont., June 20.—The C. P. R. trackmen's strike is most complete on the division east and west of here. Engineers who have gone over the road say that there is not a sectionman working between Montreal and Toronto, except a few Italians that were put on yesterday.

Thamesville Men Out.

Thamesville, Ont., June 20.—The ten sectionmen employed by the C. P. R. at Thamesville went on strike yesterday, they not having received official notice before. Seven are non-union men, but have struck in sympathy with the strikers.

Now the Other Side.

General Superintendent Timmerman of the Ontario division of the C. P. R., said yesterday that reports favorable to the company had been received from various points. All the men between Toronto and Owen Sound, he said, had returned to work, with the exception of a gang at Melville Junction. Between Toronto and Smith's Falls the men were reported to be holding out, although four gangs had gone back. All trains, said Mr. Timmerman, are running on time, and the strike was causing the company no trouble. Mr. Timmerman was assured by several roadmasters that many more strikers would return to work this morning. The places of those who have not returned by this morning, said the general superintendent, would be filled. Plenty of men were available.

NIAGARA CAMP.

Major-Gen. O'Grady-Haly on the Question of More Targets.

Camp Niagara, June 20.—The air was cooled yesterday morning by the light rain that fell. The men did not begin drill till 1 o'clock.

Major-General O'Grady-Haly and Hon. Dr. Borden visited the rifle ranges in the morning.

The Major-General expressed himself as opposed to putting in more targets. To extend the line to the left would endanger residents and passers on the highway. To extend the line to the right would endanger shipping. He said that negotiations were on foot to secure certain farm property farther up the shore, where any number of targets could be put up, and a range of 1,000 yards obtained. He considers the present range inadequate.

Major-General O'Grady-Haly left yesterday afternoon for Toronto, and Hon. Dr. Borden left for Buffalo.

There were 23 patients added to the number in hospital yesterday, making a total of 43. Most of them suffer from heat or vaccination. The recruiting station has received 26 applicants.

A Farmer's Suicide.

Napanee, June 20.—Malcolm MacPherson, a farmer about 48 years old, living in Ernesttown Township, committed suicide by cutting his throat Tuesday night. It is supposed despondency, caused by reverses in the Northwest a few years ago, was the cause.

Fog Held Up the Toronto.

Kingston, Ont., June 20.—Fog held up the steamer Toronto four hours yesterday morning on the lake. Lady Minto and children were on board. The steamer left port at 8.30 instead of 4.30 a. m.

Daily Examiner.

London (England) office—142 Fleet street, E C., Central Press Agency, Limited, Special Agents.

THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1901.

SOBER ONTARIO.

The Hamilton Times of Tuesday, June 18th, says: Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, when addressing his constituents in North Monaghan, referred to the operation of the Ontario liquor license legislation for the past twenty-five years. It was shown that since the Government took the responsibility of the issue of liquor licenses there had been a reduction in the number of licenses annually issued from over 6,185 before the Crooks' Act came into force to 2,950 in 1900, or one to every 270 persons previous to the Crooks Act, and one to 850 persons in 1900. Mr. Stratton also showed that this big reduction in licenses had greatly decreased drunkenness and lessened crime, as shown by the fact that in 1889 there were 4,797 convictions for drunkenness, while in 1899 the number was reduced to 1,892. Mr. Stratton showed the restrictive amendments had a decided effect in decreasing the number of licenses issued, lessening drunkenness and crime, improving the character of hotels, promoting healthy temperance sentiment and producing a general tone of popular morality and sobriety, superior to perhaps any other country in the world.

There is always a possibility of falling into the post hoc ergo propter hoc style of argument. There can be no question that drunkenness is less common throughout Ontario than it waas twenty-five years ago, but from all accounts there was considerable improvement in that respect between 1850 and 1875. While the figures quoted by Mr. Stratton would go to show that the decrease in the number of drinking places has been followed by a decrease in the number of convictions for drunkenness, we have seen it stated that a few places crowded with customers would sell more liquor than many places, each scantily patronized, the treating habit getting its heaviest work in where many men met. However, the prohibitionists, who want to have all the drinking places abolished by law ought to be well pleased to see the number reduced, for that is a step in the direction of their goal. Ontario is a long way from perfection in the matter of temperance, but in comparison with other countries, such as Great Britain and the United States, we have no reason to be ashamed. The Ontario Government has always shown a disposition to go as far and as fast in the direction of restriction as public opinion would justify. Legal machinery may have some effect in promoting sobriety, but after all the best way to kill off the liquor business is to convince the masses of the unwisdom of buying and drinking the stuff. The citizen who is sober because he won't drink intoxicating liquor is worth more than a dozen who are sober because they cannot get it.

Thoughts are exchanged on bread-making, butter making, cooking of all kinds, care of children, care of birds, care of home plants, sanitation in and around the house, how to make the outward appearance of the house attractive by planting trees, shrubs and flowers, also a great many other topics too numerous to mention.

BRIDGENORTH BRIEFLETS.

The fishing season opened Monday.

Saturday was pay day at Kelly's mill.

Mr. George Nickle, pastor of the Methodist church here, has returned home from Conference.

Miss Lillie Black's condition is not improving as fast as her friends would wish to see Dr. Scott was in the village yesterday, consulting with Dr. Morgan in reference to her case.

Mr. R. Cornett, assistant organizer of the Canadian Order of Foresters, is at present in the village doing business in connection with Court Bridgenorth.

Mr. H. Brown, head organizer of the Royal Arcanum, spent Monday in the village, the guest of Dr. Morgan; the object of his visit was to organize a lodge in the village, which no doubt he will be successful in doing some time in the near future.

Mr. G. H. Smith, of Bobcaygeon, passed through the village on Sunday on his way to Peterborough.

Mr. John Haggart, Peterborough's auctioneer, accompanied by W. H. Bradburn, passed through the village one day last week, on their way to Apsley.

Miss Fannie O'Leary of Toronto, is at present visiting at her home in the village.

Mr. Herb Snowden drove out to Chemong on Monday to see the new bridge.

The Manita brought down an excursion from Bobcaygeon on Friday. They were conveyed to Peterborough by bus to attend Ringling Bros.' circus.

An excursion from Omemee spent Friday at Chemong. Mr. Kelly's steamer, Lady of the Lake, was chartered and gave the excursionists several pleasant trips around the lake.

The steamer Crandella came in on Saturday from Lindsay, with some two hundred excursionists on board. They did not arrive here until two p.m., and by the time the excursionists got as far as the park the whistle blew for the return trip, therefore the excursionists had very little time at their disposal to view the beauties of Chemong.

Mr. W. B. Kelly's trotting horse, Cataract, made things lively down around the mill yard on one evening last week. Master Burrett and Miss Beatrice were driving towards home and when within some three hundred yards of the house some part of the harness gave way after which the horse became unmanageable. Burritt did his best to stop the horse but was unable to do so. The horse dashed madly down towards the bridge. Both occupants were pitched into the ditch some distance below the gate; both fortunately escaped without any serious injury. The horse took to the lumber yard and got mixed up in some lumber piles, and was captured. The buggy was a total wreck. It was rather unfortunate for Burritt as no sooner had he recovered from the shock of the runaway, while he was engaged around one of the circular saws in the mill on Saturday, he came near loosing his right hand, the front fingers receiving an ugly gash. It was thought at first one would have to be amputated, but Dr. Morgan, who was called in at once dressed the wound and at present he is doing nicely but will not be able to ride his wheel for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Telford who live about a mile from the village on the Chemong road had his barns and outbuildings destroyed by fire on Saturday evening. The fire commenced at about half past four while they were at tea. The fire consumed a quantity of grain, including some hay. The origin of the fire is a mystery to Mr. Telford as no person was in or around the barn at the time. Mr. Telford's loss will be a heavy one, but is partly covered by insurance. Mr. Harry Mann was the first to notice the fire and gave the alarm. It was rather unfortunate for Harry as he is minus a pair of boots and a coat. Before ascending a ladder he discarded his boots and coat and was surprised to find on his return that the fire had gained such headway he was unable to recover them, however, Betty Ball was kind enough to loan him a pair of boots until he reached his home in Bridgenorth.

Mr. Wm. Gereghty, an employee of W. B. Kelly & Sons, who stole one of Bridgenorth's fairest daughters and has been spending his honey-moon in Peterborough during the past week, has returned to the village accompanied by Mrs. Gereghty. They are at present staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gereghty.

On Saturday morning while Mr. T. R Mann was driving out of the gateway leading to the road, his infant son Freddy accompanied him and while Mr. Mann was opening the gate or at least opened it, the horses started. The child fell off the front of the waggon and before Mr. Mann could stop them the front wheel passed over the child's head. How it escaped instant death is a miracle as it was a heavy waggon. It is at present doing nicely and it is hoped will soon be able to run around as usual.

The Great Kidney Specialist.

The Famous Physician Who Has Made Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Diseases a Life Long Study.

DR. ZINA PITCHER.

For many years in the hospitals of Detroit and Professor of Genito Urinary diseases in Michigan College of Medicine, Dr. Zina Pitcher devoted his time to the scientific study of diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary System.

By this exclusive devotion to one branch of medical investigation Dr. Pitcher was enabled to perfect a treatment for Kidney troubles that far surpasses any other remedy.

After testing it extensively in private and hospital practice and demonstrating its incomparable superiority to all other forms of treatment, Dr. Pitcher decided to give this great boon to suffering humanity at large and not confine it exclusively to the circles of his private and hospital patients.

He has placed his remedy before the public under the name of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets and so confident is he of the positive curative qualities of these Tablets for backache, lame or weak back, drowsiness, headaches, pain in the loins, brick dust deposits in the urine, puffiness under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, scalding, irritation, frequent rising at night, dribbling, inflammation or ulceration of the bladder, gravel, Rheumatism, Bright's Disease and Diabetes (except in the last stages), bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, constipation, puffy and pasty appearance of the face, dropsy, backache and weakness of women, urinary weakness of children and old people or any symptomatic indications of Kidney disease that to anyone suffering from any of the above troubles, who uses the Tablets faithfully, according to directions, and derives no benefit therefrom, their money will be cheerfully refunded.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a box at all druggists or sent by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

PRO-BOERS IN LONDON.

Henry Labouchere Presided—10,000 Jingoes Outside the Hall—The Resolutions Were Carried.

London, June 20.—Thousands of people began collecting outside of Queen's Hall two hours before the advertised time of the Pro-Boer meeting, held there last night. When the doors were finally opened, the pressure of the surging mob was so great that many people fainted.

In spite of the vigilence of the promoters of the meeting, many jingoes gained an entrance to the hall. Mr. Henry Labouchree presided. During the meeting fully 10,000 jingoes, who had gathered outside the Queen's Hall in Regent street, blocked traffic, and necessitated relays of policemen to keep a semblance of order in the crowd. Several men mounted the parapet of the Longham Hotel, and waving Union Jacks, proposed resolutions against the Pro-Boer agitation, which they declared to have been carried when the meeting in Queen's Hall terminated.

The usual speeches were made, and the usual resolutions were carried amid much commotion and excitement. The resolutions included an amendment in favor of complete independence of the Boer Republics, proposed by Baron Battersea for the Radicals, which did not meet with the approval of the Labouchree party. The meeting ended with the singing of the Marseillies. Several collisions occurred between the crowd outside the hall and the police, and the latter had the greatest difficulty handling the assemblage. No casualities were reported.

MANITOBA RAILWAYS.

Premier Roblin Arranging for Some Northern Extension in That Province—Is to Pay C.P.R. $75,000.

Montreal, June 20.—Hon. R. P. Roblin, Premier of Manitoba, arrived in the city yesterday morning, and, after visiting the C. P. R. offices in company with Hon. Robert Rogers, the Prime Minister said:

"We have this morning held a conference with Mr. Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and completed arrangements with his road for the extension of branch lines from Brandon northwestward, and from Waskada, Snowflake and Wellwood. This is to be done in consideration of a cash bonus of $75,000, paid by my Government to the Canadian Pacific Railway. The exact number of branch lines and the mileage to be built for this consideration are as follows:

Forty-two miles northwest from Brandon, 18 miles west from Waskada, 10 miles east from Snowflake and 10 miles west from Wellwood on the McGregor branch."

Referring to the crops, he stated that never in the history of the Province of Manitoba has there been such an abundant promise. "We have this year 2,600,000 acres in wheat. Now, we expect this year to get between 20 and 30 bushels to the acre. This will give us a crop of between 40,000,000 and 60,000,000 bushels of wheat for the season's production. While it may not reach 60,000,000 bushels, owing to the danger of blight and frost, it will in all probability go as high as 45,000,000 bushels, and it is quite possible for it to run over 50,000,000 bushels.

Native Converts Caused Bloodshed.

Yokohama, June 18.—The Japanese Consul at Mokpho, Corea, reports that the recent mission troubles at the Island of Quelpart (at the entrance of the Yellow Sea), were caused by native converts. These persons so exasperated the other natives that the latter surrounded them and killed 500 of them. The foreign cruisers are still at Quelpart.

THE DOCTORS.

51st Annual Meeting of the Ontario Medical Association.

Toronto, June 20.—The twenty-first annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association began yesterday in the Normal School. Nearly 1,000 physicians drawn from all over the province were in attendance. In the morning papers were read by Dr. William Oldright, Toronto; Dr. Herbert A. Bruce, Toronto; Dr. Angus McKay, Montreal, and Dr. R. W. Garrett, Kingston.

The feature of the afternoon session was the address of Dr. Angus McKinnon of Guelph, president of the association.

Dr. McKinnon, in the course of his address, denounced quack medicines, and said Christian Science was a fraud.

At the conclusion of the president's address Dr. J. H. Elliott of Gravenhurst read a paper illustrative of the treatment of consumption in sanitario. Dr. P. H. Bryce, Provincial Medical Health Officer, then dealt with the problems of vaccination.

Two technical papers were then read by Dr. R. Ferguson of London, and Dr. J. L. Turnbull of Goderich.

In the evening Dr. G. H. Carveth explained the new plan of outdoor treatment as pursued in the Western Hospital in this city.

Dr. L. C. Prevost read a very valuable paper, advocating the use of nitrous oxide and ether as an anaesthetic.

Dr. Charles P. Noble of Philadelphia delivered an address upon the treatment of female ailments, in the study of which the doctor has acquired an international reputation.

DARING ESCAPE.

Seven Desperadoes Cut Their Way Out of Alaska Jail.

Seattle, June 20.—A despatch from Nome tells of one of the most daring and successful jail deliveries that has taken place in Alaska, which occurred on May 20, when seven prisoners in the federal jail escaped, and at last advices four were still at large. Those who got away were named Bowers, Davis, Miller and Landes, while Smith, Libby and May were recaptured. In the capture May was shot through the head and jaw and is in a precarious condition. The escape was effected by cutting through the roofs of the cells, and afterwards cutting through the corrugated iron roof of the jail.

A COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER'S STORY

Interview With Mr. J. H. Ireland one of the Old Time Knights of the Grip.

His Plight on a Recent Occasion in the Maritime Provinces—How Dodd's Kidney Pills Came to His Help—High Words of Praise for That Remedy

Toronto, June 19, (Special).—Mr. J. H. Ireland, the well-known traveller for hats and caps, left for the Maritime Provinces one day last week. Handily packed in Mr. Ireland's private grip was a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the medicine famous throughout Canada as a specific for all troubles of the kidneys. When asked about his experience with this remedy Mr. Ireland grew quite enthusiastic.

"I never go out on a trip of any length without a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills," he asserted.

"Are you afflicted with Kidney Trouble a great deal then," Mr. Ireland was asked.

"Not a great deal now, no," replied Mr. Ireland, "I take Dodd's Kidney Pills more as a preventative than anything else. But in the winter of ninety-eight I was, I can tell you. I was down in Nova Scotia when I first used Dodd's Kidney Pills. I don't know whether it was the water down there, the climate, riding so much inthe train or what, but certainly my kidneys were on the point of a complete break down. Backache! it was one continual misery. It spoiled my business, broke my rest and wore me down until the life was taken right out of me."

"And you used Dodd's Kidney Pills?"

"I used the only remedy I knew of that was a specific for the kidneys," answered Mr. Ireland. "The first dose of Dodd's Kidney Pills seemed to go right to the spot. In a few days I was feeling as well as ever I did in my life. They are splendid medicine. I have recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to scores of men on the road like myself and none of them but have the warmest praise for the medicine, being just exactly what we need in our walk of life, a safe reliable strengthening stimulant for the kidneys."

New Trouble in China.

London, June 19.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Standard, cabling under date of June 18, says that a Chinese military graduate named Tien Le Siang has collected a large force of Boxers and disbanded soldiers and has induced the inhabitants of the numerous walled villages and towns in the southwestern part of Chili Province to unite in opposing the collection of taxes for the war indemnity.

Boy Shot Himself Dead.

Holland Landing, Ont., June 19.—Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock Norman Thompson, aged 13 years, while out shooting ground hogs, accidentally, shot himself, the contents of the gun entering his breast. Some men nearby ran to his assistance, but life was extinct before they arrived, he having died instantly. Deceased was a son of Frank Thompson, who lives two miles north of here.

HE MAY BE EMPLOYED

General Assembly Allows Manitoba to Engage Mr. Madill.

UNDER A TIME LIMITATION.

Rev. J. G. Shearer Addresses the Assembly on the Lord's Day—Religious Instruction in Schools—Report Adopted—Appointment of Sabbath School Missionaries Remitted to the Presbyteries.

Ottawa, June 20.—At the Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday morning, the application of Rev. J. C. Madill for admission as a member of Winnipeg Presbytery was brought up through the reading of the report of the Committee on Applications, which recommended that the application be not granted, but that the Synodical Committee of Manitoba and the Northwest be permitted to employ him as an ordained missionary for a period not exceeding 12 months under one appointment.

Rev. Mr. Farquharson of Pilot Mound, Man., said the application should be either accepted or rejected, and he moved that the application be not granted.

Rev. Dr. Lyle of Hamilton opposed the application, and Rev. Dr. Hogg of Winnipeg made a strong plea in Mr. Madill's favor, saying he had done excellent work in Winnipeg Presbytery.

After further discussion, and the moving and rejection of several amendments, the main motion, adopting the committee's recommendation, was carried by a vote of 76 to 52. Thus Mr. Madill is continued as a missionary for 12 months.

A number of ministers asked to have their names recorded as dissenting. They were ordered to hand their names in in writing to the secretary.

Rev. J. G. Shearer, secretary of the Dominion Lord's Day Alliance, addressed the assembly.

Religious instruction in the schools was discussed by the Rev. Principal Caven, who reported for the committee which was appointed to consider the subject. Rev. Dr. Herdman of Calgary seconded the report, which was adopted.

Lord Strathcona has given $10,000 to the Presbyterian Church Century Fund.

The Committee on Aid to Social Worship was authorized to proceed with the revision of the Manual and to report at the next Assembly.

The proposal to appoint three Sabbath School missionaries was voted down.

Rev. Dr. Robertson, superintendent of home missions, spoke in support of an overture from the Synod of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, regarding the training of students for the mission fields in the west. The overture was referred to a special committee to meet in Winnipeg.

The Committee on Legislation reported the incorporation by the British Columbia legislature of the Board of Trustees. The former Board of Trustees was re-elected.

The assembly adopted a report favoring the secularizing of the arts and science faculties of Queen's University and the incorporation of the theological faculty into a college independent of the university, but under church direction.

Rev. E. Scott, Montreal, editor of The Presbyterian Record, reported a circulation of 46,250, and a balance on hand of $137.68.

Rev. W. E. Wallace read the report of the financial side of the Century Fund. It was recommended that boards and trustees, which have working balances, shall have charge of the amounts, and that boards, committees, agents and treasurers shall be enjoined to see to it, that the working balances shall not be permanently impaired, but shall be restored before the end of the chuech year. The report was adopted upon motion of Principal Caven, seconded by Judge Forget.

Rev. Dr. MacTavish reported regarding the spiritual aspects of the fund. It was recommended that special meetings be held by all the churches, that a circular letter be issued expressing thanks to God for the generous gifts to the church.

Rev. Dr. Moore presented the report of the Committee on Standing Committees.

The Deaf Made to Hear.

St. Thomas—A modern miracle was made known to-day when Mr. Riddle, of this city, announced that he had recovered his hearing. He has been almost entirely deaf, and it borders on the marvellous to find him able to hear everything with great distinctness. As his case is proving of such universal interest, we give Mr. Riddle's own statement. "My hearing was always poor, and not long ago I became almost deaf. It was the result of catarrhal inflammation, but nothing did me good until I used Catarrhozone. It cured my trouble and I strongly recommend it to the deaf." Fully nine-tenths of the deafness is the result of Catarrh and can be cured by catarrhozone. The cures of deafness wrought by this remedy in cases of even twenty years standing are really astounding. Among many others, ministers of the gospel testify to the wonderful powers of Catarrhozone, and your druggist can tell of some astonishing cases in his own experience. Better give it a trial, if your hearing is impared. Price $1; small size 25 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S..

DESPERATE WORK OF A BURGLAR.

He Knocks Mrs. C. Wall Into Insensibility.

And Then Cooly Proceeds to Burglarize the House—No Clue to the Culprit.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Cornelius Wall, who resides on Driscoll terrace, just north of the P.A.A.A. grounds, had an experience with a burglar which she will long remember.

She was preparing for the evening meal about four o'clock and on opening the dining room door leading to the cook house on the east side of her dwelling, she was struck a murderous blow in the left eye by a man and knocked into insensibility on the dining room floor.

The burglar then proceeded on his search for booty and every drawer in the front room of the dwelling was ransacked and the contents strewn on the floor.

Not finding anything of value, the desperado, it is supposed, next searched Mrs. Wall, as an overskirt she wore was completely torn from her body and a purse containing $3.75 in bills and money taken from her pocket.

When Mrs. Wall regained consciousness she rushed bleeding through her yard and gave the alarm to Mrs. Jas. Swantson, who attended to her injuries. At this time Mrs. Wall states she noticed a man running through her garden on to Mark street. She could not describe his features, but states that he wore a light gray suit of clothes and a dark Christy stiff and was about six feet three inches in height.

Mrs. Wall's face presents a sad spectacle to-day. Her left eye is badly bruised and discoloured and a cut just above shows the deadly effect of the villan's blow. The back of her head is considerably bruised where she fell on the floor when being struck down.

Village Constable Fitzgerald and Chief Roszel were notified of the assault and a sharp lookout is being kept for the culprit.

A MONTREAL WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Cathryne Leonora Henderson of Montreal, to Mr. E. V. Moore of Town.

The following appeared in the Montreal Star of the 19th:

The marriage of Miss Cathryne Leonora Henderson, eldest daughter of Mr. C. M. Henderson, to Mr. E. V. Moore, of the engineering staff of the Government improvements on the Welland Canal, and son of Mr. D. H. Moore, Crown Timber Agent, Peterborough, took place on Wednesday afternoon, at St. James Methodist church, Montreal, which was prettily decorated for the occasion by the girl friends of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Sparling, in the presence of a large number of guests. The bride who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white duchess satin, with lace yoke and sleeves, tuile veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

The three bridesmaid, Miss Muriel Henderson, sister of the bride, Miss Lillian Moore, sister of the groom, and Miss Maud Hedges, wore pretty gowns of white silk, white chip hats, trimmed with white chiffon and roses, and carried pink roses. They also wore pearl crescent pins, the gift of the groom. The small sister of the bride, Miss Merie Henderson, who was flower girl, wore a frock of white organdie and lace, and white bonnet, and carried a bouquet of daisies and maidenhair fern.

Mr. W. Saddler, B.A., Toronto, was best man, and the ushers were Messrs R. G. Glassco, of Hamilton, McLaren of Ottawa, and W. and G. O'Hara.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the residence of the bride's parents, Shuter street.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Moore left on a trip to the United States, and the Pan-American exhibition, and on their return will reside at Port Colborne. The bride's going-away gown was of blue panne cloth, trimmed with blue silk, and yellow chip hat, with touches of blue.

Mrs. Moore was the recipient of many handsome presents, including a pearl and diamond pendant, the gift of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore arrived here on their way from Montreal this morning, and will remain for a day or two before proceeding on their trip.

Mrs. Moore will receive at 207 Brock street to-morrow afternoon, from 4 to 5.30.

The many friends of the young couple will join with the Examiner in extending congratulations.

GAS LAMPS FOR STREETS.

Lindsay Will Pass From Darkness Into Light.

The Lindsay Post says: "Mr. Drayton, solicitor for Mr. Burgess, has informed the town authorities that the Bradford street lighting system is now in operation and that he and Mr. Burgess will visit Lindsay towards the end of the week to close up the agreement with the town."

VICTORIA COUNTY DEPUTATION

Will Interview Peterborough County Council To-morrow re. Kinmount Bridge.

A Committee of the County Council of Victoria will be in Peterborough to-morrow to confer with the Peterborough County Council in connection with the Kinmount bridge. The County Council of Victoria are desirous that the County of Peterborough should give a contribution towards the erection of the new bridge across Burnt river. The Provincial Government gave a grant last session of $1,000 conditional upon the erection of a steel structure. It is the intention of the County Council of Victoria to erect an iron bridge provided the County Council of Peterborough assist. This bridge has been a question of dispute between the town counties for many years, which ended in litigation, in which the County of Peterborough was victorious. The bridge, of course, is a convenience to Peterborough, as other bridges are a convenience to Victoria. But it is a county boundary bridge in no sense of the term. It is a bridge situated in the Township of Somerville.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

The Ontario Bank has had a most successful year, the statement presented to the shareholders, as shown in another column, being eminently satisfactory. The net profits for the year were $140,639, which, with the premium on the new stock, $74,393, and the balance of $17,689 brought forward from profit and loss last year, made a total profit of $232,719. This permitted the payment of $60,723 in two half yearly dividends, and the addition of $150,000 to rest account and $5,000 to a pension fund. A balance of $16,996 has been carried forward to profit and loss. Last year the bank obtained authority to increase its capital stock from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, and a large part of the new issue of 5,000 shares has been taken up and paid for, the total paid-up capital being $1,372,914. The rest is now $350,000, the notes in circulation $1,274,712, the deposits not bearing interest $1,228,375 and the interest-bearing deposits, $6,399,376. The total current loans and discounts are $8,086,740. Among the assets are $269,744 due from banks in the United States, and $620,880 call loans on stocks. The statement reflects the general buoyancy of trade and industry, and shows a most successful year in every department of the bank's business. Two new directors were elected in the persons of Hon. R. Harcourt and R. Grass, replacing the late John Hallam and Mr. Dalton Ullyott, whose illness prevents him taking as active an interest in the banks affairs as he had formerly done, hence his resignation. Mr. Ullyott was one of the most faithful and conscientious of the directors, being rarely known to miss a meeting.

FORESTERS' EXCURSION.

About 250 Torontonians Were in Town for the Day.

The excursion from Toronto, under the auspices of the Canadian Order of Foresters of that city, arrived in town to-day by special train shortly after 11 o'clock. The outing was taken advantage of by about 250 Foresters and their friends, and a large number of townspeople were present at the station to welcome the visitors.

The committee in charge had a splendid programme prepared for the occasion, which was run off this afternoon on the P.A.A.A. grounds, before the baseball match between the Park Nine of Toronto and the local team.

A number of the visiting Foresters have signified their intention of remaining over until to-morrow in order to be present at a special meeting of the three Courts called for this evening in Court Peterborough's hall, Simcoe street. The initiating team of Court Peterborough will put on some special initiatory work for the occasion for the benefit of their visiting brethern.

A PANIC WAS AVERTED.

Ringling Bros.' Big Circus Tent Set on Fire at Hamilton.

The Hamilton Times of Wednesday says: Yesterday afternoon and evening fully fifteen thousand people witnessed the performances at Ringling Brothers' circus, and the entertainment provided was not only well up to the standard but was undoubtedly the best ever given by any circus seen in this city. In the main tent, at the afternoon performance, while a crowd of ten thousand people was kept alternating between wonder and merriment the big tent was set on fire, and but for the presence of mind of Mr. Thomas Broadbent, foreman of the Victoria avenue fire hall, and one of the ring masters, there would probably have been a panic. Some persons on the outside set fire to the wall of the tent, which ignited some of the supports of the bleachers. A woman on one of the top seats shouted fire, and immediately three or four hundred people were on their feet and started for terra firma. The fire was put out in an instant by circus hands on the outside, and Mr. Broadbent and a ringmaster allayed the fears of the excited women Ringling Brothers' daily expenses are over $7,000. Two crates of snakes from far off India arrived here yesterday afternoon for the circus. They were phyhons and cobras. One of the former it is said, is nineteen feet long.

THE CADETS INSPECTED.

The Collegiate Institute Boys' Fine Showing.

Lieut. Col. Edwards, the Inspecting Officer, Congratulates Cadets on Their Fine Showing.

Wednesday afternoon the annual inspection of the Collegiate Institute cadet corp took place on the school campus, and the manner in which the cadets acquitted themselves reflected the highest credit, not only on that organization, but also upon their talented instructor, Lieut. A. W. McPherson.

Shortly after 4 o'clock the cadets, twenty in number, marched from their armoury to the school green under Lieut. McPherson and the following non-commissioned officers:—Sergeants J. O'Connell, Claude Rogers, Norman Cameron and P. Sweeney.

After the cadets had been put through their facings, they were finally lined up for inspection by the inspecting officer, Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards. The arms and accoutrements of the men underwent a searching inspection, and all were found (as every soldier's should be found) in first class condition.

Then followed the inspection proper, which consisted of manual exercises, fencing exercises, marching, extended order movement, and many other interesting manoeuvres, all of which were performed with that precision and exactness which characterizes the work of veterans. The youngsters performed each movement in a highly creditable manner, and showed the result of constant attention to drill.

At the conclusion of the inspection the cadets were addressed by Lieut.-Col. Edwards. He warmly congratulated the corps on the excellent manner in which they had performed the different evolutions, and the alacrity with which they obeyed the commands. He had inspected them one year ago, and he assured them that he noticed a great improvement on this occasion. They were engaged in a work which would do them a world of good in making them more erect in their carriage, and as a result the developing of a higher standard of physique. Besides, it was the universal opinion the world over to-day that men should have a knowledge of drill, and as young Canadians they should take a pride in their work, and if the time should ever come when Canada would have to call on her sons to defend her shores, a well-drilled body of Canadian manhood would be found to spring to her defence. What higher honours could Canadian volunteers hope for than the name they had achieved in South Africa, and he urged the cadets to take the deepest interest in their drill, so that if the time should ever come when their assistance was needed, they would not be found deficient.

In conclusion, the Colonel personally thanked Lieut. McPherson on the excellent work of the corps.

After dismissal three rousing cheers were given by the cadets for Lieut.-Col. Edwards.

THE ROYAL TOUR.

The Arrangement for the Tour of Their Royal Highnesses in Ontario Not Finally Decided.

His Worship Mayor Denne this morning received the following communication from Government House, Toronto, in reference to the tour in Ontario of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York:

Government House,
Toronto,
June 18, 1901

Dear Sir, — I am directed by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, to acknowledge and answer your letter of yesterday. The arrangements for the Royal Tour in Ontario are not yet finally decided, and the programme which may be arranged here is subject to the approval of His Royal Highness on his arrival in Canada. The expectation, as you probably know, is that he will arrive at Quebec City on the 10th September. He will remain in the Province of Quebec until the morning of Friday, the 20th. He is not coming to Toronto until after his visit to the North West. His arrival in Toronto is expected on Monday afternoon, the 7th October, and he leaves Toronto for the Maritime Provinces on the following Saturday, the 12th. I learn that the time thus allotted to Toronto is "intended to include visits in Ontario generally." Their Royal Highnesses then visit the Maritime Provinces, ending with Halifax on the 21st.

It is doubtful whether Toronto City will have the honour of the presence of Their Royal Highnesses beyond Monday and Tuesday, the 7th and 8th; then the time thenceforward up to Saturday, or rather Friday, is the period within which the visits to Canada West will be included. London and Hamilton, as the two principal cities, and Niagara Falls, will of course be visited, but whether there will be time for any other places is doubtful. As soon as the programme is settled, so far as it can be arranged here, the public will be informed about it.

I have the honour to be,
Your Worship's obedient servant,
F. B. READE,
for Official Secretary.

His Worship the Mayor of Peterborough.

MR. HOUEDRY IN TOWN.

Will Turn the Bridge Works Into a Modern Seed Warehouse.

Mr. Louis Houedry, Sr., owner of the famous seed house of Del de Bretangne, France, is here, a guest at the Montreal House. He is also accompanied by his son, Louis.

Mr. Houedry, having purchased the old Bridge Works, will commence in a few days to turn the old structure into a modern seed warehouse. This will be of great benefit to farmers and others in securing their seed.

Before returning to France, Mr. Houedry will visit Winnipeg and the west, and spend a few days at Buffalo. As a reliable firm they are one of the largest in the world in seed peas, etc.

THE TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

There is Little Change in the Situation in This Vicinity.

The situation in regard to the trackmen's strike remains practically unchanged. The C.P.R. officials claim that the strike is virtually a fizzle and that they are experiencing no difficulty in securing men to fill the places of the strikers.

On the other hand a trackman informed the Examiner this morning that there is scarcely a man working on the road between Peterborough and Montreal, and that three scabs constitute the staff of the patrol train on this section. On Wednesday, he asserted, a gang of 40 Italians arrived at Havelock, but the residents of that village "froze" them out, and the same thing happened when they struck Indian River. They finally refused to go to work.

The following despatch was received to-day:

Havelock, June 20.—The C. P. R. trackmen's strike is most complete on the division east and west of here. Engineers who have gone over the road say that there is not a sectionman working between Montreal and Toronto, except a few Italians that were put on to-day.

COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING.

Proceedings of Half-Yearly June Session.

Committees at Work All Day Wednesday—Report of Committee on the Warden's Address.

The County Council sat in committee all day yesterday and only rose to adopt the following report of the committee on the Warden's address:

1.—Your Committee recommend that Mr. J. B. Pearce be Chairman of this Committee.

2.—Your Committee are pleased to note that there are in this section most favourale prospects of a bountiful harvest and that such prospects are not only apparent in Ontario but that throughout the Dominion they are equally visible and bright.

3.—Your Committee confirm the action of the Warden with respect to the Douglas bridge between Cavan and Monaghan and refer the matter to the Road and Bridge Committee.

4.—Your Committee confirm the action of the Warden with respect to the Mud Lake bridge and agree with him as to the advisability of this Council personally inspecting the new bridge during the present session.

5.—Your Committee are pleased to note that the County Debentures met a favourable reception and brought a high figure.

6.—Your Committee are pleased to confirm the action of the Warden in sending deputations to press upon the attention of the Dominion and Provincial Governments the merits of the Norwood-Apsley Railway.

Your Committee are pleased to know that the Dominion Government made a special grant of $3,200 per mile and the Ontario Government a special grant of $3,000 a mile in furtherance of this prospect.

Your Committee are pleased to learn that the President of the Canadian Pacific Railway has appointed Mr. Lumsden their inspector and staff to inspect the proposed road and we beg to impress upon the people the wisdom of keeping this undertaking prominently before their minds until it is completely constructed and in operation.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. B. PEARCE,
Chairman.

County Council Chambers,
Peterborough, June, 1901.

T. C. SCHOOL AND DR. SYMONDS

The following article by Prof. A. H. Young is taken from the Trinity University Review:

"Once more a head has had to be found for Trinity College School, Port Hope, and the governing body has been fortunate in finding what appears to them to be the right man in an Englishman who knows Canada well and who has had the advantage of receiving a large part of his training at Trinity University. Taking into account Dr. Symonds' influence exerted here as a man, as a Fellow and a Professor, as Clerk of Convocation, Choirmaster, Librarian, and Bursar of St. Hilda's College, it is only right to expect great things of him as the successor of Dr. Bethune and Mr. Jones, to the former of whom the school owes its very existence and its prestige, while to the latter it owes some of its more modern tendencies.

"Above all, Dr. Symonds is a man of courage, for he has advocated unpopular questions in the face of strong opposition. In spite of his broad-churchmanship and his thorough-going views on the federation question, he has retained the respect and admiration of most of those who differed entirely from him, and that is a brave man's reward when he is likewise courteous. Outside of his own communion there is probably no man in the Church of England who is better known or more fully appreciated than he. As a token of the estimation in which his learning and his broad sympathies are held, he received only the other week his degree of D. D., hohoris causa from Queen's University, Kingston, at the same time that the Bishop of Ontario received the degree of LL. D., also honoris causa.

"Of Dr. Symonds, the old saying about prophet and lack of honour in his own country is not true, for in his own and the adjoining parish of St. John, Peterborough, a movement has been started for the purpose of giving testimony to the honour in which he is held by those among whom he has laboured so arduously and successfully since 1892, when he resigned his professorship in Divinity here. In his new office may he win the same measure of respect affection that he has won in the others which he has held, and may the glory of T. C. S. be enhanced by his labours and by the character formed in its sons who are to be henceforth under his care and guidance.

"PROFESSOR A. H. YOUNG."

WILL IGNORE KRUGER

General Botha Said to Have at Last So Decided.

PEACE MEETING NEXT WEEK.

This Is Said to Be the Result of Mr. Kruger Declining to Concede Anything to Secure a Cessation of Hostilities — Kritzinger's Absurd Claims Over Northern Cape Colony.

London, June 19.—The Sun, which, however, has not heretofore been over reliable on this subject, hears that Mr. Kruger has actually cabled to Gen. Botha, declining to concede anything, and that, in consequence of this decision, Gen. Botha and the commandants agreeing with his peace views, have decided to repudiate Mr. Kruger's authority, and a further consultation with Botha's representative and Lord Kitchener will be arranged for next week.

Leyds Gone to England.

London, June 19.—A despatch to The Morning Post from Brussels says Kruger has had several interviews with influential members of The Hague tribunal, with a view of inducing them to intervene between Great Britain and the Transvaal.

The Financial News says that Dr. Leyds, the European agent of the Transvaal, will come to London specially to represent Kruger at the pro-Boer meeting on Wednesday, at which Messrs. Sauer and Merriman, the peace emissaries from Cape Colony, will speak.

Placarding Cape Colony.

Molteno, Cape Colony, June 18.—Kritzinger and Fouche, the Boer commanders, are busy placarding Cape Colony with a proclamation to the effect that, in accordance with the powers assumed when the northern part of Cape Colony was annexed to the Orange Free State, 20 months ago, any persons reporting the whereabouts of any Boer commando will be fined £50, or in default will be compelled to accompany the commando on foot for three months. According to the best information there are about 2,100 armed Boers in Cape Colony, and they continue to secure a few recruits.

Killed in South Africa.

Toronto, June 19.—John Elder, builder of 55 McGill street, received word yesterday of the death of his son, James, in action in South Africa on May 15. The letter was sent by a lady with whom James had previously boarded. Mr. Elder telegraphed the Militia Department at Ottawa for confirmation of the news, but as his son was a member of an English regiment, he will have to ask the War Office for further intelligence. He was 45 years of age. His wife and two children live at 57 McGill street.

ALARM AT FRENCH CAPITAL.

Men of Wealth Are Sending Money Abroad Because of Socialism.

Paris, June 19.—The Socialists are using such violent methods for breaking up political reunions that do not belong to their party that Republicans all over France are becoming seriously alarmed. The general feeling of unrest all through the country, and the investment of French capital in foreign schemes are attributed to the fear of Socialism. Figaro said yesterday:

"Three billion francs ($579,000,000) has been placed abroad by the French people within the last few weeks. Despite the reassuring statements made by M. Georges Pallain, governor of the Bank of France, last night, the situation is so serious that M. Pallain himself has implored President Loubet to consult his Cabinet in order to find some means of improving these conditions."

EX-GOVERNOR PINGREE DEAD.

Detroit Man Breathed His Last in London, England, Tuesday Night.

London, June 19.—Ex-Governor Hazen S. Pingree of Michigan died here last night at 11.35. His son was the only one present at the time of his death. The attending doctor left Mr. Pingree's bedside at about 11.15, promising to return shortly. M. S. Pingree, jr., who has been watching at his father's side for four days, and who has not removed his clothes during that time, noticed a sudden change in his father's condition. He had hardly reached the patient's bedside when his father died peacefully, without warning, and without speaking one word. Young Mr. Pingree has wired his mother and his uncle in the United States not to come to London. The body of the late Mr. Pingree will be embalmed and taken to his home.

Russia Plays Tit For Tat.

Washington, June 19.—The Russian Ambassador, Count Cassini, has communicated to the State Department that in consequence of the action of the American Government, through a treasury order of March last, applying tariff restrictions against Russian petroleum, imported into this country, the Russian Minister of Finance, M. DeWitte, has issued an order, dated June 7, imposing the high tariff rate of the Russian schedule on American white resin, or calafin galapot, white resin, under article 82 of the Russian tariff law, and increasing the rate on American bicycles under article 173 of the Russian laws. The order of the Russian minister is to take effect next Friday, or two weeks from the date of its issuance.

To Have a New Scalp.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 19.—Miss Annie Locks, who had her scalp torn off at a handkerchief factory at South River last Monday, is still alive. If she lives two weeks longer she will be placed under ether and a new scalp grafted on.

Sore Throat and Hoarseness.

with their attendant dangers may be speedily averted and remedied by the use of Polson's Nerviline. Excellent to gargle with—ten times better than a mustard plaster and more convenient for the outside. Nerviline penetrates the tissues instantly, soothes the pain, allays inflammation, and cures sore throat and hoarseness simply because that's what it is made for. The large 25 cent bottle of Nerviline is unexcelled as a household liniment. It cures everything.

Belated.

"I understand that Trailman has come to the conclusion to contest his wife's will."

"Well, what is there courageous about that? She's dead, isn't she?"—Richmond Dispatch.

No man is truly great until he is willing to use a small word when he knows a big one that means the same thing.

There is something uncanny about a boy who can save money.—Atchison Globe.

BLOOD POISON

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore Throat, Ulcers on the Tongue or in the Mouth, Hair Falling Out, Aching Palms, Itchiness of the Skin, Sores or Blotches on the Body, Eyes Red and Smart, Dyspeptic Stomach, Sexual Weakness—indications of the second stage. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment, —mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time, only to break out again, when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over twenty years. No experiment, no risk—not a "patch-up," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited. We treat and cure Nervous Debility, Sexual Weakness, Ulcer, Blood Poison, Stricture, Varicocele, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, and all diseases peculiar to men and women.

Arms and The Woman

CHAPTER VI.

During the first year of my residence in London there happened few events worth chronicling. Shortly after my arrival Hillars disappeared. His two months' vacation stretched into 12, and I was directed to remain in London. As I knew that Hillars did not wish to be found, I made no inquiries. He was somewhere on the continent, but where no one knew. At one time a letter, dated at St. Petersburg, reached me, and at another time I was informed of his presence at Monte Carlo. In neither letter was there any mention of her serene highness the Princess Hildegarde of Hohenphalia. Since the night he recounted the adventure the wayward princess had never become the topic of conversation. I grew hopeful enough to believe that he had forgotten her. Occasionally I received a long letter from Phyllis. I always promptly answered it. To any one but me her letters would have proved interesting reading. It was not for what she wrote that I cared, it was the mere fact that she wrote. A man cannot find much pleasure in letters which begin with "Dear friend" and end with "Yours sincerely" when they come from the woman he loves.

In the preceding autumn I completed my first novel. I carried it around to publishers till I grew to hate it as one hates a Nemesis, and when finally I did place it it was with a publisher who had just started in business and was necessarily obscure. I bowed politely to my dreams of literary fame and became wholly absorbed in my journalistic work. When the book came out, I could not but admire the excellence of the bookmaking, but as I looked through the reviews and found no mention save in "books received" I threw the book aside and vowed that it should be my last. The publisher wrote me that he was surprised that the book had not caught on, as he considered the story unusually clever. "Merit is one thing," he said, "but luck is another." I have found this to be true not only in literature, but in all walks of life where fame and money are the goals. Phyllis wrote me that she thought the book "just splendid," but I took her praise with a grain of salt, it being likely that she was partial to the author and that the real worth of the book was little in comparison with the fact that it was I who wrote it.

One morning in early June I found three letters on my desk. The first was from Hillars. He was in Vienna:

My Dear Son—There is another rumpus. The princess disappeared on the 20th of last month. They are hunting high and low for her and incidentally for me. Why me is more than I can understand, but I received a letter from Rockwell of the American legation warning me that if I remained in Austria I should be apprehended, put in jail, hanged and quartered for no other reason on earth than that they suspect my having something to do with her disappearance—due, I suppose, to that other miserable affair. Though I have hunted all over the continent, I have never seen the Princess Hildegarde since that night at B. Where shall I find her? I haven't the least idea, but as a last throw I am going to the principality of Hohenphalia, where she was born and over which she rules with infinite wisdom. The king is determined that she shall wed Prince Ernst. He would take away her principality but for the fact that there would be a wholesale disturbance to follow any such act. If I ever meet that watchdog of hers, the Count von Walden, the duffer who gave me my cane, there will be trouble. The world isn't large enough for two such men as we are. By the way, I played roulette at the Casino last night and won 3,000 francs. Well, au revoir, or adieu, as the case may be. They sell the worst whisky here you ever heard of. It's terrible to have an educated palate.

HILLARS.

So he was still desiring for something he could never have! I got out of patience with the fellow. Even if she loved him, what chance had he against the legions of the king? Hillars was a wild headed fellow, and if at liberty was not incapable of creating a disturbance. It might land him in jail or on the gallows. Still Hillars, with all his love of adventure, was not ordinarily reckless. Yet, if he met the princess, she would find a willing tool in him for her slightest caprice. Whatever happened the brunt would fall upon him. My opinion, formed from various stories I had heard of the princess, was not very flattering to her. The letter and its possibilities disturbed me.

The second letter was from headquarters in New York:

Dear Winthrop—We want a good Sunday special. Her serene highness the Princess Hildegarde of Hohenphalia has taken it into her head to disappear again. Go over and see Rockwell in B. He will give you a good yarn. It has never been in type yet, and I dare say that it will make good reading. London seems particularly dull just now, and you can easily turn over your affairs to the assistant. This woman's life is more full of romance than that of any other woman of the courts of Europe. The most interesting part of it is her reputation is said to be like that of Cæsar's wife, above reproach. Get a full history of her life and of the prince whom she is to marry. If you can get any photographs, do so. I know how you dislike this sort of work, prying into private affairs, as you call it, but with all these sensational sheets springing up around us we must keep in line now and then. Do you know anything about Hillars? Is he dead or alive? Take all the time you want for the story and send it by mail.

"The Princess Hildegarde!" I cried aloud. "The deuce take the woman!"

"What's that?" asked my assistant, who had overheard my outburst.

"Oh, I am to go across on a special story," I said, with a snarl, "just as I was fixing for a week's fishing. I've got to concern myself with the Princess Hildegarde of Hohenphalia."

"Ah, the Princess Hildegarde!" said the young fellow, pushing back his hat and elevating his feet, a trick he had acquired while being reared in his native land, which was the state of Illinois, in America. "You want to be careful. Every one burns his fingers or singes his wings around that candle."

"What do you know about her?" I asked.

"A little. You see, about six months ago I discovered all regarding Hillars and his fall from grace. It was through the Reuter agency. Hillars got badly singed. An elopement of some sort between him and the princess was nipped in the bud. He was ordered to leave the country and warned never to return at the peril of his liberty. A description of him is with every post on the frontier. As for the princess, she is an interesting character. She was educated in this country and France. She speaks several languages. She is headstrong and willful, and her royal guardian is only too anxious to see her married and settled down. She masquerades in men's clothes when it pleases her, she can ride a horse like a trooper, she fences and shoots, she has fought two duels, and heaven alone knows what she has not done to disturb the tranquillity of the court. For a man she loved she would be a merry comrade. I saw her once in Paris. She is an extraordinarily beautiful woman. A man takes no end of risk when he concerns himself with her affairs, I can tell you. Hillars—well, I suppose it's none of my business. He must have had an exciting time of it," concluded the young man.

"I'll leave you in charge for a week or so," said I. "What little news there is at the houses you can cover. I'll take care of anything of importance that occurs abroad. I might as well pack up and get out tonight. A boat leaves Dover early in the morning."

Then I picked up the third and last letter. It was from Phyllis. It contained the enjoyable news that the Wentworths were coming abroad and that they would remain indefinitely at B——, where Mr. Wentworth had been appointed charge d'affaires under the American minister. They were to visit the Mediterranean before coming to London. They would be in town in October. The mere thought of seeing Phyllis made my heart throb. The next morning I put out from Dover. It was a rough passage for that time of the year, and I came near being seasick. A day or so in Paris brought me around, and I proceeded. As I passed the frontier I noticed that my passports were eagerly scanned and that I was closely scrutinized for some reason or other.

A smartly dressed officer occupied half of the carriage compartment with me. I tried to draw him into conversation, but he proved to be untalkative; so I buried myself with the latest issue of the Paris L'Illustration. I never glanced in the direction of the officer but what I found him staring intently at me. This irritated me. The incident was repeated so many times that I said:

"I trust herr will remember me in the days to come."

"Eh?" somewhat startled, I thought.

"I observed that you will possibly remember me in the days to come, or perhaps I resemble some one you know."

"Not in the least," was the haughty retort.

I shrugged and relit my pipe. The tobacco I had purchased in Paris, and it was of the customary vileness. Perhaps I could smoke out mein herr. But the task resulted in a boomerang. He drew out a huge china pipe and began smoking tobacco which was even viler than mine, if that could be possible. Soon I let down the window.

"Does the smoke disturb herr?" he asked, puffing forth great clouds of smoke. There was a shade of raillery in his tones.

"It would not," I answered, "if it came from tobacco." He subsided. Whenever there was a stop of any length, I stepped out and walked the platform. The officer invariably followed my example. I pondered over this each time I re-entered the carriage. At last my irritation turned into wrath.

"Are you aware that your actions are very annoying?"

"How, sir?" proudly.

"You stare me out of countenance, you refrain from entering into conversation and by the way you follow me in and out of the carriage one would say that you were watching me. All this is not common politeness."

"Herr jests," he replied with a forced smile. "If I desire not to converse, that is my business. As for getting in and out of the carriage, have I no rights as a passenger?"

It was I who subsided. A minute passed.

"But why do you stare at me?" I asked.

"I do not stare at you. I have no paper and tried to read yours at a distance. I am willing to apologize for that."

"Oh, that is different," I said. I tossed the paper to him. "You are welcome to the paper."

I covertly watched him as he tried to read the French. By and by he passed the paper back.

"I am not a very good French scholar, and the French are tiresome."

"They would not have been if they had had a general who thought more of fighting than of wearing pretty clothes."

"Oh, it would not have mattered," confidently.

"Prussia was once humbled by a Frenchman." I was irritating him with a purpose in view.

"Bah!"

"The only reason the French were beaten was because they did not think the German race worth troubling about."

He laughed pleasantly. "You Americans have a strange idea of the difference between the German and the Frenchman."

This was just what I wanted.

"And who informed you that I was an American?"

He was disconcerted. "Why," he said lamely, "it is easily apparent, the difference between the American and the Englishman." Then, as though a bright idea had come to him: "The English never engage in conversation with strangers while traveling. Americans are more sociable."

"They are? Then I advise them to follow the example set by the Englishman—never try to get up a conversation while traveling with a German. It is a disagreeable task." And I settled back behind my paper.

How had he found out that I was an American? Was I known? And for what reason was I known? To my knowledge I had never committed any offense to the extent that I must be watched like a suspect. What his object was and how he came to know that I was an American were mysteries to me. I was glad that the journey would last but an hour or so longer. The train arrived at the capital late at night. As I went to inquire about my luggage I saw my late fellow passenger joined by another officer. The two began talking earnestly, giving me occasional sidelong glances. The mystery was deepening. In passing them I caught words which sounded like "under another name" and "positive it is he." This was anything but reassuring to me. At length they disappeared, only to meet me outside the station. It got into my head that I was a marked man. A feeling of discomfort took possession of me. Germans are troublesome when they get an idea. I was glad to get into the carriage which was to take me to my hotel. The driver seemed to have some difficulty in starting the horse, but I gave this no attention. When the vehicle did start, it was with a rapidity which alarmed me. Corner after corner was turned, and the lights went by in flashes. It was taking a long time to reach my hotel, I thought. Suddenly it dawned upon me that the direction we were going was contrary to my instructions. I tried to open the window, but it refused to move. Then I hammered on the pane, but the driver was deaf or purposely so.

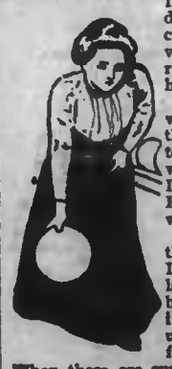
The Fad

Of the modern woman is health by exercise. It's an excellent fad, provided that it is always remembered that exercise cannot cure womanly diseases.



Indeed, where such diseases exist exercise is apt to aggravate the conditions rather than to help it.

The first step toward establishing the general health is to establish the local womanly health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. When these are cured, backache, headache and nervousness are things of the past. The universal testimony of weak and sickly women, cured by "Favorite Prescription," is this: "It has made me feel like a new woman."

"My wife has used three bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicine, and I never saw such results," writes A. B. Haynes, Esq., of Aurora, Lawrence Co., Mo. "It was wonderful in its work. We have used lots of medicine, also had one of the best physicians in Aurora, but my wife got no better; we heard one pitiful groan after another, day and night. A friend handed me a copy of Dr. Pierce's book, the Common Sense Medical Adviser, and after reading the testimonials of Dr. Pierce's successful treatment, and seeing that the cases described were similar to my wife's, I bought for her a bottle of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Before she had taken all of the medicine she was up and helping to do the work. She has taken three bottles and is now about well. Has better health than she has had for years."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Bank was held at the Banking House, Toronto, on Tuesday, June 18th, 1901.

Among those present were:—G. R. R. Cockburn, Donald Mackay, Hon. J. C. Aikins, J. K. Macdonald, R. Grass, Henry Lourdes, A. S. Irving, F. M. Purdy, J. Flett, R. D. Perry, B. Cumberland, R. Mulholland, A. E. Wallace, H. S. Scott, H. J. Wright, F. B. Polson and others.

On motion Mr. George R. R. Cockburn was called to the chair, and Mr. McGill was requested to act as Secretary.

Messrs. J. K. Macdonald and F. M. Purdy were appointed scrutineers.

At the request of the Chairman, the Secretary read the following report:

The Directors beg to present to the Shareholders the 44th Annual Report, for the year ending 31st May, 1901, together with the usual statement of Assets and Liabilities.

Profit and Loss (brought forward from 31st May, 1900)	$ 17,687 27
Premium on New Stock	74,386 25
The net profits, after deducting Charges of Management, interest accrued upon deposits, and making provision for all bad and doubtful Debts, were	140,639 08
	$232,719 60
Which have been appropriated as follows:—
Dividend 2½ paid 1st December, 1900	$ 29,982 46
Dividend 2½ payable 1st June, 1901	33,761 10
Added to Rest	150,000 00
Reserved for Officers' Pension Fund	5,000 00
	$215,723 56
Balance of profits carried forward	$16,996 04

Under the authority given at the last annual meeting to increase the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, an issue was made of 5,000 shares, which were duly allotted to existing shareholders, and as the statement shows, a large proportion has been taken up and paid for.

The directors desire to place on record their regret at the loss sustained by the Bank in the death of their late colleague, Mr. John Hallam.

The Rest Account has been increased to $350,000, and the Profit and Loss now stands at $16,996.04.

A resolution will be proposed to the shareholders, asking them to authorize the payment of $5,000 to a pension fund for the officers of the bank, which is thought advisable to institute.

The Bank Premises and Furniture Account have been reduced by $35,000.

All the offices of the Bank have been inspected during the year.

The business of the Bank continues to show a satisfactory increase.

G. R. R. COCKBURN,
President.

The Anaemic Young Girl.

Perhaps she is sixteen. Suddenly she seems to lose strength, her beauty fails, because her strength fails, her eyes lose their lustre. How her spirit droops! It alarms you, but all this may be corrected quickly. Get her Ferrozone, it is a nerve tonic, it aids the stomach to do its work. Appetite? She'll eat anything, and digest it, too. Ferrozone is an absolute specific for the anaemia of young people. Ask your druggist for it. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

STRIKE STATEMENTS.

Circulars From the Men's Committee and Mr. Shaughnessy.

THEIR VIEWS DON'T COINCIDE.

The Company Claims That the Men All Over the System Are Returning to Work—The Strikers, on the Other Hand, Report 95 Per Cent. of the Men Out—Text of Their Statements.

Montreal, June 21.—"It is about over." Vice-President McNicoll.

"It has only begun." President Wilson.

You pays your money and you takes your choice.

The following message from the President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was received by the maintenance-of-way employes on Wednesday, including those who had quit work:

"I have seen the circular issued by the operating officers to the trackmen this afternoon, and, therefore, feel it a duty to urge the men, many of whom have been in the company's service for several years, to consider the situation carefully before finally abandoning their occupations. The committee had an interview with me, at which I heard and gave the gravest attention to everything advanced in the interest of their fellow workmen.

"Had there been the slightest warrant for concessions beyond those already made by the company's officers, matters would not have been permitted to reach an acute stage. The men charged with the administration of the company's affairs are justified in according to employes the highest pay prevailing on neighboring railways and the greatest consideration in other respects that circumstances will permit. If they go beyond this they are open to the accusation of incompetency or extravagance. The company has no quarrel with the men in the maintenance of way department. There is no desire to show resentment because of what has occurred. On the contrary, it is hoped that, having given the committee all promised support, every man will return to his work promptly, so as to obtain the advantage of the concessions, representing a very large annual sum that the company felt justified in making and to give to the company and its officers the same loyal service and support that have characterized every branch of the service from the beginning.

"In dealing with your committee, the company was not governed by petty or technical considerations. From the time that the discussion commenced the only question was as to what could properly be done in the direction of meeting you, and as soon as this was determined, it was put into effect immediately.

"The moderation and good sense that you have displayed on nearly every section of the system since the trouble commenced yesterday morning bear testimony to your worth as employes, and make the company the more anxious to retain your services, if at all possible.

"Apart from every official consideration, I would be sincerely sorry if any of our old employes should leave us to accept other service without the certainty of improving their positions.

"(Signed) T. G. Shaughnessy."

Circular Issued by the Committee.

The following statement was issued early yesterday afternoon by the committee in the form of a circular letter to the Brotherhood Headquarters Joint Protective Board, Maintenance-of-way Employes, Canadian Pacific Railway, Grand Union Hotel, Montreal, June 20, 1901:

Dear Sir and Brother,—Reports received up to date indicate that at least 95 per cent. of the maintenance-of-way men on the Canadian Pacific Railway system have responded work. The company is sending out circular letters and also [illegible] agents over the road, trying to induce the men to resume work. They claim to have made liberal offers to the committee, which is not the case. The company positively refused to enter into any agreement with your committee. The so-called liberal increase in wages and rules were not even presented to your committee for approval by the company until after they had been distributed by officials, who told the men in many cases that your committee had gone home. You sent us to Montreal to secure an agreement, setting forth the terms and conditions of your employment, and we are going to remain here until you compel the company to treat us with as much consideration as it treats all other classes of its employes. In undertaking to place ourselves upon an equality with other classes of railway employes, we are doing right. Stand firm. Be true to your own interests, then the members of other organizations, the officials of the C.P.R. Co. and the public will respect us, but if you heed the advice of the officials and well-paid agents sent along the line to try and persuade you to return to work, they will say in the future, what has been said in the past, "Trackmen are a set of fools and have not got sand enough to quit work and stay out until they are recognized and dealt with in the same manner as other classes of railway employes."

The officials are trying to sustain themselves in the position taken, by stating to the public that they are paying trackmen more wages than are being paid by other roads in Canada. We admit that they are. They also pay the C.P.R. officials and other classes of employes more than is paid on other roads. Italians receive more wages than Chinamen, but neither are making progress. We must go forward and not backward. We are Canadians and Americans, and do not propose to adopt a lower standard of living. The maintenance-of-way men are not receiving a just share of the wealth created on any of the roads. Our craft is being wronged by all companies. The injustice differs only in degrees. On account of the rise in prices, other employers have increased the wages of employes. The purchasing power of our wage has decreased 20 per cent. in the last two years. The company is making money; times are prosperous. We should not be compelled to stint our families and reduce our standard of living one-fifth because times are prosperous. Explain these matters to your friends, and if necessary, the good people of Canada will help us in our struggle. Stand firm and we will win, because our position is right, and right should prevail.

Yours in B. L. and U. (signed) Joseph Lennon, chairman; A. F. Stout, secretary.

IN TORONTO.

The Strikers Say They Ignored C. P. R. President's Circular.

Toronto, June 21.—The circular sent out by President Shaughnessy of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the striking trackmen, calling on them to carefully consider the situation "before fully abandoning their occupations," reached the local strikers yesterday morning. It had little effect on the men in Toronto, according to what they say. Chairman Williamson, of the Strike Committee, when asked as to how the circular was received by the men, said: "We simply paid no attention to it. We gave it no thought whatever."

None of the strikers in Toronto have as yet returned to work. Yesterday it was reported that an additional man on the Esplanade had quit work, leaving only three left in this gang. It was also given out that six men and a foreman had gone out in Parkdale. In Toronto there are now about 50 trackmen on strike. A number of the local strikers have obtained employment elsewhere, several securing work at $1.50 per day, and one man was engaged at 16 cents per hour.

President Wilson, before leaving Toronto, told the men that if any financial assistance was required, it would be forthcoming. The men claim to have sufficient funds on hand to continue the strike for six months.

What Mr. Timmerman Says.

General Superintendent Timmerman of the Ontario division of the C. P. R., yesterday declared that he had received reports that went to show that on the western division of the system, the strike was practically over. On the Owen Sound branch he said fully one-half of the men had returned while east of Toronto there was little change in the situation. Mr. Timmerman was in receipt of several telegrams from Vice-President McNicoll, stating that not 10 per cent. of the men on the western division had gone out. The general superintendent said that there were many applications received for employment, and that the strikers' places were being filled.

Company's Latest Statement.

Montreal, June 21.—Mr. McNicoll, Vice-President and General Manager of the C. P. R., stated last night that reports are still coming to hand from various points along the line, showing that the men are returning, and that no difficulty whatever has been experienced in the working of the traffic. The company feel confident that the strike cannot last many more days, for the reason that the men have failed to secure the sympathy of the public.

Signs of a Break.

Calgary, N. W. T., June 21.—The striking C. P. R. sectionmen here have sent a message to the Grievance Committee at Montreal to accept company's terms. The feeling is that the company has acted fairly with the men, and that an opportunity should now be given to let the advances and new conditions conceded by the company become effective.

Men Confident of Victory.

Orangeville, Ont., June 21.—A largely attended meeting of the striking trackmen, employed on the T., G. and B. division of the C. P. R., was held here yesterday. Rattling addresses were delivered by many of the strikers, and they all expressed themselves as being confident of success. The men are determined to stay out until a victory is won. They say that they look forward to an early settlement by the C. P. R. The men claim that only four foremen and two men are working between Toronto and Owen Sound.

The Dunkin Act Repealed.

Richmond, Que., June 21.—After one of the hottest contests ever fought in Richmond County, the Dunkin Act was repealed yesterday by a majority of 250. Meetings have been held every night for the past two weeks, and both local and outside speakers were employed. There have been immense audiences at all the meetings, and both sides of the story have been strongly presented.

THIRD DRAGOONS IN CAMP.

The Examiner's War Correspondent Writes.

The First Day is a Very wet one—The Regiment was Delayed in Arriving by a Slight Accident to the Engine.

Barrieficld Commons,
Kingston, June 19th.

Once more Kingston is invaded with volunteer soldiers and for the next two weeks the regiments that go to make up the 4th, 5th and 16th Brigade, will be undergoing their annual two weeks training. The Dragoons are in the 4th Brigade and arrived here with a clean bill of health. On Tuesday morning "C" Squadron left Peterborough at about 8.30 a.m., and "B" Squadron was picked up at Millbrook. The run to Colborne was made without incident and while at that place an accident occurred which delayed the train for almost three hours. The engine, which by the way was of the Mogul family, was backing up on a siding in order to couple onto the horse cars and baggage cars of the Colbourne Squadron, when the rails spread and the wheels of the big iron monster sank a foot or more into the road bed. The Dragoons at once saw what they were up against and determined to put in the time as best they could. Another engine was despatched from Belleville, but it was fully three hours before the regiment was started on its road again. The intervening time was spent by the men in loitering round the station or strolling through the village, whilst those who were blessed with more forethought returned to the coaches in anticipation of the night's work ahead of them, and enjoyed, or rather appeared to enjoy, a short sleep.

At Trenton "D" Squadron, from Wellington, Prince Edward County, Was taken on. This squadron, which is in command of Captain MacDonald, invariably went to Kingston from Picton, by Steamer Hero. This necessitated a ten mile ride from the squadron's headquarters. It is said that "D" Squadron did not like this arrangement, and would from the first preferred to have gone by rail, but the transport papers were made out by Steamer Hero as of old, and up until a few days ago it looked as if they would be conveyed in the aforesaid manner. However, Providence intervened. The Old Hero was struck by lightning and was burned to the water's edge at Belleville so that the result was the squadron was transported by the Central Ontario Railway to Trenton, where they joined the other three squadrons as above stated.

The remainder of the journey to Kingston was made without anything of a startling nature to record. The usual long waits, and the average dragoon, apparently unnecessary long waits, were made at Belleville and Napanee and it was just six o'clock when the men reached the station of the Lime Stone City. It was raining, not very heavily just then, but from all appearances, and from the statement of the Kingston people, who are considered generally truthful, it had been raining very heavily all day. In a slight rain then the work of unloading the horses and baggage was commenced, although it was eight o'clock in the evening before the four squadrons reached the camp ground.

The camp of the 3rd Dragoons and 4th Hussars is situated in the same place exactly as last year, just over Cataroqui bridge, and is therefore handy for the boys if they wish to visit the city. And who is there that goes to camp at Kingston without paying his respects to the city, even if he is "guyed" by the small boy or smiled at sarcastically by the professional soldier, if the visitor happens to be a raw recruit?

When the regiment arrived in camp they found ready to receive them Lieut.-Colonel H. C. Rogers, who is Brigadier of the Cavalry Brigade, and Captain J. W. Garvin, Quarter-Master of the Dragoons. To the latter officer the thanks of the regiment were extended for the excellent state everything was in. Capt. Garvin, and his sergeant, Jack Watt, were on the grounds on Monday morning with two orderlies, and had the camp pitched, a piece of work that was highly appreciated. It was late—very late—when the men turned in for the night after a day so wearisome, that the bravest trooper was tired and hungry, and glad to be wrapped in his blankets, soon to be overcome by sleep.

INCIDENTS OF THE SECOND DAY.

Morning broke, and the sky was cloudy, but the sun afterwards came out, and to all appearance the day was going to be fine. However, at about 10 o'clock the rain commenced to fall again, and the first day under canvas has been a decidedly wet and unpleasant one. But it is a pretty bad day that interferes with the routine of military camp life, and notwithstanding the downpour the men were mustered, answered to their names and underwent medical examination. This was carried out with every degree of satisfaction.

The squadrons are pretty well filled up, although there are a few commissions vacant. Quite a shuffle of the officers is anticipated in the course of a few days. Capt. Johnston, of "C" Squadron, is acting adjutant, and as Lieut. W. H. Bradburn has not arrived in camp yet, and as Lieut. Tate does not intend turning out this season, the squadron is slightly weakened in this respect. Lt. George Hall is on hand, however, and Lieut. W. T. Hall, of "B" Squadron, is transferred to "C" Squadron for the camp. Lieut. Bradburn is expected on Thursday.

The Cavalry Brigade is exceedingly well off for drill instruction this year there being no fewer than five from the R.C.D., Toronto. One of these acts as Brigade Sergt.-Major, and the remaining four are divided, two each to the Dragoons and Hussars.

Trumpeter Fred Hubbs is with his squadron again. He came down from Toronto to take in the camp.

There are four South African veterans in the camp of the Dragoons. They are Lieut. Hayward, Sgt. Percy Price of Peterborough, Sgt.-Major Brown of Colborne, and Corp. Medical Orderly "Chili" Turner. The benefit of their experience in South Africa will no doubt be highly appreciated. The meeting of Sergt. Price and Sergt.-Major was, to say the least, most affectionate. They were through a number of engagements together and slept side by side many a night.

Sergt. Rush wishes to have his friends at home know that he is well and enjoying himself as usual. He is not administering drugs to sick animals this year, an occupation he attained to perfection at last camp, but he has assumed the duties of Orderly Room Clerk, and is filling the bill to the satisfaction of all.

Sergt. Rush is wearing a broad smile to-day as a result of a presentation that was made to him. The presentation was as informal as it was pre-arranged; when passing the tent of Col. Rogers' the Orderly Room Clerk was noticed to be wearing a cap not in keeping with the dignity of his office. "I want you to set the remainder of the staff sergeants an example, Sergeant Rush," said Col. Rogers; "take this cap," and at the same time the sergeant donned a neat little service cap, acknowledging the honour with a salute, a bow, a smile, and many other expressions of gratitude that were too numerous to mention.

The annual at home which is given in front of Vet.-Lieut. Poole's tent, is expected to take place on Monday night of next week. This is one of the biggest social events of the season, and is eagerly looked forward to. It is an occasion when one has the privilege of learning of the excellent concert talent the Dragoons have in camp, and at the same time of accepting of the hospitality of the regiment's most popular young officers.

ANOTHER ROUTE FOR CANAL.

Port Hope's Pet Scheme not in It With This Dream.

Whitby Chronicle: The County Council has taken steps to memorialize the Dominion Government in favour of resuming or taking over the Whitby harbour as a harbour of refuge, and of building the waterway known as the old Georgian Bay Canal projected by the county in 1863. In that year a survey was made of the proposed route of the canal by T. C. Keefer, C. E., who made an exhaustive report to the County Council of the results of his survey, and recommended that the canal be constructed to connect the Georgian Bay with Lake Simcoe, Lake Simcoe with Lake Scugog, and Scugog with Lake Ontario at Whitby harbour. The proposition is to deepen the canal to 14 feet and thus shorten the distance between Port Arthur, Duluth, Chicago and the sea by at least 250 miles, and the time taken up in the voyage by two or three days. The matter is being promoted actively by the Whitby Board of Trade, of which John Ball Dow is the energetic president.

A COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER'S STORY

Interview With Mr. J. H. Ireland one of the Old Time Knights of the Grip.

His Plight on a Recent Occasion in the Maritime Provinces—How Dodd's Kidney Pills Came to His Help—High Words of Praise for That Remedy

Toronto, June 19, (Special).—Mr. J. H. Ireland, the well-known traveller for hats and caps, left for the Maritime Provinces one day last week. Handily packed in Mr. Ireland's private grip was a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the medicine famous throughout Canada as a specific for all troubles of the kidneys. When asked about his experience with this remedy Mr. Ireland grew quite enthusiastic.

"I never go out on a trip of any length without a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills," he asserted.

"Are you afflicted with Kidney Trouble a great deal then," Mr. Ireland was asked.

"Not a great deal now, no," replied Mr. Ireland, "I take Dodd's Kidney Pills more as a preventative than anything else. But in the winter of ninety-eight I was, I can tell you, I was down in Nova Scotia when I first used Dodd's Kidney Pills. I don't know whether it was the water down there, the climate, riding so much in the train or what, but certainly my kidneys were on the point of a complete break down. Backache! it was one continual misery. It spoiled my business, broke my rest and wore me down until the life was taken right out of me."

"And you used Dodd's Kidney Pills?"

"I used the only remedy I knew of that was a specific for the kidneys," answered Mr. Ireland. "The first dose of Dodd's Kidney Pills seemed to go right to the spot. In a few days I was feeling as well as ever I did in my life. They are splendid medicine. I have recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to scores of men on the road like myself and none of them but have the warmest praise for the medicine, being just exactly what we need in our walk of life, a safe reliable strengthening stimulant for the kidneys."

When the Duke Comes.

CIGARETTE SUICIDE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir, — In view of the unnatural practice of cigarette smoking indulged in by the youth of our town, I ask you to kindly publish the following article in "Good Health," an American journal, in the hope that it may in some way illustrate the baneful effects of this habit, and prevent the moral deterioration that is taking place in the victims of this evil.

Yours, etc.,
Reader.

"Some years ago, when a medical student in New York City, I saw a cruel experiment performed on a cat which had been making the night hideous with its midnight concerts, and which was considered by one of the students to have outlived its usefulness. It was decided that its life should be sacrificed on the altar of science. It was properly secured and practically the quantity of tobacco which is necessary to make a cigarette was allowed to soak for a for a few minutes in several teaspoonsful of water, and then a portion of this was injected under the cat's skin. In less than fifteen minutes this cat, endowed as it was with the proverbial nine lives, succumbed after several severe convulsions.

"In our large cities boys who are scarcely old enough to put on their own clothes, can be seen seated on the curbstones repeating this experiment upon themselves by vigorously puffing away at cigarettes which contain this pernicious weed. In many cases, beyond the shadow of a doubt, they are also dosing themselves with other narcotic drugs, which are added to the cigarettes for the purpose of creating a still greater necessity for the continuation of their use. By smoking cigarettes, these children are virtually sending in advance applications for entrance into institutions for the feeble-minded, or for a berth in the reform school, or possibly for a resting place in the cemetery.

"Educators have particularly noted that few cigarette-smoking boys ever reach the high school. Their brain energy has been so thoroughly wasted by this pernicious habit that they have to drop out by the way, as they do not have sufficient mental capacity to pass the entrance examination in advanced work.

"A boy was recently arraigned before the court charged with circulating obscene literature. His attorney pleaded for a dismissal of the case on the ground that he was a cigarette fiend, and consequently did not possess sufficient moral discrimination to recognize the heinousness of the crime of which he was accused. The case only illustrates in an exaggerated form the moral deterioration that is taking place, possibly to a less extent, but none the less surely in every boy who has acquired this unnatural habit."

RICH AND HEAVY FOODS VERSUS MALT BREAKFAST FOOD.

It is unwise to fill the stomach with rich and heavy food which takes all the energy of the body for its proper digestion. Malt Breakfast Food furnishes the greatest amount of nutriment and energy for each day's work, and does not exhaust existing energy. For summer breakfast, there is nothing equal to Malt Breakfast Food. Your grocer sells it.

GEN. FRENCH'S CAPTURE.

Botha, According to Mrs. Botha, Released Him on Parole, Which He Broke—

Saved by Kitchener's Pleadings.

Chicago, June 21.—The Record-Herald's correspondent from Berlin says: The Rheinische Westphalische Zeitung, published at Essen, says it has the authority of Mrs. Botha for the statement that Gen. French was captured by the Boers some time ago and released on parole.

"The unscrupulous British general," the paper adds, "regardless of his pledge of honor, broke his parole and escaped. He did not, however, profit by his faithlessness, for before he had gone within touch of the British lines, the keen burghers caught up with him, recaptured him, and brought him back to General Botha."

General Botha, continues the story, ordered the British cavalry leader to be shot, and the sentence was about to be carried out, when a message came in hot haste from the British commander-in-chief, Lord Kitchener, imploring the Boer general to delay the execution, and offering to release 1,000 Boers from the prison camp at Simonstown to secure General French's release.

On these conditions, the story concludes, the British general was set at liberty.

For a considerable period nothing was heard of General French, who had been so active in the early part of the operations in South Africa. Reports of his capture by the Boers have been rife in some quarters, as though credence was to be given them. Recently, however, it was announced that the British cavalry leader had been prostrated by a severe attack of fever, and had been recuperating at Durban. Within the last two weeks, he has been sent to take charge of the operations in Cape Colony against the invading Boer commandoes under Kritzinger and Fouche.

Canadian Scouts En Route.

Montreal, June 21.—A Star special cable from London says:

The following Canadian scouts left the Cape for England by the steamship Roslin Castle, on the 6th inst., viz.: Lieuts. Ryan, Thompson and Callaghan, Surgeon Ross and 70 men. They are due at Southampton on July 4.

Surgeon McDonald of the Canadian Scouts has left Cape Town for England on the steamship Roslyn Castle.

THE LISGAR TRIAL.

Mayor Williams of Carman Admits Hiring Teams.

HE ALSO PAID A SCRUTINEER.

He Hired All the Teams That Could Be Got—Paid Money to Others to Obtain Half-Breed Votes—Railway Tickets Distributed—Drew on Mr. Richardson for Money.

Winnipeg, June 21.—At the Lisgar election trial yesterday a number of witnesses swore they had worked for Mr. Richardson's election at the direction of Mayor Frank Williams of Carman.

John Grant received $10 for scrutineering at a half-breed poll. The witness said he was too busy to act without pay, and he got it.

Three livery stable keepers of Carman testified that their teams were all out, hired to work for Mayor Williams.

The examination of Mayor Frank Williams was resumed by Mr. Howell yesterday afternoon. Witness said: "I gave $12 to Walter Blanchard, himself a voter, to obtain half-breed votes. I gave $10 to Miles McKerlie. The whole of that $75 was paid out by me for election purposes, and more. I contracted a number of accounts for teams. I hired all the teams I could. I had telegrams regarding hiring teams. Mr. Edwards hired the balance of the teams by my authority. I said at the meeting held just before the election that I would guarantee payment for any teams. Almost every team around was hired. Mr. Edwards reported to me that he had hired a number of teams. Mr. James Brown was to scrutineer Bates' polling station, and hire teams if necessary. I got an account from him of $29. The day after election I left for Winnipeg to serve as a juryman. Mr. Carthew sent in the accounts to me at the Seymour House. I gave Grant $10 to scrutineer out at McDermott, because we realized that would be the hardest place to fight."

A number of letters written by Mr. Moncrieff, an employe of Mr. Richardson in his newspaper office, were produced, which had enclosed N. P. tickets for distribution.

Q.—What did Moncrieff promise to pay you in Carman? A.—He promised to pay all expenses in connection with his election in Carman.

Q.—And did you tell him about the expenses? A.—I told him he would have to pay team hire and other things, because the people would not do it voluntarily. Witness continued: I told Moncrieff when I was in Winnipeg that we would want every team we could lay our hands on. A list of the floating vote was made up, that is, people who had left Carman and had votes here whom we desired to bring in. The list we sent to a party in Winnipeg.

Mr. Ewart, defendant's lawyer—Did you tell Mr. Richardson there would be no expenses in connection with Carman, although there might be some expense in getting the outside vote? A.—I don't think so.

Q.—Will you swear? A.—No. The reason I drew on Richardson was that the members of the committee were asking for money. I don't think anybody requested me to draw on him.

Q.—In your letter what did you say? That money was required? A.—Ordinary expense, I imagine.

Q.—Well, you said contingent expenses. Why did you say that? A.—To cover things up some. I did not want to put anything on paper that would lay me open to prosecution.

Re-examined by Mr. Howell, witness stated the reason he wanted Sexsmith to see Richardson was that George Sexsmith wanted money.

Q.—That northern vote is not influenced by speeches? A.—No.

Q.—Then the reason you were sent was a monetary reason? A.—Certainly; we were afraid of the French vote.

The court adjourned at 5.15 until 10 o'clock to-day. Mr. Howell expecting the witness on the Carman case by the morning train, which is due at 9.40. The court will then likely return to Winnipeg and sit at another point to be decided upon at an early date.

The Deaf Made to Hear.

St. Thomas—A modern miracle was made known to-day when Mr. Riddle, of this city, announced that he had recovered his hearing. He has been almost entirely deaf, and it borders on the marvellous to find him able to hear everything with great distinctness. As his case is proving of such universal interest, we give Mr. Riddle's own statement. "My hearing was always poor, and not long ago I became almost deaf. It was the result of catarrhal inflammation, but nothing did me good until I used Catarrhozone. It cured my trouble and I strongly recommend it to the deaf." Fully nine-tenths of the deafness is the result of Catarrh and can be cured by catarrhozone. The cures of deafness wrought by this remedy in cases of even twenty years standing are really astounding. Among many others, ministers of the gospel testify to the wonderful powers of Catarrhozone, and your druggist can tell of some astonishing cases in his own experience. Better give it a trial, if your hearing is impaired. Price $1; small size 25 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

A Loyal Address to His Majesty the King Adopted.

NOT A COLONY BUT A DOMINION.

So Said Principal Grant of Canada—Three New Presbyteries Formed in the Northwest, to Be Known as Regina, Qu'Appelle and Prince Albert—The Close of the Convention.

Ottawa, June 21.—Many of the delegates to the Presbyterian General Assembly have gone home, and the attendance yesterday was much diminished.

A loyal address to His Majesty the King was adopted.

Canada Is a Dominion.

A loyal address to the Governor-General was also proposed. Principal Grant moved to substitute the word "Dominion" for the word "Colony" in the address. "We are no longer a colony, but a Dominion," he observed. With this change the address was adopted.

An overture from the Presbytery of Portage la Prairie, asking for the creation of a new Presbytery out of the northwestern part of the area under its control, to be known as the Presbytery of Dauphin, was granted, and Rev. R. G. Scott was appointed the first moderator.

An overture from the Presbytery of Regina, asking for the area under its control, amounting to 40,000 square miles, to be divided into three Presbyteries, was granted. The three Presbyteries will be known as Regina, Qu'Appelle and Prince Albert, respectively. Rev. Hugh McKay will be the first moderator of Qu'Appelle, and Rev. W. S. Moore first moderator of Prince Albert. It was stated that the northern boundary of Prince Albert was not defined, but would extend indefinitely to the waters of the Arctic Ocean.

Rev. Dr. Torrance presented the report of the Committee on Statistics and exhaustively explained the changes adopted in the collection, compilation and tabulation of returns.

Principal Grant moved the reception of the report and the adoption of the recommendations which it contained. His remarks were in the nature of a criticism of the statistics as being incomplete.

President Forrest seconded the adoption of the report. While admitting the admirable work performed by Dr. Torrance, he said some action must be taken to get correct returns. In some parts of the report they were simply chaotic, and nothing could be made out of them.

The report was adopted with an expression of thanks to Dr. Torrance for his arduous labors.

The Assembly Is Over.

The General Assembly last night ended its first meeting of the century. The Moderator, Rev. Dr. Warden, said it was the most largely-attended and busiest General Assembly ever held by the church.

Dr. MacKay's Death.

The Assembly adopted a resolution expressing the church's sense of loss in the death of Dr. George L. MacKay of Formosa; sympathy was expressed with Mrs. MacKay and the church in Formosa.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N.Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Jas. Lynch. R. NEILL, George street.

Very Stylish, These

Ladies' Vici Kid Shoes. Polished, Graceful shape, light, easy and flexible, a very stylish shoe and exactly the thing for summer wear. Two qualities, with a difference of only 15c. in the prices, viz. $1.35 and $1.50.

R. NEILL, George street.

Neat things in Slippers

Ladies' Dongola Kid Slippers. Two strap, very dressy and the neatest thing we have. It holds its place as a charming article for ladies' foot-wear. Its lightness commends it, and the comfort of wearing a cool and yet graceful foot covering makes the slipper popular. The sole is turned—that is the sole is made on the slipper inside out and afterwards turned. Thus the sole is securely fastened and in the best possible way. Slippers in single strap. No difference in the price which is $1.50

R. NEILL, George street.

In Patent Leather

This stylish material has a place all its own. The gloss, polish, perfect surface, are highly admired. The outlines of the foot gain an additional grace when set off by a handsome Patent Leather Slipper. Very dressy, will keep polished, a desirable feature. The price $1.35

R. NEILL, George street.

The Buskin

A Shoe with a Purpose

The purpose that it may, when on the foot, closely clasp the instep and yet allow every freedom to the joints of the foot. It's a twin of the slipper, but has, inserted in the instep, a yoke of elastic. The proper thing for home wear. Nice broad heel and fairly narrow toe. In Dongola kid. The price only $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

"Please keep off the Grass"

Is the injunction unless the tennis player wears a tennis shoe. The proper shoe affords an added facility to the movements in playing. Rubber soles, canvas tops, blue in colour. Only . . . . . 50c.

R. NEILL, George street.

Genuine Comfort Slipper

These are superb. The nicest thing for summer wear where genuine comfort is desired. Not the appearance of comfort—but the real thing. A strap slipper with the Comfort sole and heel. That means something reliable to carry the weight of the body distributed over the sole of the slipper in a common sense way. A perfect foot covering for comfort. We can't emphasize that point too strongly. The toe is a trifle broad—not too broad for comfort, and yet held in that the outline of the foot may be graceful and shapely. The price smacks of comfort for the purse, and is only . . $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

The Game of Bowls

Good old English sport. Has the verdict of antiquity in its favour. It is the village sport, par excellence of England. Even cricket does not excel bowls in popular favour. We've the proper shoe, If you haven't it you won't be allowed to play. Better get a pair of the right sort. Rubber soles, heels, canvas top. High or low. Low cut, 55c. per pair. INSPECTED BRIDGES.

The County Council and Town Council Took a Trip Through the County Yesterday.

Warden Fitzgerald and the members of the County Council yesterday made a tour of inspection through the north country for the purpose of examining several of the bridges, including the new structure which is to span Chemong Lake. Invitations to join in the trip were extended to His Worship Mayor Denne, and the members of the Town Council, as well as the town and county officials.

The party was conveyed to Chemong by busses in the morning, and boarded the Trent Valley Navigation Co's steamer, "Manita," at that point where they were joined by Mr. Crough, Reeve of Ennismore. A splendid dinner was partaken of at Buckhorn, with genial Tom Eastwood as host, and afterwards a visit was incidentally made to the new cheese factory at that place. The factory is being given splendid patronage as evidenced by the fact that two vats, equal in six to three of those possessed by other factories, are not found sufficient for the purpose of receiving the milk, and another one will have to be constructed in the spring. Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald has received a report from Hodgson Bros., Montreal, on the quality of the cheese turned out at Buckhorn factory, and it is pleasing to be able to announce that the make is declared "A. 1. finest."

From Buckhorn the steamer was headed for Gannon's Narrows, in order that the ferry might be inspected and a valuation placed on a lodge for Caretaker Nicholls. Everything was found satisfactory at this point, and then a start was made for Bridgenorth, where, upon arrival, the approaches to the new bridge on both the Ennismore and Smith shores were examined, as well as the piers which are under construction. Anchor buoys mark the course the bridge will take in crossing the lake, and fine progress has been made during the winter by the contractors who are constructing the approaches. Very little now remains to be done before the work of constructing the floating portion will begin. The old structure was found to be in a very dilapidated condition with some places positively dangerous, where the planking is narrow and the railing down. Mr. Smith Kelly accompanied the party across the bridge in the tour of inspection, and as his attention was drawn to the bad spots doubtless they will be speedily repaired. Only a day or two ago a resident of Ennismore got into trouble through one of the rear wheels of his wagon slipping off the bridge, when he was crossing with a load of hay. The horses had to be speedily unhitched or the dead weight remaining stationary on the bridge would have sunk it to a considerable depth under water. With the aid of chains the wagon was finally righted.

After concluding the inspection the party repaired to the Chemong Park Hotel, where supper was served before departure for home.

The day proved to be a most delightful one on the lakes, as although light showers of rain fell in the morning they were no inconvenience and in the afternoon the sun came out strong and made it very pleasant.

FATHER KEILTY'S PICNIC.

It was Held Yesterday and Proved a Success in Every Particular.

There have been many successful picnics held in the township of Douro, but the picnic held by the parishioners of St. Joseph's church in O'Brien's Grove yesterday, eclipsed all previous records in this respect.

Although the downpour of rain in the morning threatened to mar the success of this annual gathering to a certain extent, still it did not deter the good people of Douro from gathering on the grounds early in the morning, and when the sun came out at noon and brightened all things in general, the success of the picnic was an assured fact.

The road from Peterborough to the picnic grounds was alive all day with carriages from town filled with many picnicers bent on having a day's recreation, which is always had at a picnic in Douro.

The popular parish priest, Rev. Father Keilty, was on the grounds all day, and did everything in his power to make the day an enjoyable one for those who attended the picnic. The meals served by the ladies of the parish are worthy of special mention, and they well deserve the reputation they have achieved for furnishing an excellent spread.

The dancing platform, it is needless to say, was occupied all day by the light-hearted lads and lasses, who tripped the light fantastic till evening.

The programme of sports provided was an excellent one, and every event was keenly contested.

The following clergymen graced the picnic with their presence: Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rev. Fathers D. O'Connell, Fitzpatrick and Scanlan.

During the afternoon the picnicers gathered around the platform erected for speech making, and of course everyone was anxious to hear Hon. F. R. Latchford, the popular Minister of Public Works.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey acted as chairman, and introduced the different speakers. The address of Hon. Mr. Latchford was a happy one. He referred to the pleasure it gave him to have an opportunity of mingling with the good people of Douro, whom he congratulated on possessing such a beautiful edifice as St. Joseph's church. He was pleased to observe the signs of prosperity which existed on every side and congratulated them on the outlook for a bountiful harvest. His speech was replete with many witty anecdotes, and the speaker was loudly applauded as he resumed his seat.

Short speeches were also delivered by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Messrs. R. R. Hall, F. D. Kerr, J. J. Crowe, license inspector, John Lang, M.P., and Mr. Wm. Anderson, the Liberal nominee for the Provincial Legislature.

THE Y. M. C. A. ANNIVERSARY

A Highly Successful "At Home" Held Last Evening.

It was Conducted by the Ladies' Auxiliary—An Excellent Musical Programme—Rev. Dr. Symonds' Remarks.

Last evening the Y.M.C.A. celebrated the fourth anniversary of the opening of their new building, and the affair proved one of the most successful of the many enjoyable affairs held by this organization. The past four years have been the brightest in the history of the local Y.M.C.A., and the good that the institution has accomplished during that period speaks for itself.

The entertainment took the form of an "at home," and was conducted by that excellent organization, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. The building was beautifully decorated with flags, bunting, and plants, and the main association hall, together with adjoining apartments, were literally packed by the many friends of the institution.

At the head of the main stairs were stationed a number of ladies who did a thriving business in selling bouquets, while in an adjoining room ice cream and refreshments were served.

Mr. Richard Hall was chairman of the evening, and the programme presented was one of the choicest ever given in the building.

It opened with a brilliantly performed instrumental duet by the Misses Stephens and Fairweather, which was followed by an address by the chairman of the evening, Mr. Richard Hall, in which he referred to the grand work being done by the Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough. A sweetly sung solo by Mrs. A. G. Parker earned for her a recall to which she gracefully responded. Mr. Jos. Halpany, who is always a favourite with a Peterborough audience, delighted the gathering with a clever recitation, and of course he was called back again; in the second part of the programme he made a decided hit in his song, "Strike up the Band," and for an encore number he gave "I Love Her, 'Deed I Do."

Rev. Dr. Symonds- address on the "Golden Era of the Y.M.C.A.," proved to be an intellectual treat, the reverend gentleman handling his subject in a scholarly manner.

Mrs. A. G. Parker in the second part of the programme, contributed two delightful vocal numbers, and Miss MacDougall of Toronto, in her instrumental number showed herself to be a finished pianiste. The excellent musical programme was brought to a close by the singing of "God Save the King."

The Y.M.C.A. is to be congratulated on the work it has accomplished during its four years' occupancy of its new building. Previous to the erection of that handsome structure the history of the Y.M.C.A. was a varied one in many particulars, but to-day progress seems to be the watchword, and a most successful future is in store for this commendable organization. A great deal of the credit for this excellent state of affairs is due to the gentleman who so efficiently acted as chairman last evening, Mr. Richard Hall. It is a well known fact that it was at his instance that the late Mrs. Nicholls decided upon the erection of a home for the young men of the town, and it stands to-day as a monument to his zeal and the deep interest he has manifested in Y.M.C.A. work.

FORESTERS FRATERNIZE.

Members of the Local Courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters Entertain Toronto Brethren.

The special meeting of the local courts of Foresters' which was held last night in Court Peterborough's Hall, in honor of the visitors, was well attended. The principal object of the meeting was to afford the Toronto visitors an opportunity of witnessing a realistic exemplification of the beautiful initiation ceremony by the expert degree team of Court Peterborough, and also to spend a friendly fraternal hour or two in fraternizing in the refreshment room. Some forty or fifty of the visiting brethern remained over to participate in the pleasures of the evening; and together with good representation of the local brethern present from each of the three courts in town, the meeting was unusually large and influential.

The officers of Court Peterborough filled their respective chairs with efficency.

The D. D. H. C. R., Bro. Walter Hooper, who had charge of the special arrangements, committed the gavel to Bro. G. Stenton, who welcomed the visitors to their Forest home, and expressed the hope that the entertainment which had been provided, would prove to be one of profit as well as pleasure. Several of the Toronto brethern were then called upon to address the meeting, each being enthusiastically cheered.

The candidate for initiation, having been announced, the C. R. gave instructions to the degree team to retire and prepare for the ceremony. The exemplification of the degree was highly creditable. The excellent discipline of the team was evidenced by the promptness and regularity of their every movement, as well as in the perfect memorizing of the elaborate work of the ritual. The handsome regalia of the officers of the team, and the glitter of their armour, and their knightly bearing, gave a dramatic effect to the ceremony, which strongly impressed the members. It was a revelation to the Toronto visitors, who paid the closest attention to the proceedings.

At the close of the interesting ceremonies, the brethern were invited to partake of the hospitality of Court Peterborough, in their commodious refreshment room adjoining. Previous to doing so, however, several of the Toronto visitors, desirious of expressing their pleasure with what they had witnessed, took occasion to speak strong words of comendation of the team, and of their skill. The statement was freely made that, while one or two of the Toronto courts put on the degree work in a creditable manner, what they had just witnessed in Peterborough Court was far ahead of anything they had ever seen.

When the brethern had retired to the refreshment room, rows of tables were found, bountifully spread with a substantial lunch, which was heartily enjoyed by all; after which the pleasant gathering spent a jolly time in speech-making and songs. The chair was occupied by Bro. F. J. Jamieson, P. H. C. R., who expressed the pleasure it afforded him of meeting so many of his Toronto friends, as well as his local brethern. He would give them all the latitude they wanted to enjoy themselves for an hour, and hoped they would go away with kind recollections of their fraternal greetings.

Speeches were made by Bro. W. D. Earngy and Bro. Senn, of Toronto, chairman and secretary respectively of the excursion committee; by Bro. W. J. Cameron, P. H. C. R., Toronto; Bro. Chas. Stanley and Bro. W. L. Armitage, of town, and Bro. R. Begley. Bro. C. Ellis and D. Mann favored the gathering with spirited songs. Complimentary votes of thanks were then passed and one of the pleasantest Foresitic meetings ever held in Peterborough was brought to a close.

IS HE THE BURGLAR?

An Individual Who Visited the North End Last Night.

A man answering the description given by Mrs. Con Wall of the burglar who brutally assaulted her Wednesday, terorized the residents in the vicinity of Smith street north last evening about 11.30, rousing them from their slumbers and demanding something to eat. The same fellow it is said, visited that quarter the evening previous and insisted on getting a "hand out" from those whom he solicited.

The police were notified of the affair last evening, but the stranger decamped in the vicinity of the Barnardo Home.

MR. STRATTON IN MILLBROOK

Claims of the Ross Government to Popular Support.

ASSESSMENT ACT EXPLAINED

Municipalities Should Guard Their Rights.

THE TORONTO COUNCIL.

The Legislature Called on to Protect the City From Aldermanic Blundering.

(From the Globe.)

Millbrook, June 20.—A very largely attended and enthusiastic annual meeting of the Liberal Association of East Durham was held in the Town Hall here this afternoon, Dr. Powers of Port Hope, President, in the chair. Organization was effected by the election of the following officers:—President, Dr. Powers, by acclamation; Honorary President, H. H. Burnham, Port Hope; Secretary-Treasurer, George Henwood, Port Hope. Vice-Presidents—Port Hope, J. Helm; Millbrook, A. A. Smith; Cavan, E. A. Kelly; Manvers, James Graham. Mr. B. P. Ross, on retiring from the Secretaryship of the association after twenty years' faithful service, was honoured with an enthusiastic vote of appreciation and thanks.

Dr. Powers, in returning thanks for his re-election, said that he was more confident than every before of the prospects of winning East Durham to Liberalism, and prospects could he believed be converted into certainty by the active and earnest co-operation of the Liberals of the riding, and a candidate could be elected in support of the Ross Government, which, by virtue of its splendid policy of progress, has unusually strong claims upon the confidence of the electorate. The matter of selecting a candidate was informally discussed, and the decision arrived at that in view of the meeting being called for the purpose of electing officers, the matter of selecting a candidate be deferred to a convention to be summoned at the call of the President of the association. Resolutions of confidence in the Ross and Laurier Governments were enthusiastically adopted.

MR. STRATTON SPEAKS.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, was present, and on rising to address the meeting was very enthusiastically received, and proceeded to give a most effective, instructive and educative address, setting forth the claims which the Ross Government had to popular support by virtue of its policy in the past as applied to the promotion of the interests of the Province and the advancement of every great industry and enterprise. Millions spent on railways and colonization roads to open up new districts, millions for education, millions in the maintenance of our public institutions, millions for agriculture, and every interest of the Province, liberally aided by the Government, was its record of the past, representing the return to the people of ninety millions of their money to relieve them of direct taxation. This was the record of the Liberal Government and the policy of the present Government, whose policy, however, did not stop at the improvement of old Ontario, but included the development of the splendid possibilities of the country saved to the Province by the Liberal Government of Ontario. This policy so far had put in motion an immense train of new industries that had in turn reflected a stimulus upon established industries in older Ontario. The policy of the Ross Government was not only to make the most of the tremendous resources of the Province they were charged with the responsibility of governing and to maintain its lead as the foremost Province of the Dominion, but to outstrip all competition in this regard, and make Ontario what its great capabilities plainly admitted of its being made, the most thriving community in the world. The industrial and mineral development of the past year gave employment to over 10,000 men, who earned in wages over three million dollars. The value of the output was two and a half times greater than for any previous year. The nickel and copper export was larger, and both yield and value were increasing. In the past few years the new mineral products were paving brick, sewer pipe, calcium, carbide, graphite, arsenic, iron ore, pig iron and zinc. The most notable feature was the expansion in the product of iron, nickel and copper. Three blast furnaces had been erected—at Hamilton, Deseronto and Midland—and two more are projected. It was expected that the Helen mine alone would produce this year over half a million tons. The Midland smelter was the first to use all Canadian ore. The mineral products of Ontario had increased over 52 per cent. in three years, and the Ross Government's policy of expansion was to be credited with a large share of the increased activity in the mineral industry, as well as that in other important industries. That was the policy of the Ross Government. What was the policy of Mr. Whitney? The only answer the leader of the Opposition would vouchsafe was "West Elgin." He harped upon this string continually, but no one heard him condemn South Ontario. No one ever heard him condemn "Billy Smith, the boss briber," who confessed in the witness stand to spending $1,200 in South Ontario to elect the Conservative candidate, which the judge on the bench declared "the most brazen bribery he had ever heard." Mr. Stratton said that corrupt practices were a proper subject of condemnation but he had his doubts of the political morality of the party leader who would condemn corrupt practices in one party and condone them when practised on behalf of his party and himself.

THE ASSESSMENT QUESTION.

Mr. Stratton then went on to consider the question of assessment and the relation of the Government to corporations. He pointed out that the existing mode of assessment in rural districts, was, everything considered, as fair and equitable, he believed, as any assessment arrangement that could be provided. It did not appear that there was in the rural districts any particular desire or even necessity for any considerable or general amendment of the assessment law. The assessment, as a rule, was being done in a reasonable and just way. It would never do, Mr. Stratton suggested, to pass an amendment such as that recommended by the Assessment Commission, requiring lands and buildings to be assessed separately. This would work hardship, and in many cases would amount to almost confiscation. In numerous instances buildings had been erected quite out of keeping in extent and cost with the land upon which they were placed, and were not of as much real value considered in relation to the land they were built upon and to the purposes and circumstances of the owner, as buildings of much less cost, but better adapted to the needs, etc., of the owner. To assess these buildings separately from the land, and on the basis of their cost or what it would require to replace them, would be rank injustice, and the principle underlying this proposition if applied generally, would make the work of assessment very much more unsatisfactory than at present. This applied as well to much property in towns and cities, and it seemed that the principle of assessing property at what it would sell for was not unfair, but in a general way satisfactory. There was, however, a disposition, on the part of Toronto to discuss the assessment law from the point of view of that city alone. But a law suited to the special conditions of Toronto, would not work as applied to the whole Province. Perhaps it would be unfair to assess street railways in towns and small cities on the same basis as those of Toronto, and the same idea applied to gas, electric lighting and other companies which has obtained franchise from municipalities. There was an attempt to place a responsibility in these matters upon the Government, which should be borne by the municipalities. The fact was that municipalities had not protected themselves in the granting of franchises, and the blame for this neglect was sought to be unfairly placed upon the Legislature, which had conferred upon municipalities the power to deal with franchises. The City of Toronto granted certain rights to gas, electric lighting and telephone companies, as it had the power to do, and if the ratepayers of the city elected Aldermen who would sacrifice or fail to protect their rights in this matter they had only themselves to blame. It was not an uncommon occurrence for the ratepayers to appeal to the Legislature to protect them from the acts of the men they had chosen as Aldermen.

COUNTY COUNCIL CRITICIZED.

As a matter of fact, no city in the Province was as much indebted to the Ontario Legislature for rectification of and protection from the blunders made by the Aldermen it had elected in the past as Toronto. The press of Toronto, in their natural zeal for the welfare of the city, were not quite fair in conveying the idea to the citizens that the Government was to blame in connection with the Metropolitan Street Railway's endeavour to get access to the city. Day after day the attidute of the Government was misrepresented, if not intentionally, by a loose dealing with the facts. The Metropolitan Railway had a perfect right to apply to the Legislature for an amendment to its charter, and the city had a similar right to oppose the application. No member of the Government had the opinions of the Legislature in his pocket, and the members of the House were free to take what action they saw fit in their committee, but when the matter reached the Legislature it could be dealt with by the Government. No fault was to be found with the press for discussing the matter, but it was certainly time enough to blame the Government when the latter might take a hostile attitude to the interests of the city. There were two sides to this railway matter. The County of York wanted entrance to the city, and one would have thought from the tone of some of the city's advocates that the Government was solidly opposed to the city's interests. But the fact was that the Government was in favour of Toronto maintaining control of its streets, as they were in favour of every municipality managing its own internal affairs. The Government did not object to fair criticism, but the (Mr. Stratton), as a member of it, protested against having its position misrepresented, as had been done in the matter he referred to.

At the conclusion of his address a vote of thanks to Hon. Mr. Stratton was enthusiastically carried. Mr. Stratton, in reply, referred to the fact of Millbrook being his birthplace, and it pleased him greatly to see the enthusiasm of the Liberals manifested here to-day, a good augury for the success of a Liberal candidate when an election came.

AGAINST RICHARDSON

Trial of the Lisgar Election Petition Begun at Carman.

EVIDENCE OF HIRING OF TEAMS

J. Ferguson, a Liveryman, Says His Horses Were Hired as an Inducement For Him to Vote, But He Never Was Paid—Other Witnesses Who Also Promises, But No Pay.

Winnipeg, June 20.—The Lisgar election trial opened at Carman yesterday, and will continue this week. The presiding judges are Chief Justice Killam and Judge Dubuc. For the petitioners, Messrs. Joseph Allard and David Jeannette, the counsel are Messrs H. M. Howell, K. D. Cameron and Hugh Phillip; for the defendant, Mr. R. L. Richardson, who was present in person, Mr. J. S. Ewart, K. C. Various exhibits were presented.

The first witness, J. Ferguson, keeper of a livery stable, said he was approached on behalf of Mayor Williams, Carman, to vote for Richardson. He replied that it would take more than that to get him to cast his vote for Richardson. Williams then said that they wanted to hire some teams, and for that consideration he decided to vote as the Mayor desired. Altogether he rented sixteen teams to haul voters to the polls under Mayor Williams' direction. He rendered a bill for $97.50 and could not get it. Williams said that it would be paid as soon as he saw Richardson. Williams went to Winnipeg, came back, and said, "You will have to wait a few days." In this connection witness said: "I never received anything on account of the use of the teams at the election. I made out an account a day or two after the election for $97.50, and rendered the account to Mr. Williams; the last item in that account, $5, was for taking back voters to Carman. There were five of them, and I tried to get the money from them, but they told me to see Mr. Williams, and I saw Mr. Williams, who said it was all right, and he would pay after the election. Mr. Williams said, 'Richardson will fix that up right after the election.'"

Q.—And it has not been fixed up? A.—Not that anybody knows of, and I have waited patiently enough. I spoke to Mr. Williams about this bill shortly after it was rendered, and he said as soon as he went in and saw Mr. Richardson he would get his money. When he came back from Winnipeg Mr. Williams stated he had seen Mr. Richardson, but it would be all right. I saw Mr. Williams again, but it was the same song, and the only satisfaction I got was horse feed.

Mr. Ewart—You do not wish the court to understand that the hire of your teams induced you to vote for Mr. Richardson at the last election? A.—Yes, it did.

Q.—Did you say in that paper that you signed that the hire of your teams did not induce you to vote for Richardson? A.—I did sign it, but did not hand it over until I got my money, and I did not get it. I signed it and I wrote a letter at the same time saying that I would sign it if I got my money.

Q.—And you were going to swear to the truth of that document if you got your money? A.—I was.

Other witnesses were Thomas Saxter, James Brown and D. G. Rogers, farmers, who all brought voters in expecting to get money from Richardson's agents. They asked the court's protection against incriminating evidence. None of the men had received anything but promises for this work, but expected money.

F. E. Stewart, a Richardson scrutineer, was the last witness. He understood he was to be paid for his services at the election.

Court adjourned till Thursday.

A Desperate Suicide.

St. Catharines, Ont., June 20.—A startling tragedy occurred a few miles outside the city limits on Tuesday afternoon, when William Hodgkinson, a well-known trapper and farmer, ended his own life by blowing off the top of his head with a shotgun.

Shortly after 5 o'clock a report of the gun was heard, and, rushing out, Mrs. Hodgkinson found her unfortunate husband lying on the ground in death. The deceased had taken off one shoe and torn a large hole in his sock so that the great toe protruded. Then, placing the muzzle of the gun in his mouth, he put his toe on the trigger, shooting himself in the mouth and blowing off the top of his head. He was 55 years of age, and leaves a widow, five sons and two daughters.

A Guelph Woman Killed.

Guelph, June 20.—Mrs. Lafferty, an old lady over 60 years of age, and a resident of this city for over half that period, was struck by the engine of the G. T. R. passenger train from the north yesterday morning, and was killed almost instantly. She was somewhat deaf, and on crossing the Dublin street crossing, which is a dangerous one, she did not hear the train approaching. When she saw it she became bewildered, and did not know which way to go. An inquest will be held.

Fell Over Embankment.

West Lorne, June 20.—The dead body of an old man about 70 years of age was found Tuesday afternoon by fishermen on the beach near Conn's dock, on the town line between Aldborough and Dunwich. There were some wounds and bruises upon his head, and it is supposed the old man had fallen over the embankment. The man, whose name is not known, was seen and spoken to in the morning by Mr. Conway, and, it is said, stated that his home was in Detroit.

Dominion Day at Buffalo.

Buffalo, June 20.—Preparations are making for an elaborate celebration of Dominion Day at the Pan-American Exposition. It is expected that the Canadian building, just completed, will be formally opened on that day and that one or more prominent speakers will be heard. A special fire works program is being arranged.

THE TALE OF A TACK.

How an Italian Tenor Was Enabled to Reach High C.

"There was once an Italian tenor at Covent Garden of the name of Tasca, who, I am sorry to say, sang his own praises better than the score," says Mr. William Parry, the stage director at the Metropolitan Opera House.

"For this and other reasons he was strongly disliked by all the workmen. One day he came to me and said, with great show of mystery:

"'Tell me the exact spot.'

"I could not for the life of me understand what he wanted.

"'You know well enough what I mean,' he persisted. 'Show me the spot where Tamberlik sang the high C. There is always one spot on the stage that is better than all the others to stand on when you sing. Where is it?'

"'I'll show you later,' I replied. 'But, remember, never a word. It would cost me my place if it should leak out.'

"Then I drove a brass tack into one of the stage boards, and he was overjoyed when I solemnly pointed out 'the exact spot,' and so were the workmen at the prospect of a joke at his expense. That night he carefully stood on the tack and sang the high C. Rushing into the wings, he exclaimed: 'Beautiful! Wonderful!' Ever afterward, no matter what part of the stage demanded his presence, he would rush to the tack when the time for the high C came and there deliver it."

Our System of Notation.

Some system of notation has been used since time out of memory. The first record we have of it is of figures written with a stick on a flat surface covered with sand. Before that all calculations were made with pebbles, beans and the like. Even now the Chinese do their calculating with little stones or beads strung on wires, in a frame. The Romans first used vertical lines—I, II, III, etc.—to express numbers. The Arabic figures, which we commonly use at the present time, are of much earlier date.

The Arabic system is chiefly valuable on account of the great convenience it affords by giving a figure a value according to the place it occupies in the line. By this system the most enormous sums can be expressed by the ten little characters which form the numerical alphabet.

Metaphor.

The Minneapolis (Kan.) Messenger says: "We once heard Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt eulogize Mrs. Stanton, Harriet Beecher Stowe and Susan B. Anthony as follows: 'These are the women who laid themselves down in the dust, as it were, to form a bridge over which you and I might go dry shod.'

"Once we heard the president of Brown university describe the old charter oak, first as a safety vault, then as a hearthstone, and at last he made a lightning change and brought out the old tree as the rudder to the ship of state. That beat anything we ever heard and the greater surprise, too, coming as it did from such a profound scholar."

A Terrible Explosion

"Of a gasoline stove burned a lady here frightfully," writes N. E. Palmer, of Kirkman, Ia. "The best doctors couldn't heal the running sore that followed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve entirely cured her." Infallible for cuts, corns, sores, boils, bruises, skin diseases and piles. 25c at Jas. Lynch's.

CHILDREN UNDER VICTORIA.

Legislation for Their Welfare and Protection Previously Unknown.

Queen Victoria's long reign was rich in measures devised for the welfare and protection of children, says a writer in the London Lancet. Until it began practically nothing had been attempted for their good. Trade practice was harsh and unscrupulous without restraint, and public opinion was ignorant or indifferent. Even the law was blindly callous in its rigor, so that we are amazed to find terrible penalties recorded against the petty thefts of mere children. Every measure on the statute book which is intended to protect the rights of children has come into being within the Victorian era. Factory children, children employed in mines, in brick fields, in chimneys, in agricultural gangs, on canals, on the high seas, pauper children, street beggars and hawkers, acrobats, children in pantomimes, criminal children, all found in their Queen a friend as ready as powerful to help them. The last great act of this series and the crown of her endeavors on behalf of suffering childhood was the comprehensive measure passed in 1889. It grappled with two evils—cruelty practiced upon children under whatever conditions, and the corruption of their morals. So great an assault upon the enemies of childhood might well succeed the process of sap and mine by which the same foes had been steadily weakened during fifty years. Its success has been its justification, though not its only one. There are proofs to show that the operation of this act has accomplished much not only for the welfare of children but for the reformation and happiness of their parents also. It has brought into the dreamy indefinite ethics of the late nineteenth century something of "grit" and practical resolution. The national foot has gone down on abuses in our very homes because they were scandalous abuses which no so-called "liberty of the subject" could excuse.

French Idea of Economy.

If French agriculture is not prosperous, it will not be for want of parliamentary assistance. The wine growers, who are never satisfied, have had almost a record vintage this year and complain that they are unable to sell their production at a remunerative price. A remedy proposed was to give all the troops a daily ration of wine. Soldiers get wine only on exceptional occasions, and it was suggested when the army estimates were under discussion that if all the troops under arms had wine to drink daily the stocks would be reduced. The minister of war objected that his credits would have to be increased, as the cost would amount to ten or twelve millions a year. The deputies were not deterred by that consideration and voted the addition of wine to the rations and as a commencement increased the credits by half a million.

STONY LAKE KAWARTHA LAKES

STEAMER SUNBEAM

J. MILLAGE, Captain.

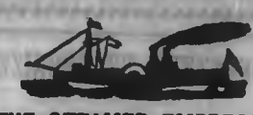
For season of 1901 this commodious steamer will run regular trips twice daily to Ston Lake and in connection with the regular steamers of the Trent Valley Navigation Co., on the Kawartha chain of lakes.

The Sunbeam's Stony Lake Service will be greatly improved. Arrangements have been made whereby the steamer will make morning and evening trips daily between Lakefield and Stony Lake. Close connections with morning and evening trains from Peterborough. Meals will be served on board the Sunbeam.

The new steamer "Alert," just built to run in connection with the Sunbeam, will meet the steamer each way at Juniper Island, for all points east on the lake. Watch for official time table.

EXCURSIONS.—The Sunbeam can be chartered for excursions at special rates on application to E. A. Tanner, Agent, Lakefield; W. Buntin, G. T. R., Uptown Ticket Agent, Peterborough, or Whyte & Grylls, proprietors, Lakefield, P.O.

KAWARTHA LAKES



THE STEAMER EMPRESS

The Steamer Empress will run trips to Stony Lake on Monday and Tuesday, leaving Lakefield on arrival of morning train from Peterborough, returning in time to connect with evening train to Peterborough.

Saturday Trip to Stony Lake

The steamer Empress will leave Lakefield for Stony Lake on Saturday afternoon, on the arrival of the train from Peterborough.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"Hi, there!" I thoughtlessly yelled in English. "Where the devil are you going?"

No one paid any attention to my cries. It was becoming a serious matter.

The lights grew fewer and fewer, and presently there were no lights at all. We were, I judged, somewhere in the suburbs. I became desperate and smashed a window. The carriage stopped so abruptly that I went sprawling to the bottom. I was in anything but a peaceful frame of mind, as they say, when the door swung open and I beheld standing at the side of it the officer who had accompanied me from the frontier.

"What tomfoolery is this?" I demanded. I was thoroughly incensed.

"It means that herr will act peacefully or be in danger of a broken head," was the mind easing reply of my quondam fellow passenger. The driver then came down from the box, and I saw that he was the officer who had joined us at the station.

"If it is a frolic," I said, "one of your beer hall frolics, the sooner it is ended the better for you."

The two laughed as if what I had said was one of the funniest things imaginable.

"Get out!"

"With pleasure!" said I.

Directly one of them lay with his back to the ground and the other was locked in my embrace. I had not spent four years on the college campus for intellectual benefits only. And indignation lent me additional strength. My opponent was a powerful man, but I held him in a grip of rage. Truthfully I began to enjoy the situation. There is something exhilarating in the fighting blood which rises in us now and then. This exhilaration, however, brought about my fall. In the struggle I forgot the other, who meantime had recovered his star gemmed senses. A crack from the butt of his pistol rendered me remarkably quiet and docile. In fact, all became a vacancy till the next morning, and then I was conscious of a terrible headache and of a room with a window through which a cat might have climbed without endangering its spine—a very dexterous cat.

"Well," I mused, softly nursing the lump on my head, "here's the devil to pay and not a cent to pay him with."

It was evident that, without knowing it, I had become a very important personage.

CHAPTER VII.

I saw some rye bread, cold meat and a pitcher of water on the table, and I made a sandwich and washed it down with a few swallows of the cool liquid. I had a fever, and the water chilled it. There was a lump on the back of my head as large as an egg. With what water remained I dampened my handkerchief and wound it around the injury. Then I made a systematic search through my clothes. Not a single article of my belongings was missing. I was rather sorry, for it lent a deeper significance to my incarceration. After this I proceeded to take an inventory of my surroundings. Below and beyond the little window I saw a wide expanse of beautiful gardens, fine oaks and firs, velvet lawns and white pebbled roads. Marble fountains made them merry in the roseate hue of early morning. A gardener was busy among some hedges, but beyond the sound of my voice. I was a prisoner in no common jail, then, but in the garret of a private residence. Having satisfied myself that there was no possible escape, I returned to my pallet and lay down. Why I was here a prisoner I knew not. I thought over all I had written the past twelvemonth, but nothing recurred to me which would make me liable to arrest. But, then, I had not been arrested. I had been kidnaped, nothing less. Nothing had been asked of me. I had made no statement. It had been all too sudden. Presently I heard footsteps in the corridors, and the door opened. It was mine enemy. He locked the door and thrust the key into his pocket. One of his eyes was decidedly mouse colored. The knuckles of my hand were yet sore. I smiled. He saw the smile, his jaws hardening and his eyes threatening.

"I am sorry," I said. "I should have hit you on the point of the chin, but I was in a great hurry. Did you ever try raw meat as a poultice?"

"Enough of this," he snapped, laying a pistol on the table. I was considered dangerous. It was something to know that. "You must answer my questions."

"Must?"

"Must."

"Young man, you have no tact. You are not an accomplished villain," said I pleasantly. "You should begin by asking me how I spent the night and if there was not something you could do for my material comfort. Perhaps, however, you will first answer a few questions of mine."

"There are only two men whose questions I answer," he said.

"And who might they be?"

"My commander and the king. I will answer one question—the reason you are here. You are a menace to the tranquillity of the state."

"Oh, then I have the honor of being what is called a prisoner of state? Be careful," I cried suddenly; "that pistol might go off, and then the American minister might ask you in turn some questions—disagreeable ones too."

It was mine enemy. He locked the door and thrust the key into his pocket.

"The American minister would never know anything about it," said he gruffly. "But have no fear. I should hesitate to soil an innocent leaden bullet in your carcass."

"Be gentle," I advised, "or when we meet again I shall feel it my duty to dull the luster of your other eye."

"Bah!" he ejaculated. "We are indebted to the French for the word 'canaille,' which applies to all Americans and Englishmen."

"Now," said I, climbing off the pallet, "I shall certainly do it."

"I warn you not to approach me!" he cried, his fingers closing over the pistol.

"Well, I promise not to do it now," I declared, going over to the window. I found some satisfaction in his nervousness. It told me that he feared me. "What place is this—a palace?"

"Answer this question, sir: Why did you cross the frontier when you were expressly forbidden to do so?"

"I forbidden to cross the frontier!" My astonishment was indescribable. "Young man, you have made a blunder of some sort. I am not a socialist or an anarchist. I have never been forbidden to cross the frontier of any country. Your chancellor is one of the best friends I have in the world. I went to school with his son."

He rocked to and fro on the table, laughing honestly and heartily. "You do not lack impudence. Are you or are you not the London correspondent of the New York ——?"

"I certainly am."

"You admit it?" eagerly.

"I see no earthly reason why I should not."

"When did you last visit this city?"

"Several years ago."

"Several years ago?" incredulously.

"Exactly. Have you ever seen me before?"

"No. But it was a little less than two years ago when you were here."

"It is scarcely polite," said I, "to question the veracity of a man you ever saw before and of whom you now positively nothing." Suddenly my head began to throb again, and I grew dizzy. "You hit me rather soundly with that pistol. Still your eye ought to be a recompense."

He replied with a scowl. "Perhaps our name is"—

"Winthrop, John Winthrop, if that will throw any light on the subject."

"One name is as good as another," with a smile of unbelief.

"That is true. What's in a name? There is little difference, after all, between the names of the nobility and the rabble."

"You are determined to irritate me beyond measure," said he. A German is the most sensitive man in the world as regards his title.

"Grant that I have some cause. And perhaps," observing him from the corner of my eye, "it is because you smoke such vile tobacco."

Remembering the incident in the railway carriage, he smiled in spite of the gravity of the situation. "It was the best I had," he said, "and then it was done in self defense. I'll give you credit for being a fearless individual. But you haven't answered my question."

"What question?"

"Why you returned to this country when you were expressly forbidden to do so."

"I answered that," said I. "And now let me tell you that you may go on asking questions till the crack of doom, but no answer will I give you till you have told me why I am here—I, who do not know you or what your business is or what I am supposed to have done."

He began to look doubtful. He thumped the table with the butt of his pistol.

"Do you persist in affirming that your name is Winthrop?"

"These gardens are very fine. I could see them better," said I, "if the window was larger."

"Perhaps," he cried impatiently, "you do not know where she is?"

"She?" I looked him over carefully. There was a perfectly sane light in his eyes. "Am I crazy, or is it you? She? I know nothing about any she!"

"Do you dare deny that you know of the whereabouts of her serene highness the Princess Hildegarde and that you did not come here with the purpose to aid her to escape the will of his majesty? And do you mean—oh, here, read this!" flinging me a cablegram.

The veil of mystery fell away from my eyes. I had been mistaken for Hillars. Truly, things were growing interesting. I bent and picked up the cablegram and read:

Count von Walden—He has left London and is on his way to the capital. Your idea to allow him to cross the frontier is a good one. Undoubtedly he knows where the princess is in hiding. In trapping him you will ultimately trap her. Keep me informed.

The name signed was that of a well known military attache at the embassy in London. I tossed back the cablegram.

"Well?" triumphantly.

"No, it is not well. It is all very bad, and particularly for you. Your London informant is decidedly off the track. The man you are looking for is in Vienna."

"I do not believe you. It is a trick!"

"Yes, it is a trick, and I am taking it, and you have lost a point, to say nothing of the time and labor and a black eye. If you had asked all these questions yesterday, I should have told you that Mr. Hillars"—

"Yes, that's the name!" he interrupted.

"I should have told you that he is no longer the London representative of my paper. It is true that the description of Hillars and myself tallies somewhat, only my hair is dark, while his is light, what there is left of it, and he is a handsomer man than I. All this I should have told you with pleasure, and you would have been saved no end of trouble. I presume that there is nothing left for you to do but to carry me back to the city. To quell any further doubt, here are my passports, and if these are not satisfactory, why, take me before Prince O——, your chancellor."

He was irresolute and half inclined to believe me. "I do not know what to do. You know, then, the gentleman I am seeking?"

"Yes."

"Would he enter this country under an assumed name?"

(To be continued.)

Swallowing

A sword is a trick not conducive to health or longevity. But it is not more injurious than the hasty swallowing of half masticated food washed down by gulps of ice water in summer or cups of hot coffee in winter. Hasty eating is the foe of health. Sooner or later it must result in indigestion or some other form of stomach disease.

For the cure of the diseases of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition, there is no medicine so effective as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It always helps. It almost always cures.

Mrs. Mary M. Lewis, of Tanner, Gilmer Co., W. Va., writes: "I will always recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' for they cured me when doctors and other medicines failed. For fifteen years I suffered untold misery. When I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicines, I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I could not lie down to sleep, and everything I ate would almost cramp me to death. Was very nervous and could hardly walk across the room. I only weighed ninety pounds when I commenced taking these medicines six years ago; I now weigh one hundred and forty pounds, and am having better health than ever before. My friends all say they can hardly believe that I am the same person; after being sick so long. I have changed to be robust and very cheerful. I have taken fifteen bottles of the 'Discovery' fifteen of the 'Prescription' and fifteen of the 'Pellets.'"

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only, or if cloth binding is desired send 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Confusion of Ideas.

Sir Henry Howorth, who was formerly a member of Parliament, is a writer of mark, certainly of research, for his "History of the Mongols" took many years of steady and arduous inquiry.

A good story Sir Henry tells against himself in regard to this work. One evening, while taking in to dinner a lady who had been lightly primed as to his great subject, there was a strange conversation.

"I understand, Sir Henry," the lady said, "that you are fond of dogs; so am I!"

"Dogs, madam," was the reply. "I really must plead guiltless; I know nothing at all of them."

"Indeed! And they told me you had written a famous history of mongrels."—Yorkshire Post.

$500 in Gold Coin Absolutely FREE!

If you will carefully read this advertisement, you will see how you may get absolutely free $500 in gold coin of the standard weight and fineness of the realm. We are manufacturers of Merrill's System Tonic, which is undoubtedly the best medicine in the world to-day. It is a thorough blood purifier, acting on all the glands of the body and enabling them to perform their natural work of eliminating all poisons from the system, and absorbing the valuable nourishment in the food. Hence, it cures skin diseases, such as pimples, itching sores, eczema, salt rheum, etc. Besides this, it is a muscular and nerve tonic, and this effect, combined with its alterative action, makes it a specific for constipation, which it cures on account of the combined action of its alterative and tonic properties. The cure it makes is permanent, and differs from the temporary effect of irritant drugs, of which most cathartic pills are composed. This alterative and tonic effect reaches every organ in the body, and cures the diseases attending them, such as dyspepsia, kidney diseases, pain in the back, urinary troubles, nervousness, sleeplessness, liver complaint and all female disease. Now, to win the above reward you have only to prove that our statements regarding the properties of Merill's System Tonic are false. We do not say it will be easy, but we do say if you have any of the above troubles, a cure is certain if you take Merrill's System Tonic.

THURSDAY'S BALL GAME.

A Ragged Exhibition on the P. A. A. A. [illegible]s.

Peterborough's Costly Errors Lose Them the Game to the Park Nine of Toronto.

Several hundred people, a large number of whom were Torontonians, occupied the grand stand and the fence corners of the P.A.A.A. grounds Thursday afternoon to witness the game between the crack Park Nine, of Toronto, and the locals. The game was a very disappointing one from a Peterborough standpoint, the home nine putting up a class of ball which was very disappointing to its supporters. Had the Peterborough's started in as they finished, the score of 10-3 would not have adorned the eastern fence. That there were many costly errors made it would be useless to deny—errors that made a cold chill creep down the backs of the rooters and bring a groan from the supporters of the local nine. Of course the players who made these errors redeemed themselves as the game progressed, but it was too late to bring victory to the boys in khaki.

The visitors play ball of the gilt-edged variety, but it must be admitted that they can teach the locals nothing about the game. It was an off-day for the home nine, and it would be unfair to critise too closely.

Danny McCabe was in the pink of condition in the pitcher's box and his work was all that could be desired. In "Billy" O'Brien, of St. Mary's nine, Toronto, Dan had an ideal receiver. He is one of the neatest catchers that ever graced the local diamond. The work of Kehoe is deserving of all praise. The class of work he did yesterday is worthy of mention, especially his beautiful one-hand catch on the run. Up to the fifth innings not a member of the local nine crossed the plate, but in the sixth Earls sent a beauty in the north-east corner of the field and it remained there long enough to enable him to encircle the diamond. Then a mighty shout went up which did not die away until long after O'Brien made a home run from a daisy over the left fence. Before the close of the game O'Brien tallied another, making the score 10-3 in the visitors' favor.

Mr. Long, of the Scranton School, umpired the game, but the home players found fault with his decisions and Mr. H. R. H. Kenner took his place and everything went along "swimmingly."

SUMMARY.

Struck out, by Stevens, 8; by McCabe, 2; by Kehoe, 3; base on balls, off Stevens, 2; home runs, O'Brien and Earls; 3 base hit, Williams; 2 base hit, Winchester.

NOTES.

Kehoe had his pitching clothes on yesterday.

Davidson is fast getting the fine points of the game down.

The ladies are beginning to take a deep interest in baseball. It's the diamond that attracts them.

The different "roof gardens" adjoining the field were crowded as usual with people who fight shy of the ticket seller. It was ever thus.

Earls won the "Bannon" bat donated by the excursion committee to the player making the highest batting average. The bat is a dandy.

THE VISITORS WERE PLEASED.

The Toronto Excursionists Spent an Enjoyable Day in Town.

The Canadian Order of Foresters of Toronto and their friends who spent Thursday in town expressed themselves as well pleased in every particular. Although the heavy downpour of rain on their arrival did not bespeak for them a day suitable for sight-seeing, nevertheless old Sol came out with a smile after dinner and the visitors took in the many places of interest in town and not a few journeyed to Ashburnham to inspect the lift lock.

The majority, however, went over to the P.A.A.A. grounds where the excursion committee ran off an excellent programme of sports before the ball game was put on. The winners of the different events were all from the city with the exception of "Bob" Begley, formerly of town, who won the fat man's race, and two local sprinters who figured in several races. The majority of the excursionists left for home at eight o'clock in the evening.

SOME FINE HORSES.

Great Sale of Western Horses on Saturday June 22nd.

On Saturday, June 22nd, people of Peterborough and surrounding district will have another opportunity of procuring first class horses, Mr. John King, the great Kansas stock man, will offer for sale at Kennedy's stock yards, Peterborough, about thirty well bred western horses.

The magnificent horses are colts from one year upwards, served by Kentucky trotting stallions, amongst them being a lot of well matched pairs and some splendid drivers.

Buyers need be under no misapprehension regarding these animals. They are gentle and docile, and are as easily broken as the native horses.

Mr. King has hundreds of testimonials regarding these horses, from those who bought from him before, amongst whom are Messrs. C. Stapleton, Alex. Elliott, Dr. Robinson, Peterborough; Rev. W. Bell, U. S. Government Veterinary Inspector, Kingston; W. M. Ross, Brockville.

On the day of the sale at three o'clock there will be given an exhibition of lassoing to which the ladies of the town are specially invited.

TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

Mr. McNicoll Says C.P.R. Is Fully Patrolled and Taken Care Of.

FEW TRACKMEN AT WORK.

C. P. R. Vice-President Says There Is a Satisfactory Return of the Older and Married Trackmen to Work—A Strikers' Investigator Reports Only 21 Trackmen on 257 Miles of Track.

Montreal, June 22.—Mr. McNicoll stated last night that yesterday had shown a very satisfactory return of trackmen to work, mostly of the older and married hands, and new men had been employed. The track was fully patrolled, and taken care of by flying gangs where the regular section force was not working.

St. John, N. B., June 22.—The striking trackmen here are realizing that their Montreal committee has made a mistake, and many express the wish that they were at work again. Some foremen have already returned and brought their men with them.

Orangeville, June 22.—The meeting of C. P. R. trackmen here last night resulted in a row between those who wanted to return and those who did not, one of them remarking: "It would have been better if Wilson had remained in St. Louis and got for the trackmen there the wages paid by the Canadian Pacific here."

A Serious Charge.

Winnipeg, June 22.—The C. P. R. Co. say the wires have been tampered with east of Winnipeg. The perpetrators, if caught, will be severely punished.

WHAT THE MEN SAY.

Reports From Investigating Strikers Sent Over the Company's Lines.

Toronto, June 22.—According to reports received by the local Canadian Pacific Railway striking trackmen yesterday, few men are at work on the main line of the system. The reports received by General Superintendent Timmerman show that very few are not at work, nearly all the strikers having returned to their labors.

The local strikers met yesterday in the committee rooms in Forum Hall and received the latest reports on the situation. The man sent to London to investigate the state of affairs on that section sent this message:

"From Toronto to London only three foremen at work; at London all men are working; from London to Thamesville, one man at work; Thamesville to Windsor, all out except at Chatham."

Another message, received from the Maine Central Railway read: "Men holding out firmly; no concessions made."

The representative of the strikers who went to Owen Sound returned to the city yesterday. Between Toronto and Owen Sound, he reported, only seven were at work, and between Teeswater and Orangeville only 14 men. On 257 miles on that division only 21 trackmen were at work. Between Toronto and Montreal, Mr. Wilkinson, chairman of the local strike committee, said there was not a trackman on duty. Mr. Wilkinson last night declared that in Toronto not a striker had gone back. They were all standing firm and intended to hold out.

Mr. Timmerman reported that the strike was over. A roadmaster who arrived yesterday from Woodstock, stated that between that town and Windsor six extra foremen had started work, and that 20 out of the 24 men employed had returned to their duties.

Machinists on Strike in Washington State Receive an Ultimatum.

Seattle, Wash., June 22.—At a meeting held last night of the Metal Trades' Association, comprising all of the foundries and machine-shops of the city and State, it was resolved to resume operations Monday morning next.

A formal offer is to be made to the strikers to take their old positions at the rate of wages and the number of hours prevailing before the strike.

The strikers are informed that if they do not accept this proposition, others will be employed to take their places.

Joined the 2,000.

Reading, Pa., June 22.—Over 600 men employed in the car shops of the Reading Railroad Company struck yesterday for shorter hours and increased pay. They left in a body. Immediately thereafter, the boilermakers in the company's locomotive shops struck. Two thousand ironworkers of the Reading Iron Company have been on strike for some time.

Kingston Strike Over.

Kingston, Ont., June 22.—The street railway lockout is at an end, having been settled yesterday morning. All the old employes go back to work this morning, the company agreeing to advance their wages to the figures asked for. The strike lasted eleven days.

Colonial Triplets.

Ottawa, June 22.—The Colonial Secretary has informed the Canadian Government that King Edward VII. has decided not to continue the bounty of three guineas paid by Queen Victoria to married women in colonies who give birth to triplets. The cost to the British Sovereign for triplets born in Canada did not amount to $50 a year.

The Lisgar Trial.

Winnipeg, June 22.—The Lisgar election trial, after a few minutes sitting yesterday, adjourned until July 8 at Manitou.

63,000 IN THE CAMPS.

Of These, According to War Secretary, 34,000 Are Children.

THE SURRENDER HAS BEEN MADE

London Sun Remakes Its Sensational Botha Announcement of the 18th Inst., With the Addition That British War Office Believes That Formal Act of Surrender Has Already Occurred.

London, June 22.—The War Secretary, Mr. Brodrick, informed a questioner in the House of Commons yesterday that out of 63,000 persons in the concentration camps of South Africa, 34,000 were children.

Surrender Has Been Made.

London, June 22.—The Sun yesterday afternoon again printed the sensational announcement which it made June 18, that Gen. Botha, the Boer commander, after the receipt of President Kruger's decision not to concede anything, decided to ignore the former President of the Transvaal, and surrender. The paper also says it is believed at the British Foreign Office that the formal act of surrender has already occurred.

The secretary of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, declares that the rumors of the surrender of Gen. Botha are unfounded.

FORTY CATTLE STOLEN.

The Animals Were Found Fresh Branded —Three Men Missing.

Calgary, N. W. T., June 22. — A sensational cattle-stealing case is reported from Okokoto. A Manitoban had recently arrived with 40 head of cattle, and located at the Gopher House. On the night of June 6 he herded the beasts and retired. Next morning all the cattle were gone.

Police traced footmarks in the mud over 20 miles, when in a corral were found fragments of ears. Subsequently, 40 cattle alleged to be the stolen animals, fresh branded, and with cut ears, were found scattered on a range. Three men—Jim Fisher, A. MacDougall and Jim Lunichan—are missing, and are suspected to be the thieves.

Sir Claude Macdonald at Chicago.

Chicago, June 22.—"The recent uprising in China has been a great lesson to the Chinese," said Sir Claude Macdonald, the former British Minister to China, last night, "and if taken advantage of in the proper spirit by them as well as the powers, it will prove a great stride toward civilization. The country is immensely rich in mineral products, but is undeveloped."

Sir Claude Macdonald came into the city Thursday night at 8.20 o'clock over the Chicago and Northwestern road. He has been notified by his Government to come home to give advice on affairs in Japan, and expects to stay in England about a month.

Thos. W. Barker Convicted.

New York, June 22.—The Hudson County court room, in Jersey City, was crowded yesterday to hear the argument of attorneys and Judge Blair's charge in the trial of Thos. G. Barker for assault with intent to kill the Rev. John Keller. After counsels' addresses, Judge Blair charged the jury, which retired, and after 14 minutes' deliberation brought in a verdict finding Barker guilty of assault with intent to kill. Judge Blair stated that he would sentence Barker on Thursday next, but pending the appeal, bail will be accepted in $10,000.

Japanese Statesman Assassinated.

Yokohama, June 22.—Hoshi Toru, who was Minister of Communication in the last Ito Cabinet, was stabbed yesterday at a meeting of the City Assembly, and died shortly afterwards. The deceased was Japanese Minister at Washington, and was formerly President of the House. Hoshi Toru's assassination is supposed to have been due to politics.

Will Yield on Monday.

Manila, June 22.—General Cailles, the insurgent commander in Laguna Province, with 700 riflemen and some bolomen, is now in the vicinity of Pagsanjan, about a day's march from Santa Cruz, on Luguna De Bay. Cailles will surrender Monday, after which he is expected to assist in bringing in Malver, who in reality, is his superior officer.

Russian Retaliation on the U. S.

Washington, June 22.—Most of the time of the Cabinet yesterday was spent in a discussion of the action of the Treasury Department in imposing a countervailing duty on certain Russian products. Secretary Gage explained in detail the action which the department had taken, and the Cabinet unanimously approved of what he had done.

Thomas Kilduff Killed.

Gananoque, June 22.—On June 20 Thomas Kilduff, a Pittsburg farmer, while driving home from Westport, was struck by the train when crossing the track near Kingston and instantly killed. It is said he was asleep at the time. He was 55 years of age and unmarried.

THE WHITE TENTED FIELD

The Men at Barriefield Have Wet Weather.

The Vaccination Order Not Very Seriously Considered—How the Men are Doing—Notes in General.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Barriefield Common, June 2nd.

When Friday morning came and the fog rested so heavily over the canvas covered field, that Dr. Poole's tent almost caved in, there was a look of disgust in the face of the average dragoon. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday had gone by and each day supplied its quota of rain to the discomfort of the men in camp. Was Friday going to be the same? For a while it looked like it but towards noon the sky cleared and the greater part of the day was an ideal one for military camp life. However, the effects of the rain were too gloriously apparent. The cavalry lines were in a very bad state. Mostly everyone knows what Barriefield mud is like, at least anyone at all conversant with military camping does. It is of that horrible greasy kind that causes one to slip and slide around as though he were temporarily weak at the knees. The poor horses suffered perhaps the most. They had not quite enough instinct to know that it would be better to stand at ease, but chose rather to mark time like the sod pounders over the hill, until their lines became a horrible mess to say the least. Quarter-Master Garvin about noon had the horses lines changed from in front of the tents to a position considerably south of the place where the original lines were. When the old lines dry up they will, of course, be used again.

The infantry lines about a mile farther up are even worse than the cavalry camp and the men in some cases are walloping around in mud up to their boot tops.

The vaccination order is a sham. It was pretty generally felt that this would not be made compulsory, although many a recruit came to camp thinking that he might have to go home almost immediately. The more conscientious of these really did get vaccinated and the result is that they are going around with their arm in a sling. When the men were mustered for medical examination, a captain was head to say to his men, "Now you have all been vaccinated." The reply was consistent with the expression on the captain's face and with the ambiguity of his question, in as much as he forgot of course to ask them when they were so vaccinated. The unanimous reply "Yes," was reported by the said captain to the medical examiner and the matter so ended.

While the 3rd Dragoons have always been noted for their honesty, a glaring act of theft was committed the other evening. Some one has certainly fallen by the way side and some horse is receiving more than its allowance of rations. Captain Garvin the untiring quartermaster of the dragoons, complains that a bag of oats was actually stolen from his tent while he, the quartermaster, was sleeping the sleep of the just. No reflection need be cast upon the shrewdness of Capt. Garvin, but the "nerve" of the thief is most astonishing.

Trooper Fred Kennedy is not seeing much drill this camp. He is performing other duties in a measure more important to the ordinary trooper. Trooper Kennedy is mounted orderly for the purpose of carrying the mail for the Divisional Camp. His arrival from the post is eagerly awaited by the good boy, who is longing for a letter from his mother, by the business man who anxious for information of value and from the young man who is impatient for a budget from his best girl.

The men had a splendid afternoon's drill. They were dismounted and put through their "facings" in good style. A band from one of the infantry regiments was stationed on the hill near the old fort, while the manoevering of red coated men, amid the glittering of their sabres in the sun light was a very pretty sight to the many visitors and others who took in the situation.

The annual dance of the Royal Military College is taking place tonight. This is one of the most brilliant social functions of the year and it is being attended this year by Major General O'Haley-Grady and the Divisional and Brigade officers in camp. The Dragoons will be represented by Captain Rogers, Lieutenant W. T. Hall, Lieutenant Gerald Hayward and Lieutenant McLaughlan.

THE T. C. S. PRINCIPALSHIP.

The following communication appeared in the Mail and Empire of Wednesday:

Sir,—It is with very deep regret that I read in your columns the narrow and un-Christian-like nature of the attacks made upon the new headmaster of Trinity College School.

To one little line of criticism will you permit me a word of explanation? The Rev. Robert. Ker, of St. Catharines, has used Dr. Symonds' connection with the Canadian summer school as one evidence of his "aberrations from the faith of the Church." As secretary of that institution, I have had a most intimate connection with the summer school since its inception in 1898, and am in a position to say that it is utterly unfair to hold Dr. Symonds as accountable for the character of the teaching given at Port Hope in 1899. He was a member of the Committee of Management and shared the responsibility of selecting lecturers with others of that body, and nothing more. Among those acting with him I might mention the names of the Rev. W. C. Allen, Rev. H. J. Cody, the Very Rev. Dean Smith, Rev. C. H. Shortt, and the Rev. Canon Farncomb.

If Mr. Ker was "painfully impressed" with the nature of the teaching which he received at Port Hope, he was wonderfully successful in repressing his feelings at the time. For I do not now recall that Mr. Ker or his friend, Canon Spragge, made any protests during the session of the school. But if my memory serves me well, I think Mr. Ker sat with the committee in my room and discussed the future of the school with some enthusiasm. So congenial were the surroundings that Mr. Ker remained to the last.

I regret to introduce these matters, apparently irrelevant. But my sense of fairness, my faith in, and my personal affections for Dr. Symonds lead me to protest that if Mr. Ker had no more dangerous weapon to use upon the unoffending head of Dr. Symonds, and no fairer means of attack, it had been a better task to have kept the summer school in the background.

JUST WHY

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablet has a Record of Cures Unparalleled.

Because it is not an experiment, not a "cure-all," but a modern, up-to-date formula, thoroughly tried and tested on many hundreds of cases in private practice, hospital and outdoor clinics.

A medicine that has kept pace with the times and the advancement of medical science. A medicine confined to a practical range. One that that does not promise more than it can do.

A backache, kidney, bladder tablet, pure and simple, the same yesterday, to-day and to-morrow. This great kidney medicine is a boon alike to the young, the middle-aged and the aged.

It was the people who successfully used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that applied to it the term: "The Great Kidney Medicine," because it removed symptoms like the following that were staring them in the face every day, all the result of disordered kidneys—

Backache.
Pain in the back.
Weak, sluggish circulation.
Puffy or dark circles under the eyes.
Urine cloudy, milk-like or stringy dark in colour, or offensive.
Painful, scalding sensation in passing it.
Dull, heavy headache, tired, dizzy feeling, faint spells, irregular heart beats.
Urinary weakness, compelling frequent attention during the day, and to get up many times during the night.
Restless, sleepless nights. Fagged out, run down and irritable.

These are some of the danger signals nature sets to show the track of health is not clear, but kidneys clogged and Bright's disease stealing in.

If you are convinced Pitcher's Tablets are what you want, you can purchase them at your druggist's for 50 cents a bottle. If not obtainable at druggists, mailed free of postage on receipt of price.

The Dr. Zion Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

COURT OF APPEAL.

McGuire v. Corry.—Judgment (oral) on appeal by defendants from judgment of Lount, J., entered for $500 upon verdict of jury in action under workmen's compensation act, for damages for injuries sustained by plaintiff while employed by defendants, owing to their alleged failure to supply sufficient cribbing work to prevent the sides of an excavation from falling in. The plaintiff alleged that he was at the bottom of the pit acting under the direction of the foreman, when he was struck by earth and stones from the caving in sides of it. Appeal dismissed with costs. W. R. Riddell, K. C., and D. O'Connell Peterborough, for defendants. E. B. Stone, Peterborough for plaintiff.

PICNIC DAYS.

I.
Under the spreading chestnut tree
The well-filled baskets stand;
Containing chickens, pies and things—
The work of Bridget's hands.
And 'way off in the distance there's
A blaring country band.

II.
Dick battles with a humble bee,
And Bob, with youthful zest,
Falls from the lofty chestnut tree,
And papa and the rest
Proceed to eat their lunch upon
A yellow-jacket's nest.

III.
The gentle rainstorm rolls around,
And when the day is late,
They homeward wend their weary ways
And turn inside the gate,
And lie in bed and wonder just
How many ants they ate.

Bail Accepted For Parton.

Toronto, June 22.—Barrister F. R. Powell made a successful application yesterday forenoon at Osgoode Hall before Mr. Justice MacMahon for bail for his client, Joseph Parton, who is charged with murder, the allegation being that he set fire to his house on April 30 at Parry Sound, in which his five children lost their lives. The bail was fixed at $2,000, in two sureties of $1,000 each, or four sureties of $500 each. Mr. Powell expects to secure the necessary sureties on his return to Parry Sound to-day.

Another Outrage Reported.

Pekin, June 21.—The Belgian Minister, M. Maurice Joostens, to-day despatched a messenger to Siam Kial with instructions to verify the report of the massacre there of four Belgian missionaries. The mission is strongly fortified, but it is reported that some of Tung Fuh Siang's marauders surprised and killed the native convert garrison some time in April.

Will He Be Called?

New York, June 22.—The World has a special from Cleveland, stating that the Brick Presbyterian Church in New York has offered Rev. Morgan Wood $12,000 to be its pastor. Mr. Wood is considering.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N.Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Jas. Lynch. Trial bottles free.

Barely Escaped Cremation.

Rodney, June 22.—About 1.30 o'clock Colin McKay and his family, who reside on Back street, awakened to find the house in flames, and the building was entirely consumed. The family narrowly escaped cremation, and they had no time to save any clothing or furniture. Mr. McKay was quite badly burned about the head and neck, but is not dangerously injured. There was only $450 insurance on the house and contents, which makes it a very heavy loss for Mr. McKay.

"We Can Do No More."

SO SAID THREE DOCTORS IN CONSULTATION.

Yet the Patient Has Been Restored to Health and Strength Through the Agency of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Among the many persons throughout Canada who owe good health—perhaps even life itself—to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Alex. Fair, a well known and highly esteemed resident of West Williams township, Middlesex Co., Ont. For nearly two years Mrs. Fair was a great sufferer from troubles brought on by a severe attack of la grippe. A reporter who called was cordially received by both Mr. and Mrs. Fair and was given the following facts of the case: "In the spring of 1896 I was attacked by la grippe for which I was treated by our family doctor but instead of getting better I gradually grew worse, until my whole body became racked with pains. I consulted one of the best doctors in Ontario and for nearly eighteen months followed his treatment, but without any material benefit. I had a terrible cough which caused intense pains in my head and lungs; I became very weak; could not sleep, and for over a year I could only talk in a whisper and sometimes my voice left me entirely. I came to regard my condition as hopeless, but my husband urged further treatment and on his advice our family doctor, with two others, held a consultation, the result of which was that they pronounced my case incurable. Neighbours advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but after having already spent over $500 in doctor's bills I did not have much faith left in any medicine but as a last resort I finally decided to give them a trial. I had not taken many boxes of the pills before I noticed an improvement in my condition and this encouraged me to continue their use. After taking the pills for several months I was completely restored to health. The cough disappered; I no longer suffered from the terrible pains I once endured; my voice became strong again; my appetite improved, and I was able to obtain restful sleep once more. While taking the pills I gained 37 pounds in weight. All this I owe to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I feel that I cannot say enough in their favour for I know that they have certainly saved my life."

In cases of this kind Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will give more certain and speedy results than any other medicine. They act directly on the blood thus reaching the root of the trouble and driving every vestige of disease from the system. Sold by all dealers in medicine or sent post paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BELOW PROPER STRENGTH.

Lord Charles Beresford Uses Strong Language to British Admiralty.

London, June 22.—The Daily Mail publishes a letter from Rear-Admiral Lord Charles Beresford to a correspondent, complaining of the want of proper strength and efficiency in Great Britain's Mediterranean fleet.

In this letter, Lord Charles says that his duty as second in command of the fleet prevents his giving his reasons publicly. He further says he has communicated his views on the subject to the proper authorities in as strong and clear Anglo-Saxon language as he can command.

At the beginning of the year, the British squadron in the Mediterranean Sea, under the command of Vice-Admiral Sir John A. Fisher and Lord Charles Beresford, consisted of:

Eleven battleships.
Eight cruisers.
Fifteen torpedo boat destroyers.
Three torpedo boats.
Three gunboats.
Two sloops.
Six special service vessels.

YOU CANNOT CURE PILES
By Internal Remedies.

The only sure way to cure every form of piles is to use a remedy like the Pyramid Pile Cure, which is applied directly to the parts affected, and its wonderful healing effects are apparent from the first application because the medicinal properties are rapidly absorbed by tissues and sensitive membranes of the rectum, and the cure is made speedily and almost before the patient is aware of it every trace of piles has left him.

This is one of the reasons why the Pyramid Pile Cure has been so uniformly successful. It is applied directly, just where it is needed, and where it will do the most good. Not by the roundabout way of the stomach, nor the harsh barbarous methods of various surgical operations and so-called systems.

Direct application to the seat of the disease is the only rational way, and this is fully accomplished by the Pyramid Pile Cure.

If the voluntary testimony of thousands who have tried this remedy is worth anything then no sufferer has any excuse for longer delaying in giving it a fair trial, knowing that when you do so the Pyramid Pile Cure will have made one more friend, the best possible advertisement we can have. The chief advantages of the remedy are: It cures without pain, the cure is lasting, it contains no poison, and, lastly, it is the quickest and cheapest cure yet found. Your druggist can tell you what it has done for others.

Testimonials of cures from all parts of the United States will be sent on application to the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich.

Mr. Tiffin Explains.

Montreal, June 22.—Mr. E. Tiffin, traffic manager of the Intercolonial Railway, gives out for publication the reasons why the C. P. R. refuses to accept freight for delivery at I. C. R. points east of St. John, N. B., as follows:

"As we are a Montreal line, freight traffic out of Montreal to all Intercolonial points is local, too, and belongs entirely to the Intercolonial Railway, and it is a recognized rule of all railways that traffic that is entirely local belongs to the line on which the local points are located. It would not be necessary for us to make any concessions to the Canadian Pacific or any other in order to secure the traffic which properly belongs to us. Our position in this matter was recognized by the Canadian Pacific Railway."

Kootenay Junior Judge.

Ottawa, June 22.—The appointment of Andrew Leamy as junior judge for the Kootenay District was gazetted yesterday.

The body of a man was found near the dock of the National Storage Company at Communipaw, N. Y., on Friday. There is little doubt that it is that of B. Stevens of New Dorp, S. I., who has been missing since the Northfield accident.

BOUNDARY SETTLED.

Canada Gets 3,400 Feet More Territory at Mount Baker.

NO RICH MINES IN TERRITORY.

Canada's View in the Williamette Seizure Upheld—Lord Strathcona Tells of Numerous Business Chances for Canadians—The Auditor-General Going to Europe—Electrical Engineers' Officers.

Ottawa, June 22.—Information which has now reached the Interior Department here tends to confirm to some extent the report telegraphed from United States sources that the southern international boundary of British Columbia at the point in the Cascade Mountains, or, as it is better known, the Mount Baker region, is farther south than was expected. The locality in question is Sillica Creek, and the boundary line has been found to be 3,400 feet south of a point where for many years the dividing line was supposed to run. this information is satisfactory as far as it goes. It would be much more pleasing, however, if another feature of the first report sent out was found to be equally correct, viz., that a number of valuable mines were within the new area. So far as is known here the discovery does not make Canada the owner of any valuable mineral lands.

Canada's View Upheld.

Ottawa, June 22.—The seizure of the United States wrecking steamer Williamette in British Columbia waters, which threatened at one time to become an international difficulty, has been settled in accordance with the contentions of the Canadian Government, and the incident is now declared lost. A convention exists between the United States and the Canadian Governments for reciprocity of wrecking in water contiguous to each other's territory. The Williamette was at work in Union Bay, 80 miles from the Canadian frontier, and the Dominion Government, taking the view that this could not be held to be contiguous waters, seized the vessel. The United States Government then took the matter up, but when the view of the Canadian Government authorities was brought to their notice, the former conceded that it was a very proper one, and no further action was taken.

Chance For Canadians.

Ottawa, June 22.—The Department of Trade and Commerce yesterday received the following enquiries from Lord Strathcona:

A Midland firm enquires after exporters of small wood boxes for packing purposes, the goods to be shipped flat. Enquiry is made as to the demand for Davy safety lamps for miners and the opening in Canada for such goods. The addresses are wanted of Canadian manufacturers of wool, hemp, tow, jute and silk who utilize steel pins, in the earlier processes. A Glasgow man of experience is opening an agency for firms exporting iron ore, pig-iron and steel in booms and billets. A London commission agent is open to take agencies.

The Auditor-General's Trip.

Mr. John L. McDougall, Auditor-General for the Dominion, sails from Portland on July 6 for England on public business. The object of his journey is to make a study of the general principles and details of the systems of national audit which obtain not only in England but in France, Germany and Austria. He will return to Canada about the end of August.

The Electrical Convention.

Ottawa, June 22.—The Canadian Electrical convention practically finished business yesterday morning with the election of officers. Mr. P. G. Gossler, Montreal, has been elected president, and Mr. C. H. Mortimer, Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

Quebec will be the scene of next year's conference.

Off For England.

Ottawa, June 22.—Mr. Newcombe, Deputy Minister of Justice, left yesterday for England on private business. He will during his stay consult with English authorities on the copyright question. Sir. Henry Strong, P. C., sails for England by the Commonwealth on July 3 to attend the sitting of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

DAVID LEAVES CARRIE.

Husband of Notorious Mrs. Nation Gives Notice of Separation.

Mount Gilead, Ohio, June 22.—Public notice of his separation from his wife was given yesterday by David Nation, husband of Mrs. Carrie Nation. Mr. Nation, who is now at the home of his daughter in Iberia, this county, issued the following:

To the Public: Mrs. Nation has seen fit to leave our comfortable home in Medicine Lodge, Kan., and says she will never return to it to live. Therefore, there is nothing left for me to do but live somewhere else, as I am too old and feeble to live alone. I have decided to spend the remaining few years allotted to me with my daughter, Mrs. William Riddle, in Iberia. She takes good care of me in all my afflictions. As I shall remain here, the people have a right to know that much.

Corner in Opium.

London, June 22.—Advices have been received from Smyrna to the effect that rain has seriously injured the Turkish opium crop, and that American buyers have realized handsome profits through shrewd forecasting of the recent storms. Immediately prior to the downfall which began early in the month, brokers representing an "American drug syndicate" purchased nearly eight thousand pounds of opium, practically cornering the visible supply.

SHAM FIGHT AT NIAGARA.

Wind Up of Annual Camp With a Bloodless Engagement.

Camp Niagara, June 22.—Old, battle-scared, war-worn Fort George witnessed yesterday another of those bloodless battles of which it has been the central point of attack so many times. Niagara camp yesterday afternoon was emptied of troops. They were divided into two divisions. One, an attacking force under Colonel Lessard, R. C. D., was marched to Virgil, about four miles from Niagara on the stone road connecting Niagara with St. Catharines. It was composed of the G. G. B. G. and 2nd Dragoons, and these Infantry Regiments, 20th, 37th, 39th, 77th, 97th, 31st, 34th, 36th and 12th.

The other divisions made up of the 35th and 44th Infantry and the Toronto Mounted Rifles, was marched two miles up the river road. It was under the command of Lt.-Col. Ward of the 35th, and formed the advance force of an army concentrated at Queenston, which was advancing on Niagara to take up a defensive position.

At the close, Col. Otter commended the men and officers very highly for the coolness which they had shown in seeking cover whenever possible, and said further that it was the best sham battle he had ever seen, either at Niagara or any other camp. He also spoke favorably of the order maintained in camp and the great progress made in drill.

Something like 40,000 rounds of blank cartridges were fired during the battle.

The two young men of the Toronto Mounted Rifles, who were so seriously injured at the sports on Thursday evening, also Pte. Tansley of the 12th, were removed to the Toronto Hospital yesterday. They are both doing splendidly.

Tents will be struck and all the soldiers will be away to-day.

A COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER'S STORY

Interview With Mr. J. H. Ireland one of the Old Time Knights of the Grip.

His Plight on a Recent Occasion in the Maritime Provinces—How Dodd's Kidney Pills Came to His Help—High Words of Praise for That Remedy

Toronto, June 19, (Special).—Mr. J. H. Ireland, the well-known traveller for hats and caps, left for the Maritime Provinces one day last week. Handily packed in Mr. Ireland's private grip was a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the medicine famous throughout Canada as a specific for all troubles of the kidneys. When asked about his experience with this remedy Mr. Ireland grew quite enthusiastic.

"I never go out on a trip of any length without a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills," he asserted.

"Are you afflicted with Kidney Trouble a great deal then," Mr. Ireland was asked.

"Not a great deal now, no," replied Mr. Ireland, "I take Dodd's Kidney Pills more as a preventative than anything else. But in the winter of ninety-eight I was, I can tell you, I was down in Nova Scotia when I first used Dodd's Kidney Pills. I don't know whether it was the water down there, the climate, riding so much in the train or what, but certainly my kidneys were on the point of a complete break down. Backache! it was one continual misery. It spoiled my business, broke my rest and wore me down until the life was taken right out of me."

"And you used Dodd's Kidney Pills?"

"I used the only remedy I knew of that was a specific for the kidneys," answered Mr. Ireland. "The first doss of Dodd's Kidney Pills seemed to go right to the spot. In a few days I was feeling as well as ever I did in my life. They are splendid medicine. I have recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to scores of men on the road like myself and none of them but have the warmest praise for the medicine, being just exactly what we need in our walk of life, a safe reliable strengthening stimulant for the kidneys."

EXPLOSION AT PATERSON, N.J.

Fourteen Persons Thought to Be Dead From Shock and Burns.

New York, June 22.—Many persons were killed and a number injured yesterday as the result of an explosion among a large quantity of fireworks in the store of Abraham Rittenburg at Paterson, N. J. The cause of the explosion is not known. The property loss will not exceed $35,000.

After a couple hours' work the firemen had the flames out, and began the work of cooling the ruins to get at the bodies. At first it was thought that but three persons were lost. Mr. and Mrs. Williams and one of the Rittenburg children, but it soon became apparent that others had lost their lives, and finally it became almost a certainty that fourteen were dead.

Rittenburg will probably be arrested, pending an investigation.

DEADLY KIDNEY TROUBLE MORE COMMON THAN EVER BEFORE.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

A True Cure For The Terrible Disease.

Kidney trouble, the most insidious and deceptive of all diseases is on the increase, and cutting down its thousands every year. It works for many months on its victims before they are properly aware of their true condition. Then there is fear and dread alarm, and the physician is hurridly consulted. Experimenting on the suffering one is then proceeded with, but soon—too soon—the victim is pronounced incurable, and left to die.

Dr. Phelps' world-famed medical prescription, Paine's Celery Compound is the one great and positive cure for kidney ailments such as Bright's disease and diabetes. It is the only medicine that reaches the seat of the awful and dreaded malady. After a brief use of Paine's Celery Compound the sufferer from kidney trouble gets rid of backache, headache, constipation, bloating and that constant call to urinate. The wonderful and curing compound acts gently on the kidneys, the liver, the stomach, and all the organs of digestion, and brings them into perfect harmony with each other.

No case of kidney trouble is too difficult for the life-giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. See that you get "PAINE'S."

Russian Menace For Turkey.

Sofia, Bulgaria, June 22.—Grand Duke Alexander Michailovitch of Russia, a cousin of the Czar, and a naval officer of some distinction, is expected to visit the Bulgarian port of Burghas about July 20 on board the battleship Rostislav. Some days after the Duke's arrival the Russian Black Sea fleet will arrive at Burghas. Taken in conjunction with the recent report that Russia is seeking to acquire either Varna or Burghas as a Black Sea port whence she can command Constantinople, the visit of the fleet is likely to produce some impression throughout Europe.

Annual Church Service.

The members of Court Chemong, No. 530, I.O.F., and any visiting brethren, are especially requested to meet at the hall, No. 422 George street, to-morrow (Sunday, 23rd inst.,) at 6.15 p.m., for the purpose of attending divine worship at the Mark street Methodist church. Thomas Dale, C. R.; J. W. Buyers, R. S.

Just Arrived.

A carload of choice fruit and vegetables, consisting of Florida pineapples, oranges, bananas, cocoanuts, tomatoes, cucumbers, butter beans, new potatoes, cabbage, etc., all personally selected by Mr. Oke in Toronto yesterday; also a large supply of fresh Canadian strawberries. S. A. Oke, 376 George street. Telephone 18. tf142

A Treat for the Editor.

A box of great luscious Canadian grown strawberries found its way into the sanctum sanctorum to-day from Messrs. Arnott Brothers' North Monaghan fruit farm. The berries were of enormous size, in fact the largest ye editor ever gazed upon, and their firmness and delicacy of flavour should ensure a big patronage to Arnott Bros. this season.

Masonic Notice.

An emergent communication of Peterborough Lodge No. 155 A.F. and A.M. will be held in the lodge room, Water street on Sunday the 23rd inst. at 3 p.m. for the purpose of attending public Divine Worship in the George Street Methodist Church. Members of sister lodges and visiting brethern are invited to attend. Sermon by Bro. Rev. J. P. Wilson. W. H. Walkey, Secretary.

Men's Gospel Meeting.

The meetings for men on Sunday afternoons during the summer months will be made attractive by a Gospel song service conducted by well known singers. On Sunday Mr. Watson will conduct the song service preliminary to the address which will be given by Rev. Mr. Edmison, who will leave shortly for his charge at Cheltenham. All men, young or old, are invited to attend and enjoy the service.

MR. GRUBBE RETIRES.

Superannuation of Very Popular Bank Official—Other Changes.

After thirty-six years of faithful service (thirty-four of which have been spent in the teller's cage) Mr. R. W. Grubbe, the courteous and obliging teller of the local branch of the Bank of Toronto, retires from active service, having been superannuated at his own request, on account of failing health.

Mr. Grubbe's circle of friends is a wide one, indeed, and so popular was he amongst the patrons of the Bank of Toronto, that for years it was known to a great extent as "Grubbe's Bank." It is understood that the Bank has dealt very liberally with Mr. Grubbe in regard to his superannuation allowance.

Mr. Grubbe will be succeeded by Mr. J. Gracey, who was here some years ago as Junior. Mr. C. A. B. Poussette has been advanced to a higher position in the Montreal branch of the bank and needless to say, one so popular will be greatly missed in town.

Mr. Sandford Hall is promoted to Mr. Poussette's position, and will be replaced by Mr. Leonard, of the McKenzie Preparatory School, Lakefield.

BAND IN THE PARK.

It was not Heard to Good Advantage Last Evening

The Fifty-Seventl Regimental Band gave a band concert in the Central Park last evening which attracted a large number. The programme put on was an excellent one, but the band was not heard to good advantage, owing probably to the absence of the sounding board over the band stand.

There were many protests against the band being obliged to play in Central Park, as it is claimed that it is unfit for a band concert, and has not the advantages in this respect possessed by Victoria Park. One citizen last evniug stated that he would see that a largely signed petition was sent into the council in reference to this matter.

ITALIANS WON'T WORK.

Two Carloads Refuse to Take the Place of Striking Trackmen.

The Fifty-seventh Regimental Band Grand Trunk station last evening as the 5.30 train was pulling out, might have noticed a large number of Italians with bags and baggage board the same. In conversation with the spokesman of the party it was learned that they were a portion of a gang of Italians—two carloads—whom, he claimed, the C.P.R. had brought over from Buffalo to take the place of the striking trackmen. He further asserted that no mention was made of the strike when they were engaged, and they did not learn the true state of affairs until they were put on the road between here and Montreal. They made a decided kick, however, and refuse dto work in the place of the strikers. They therefore packed up their bundles and started back for the 'Pan-Am." City in disgust.

POTTED CHEESE.

We have stocked a full line of MILLER'S ROYAL PARAGON CHEESE, which will be sold at close prices.

THE GEO. MATTHEWS CO., Limited.

Pointers for Lindsay.

A writer in the Lindsay Post in dealing withthe condition of the streets of that town gives the following "valuable" pointers to the Council:—"If we must have tile, it should be strung on the telegraph lines immediately over the road, so it will absorb the water before it reaches the street. In this way we would also save digging and accomplish just the same result. I am told it is the intention to plant geraniums between the sidewalk and the curbing. If this is correct they should be set out at once, otherwise the season will be over and we will not have had one whiff of the beautiful perfume. My opinion is that too much time is lost by the Council talking gas and franchise schemes. The old gas pipe is still in the ground and all we need do is connect it with the council chamber and we will get all the voltage our present insurance rates entitle us to."

DRANK BENZINE.

An Ashburnham Baby has a Narrow Escape From Death.

Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, Euclid avenue, Ashburnham, very nearly lost their two year old baby last evening through its having swallowed a quantity of benzine.

Mr. Murphy poured out a quantity of benzine from a bottle into a cup, as he wished to use the bottle for something else. The cup was placed on the window sill where the baby was able to reach it by standing up in the cradle. Half the contents of the cup were swallowed before the mother could reach the child and take the cup away.

Dr. McNulty was immediately summoned and he had to work with the baby nearly all night to save it. This afternoon the little one was resting easily.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Mark Carroll, of Downeyville, was in town to-day.

Mr. W. J. Young was in Toronto yesterday on business.

Mrs. Fred Shannon, town, is visiting friends in Lindsay.

Mrs. F. W. Adlam left town yesterday on a visit to friends in Rochester.

Mrs. (Senator) McHugh, of Lindsay, spent Friday in town with friends.

Mrs. Philip Elmhirst and her son, Master Vincent, of Hastings, were in town to-day.

Miss Fanny Redmond, of Millbrook, is the guest of Miss Maggie Doherty, Rubidge street.

Ex-Judge Clarke has resigned his position as solicitor of the C.P.R., and will remove to Cobourg to spend the rest of his days in retirement.

Dr. W. J. Delaney, of Nangatuck, Conn., and Mrs. W. J. Morrow, of Charleston, South Carolina, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Delaney.

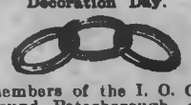
Mrs. M. Smee and daughter, Miss Merton Smee, of town, are visiting with Mrs. M. Wright, 145 Gerrard street east, Toronto. They return home on Thursday.

Port Hope Guide: Mrs. J. W. Hickey, who has been visiting with friends in town for the past two weeks, returned to Peterborough this afternoon. Her son, Fred, will remain over for several weeks.

We are pleased to notice, says the Hastings Star, that Miss Leo Elmhirst has passed with honours in music at the recent examinations held at Notre Dame Convent, Peterborough, for the Conservatory of Music, Toronto.

Mr. Ed. Dobie, of Port Arthur, who is attending the Peterborough Business College, received a telegram yesterday notifying him of an appointment he has received with McKenzie & Mann. The graduates of the Peterborough Business College seem to be in great demand.

Decoration Day.



All members of the I. O. O. F., in and around Peterborough, are requested to meet at the Central Park Tuesday, June 25th, at three o'clock sharp, to march to the Little Lake Cemetery to decorate the graves of the deceased brethren. Usual decoration regalia. M. W. Matchett, D. D.G.M., chairman; F. Perry, P. G., Secretary of Committee.

If you want to enjoy an evening go to St. Luke's Lawn Social, Monday Evening.

HANDSOME WEDDING GIFT.

A Presentation to Mrs. Sutcliffe Which is Fully Appreciated.

Amongst the many beautiful wedding gifts received by Mr. and Mrs. Sutcliffe was the presentation to Mrs. Sutcliffe of a very handsome black marble mantle clock, by the employees of the firm of J. Sutcliffe & Sons. The clock is ornamented with a mother-of-pearl dial, is of pillar design, and visible escapement. A cathedral gong strikes the hours and half hours. The gift is very much appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. Sutcliffe. It was procured through the firm of W. A. Sanderson, Jewellers, etc., of town.

HONOURS FROM LORETTO.

Miss Katie Overend Carries off Two Beautiful Medals.

Miss Kate Overend, daughter of Mr William Overend, arrived home from Loretto Abbey, Toronto, last evening and is receiving the congratulations of her many friends on the successful result of her studies in that institution.

Miss Overend in graduating from the Abbey secured a beautiful gold medal in the form of the Loretto crest, bearing the motto, "Maria Regina Angelorum," and "Cruci Dum Spiro Fido."

In English composition Miss Overend secured a beautiful silver medal which she won in the story competition. The prize story, "A Broken Promise," which appeared in "Leaflets from Loretto," is a splendid tale with a beautiful plot.

DOMINION DAY.

Work for the Peterborough Celebration Steadily Progressing.

All citizens who are interested in the first of July celebration are asked to be in attendance this evening at the committee rooms, No. 403 George street, when the programme for the day will be taken up.

It is understood that the procession will take place a little earlier than was at first calculated, and the sports will start at a later hour to give the citizens and visitors an opportunity of visiting St. Joseph's Hospital Picnic at the Separate School grounds, where an excellent programme of sports is to be run off, and where meals will be served, as only the ladies of St. Peter's can serve them.

The Labourers' Union.

A largely attended meeting of the labouring men of the town was held in the S.O.E. Hall last evening, when matters were discussed in relation to the Labourers' Union about to be organized. Mr. William Hendrie occupied the chair. The charter for the new Union arrived in town during the week.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR SEWER CONNECTION.

BETTER SANITARY ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE SOUTH CENTRAL SCHOOL.

The Board of Education Took Action in the Matter Last Evening at a Special Meeting

At a special meeting of the Board of Education, which was held last evening, there were present Messrs. W. H. Hill, Chairman; W. G. Ferguson, W. B. Bamford, L. M. Hayes, V. Eastwood, W. Langford, Robert Fair and Dr. Caldwell.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Finance Committee through its Chairman, W. B. Bamford, recommended as follows:

That according to your instructions given us at the last meeting of the Board, we waited on the Finance Committee of the Town Council on two occasions and discussed with them the matter of providing funds for the purpose of installing a system of closets and connecting them with the sewer at the South Central School. As the rate for the present year had been already struck it would be impossible to provide the money this year unless there was a money bylaw submitted to the people, which would cost about $200 and would delay the work until after the summer holidays.

The Committee of the Council were all in favour of the Board undertaking the work and passed the following resolution:

"That this Committee recommend the School Board to take any steps which may be found reasonably necessary to place the South Ward School in a satisfactory sanitary condition and to temporarily finance the same and to add the cost thus necessarily entailed to their next year's demand and thus obviate the legal questions and cost involved to a second assessment this year."

Your Committee would therefore recommend that the Property Committee be instructed to go ahead with the work and let the contracts and that whatever shortage there may arise be carried over until next year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. B. BAMFORD, Chairman.

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Bamford and Fair.

A communication was received from Mr. A. W. Macpherson, of the Collegiate Staff, withdrawing his request for a year's leave of absence and asking instead that he be granted leave of absence until the end of September. Mr. Macpherson's request was granted.

The Board then adjourned.

FOR THE BOARD ROOM.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt and Hon. Mr. Stratton Make Donations.

Two very handsome contributions to the ornamentation of the walls of the Board Room in the Collegiate Institute have recently been made in the form of gifts from Hon. Mr. Harcourt, Minister of Education, and Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary.

Mr. Harcourt has forwarded a case of finely modelled busts of famous authors and other models of fine art specimens and Mr. Stratton's donation is a very handsome framed picture four feet by five feet in size, of the Normal School, Toronto.

Both gifts received the attention of the members of the Board last evening and most favourable comment was freely expressed as to the kindness of the donors, which will receive official recognition at the next regular meeting of the Board.

A WHITE PARROT.

Of the Corrilla Species Brought to Town

Mrs. (Captain) Augustus, of Prescott, is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. Grundy, Water street, and has brought with her one of two white parrots, of the Corrilla species, sent by her uncle from Sidney, Australia, which were taken from their nests last November. They are easier taught, and speak a longer sentence than any of the other parrot family.

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

A farewell reception under the auspices of the National Home Reading Union, The Fortnightly Club, and a committee of citizens, will be tendered Rev. and Mrs. Symonds on Friday evening, June 28th, in the Y. M. C. A. Hall at eight o'clock. Addresses will be read and a programme of music given. Sheriff Hall will occupy the chair. The public are cordially invited.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Smallpox is stamped out in Kirkfield.

—There was no session of the Police Court this morning.

—Some farmers report that the crop of apples will be small.

—A monster 12th of July celebration will be held at Rosseath.

—In many parts the hay crop is fast maturing, and will be abundant.

—The Chief of Police wants an owner for a pair of spectacles and a belt.

—There was a very splendid market this morning. The supply of vegetables being a large one.

—His Worship Mayor Denne has proclaimed the afternoon of Tuesday, June 25th, a public holiday.

—Chief Rossel wants an owner for a pocket book containing a railway ticket adn a small sum of money.

—An excursion will be run to Peterborough from Oakwood on June 25, under the auspices of the C.O.C.F. and I.O.F.

—The farmers say that wheat has been "scorched" to some extent in many places by the long continued spell of wet weather.

—A meeting of the Board of Works will be held on Monday afternoon for the purpose of meeting the Douro council regarding the Douro boundary and for the transaction of other business.

—Special meeting will be held on Saturday night and all day Sunday, June 22nd and 23rd, at the Salvation Army Barracks, conducted by Captain Poole, agent for the G. B. M. work of the Salvation Army in East Ontario. All are invited.

—The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, 14 King street west, Toronto, accept all classes of trust funds, whether under will, marriage settlement or agreement. As the company has perpetual existence, its clients have the assurance that the terms of the trust will be carried out, no matter what period they cover, without changing the trustee, which so often occurs when a private individual has been appointed in that capacity.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

GOLF.

The third round of the spring handicap is as follows:

Mrs. R M Dennistoun vs. Miss Halliday.

Mrs. Eastwood vs. Miss L Davidson.

Miss Tucker vs. Miss K Hall.

The matches in this round must must be played off on or before Thursday, 20th June.

BOWLING.

There was a great time at the bowling green last evening. The interest was occasioned through a challenge issued by Mr. Robert Kerr to Mr. W. Bunton, to play a matched game. As Mr. Kerr is a bowler of experience and Mr. Bunton had only played once in his life, the former was looked on as a sure winner, but bowling, like curling, is a slippery game as was proven by the fact that Mr. Bunton was able to so well adapt himself to the requirements of the game as to make the match result in a draw. The rinks were composed as follows:

E Wasson	W Pringle
M Kennedy	Dr. McClelland
K Houston	G Giroux
W Bunton sk...11.	R Kerr, sk...11.

Mr. Bunton's rink, as will be observed, was picked from amongst the Oriental boarders and just here it might be remarked that the hotel is able to turn out fourteen bowlers.

CRICKET.

The match to be played between the town juniors and the Peterborough Colts, which was to have been played next Saturday, has been postponed, and will likely be played here on Thursday, 27th, the latter date being more suitable for the local team.—Lindsay Post.

LACROSSE.

A full practice of the Vaticans is called for this evening at the Separate School grounds at 8 o'clock.

An effort will be made to bring a lacrosse team from town to Port Hope on July 2nd.

The Lindsay Post says that the team of that town will give the Vaticans a game some day next week.

BASEBALL.

Lindsay defeated Port Hope yesterday by the score of 5-3.

The Peterborough nine will probably journey to Lindsay some day next week to give the Scugog nine a game.

Oshawa nine will play the locals here on July 1st. Oshawa is playing good ball this season.

The Rosedales challenge the Junior Shamrocks for a game on July 1st, 1901, in the Murray Street School yard on Dominion Day, for a silver cup donated by the Calcutt Brewing and Malting Company, of town. A hot game will be looked for as both teams are well up in practice.

The West End Baseball Aggregation having put in a number of nights' stiff practice, are out after the scalps of other "nines" that run up against them. They are looking for a game on July 1st and hope to be accommodated. It is therefore up to the Elms of Ashburnham or the Young Nationals of the south end to show what they can do. Should they intend to give the West Enders a game on that date, or any other date convenient to them, answer through this column. W. Hagel, Secretary-Treasurer.

Y.M.C.A. ATHLETICS.

There was a large attendance of lacrosse enthusiasts out at the Nicholls Oval on Thursday, and a good practice was enjoyed. There is some splendid material in some of the young players which will no doubt be developed before the season closes.

The Y. M. C. A. and Vaticans are playing a match this evening at the Nicholls oval at 6 o'clock. All interested in the good old game are invited to attend. The Vaticans are invited to participate in the baths at the Y.M.C.A. at the close of the game. The following team will represent the Y.M.C.A.: Goal, Barrie; point, Whatley; cover point, Trollope; 1st defence, Glover; 2nd defence, Comstock; 3rd defence, Galley; centre, Horace Ayers; 1st home, Robertson; 2nd home, Robinson; 3rd home, McLeod; outside home, Campbell, inside home, Dumble.

Up the Lakes.

Remember the Auburn Sunday School excursion up the Lakes on Dominion Day, July 1st, stopping at points of interest on Stony Lake. For particulars see posters. 1d

WEDDING AT HAVELOCK.

Miss Emma Mark Wedded to Rev. J. W. Coone of Manilla.

On Thursday, June 11th, Havelock Methodist church presented a most pleasing appearance, being beautifully decorated in honour of one of one of the most popular young ladies of the town, Miss Emma Mark, daughter of the late Kenward Mark, of Peterborough, and sister of the late Dr. Mark of Mount Pleasant. The fortunate groom was Rev. J. W. Coone of Manilla, and the officiating minister was Rev. J. C. Bell, assisted by Rev. J. McCamus, cousin of the groom, and Rev. T. W. Jolliffe, the chairman of Cannington district.

Little Miss Maggie Mark daintily attended the bride as flower girl. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Wesley Coone. Rev. A. Coone, and Messrs. D. MacQueen, M. Swain and H. Kindred acted as ushers.

The bride was becomingly gowned in white Persian lawn with the usual veil, secured by orange blossoms and carried a handsome shower bouquet of white roses. Flowers were in evidence everywhere.

After the ceremony the guests drove to the residence of Mr. James Marks, where the happy couple received congratulations from more than one hundred invited guests. They then adjourned to the lawn, where an elaborate dejeuner was served.

Rev. Mr. Bell proposed the toast of the bride, which was responded to by Revs. J. McCamus, A. Coone, and R. E. Finlay.

A large number of beautiful presents testified to the high esteem in which the bride, who was organist of the church, was held. The choir presented her with a most beautiful engraved silver tea service; the ordination class sent a handsome parlour lamp; the sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. (Dr.) Mark, of Toronto, gave a cheque for $25, while many others gave valuable and useful gifts.

Rev. and Mrs. Coone propose mooring their matrimonial barque in the Northwest, to which conference the transfer has just been effected. They left for Toronto, Grand Rapids, and other points west, from whence they will journey northward to their new home, accompanied by the warmest wishes of their large circle of friends.

A postal card at an early date from friends outside the city, stating if they have a reasonable expectation of attending the Institute, would confer a favour on the Primary Committee.

For further information write to Mr. Yellowlees, Associate Secretary.

Vandalism at Jackson Park.

Complaints have reached the Chief of Police that boys and older individuals who would be ashamed to be classed as boys, have been acting in a very disgraceful manner in Jackson Park. They are not content with the bathing facilities provided, but seem to prefer using the artificial lake. Besides they are guilty of using obscene language, insulting visitors, and destroying the benches and tables of the park. The police are determined to put a stop to this state of affairs, so the offenders may expect to hear something drop.

Dr. N. A. Powell Elected President of Ontario Medical Association — The Winding-Up Proceedings.

Toronto, June 21.—The Ontario Medical Association concluded its annual meeting last night with a business session. Dr. N. A. Powell of Toronto was elected president for the ensuing year.

Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education, addressed the physicians in the morning. He claimed for Canadian doctors a marked superiority over their brethren in the United States, and, particularly commended the medical profession in Ontario for keeping up the standard of matriculation and graduation. If the best results were to be achieved, the portals of entry to the profession must be carefully guarded, Valuable papers were read by Drs. A. W. Mayburry, J. T. Duncan, A. Sterling Ryerson and D. J. G. Wishart, B. L. Riordan and T. Shaw Webster.

The chief event on the morning program was the discussion on gastric ulcers, which was treated from three different standpoints by Drs. R. D. Rudolf, H. B. Anderson and Henry Howitt of Guelph.

The association expressed its opinion upon a subject that caused so much discussion at the recent session of the Medical Council, by passing unanimously a resolution approving of the $2 annual fee, payable to the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Four important papers were read in the afternoon. Dr. S. Cummings of Hamilton explained the value of X-rays in diagnosing various diseases. Drs. G. Chambers, W. B. Thistle and Walter McKeown, all of Toronto, also contributed the results of interesting medical research.

The evening session was devoted to business. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting in Toronto.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, N. A. Powell, Toronto; 1st vice-president, R. Ferguson, London; 2nd vice-president, R. W. Garrett, Kingston; 3rd vice-president, L. C. Prevost, Ottawa; 4th vice-president, J. L. Turnbull, Clinton; general secretary, H. C. Parsons, Toronto; assistant secretary, Geo. Elliott, Toronto; treasurer, A. R. Gordon, Toronto.

MOUNTED RIFLES INJURED.

A Peculiar Accident to Two Troopers Ridden by Pte. S. H. Sutton and Burt Reid at Camp Niagara.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., June 21.—A sad accident, resulting in serious injury to S. H. Sutton and Burt Reid, privates in the Toronto Mounted Rifles, occurred last evening. While the sports were in progress, a number of soldiers, among whom was Pte. Sutton, were racing on the track adjacent to Fort George. They were galloping fast, and, in their excitement, and with their heads lowered to their horses' necks, they did not see several other riders, who were approaching at a mad gallop in an opposite direction, on the other side of a small building, erected to serve the judges in the races, and which partially hid them from view. Neither saw the other until too late, when one yelled "Look out!" Both swerved their horses, but, in the excitement, one turned his to the wrong side, and the two horses met squarely, forehead to forehead, with an awful thud. Their necks were broken, and both instantly killed, while their riders were pitched forward with fearful impetus, alighting several yards away.

Private Sutton, who alighted on his shoulder, had his left eye and forehead badly cut and his left shoulder-blade broken, while Reid's leg was broken below the knee. Both men were at once conveyed to the field hospital, with Major Peters, surgeon of the Toronto Rifles, Dr. Warren and the members of the Army Medical Corps in attendance. A thorough examination encouraged the doctors to hope that there is no internal injury.

The horses were both fine animals, and their names are well known. The one was "Joe Dan" and the other "Nimrod."

The young men, who are well known in Toronto, cannot explain how it happened, except that as they were racing in opposite directions on a curved track, the building serving as the judges' stand prevented them seeing each other in time to prevent a collision.

Officer Thrown by Horse.

Camp Niagara, June 21.—Yesterday the camp was most disagreeably wet. The rain fell steadily until about 2 p. m. Drill by the Infantry was resumed at 3 p. m., and practice in battalion for nation continued, while the Cavalry Brigade repaired to the review grounds, where a long program of sports was given. During the games, in jumping the third hurdle in the officers steeplechase, Lt. Smith, G. G. B. G., who was in the lead, was thrown by his horse, which rolled over him. Fortunately, no serious injury was done, and the lieutenant will be around today.

The Deaf Made to Hear.

St. Thomas—A modern miracle was made known to-day when Mr. Riddle, of this city, announced that he had recovered his hearing. He has been almost entirely deaf, and it borders on the marvellous to find him able to hear everything with great distinctness. As his case is proving of such universal interest, we give Mr. Riddle's own statement. "My hearing was always poor, and not long ago I became almost deaf. It was the result of catarrhal inflammation, but nothing did me good until I used Catarrhozone. It cured my trouble and I strongly recommend it to the deaf." Fully nine-tenths of the deafness is the result of Catarrh and can be cured by catarrhozone. The cures of deafness wrought by this remedy in cases of even twenty years standing are really astounding. Among many others, ministers of the gospel testify to the wonderful powers of Catarrhozone, and your druggist can tell of some astonishing cases in his own experience. Better give it a trial, if your hearing is impaired. Price $1; small size 25 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S..

Rice Must Stand Trial For Murder.

Toronto, June 21.—The preliminary investigation into the charge against Fred Lee Rice of murdering County Constable William Boyd was resumed and concluded in the Police Court yesterday, the prisoner being committed for trial at the fall assizes. The evidence given at the inquest before Coroner Powell was repeated, with scarcely any variations. Rice, whose face showed the strain of close confinement, watched the witnesses closely, paying particular attention to the questions put by his lawyer, T. C. Robinette.

To Revise the Geneva Convention.

Berne, June 21.—The President, M. Brenner, announced yesterday at a meeting of the Bundesrath, that most of the signatories, including the United States, had accepted an invitation to a conference on the revision of the Geneva convention. He hoped the delegates would meet in 1902.

The Geneva convention neutralizes and exempts, so far as possible, from the casualties of war, all persons, buildings, vehicles, etc., devoted to the care of the wounded and sick.

VARICOCELE
No matter how serious your case may be or how long you may have had it, our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure it. The "wormy veins" return to their normal condition and hence the sexual organs receive proper nourishment. The organs become vitalized and manly powers return. No temporary benefit, but a permanent cure assured. NO CURE, NO PAY. NO OPERATION NECESSARY. NO DETENTION FROM BUSINESS.
STRICTURE
Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, sharp, cutting pains at times, weak organs, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue, hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened, the nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"No. He is a man who loves excitement. Whatever he does is done openly. Had it been he instead of me he would have thrown you out of the carriage at the first sign on your part that you were watching him. He is a very strong man."

"If he is stronger than you, I am half glad that I got the wrong man. You strike a pretty hard blow. But whether you are the man I want or not you will have to remain till this afternoon, when the count will put in appearance. I dare say it is possible that I have made a mistake. But I could not do otherwise in face of my instructions."

"The princess seems to me more trouble than she is worth."

"It is possible that you have never seen her highness?" he said, hinting a smile. "She is worth all the trouble in the world."

"If a man loved her," I suggested.

"And what man does not who has seen her and talked to her?" he replied, pacing.

"The interest, then, you take in her discovery is not all due to that imposed upon you by Count von Walden?" I could not resist this thrust.

"The subject is one that does not admit discussion," squaring his shoulders.

"Suppose we talk of something that does not concern her. All this is a blunder for which you are partly to blame. I have a bad lump on my head, and you have a black eye; but, as you did what you believed to be your duty and as I did what every man does when self preservation becomes his first thought, let us cry quits. Come, what do you say to a game of cards? Let us play ecarte, or I will teach you the noble game of poker. To tell you the truth, I am becoming dreadfully bored."

"Believe me, I bear you no ill will," he said, "and I am inclined to your side of the story. Whoever you are, you have the bearing of a gentleman, and now that we have come to an understanding I shall treat you as such. I have a pack of cards down stairs. I'll go and get them. This is not my house or I should have placed you in better quarters. I shall leave the door unlocked," a question in his eyes.

"Rest assured that I shall return to the city as I came—in a carriage—and, to be honest, I am anxious to see the Count von Walden, who poses as the princess' watchdog."

And when he came back and found me still sitting on the pallet his face cleared. We played for small sums, and the morning passed away rather pleasantly than otherwise. The young officer explained to me that he held an important position at court and that he was entitled to prefix baron to his name.

"The king is getting out of all patience with her highness," he said. "This makes the second time the marriage has been postponed. Such occurrences are extremely annoying to his majesty, who does not relish having his commands so flagrantly disregarded. I shouldn't be surprised if he forced her into the marriage."

"When he knows how distasteful this marriage is to her, why does he not let the matter go?"

"It is too late now. Royalty, having given its word, never retracts it. Events which the king wills must come to pass or he loses a part of his royal dignity. And then a king cannot very well be subservient to the will of a subject."

"But has she no rights as a petty sovereign?" I asked.

"Only those which the king is kind enough to give her. She is but a tenant—the rulers of Hohenphalia are but guests of his majesty. It is to be regretted, but it cannot be helped."

That afternoon, as I lay on my pallet, it seemed to me that in some unaccountable way I was destined to become concerned in the affairs of her serene highness. I had never seen the woman, not even a picture of her. Certainly she must be worth loving, inasmuch as she was worth trouble. I have always found it to be the troublesome woman who has the largest train of lovers. Troublesome, they are interesting; interesting, they are lovable.

It was more than a year since last I saw Phyllis. Yet my love for her knew no diminution. I began to understand why Hillars traveled all over the continent to get a glimpse of the woman he loved. With the pleasant thought that I should see Phyllis again I dozed. I was half asleep when I was aroused by loud voices in the corridor.

"But I do not believe him to be the man," I heard my jailer declare.

"Bah! I know there is no mistake," roared a voice which was accustomed to command. "He's been trying to hoodwink you. Watch the surprise in his face when he sees me, the cursed meddler and scribbler. It would be a pleasure to witness his hanging. Come, show him to me."

"Yes; come along, my dear old warhorse," I murmured, turning my face toward the wall. "There is a nice little surprise party in here waiting for you." The door opened.

"Unlocked!" bawled the count. "What does this mean, baron?"

"He gave his word as a gentleman," was the quiet reply.

"Gentleman? Ach! I'll take a look at the gentleman," said the count, stepping up to the pallet and shaking me roughly by the shoulder. "Wake up!"

I sat up so as not to miss the comedy which was about to set its scenes upon the grim visage of the count. As his eyes met mine his jaw fell.

"A thousand devils! Who are you?"

"I couldn't swear," said I meekly. "Everybody hereabout insists that I am some one else. The situation warrants a complete explanation. Perhaps you can give it." I should have laughed but for those flashing eyes.

"You are a blockhead!" he said to his subaltern.

"He is the man, according to your London correspondent," responded the other, with some show of temper. "I cannot see that the fault lies at my door. You told me that he would enter the country under an assumed name."

"I presume the affair is ended so far as I am concerned," I said, shaking the lameness from my legs.

"Of course, of course!" replied the count, pulling at his gray mustache, which flared out on either side like the whiskers of a cat.

"I should like to return to the city at once," I added.

"Certainly. I regret that you have been the victim of a blunder for which some one shall suffer. Your compatriot has caused me a deal of trouble."

"I assure you that he is in nowise connected with the present matter. According to his latest advices, he is at Vienna."

"I should be most happy to believe that," was the count's rejoinder, which inferred that he didn't believe it.

"My friend seems to be a dangerous person."

"All men of brains, coupled with impudence, are dangerous, and I give your friend credit for being as brave as he is impudent. But, come; my carriage is at your service. You are a journalist, but you will promise not to make public this unfortunate mistake."

I acquiesced. When the count and I parted company, I had not the vaguest idea that we should ever hold conversation again. The result of the adventure was I sent a very interesting story to New York, omitting my part in it. This done, I wired my assistant in London not to expect me for some time yet. The truth was I determined to hunt for Hillars and incidentally for her serene highness the Princess Hildegarde of Hohenphalia.

CHAPTER VIII.

As I came along the road, the dust of which had been laid that afternoon by an odorous summer rain, the principal thing which struck my eyes was the quaintness and unquestioned age of the old inn. It was a relic of the days when feudal lords still warred with one another and the united kingdom was undreamed of. It looked to be 300 years old and might have been more. From time to time it had undergone various repairs, as shown by the new stone and signs of modern masonry, the slate peeping out among the moss covered tiles. It sat back from the highway and was surrounded by thick rows of untrimmed hedges and was partly concealed from view by oaks and chestnuts. The gardens were full of roses all in bloom, and their perfume hung heavy on the moist air. And within a stone's throw of the rear the Danube noiselessly slid along its green banks. All I knew about the inn was that it had been by a whim of nature the birthplace of that beautiful, erratic and irresponsible young person, her serene highness the Princess Hildegarde. It was here I thought to find Hillars, though it was idle curiosity as much as anything which led me to the place.

The village was five miles below. I could see the turrets of the castle which belonged to the princess. She was very wealthy and owned as many as three strongholds in the petty principality of Hohenphalia. Capricious indeed must have been the woman who was ready to relinquish them for freedom.

The innkeeper was a pleasant, ruddy cheeked old man who had seen service. He greeted me with some surprise. Tourists, he said, seldom made this forgotten, out of the way village an objective point. I received a room which commanded a fine view of the river and a stretch of the broad highway. I was the only guest. This very loneliness pleased me. My travel stained suit I exchanged for knickerbockers and a belted jacket. I went down to supper. It was a simple affair, and I was made to feel at home. From the dining room I caught a momentary flash of white skirts in the barroom.

"Ah," I thought, "a barmaid! If she is pretty, it will be a diversion."

In the course of my wanderings I had seen few barmaids worth looking at twice. When the table was cleared, I lit a cigar and strolled into the gardens. The evening air was delicious with the smell of flowers still wet with rain. The spirit of the breeze softly whispered among the branches above me. Far up in the darkening blues a hawk circled. The west was a thread of yellow flame; the moon rose over the hills in the east; Diana on the heels of Apollo! And the river! It was as though nature had suddenly become lavish in her bounty and had sent a stream of melting silver trailing over all the land. There is nothing more beautiful to see than placid water as it reflects a summer's twilight. The blue Danube! Who has heard that magic name without the remembrance of a face close to your own, an arm, bare, white, dazzling, resting and gleaming like marble on your broadcloth sleeve and, above all, the dreamy, swinging strains of Strauss? There was a face once which had rested near mine. Heigho! I lingered with my cigar and watched the night reveal itself.

And then, right in the midst of my dreams, a small foot planted itself. I turned my head and saw a woman. On seeing the bright end of my cigar, she stopped. She stood so that the light of the moon fell full upon her face. My cigar trembled and fell.

"Phyllis!" I cried, springing to my feet, almost dumfounded, my heart nigh suffocating me in its desire to leap forth. "Phyllis!—and here? What does this mean?"

The woman looked at me with a puzzled frown, but did not answer. Then as I started toward her with outstretched arms she turned and fled into the shadows, leaving with me nothing but the echo of her laughter, the softest, sweetest laughter! I made no effort to follow her, because I was not quite sure that I had seen anything.

"Moonlight!" I laughed discordantly.

Phyllis in this deserted place? I saw how impossible that was. I had been dreaming. The spirit of some wood nymph had visited me and for a brief space had borrowed the features of the woman I loved. In vain I searched the grove. The vision was nowhere to be found. I went back to the inn somewhat shaken up. Several old veterans were seated in the barroom, smoking bad tobacco and drinking a final bout. Their jargon was unintelligible to me.

"Where's your barmaid?" I asked of the innkeeper.

His faded blue eyes scanned me sharply. I read a question in them and wondered. "She went into the garden to get a breath of fresh air," he said. "She does not like the smoke."

It annoyed me. I had seen some one, then. What would Phyllis, proud Phyllis, say, I mused, when she heard that a barmaid was her prototype?

This thought had scarcely left me when the door in the rear of the bar opened and in came the barmaid herself. No, it was not Phyllis, but the resemblance was so startling that I caught my breath and stared at her with a persistency which bordered on rudeness. The barmaid was blond, whereas Phyllis was neither blond nor brunette, but stood between the extremes, and there was a difference in the eyes. I could see that even in the insufficient light.

"Good evening, fraulein," said I, with apparent composure. "And what might your name be?"

"It is Gretchen, if it please you," with a courtesy. I had a vague idea that this courtesy was made mockingly.

FOR THE PAN-AMERICAN.

Hastings Brass Band Will Accompany 15th Regiment of Belleville.

A writer in the Hastings Star has this to say of the band of that village: "If there is anything in Hastings our citizens are proud of it is our band. I doubt if there is another village in Canada of the same size that can turn out a band equal to ours. The very fact of our band being selected to accompany a crack city regiment like the 15th of Belleville to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, speaks volumes for the musical ability of our boys, and Bandmaster Shunk is to be congratulated in securing such an important engagement, as there was sharp competition, and our band was selected as being the best in the military district."

OBITUARY.

An old and highly respected resident of the village of Orono, in the person of Mrs. David Kirkland, passed away on Sunday last, after a wasting illness, extending over a long period of time. Deceased was visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Hockridge, Cobourg, and had returned home only to be taken to their home at Burketon, and although the best of care was given her, she only lasted a few days. The funeral took place on Tuesday last to Orono Cemetery and was well attended. Members of the family present were her son Mr. Wm. Kirkland, of Port Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Hockridge and son Granville, of Cobourg, Mrs. John Foster, of Toronto, Mrs. Bradburn, of Peterboro, and Mr. and Mrs. Bradley of Burketon.

Married in Seymour.

Another of Norwood's young business men has joined the great army of benedicts. On Wednesday Mr. M. E. Knox, jeweller, and Miss May E. Mackey were married at the home of the bride's parents in Seymour. The ceremony which was performed by the Rev. J. C. Bell, assisted by the Rev. R. Taylor, took place at twelve o'clock noon, and the happy couple accompanied by a number of friends, drove to Norwood, where they took the afternoon express for Toronto and Buffalo.

A NURSE'S NOBILITY.

She Imparts Priceless Information to Her Fellow Mortals.

Miss L. Slean, a widely known professional nurse, publishes the following letter, which will be read by thousands, who are contending against difficulties such as she has overcome.

Miss Slean says:

"I desire to volunteer the following information: My duty as a nurse is very exacting, and some time ago I became very greatly run down. I would get dizzy spells with palpitation of the heart, on the least exertion. My blood became thin and watery, and I was utterly unable to perform my duties.

"My friends became alarmed and a physician was called in; but although following all his directions I did not improve. A friend who called on me suggested that I should try Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills, which I did, and I can truthfully assure you that I am thankful I did so, as I am my old self again, and feel better than I have done for many a long day.

"This is a frank, truthful and candid statement. I never gave a testimonial before but consider I am doing right in sending you this. I can get plenty of them from friends who have used your pills, and I will be glad to answer all correspondence relative to my case."

Yours sincerely,

FRIDAY'S SESSION.

The County Council again went into session Friday afternoon.

A number of deputations were present, and the first one to be received was from Victoria County, the members of which interviewed the council with the object of soliciting a grant to assist in re-building the bridge crossing the Burnt River at Kinmount.

Mr. John Austin was the first speaker. He represented that the municipalities immediately adjoining the bridge in question were unable to undertake its re-construction unaided. The County of Victoria was not responsible for the maintenance of the bridge, as the courts had recently decided that no municipality was responsible, the bridge being on a Government colonization road. Through the efforts of Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, a grant of $1,000 had been secured from the Ontario Government to aid in the work of construction, but the sum was not sufficient. The speaker claimed that in asking assistance from Peterborough County, he did not speak as a councillor of Victoria County, but as a representative of the people living adjacent to the bridge and residents of both counties. Even if Peterborough was not legally responsible for the maintenance of the bridge, yet a moral obligation existed, as the structure was used quite as much by the people of Peterborough as by those of Victoria.

Mr. Cobben explained that the bridge had broken down a year ago, and though repaired, could not last longer than next summer. Residents of Galway, to a man, had to cross the bridge to get into Peterborough, and he voiced the sentiments of them all in making an appeal for a grant.

Mr. McNeilly, Clerk of Victoria County, then spoke, entering into the details of recent judgments given in reference to the matter of the maintenance of the bridge, and showing that Peterborough benefitted greatly through the erection of the bridge.

On motion of Councillors Casement and Crowe the matter was referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee.

A deputation from the Township of Douro then appeared before the Council in reference to the county assessment.

Messrs. Wm. Molancy and Wm. O'Brien were the spokesmen, and contended that the equalized assessment of the township was too high, and should be reduced to what the local assessor placed it at, which was a little over $20 per acre.

Moved by Mr. Peck, seconded by Mr. Casement, that the application of the township of Douro, be referred to the Equalization Committee. — Carried.

FIRST OF JULY CELEBRATION.

His Worship Mayor Denne and Mr. Peter Campbell addressed the council in reference to the first of July celebration, explaining the nature of the demonstration, and asking assistance from the council.

Their request was referred to the Finance Committee, on motion of Messrs. Casement and Crowe.

A SCHOOL DEPUTATION.

A deputation from S. S. No. 10, Douro, appeared before the council and Mr. J. Coyle Brown spoke in their behalf. He stated that on Robb's Road in Douro Township in a distance of twenty miles there were only two schools, and the residents of that section of the township were obliged to send their children some four and five miles. It was the feeling of the ratepayers in that section that a new school section should be formed nearer to Lakefield, and a new school built near the boundary of Douro and Dummer. The deputation requested that the northern and eastern portion of the district be formed into a section. Douro Township had appointed an arbitrator in reference to the matter, but Dummer and Lakefield had refused to do so. The deputation wished the council to name one in lieu.

Mr. Jury, who resides eight miles from Lakefield, endorsed what Mr. Brown had said. They would like a new school in their locality near the Pine Grove cheese factory, just east of Lakefield.

Mr. Casement presented a petition from the school section east of Lakefield, requesting the council to take no action in regard to the prayer of S. S. No .10.

The Clerk of Lakefield, Mr. Casement said, had informed him that the petitioners from S. S. No. 10 had not complied with the law in procuring the names of the required number of ratepayers to the petition.

After some further discussion, the matter was on motion of Messrs. Casement and Shaw, referred to the Committee on Schools.

NORTH MONAGHAN DEPUTATION.

Messrs. T. E. Bradburn and ex-Warden Forster, of North Monaghan, appeared on behalf of the township of North Monaghau. They claimed that the township was too highly assessed for county purposes, in fact, they argued, the assessment was 25 per cent. higher than the next highest assessed township in the county. This state of affairs had existed for the past ten years. The township, they pointed out, was not much of a burden to the county, as they had no bridges to maintain. They simply asked that the assessment be lowered, as at present they were assessed $40 per acre.

The matter was referred to the Committee on Equalization, on motion of Messrs. Shaw and Eastland.

SMITH TOWNSHIP HEARD.

Mr. G. E. Elliott addressed the council on behalf of the township of Smith, asking what action the council intended taking in reference to securing a portion of the sum of money the Ontario Government had set aside to improve the public highways of the province. The amount set aside was to be expended within a period of ten years, and as Smith township had a public road which was used by almost the entire county as a means of access to the town, it behooved the council to interest itself in the matter and, if possible, secure a portion of the amount for this highway.

Dr. Jeffs expressed his views on the matter and was of the opinion that townships that had secured grants for colonization roads, were debarred from securing a portion of this sum. If such were the case he considered it would be a good idea to try and secure a portion of the sum in order to procure road making machinery necessary for the construction of decent roads.

Mr. Pearce considered the matter of great importance, and he believed it would be wise to call a special meeting of the County Council to deal with the matter. In the meantime they could ascertain what other counties were doing in regard to the matter.

As the council seemed to be in the dark regarding the laws governing the disposal of this grant, the Warden was instructed to call a special meeting of the council, say in November, to deal with the matter.

COUNTY POLICE MAGISTRATE.

A communication from County Police Magistrate Edmison was read by the Warden. The council some time ago cancelled the sum of $200 given to the County Police Magistrate for travelling expenses and instructed him to bring in his statement of expenses to the council — a thing which Mr. Edmison stated, no other Police Magistrate in the Province was asked to do. The greater part of his time was taken up with Police Magistrate duties, and it was impossible for him to make a fair estimate of his expenses. He asked the council to rescind the clause cancelling his allowance, in justice to himself.

The matter was referred to the Finance Committee, and the council adjourned to nine o'clock Saturday morning.

SATURDAY MORNING.

At this morning's session of the Council a communication was received from F. H. Dobbin, President of the Peterborough Agricultural Society, thanking the Council for the liberal grant made to that organization.

Mr. George Stewart's resignation as County Clerk was received and accepted and on motion Mr. Stewart will retain the office of Treasurer at a salary of $700 a year and R. R. Watt receives the appointment of County Clerk at a salary of $550 a year. The office hours hereafter will be from 9.30 a.m. until 4.00 p.m. continuously.

Women are vastly more patient than men. It is scarcely believable that a woman, suffering past all telling, can attend to business, and bend and stoop with a back whose ache is agony. And beyond all this she smiles as she bends and stoops about her customer. A man might swallow down an oath or keep back a groan, but his face would be like a thundercloud, and his voice scarcely disguise his irritation.

For women who suffer from backache, bearing-down pains, or other pains due to womanly diseases, there is no other medicine equal to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the womanly functions, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. A vegetable preparation, it cannot disagree with the weakest condition.

"I wish to thank you for the good your medicines have done me," writes Mrs. Fulton Co., with Mae Brown, of Canton, Ills. "I was troubled doctor-dosed, seem to with female weakness and worse and worse ed with several different cer- tors. They did not of help me; indeed, I got all the time. I had ulation and displacement the uterus. What I suffered no tongue can tell. I had heavy, bearing-down pains, and thought my back would kill me. I also had a very bad discharge, but after taking five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I am feeling as well as ever. It has been almost two years and I have had no return of the trouble. My friends tell me I don't look as though I ever was sick."

THE SMART SET FOR JULY.

The publishers of The Smart Set declare the July number of that magazine superior in many respects to all previous numbers, and the opinion is one in which readers will doubtless concur. There is not a heavy line in all the 160 pages, but the number scintillates with smart humour that is as exhilarating to the heated brain as a rollicking ocean breeze. The literature of blood and of mud has no place in The Smart Set, but all its fiction is of that vivacious and enchanting character so hard to write, so easy to read, so rarely found in periodicals and so refreshingly enjoyable to the amusement-loving world. As a magazine of real entertainment The Smart Set has no rival.

The number begins with a novelette by Molly Elliot Seawell, entitled "Papa Bouchard." Since "The Sprightly Romance of Marsac," Miss Seawell has written no such humourous and delightful story as this. It is really a French farce, and its dramatic possibilities are evident.

Elizabeth Duer (Mrs. James G. King Duer) contributes an amusing story entitled "In Loco Parentis," descriptive of the adventures of a young society man who fathers an orphanted infant. Mrs. Sherwood writes of "Some English Princesses," most of whom she has known, and her reminiscences have a personal character that gives them verity and charm. Edgar Saltus entertainingly preaches the "Gospel of Gold," and Edgar Fawcett tells a strange story of duplicity and passion entitled "In a London Season." Julien Gordon (Mrs. Van Rensselear Cruger) has a little masterpiece of character study in "A Lost Line," and "According to Gibson" is a $100 prize story by Erin Graham. Other stories are "The Queen's Love," by Justus Miles Forman; "The Kisses of Arcady," by Richard Wilstead; "Mrs. Maitland's Correspondent," by Jane Brevoort Eddy; "A Deuce Game," by Miriam Cruikshank; "The Error of Her Ways," by May Austin Low, and "Paquita, the Dancer," by Mrs. Maraquita Bangs.

Notable poetical features of the number are "Dighton is Engaged," by Gelett Burgess; "The Key," by Ella Wheeler Wilcox; "At the Sign of the Cleft Heart," by McCrea Pickering. Other contributors are Clinton Scollard, Minna Irving, Edith Bigelow, Josephine D. Daskam and R. K. Munkittrick.

SWEPT BY A BIG FLOOD

Hundreds of Lives Lost in West Virginia Coal Camp.

ELKHORN RIVER ON RAMPAGE.

It Was Suddenly Swollen by a Cloudburst—All Communications Cut—Loss of Life Estimated at Between 500 and 600—A Couple of Millions Will Not Cover the Property Loss.

Bluefield, W. Va., June 24.—This entire section has just been visited by a flood, the extent of which in all probability will equal or exceed that of Johnstown in 1889, so far as the loss of property is concerned.

Saturday morning, shortly after midnight, a heavy downpour of rain began, accompanied by a severe electrical storm, and steadily increased in violence until 10 o'clock in the morning, then ceasing for several hours, and beginning again with renewed violence. This continued throughout the entire day and night. Many miles of the Norfolk and Western Railroad tracks, and many bridges are entirely destroyed, and communication is cut off west of Elkhorn, so that it is impossible to learn the full extent of loss of life and property, but officials of the coal operations, located in the stricken district, have sent out messengers to Elkhorn, the terminus of both telegraphic and railroad communication, and have received a report that a conservative estimate says the loss of life will easily reach 200. Some of the drowned are among the most prominent citizens of the coal fields.

The Pocahontas coal field is located in a basin, with high mountain ranges on either side, Elkhorn Creek flowing through the centre of the basin, which ranges from one-fourth to one mile in width. From Ennis, W. Va., to Vivian, W. Va., a distance of 16 miles, miners' cabins, coal company commissaries and coke plants line the basin. Elkhorn Creek, being fed by numerous small streams coming from the mountain sides, rises very rapidly, and this water spout came so suddenly that the entire basin between the two mountain ranges was flooded, and before the terror-stricken people realized what was upon them they were carried down by the flood, which swept everything in its path.

The little Keystone, with a population of about 2,000, seems to be the greatest sufferer, practically the whole town being washed away. This town is the principal one in the Pocahontas coal fields, and is located near its centre. It was to a great extent the headquarters from which the mining population purchased supplies, and was also the only place in the field where whiskey could be purchased. At this place there were 12 to 15 saloons, all of which were washed away. The report comes that the mining population are now occupying the banks of the streams below, catching the merchandise and barrels of whiskey and beer as they floated down. A great number of coal and coke plants throughout the Pocahontas field are reported practically destroyed, and in some instances entirely washed away.

On account of the very high water which flooded the region and prevented communication, anything like a correct estimate of the loss of property is impossible, but from the best information obtainable at 2 p. m. Sunday, the loss to property will easily reach $2,000,000.

At Landgraf the beautiful home of General Manager Ord is reported gone, but his family is said to be safe.

Passenger train No. 4 of the Norfolk and Western Railroad reached Vivian about 8.30 a.m., met the flood and was unable to proceed further. The waters reached such a depth that the coaches had to be abandoned, the passengers being rescued by means of ropes strung from the windows of the coaches to the tops of remaining coke ovens some distance away. Between Ellern and Vivian yard, a distance of 10 miles, 100 cars are said to be washed from the tracks, and many of them were carried down stream. A rough estimate places the number of bridges washed away between Bluefield and Vivian yard, a distance of 28 miles, at from 15 to 20, and from present indications it will be impossible to get trains through to Vivian and points west of there under a week or ten days. This will render it impossible to get relief into the stricken district, and with those who escaped with their lives, homeless and without food, indescribable suffering is inevitable.

On the Clinch Valley branch of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, between this city and Norton, Va., communication is entirely severed west of Tazewell, Va. Reports come from that point of great loss of life and property through the entire section.

In Shakerag, a negro settlement on the outskirts of Tazewell, the water stands to the depth of six or eight feet in the streets and houses, all of the occupants having been removed to points of safety by means of a boat.

Three miles west of Tazewell, on the Higginbotham farm, the home of Paris Vandyke, a farm hand, was swept away, carrying Mrs. Vandyke and four children. Two of the Vandyke children, John 17; and Charles, 5, being drowned. Mrs. Vandyke, with the two remaining children, Edgar and Laura, were found at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in a dying condition one mile from where the home stood, by Mr. Vandyke, who was absent from home at the time of the cloudburst.

While the rescuing party was searching for the Vandyke family they found the body of a white woman, well clad, floating down Plum Creek. No one thus far has been able to identify her, and it is supposed the body had washed down from some distance.

A report from Witten's Mill, a small station between Bluefields and Tazewell, says that three children, Christian names unknown, belonging to Raleigh Brush, were drowned early Saturday morning. There is no telegraph station at Witten's Mill, and it is impossible to ascertain particulars.

The railroad and telegraph companies are working between 1,000 and 1,500 men day and night. Officials are on the ground, pushing the work of constructing telegraph lines and rebuilding the road, and hope to be able to communicate with both the storm-swept districts by noon to-day. Nothing whatever has been heard from the section of country between Vivian and Williamstown, other than that the Tug River is reported as being entirely over its banks, and higher than ever known before.

The town of Welch, county seat of McDowell County, necessarily must have suffered seriously, and a number of the large lumber plants situated along the banks of Tug River no doubt are entirely washed away.

LATER REPORTS CONFIRM ALL.

Coal Fields Ruined and Thirty Miles of Railroad Washed Away.

Roanoke, Va., There was a great deal of excitement and anxiety created here yesterday when it was reported that an awful cloud and cloudburst had swept over the Elkhorn coal region in West Virginia. This territory is near the Virginia line, and is about 125 miles west of Roanoke, and some 25 miles west of Bluefield, W. Va. The region visited by the flood is said to be devastated, and the Pocahontas coal fields are reported in ruins.

More than 30 miles of the railroad tracks of the Norfolk and Western Railroad are still coming into the general office of this system in this city, reporting washouts on the various sections of lines in the flooded districts. One of the breaks in the track will require a thousand laborers and several days' work to repair it.

Dead bodies could be seen floating along the valley by those who had gained a place of safety on the high hills. One messenger reported having seen 38 dead bodies. There are supposed to be many who will never be accounted for.

Probably 500 or 600 Lost.

The loss of life will probably reach 500 or 600, and possibly this number will be swelled when fuller details are obtainable.

Woman Died From Fright.

Badger, Neb., June 24.—Three residences and several small buildings were demolished here by the storm. Mrs. James Peershall, wife of a wealthy ranchman, died from fright. Much damage was created in the Upper Elkhorn and Keya Paha Valleys.

Boy Killed by Lightning.

Columbus, O., June 24.—Severe storms prevailed in portions of Ohio Saturday. A son of George Reese was killed by lightning at Wheelersburg. Property was considerably damaged in many sections by the heavy winds.

Damage in N. Y. State.

Binghamton, N. Y., June 24.—There was a cloudburst and hailstorm Saturday night at Mad Brook, Chenango County. Five bridges were carried away, crops damaged and roads made impassable. Lightning set fire to a barn at Preston, and it was destroyed, with its contents. At Sidney lightning set fire to the dwelling of Augustus Foster, and it was burned, with its contents.

Storm Fatal at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 24.—Four lives were lost and $500,000 worth of property destroyed by a storm that struck Pittsburg and vicinity yesterday afternoon. Claude Marquis, a city employe, was working in a sewer near Centre and Euclid avenues, and was drowned like a rat in a trap before he could get out. Robert Watson, aged 10 years, living at Duquesne, ran against a live wire which had been blown down, and was electrocuted. A boy living at East Pittsburg, while playing near a pond, was overwhelmed by a sudden rush of water and drowned. Andrew Cole, a dairyman, was struck by lightning.

DRUMBO WIND-SWEPT

Cyclone in Oxford Demolishes a Village Residence.

INMATES' REMARKABLE ESCAPE.

Another Dwelling and Several Barns Wrecked by the Big Storm on Saturday—Wingham, Wiarton and Penetanguishene Also Suffered From Heavy Winds—Barns Fired by Lightning.

Dumbo, Ont., June 24.—A cyclone passed immediately north of this place Saturday night at 6.48 o'clock, taking everything in its path. It was a remarkable sight. None of the oldest inhabitants have seen anything like it. Fences and trees were thrown into the air sky-high. The residence of James Gatten, lot 14, 7th concession, Blenheim, was wiped entirely from the ground. Mrs. Gatten escaped by running away, and Mr. Gatten jumped into the cellar. The next residence was Mr. Foe's, lot 12, same concession. The entire upstairs of his brick residence and barns were wrecked, but no one was hurt. Several fine barns and residences had narrow escapes. Farther on another barn went into the air, which is supposed to belong to Jas. Cowan. There is great damage to fences, orchards and crops. The people of Dumbo village are devoutly thankful for their narrow escape.

A meeting was held at 10 o'clock Saturday night and special arrangements made for immediate aid to the sufferers.

Children Narrowly Escaped.

Penetanguishene, Ont., June 24.—One of the most severe storms in years of wind, thunder and lightning, with hail and rain, passed over this place Saturday afternoon. Four children in James Wright's house on the Ordinance Reserve were struck. One had her shoe torn off her foot. Two were C. A. Nettleton's children and two of Mrs. Wright's. A dog, which was lying between them, was instantly killed, and the chair on which one of the Nettleton children sat was smashed to atoms. The house took fire, but the fire was extinguished before much damage was done to it.

A young man, driving a team of horses with a heavy wagon, had a very narrow escape. A tree fell across the hind end of the wagon box, and demolished it and the hind wheels. A number of houses lost panes of glass. Mr. Nordheimer's and A. Smith's were most unfortunate in this respect. The wind blew the bell tower off the Public school and did damage to a number of orchards in town. No fatalities so far as heard.

The storm blew down James Ayling's barn and unroofed Geo. Cundy's stable.

Barn Fired by Lightning.

Camilla, Ont., June 24.—During a heavy thunderstorm on Saturday, which passed over this section at 5 p.m., Mrs. Dugeon, who lives two miles west of here, had her barn and contents destroyed by fire, caused by lightning. It was one of the best barns around here. Loss about $2,000, partly covered by insurance.

Another Barn Destroyed.

Wiarton, Ont., June 24. — About 4.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon a terrible thunderstorm, accompanied by hail and torrents of rain, struck this place, shattering glass in every direction. A barn belonging to Mr. Mallard of Oxenden, was struck by lighting and burned to the ground in a few minutes. Some of the hailstones were as large as hen's eggs.

Damage at Wingham.

Wingham, Ont., June 24.—A terrible hailstorm passed over this section Saturday afternoon. It was the worst of its kind ever seen here, and carried great destruction with it. The crops suffered severely, and general damage was inflicted, may windows in town being broken.

Car Conductor Stunned.

Toronto, June 24.—The thunderstorm on Saturday evening was by far the worst in the district for a long time. The forked lightning was extremely vivid. The only accident here was I. Wilson, the conductor of the street car from Kingston road to East Toronto, who was struck unconscious for a few minutes on his car. He did not seem to have been injured badly, with the exception of the shock to his nervous system.

Farm Buildings Blown Down.

Winnipeg, June 24.—During a severe wind storm north of Boissevain Saturday morning, the farm buildings of John Berney, John Dixon and Andrew Walker were blown down. Damage was done to crops.

Spring Sickness.

Every bit of effete matter that remains in your body longer than six hours is producing disease germs so rapidly that you would be terrified if you knew the actual number. Your system may be strong enough to stand their assault for a time, but eventually they will get the better of you if you don't take precaution. Powley's Liquified Ozone is a preparation of condensed oxygen which is antiseptic.

It destroys these disease germs by making the system healthy. If you dread spring sickness, take Powley's Liquified Ozone. It is of great efficacy as a cure and preventive.

Ladies' Dongola Oxford Shoes. Six holes, laced, soft tip, pretty, light and graceful, very flexible sole and made off a new cast. The price is, per pair $2.00

R. NEILL, George street.

Very Stylish, These

Ladies' Vici Kid Shoes. Polished, Graceful shape, light, easy and flexible, a very stylish shoe and exactly the thing for summer wear. Two qualities, with a difference of only 15c. in the prices, viz. $1.35 and $1.50.

R. NEILL, George street.

Neat things in Slippers

Ladies' Dongola Kid Slippers. Two strap, very dressy and the neatest thing we have. It holds its place as a charming article for ladies' foot-wear. Its lightness commends it, and the comfort of wearing a cool and yet graceful foot covering makes the slipper popular. The sole is turned—that is the sole is made on the slipper inside out and afterwards turned. Thus the sole is securely fastened and in the best possible way. Slippers in single strap. No difference in the price which is $1.50

R. NEILL, George street.

In Patent Leather

This stylish material has a place all its own. The gloss, polish, perfect surface, are highly admired. The outlines of the foot gain an additional grace when set off by a handsome Patent Leather Slipper. Very dressy, will keep polished, a desirable feature. The price $1.35

R. NEILL, George street.

The Buskin

A Shoe with a Purpose

The purpose that it may, when on the foot, closely clasp the instep and yet allow every freedom to the joints of the foot. It's a twin of the slipper, but has, inserted in the instep, a yoke of elastic. The proper thing for home wear. Nice broad heel and fairly narrow toe. In Dongola kid. The price only $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

"Please keep off the Grass"

Is the injunction unless the tennis player wears a tennis shoe. The proper shoe affords an added facility to the movements in playing. Rubber soles, canvas tops, blue in colour. Only.....50c.

R. NEILL, George street.

Genuine Comfort Slipper

These are superb. The nicest thing for summer wear where genuine comfort is desired. Not the appearance of comfort—but the real thing. A strap slipper with the Comfort sole and heel. That means something reliable to carry the weight of the body distributed over the sole of the slipper in a common sense way. A perfect foot covering for comfort. We can't emphasize that point too strongly. The toe is a trifle broad—not too broad for comfort, and yet held in that the outline of the foot may be graceful and shapely. The price smacks of comfort for the purse, and is only ..$1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

The Game of Bowls

Good old English sport. Has the verdict of antiquity in its favour. It is the village sport, par excellence of England. Even cricket does not excel bowls in popular favour. We've the proper shoe, If you haven't it you won't be allowed to play. Better get a pair of the right sort. Rubber soles, heels, canvas top. High or low. Low cut, 55c. per pair. High cut, 85c. per pair. Guaranteed correct.

DEATH OF MR. ADELBERT HAY.

Believed to Be Due to an Accident Early Sunday Morning.

New Haven, Conn., June 24. — Adelbert S. Hay, son of Secretary Hay, and former Consul at Pretoria, was found dead on the sidewalk outside the New Haven House at 2.30 a.m. Sunday. Hay retired to his room at 1 o'clock, after spending the evening with friends, in apparently excellent spirits. At 2.30 a passer-by noticed the body of a prostrate man lying on the sidewalk on the College street side of the hotel. The night clerk at the hotel was immediately summoned, and recognized the young man as the one who registered as Adelbert S. Hay.

Dr. Bartlett, the medical examiner, stated that the young man undoubtedly came to his death by an accident. The clothes in the bed had been turned, showing his intention to go to bed. His clothes had been folded. On the ledge of the window was found a partly burned cigarette. This discovery leads to the belief that Hay had lighted a cigarette before retiring, and went to the window to smoke it. Whether he was seized with a fit of dizziness or fell asleep on the window ledge cannot be determined.

The Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State, arrived in New Haven from Washington at 5.45 p.m, in response to the dispatch announcing the sudden death of his son, Adelbert S. Hay. Mr. Hay was unaccompanied, and gave signs of great grief. Miss Helen Hay, a daughter of the secretary, arrived in New Haven from Boston at 7.10 p.m.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N.Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Jas. Lynch. Trial bottles free.

Canada at Buffalo.

Buffalo, June 22. — The Canadian building at the Pan-American has not waited till Dominion Day to be formally opened. It is one of the handsomest buildings on the grounds.

It was first intended to call the building the "Home of Canadians," but, as Canada is noted for her hospitality, it was decided to call it "The Pan-American Home." People of every clime and country in America are invited to make the Canadian building their headquarters.

Fatal Fall at Toronto Junction.

Toronto Junction, June 23.—A sad accident happened at No. 40 Franklin avenue Thursday morning, when Miss Ada Winkworth, a popular young lady of the north side of the town, accidentally fell, when going down stairs into the cellar at her own home. The young lady struck her head against the floor and was picked up insensible. Concussion of the brain followed, and she died yesterday morning, never having regained consciousness.

It's the Baby.

If you lose a pound in flesh it doesn't matter much. But if it's the baby it may mean everything. There is no food in the world equal to Scott's Emulsion for making thin babies plump. If you have a thin baby in the house you'll be surprised to see how it will thrive on this nourishing and fat-forming food.

THE WRIT FOR LONDON

A New Election For the Legislative Assembly.

THE RESIGNATION OF COL. LEYS

Col. Leys Says He Will Run Again Against All Comers—Mr. Adam Beck, the Former Conservative Candidate, Will Not Commit Himself—The Premier's Visit to Prince Edward County.

London, Ont., June 24.—Sheriff Cameron received a writ Saturday morning calling for a bye-election to fill the vacancy in the Legislative Assembly caused by the resignation some weeks ago of Col. Leys, M. P. P. for London. Nominations will take place on July 2nd and the election a week later.

The issuance of a writ for the election of a member to represent London in the Ontario House came as a surprise yesterday to many citizens, who were not aware that Col. Leys' resignation was an actual fact.

It is not deemed likely, however, that the Opposition will put up a candidate until arrangements are made for the general election. To a reporter who interviewed Col Leys yesterday the Colonel said: "I will contest the seat against all comers. The people of London elected me to look after their interests, and I will do so. It makes no difference who my opponent or opponents may be, I will be a candidate for re-election."

Mr. Adam Beck, who contested the seat against Col. Leys in 1898, when interviewed, said he had heard nothing about the proclamation for an election, and was not prepared to say anything in regard to the matter.

"Would you say you will not run?" asked the reporter.

"No," answered Mr. Beck, "I will not say that I will or will not run. I have not taken much interest in the matter, and I do not think the Conservative party has either. I could not possibly say anything further on the subject."

A FARMERS' PICNIC.

Hon. G. W. Ross' Visit to Prince Edward County.

Picton, June 24.—The annual picnic of the farmers of Prince Edward was held at the Sand Banks on Saturday, the principal attraction being a speech by the Hon. G. W. Ross. It was expected the Hon. J. I. Tarte would be present, but he was prevented by important business. Hon. Mr. Ross and Mr. Russell, M. P. P., for East Hastings, reached Picton on Friday night by boat from Deseronto, and went to the Banks on Saturday morning. The day was a delightful one, and from 3,000 to 4,000 persons were present. After dinner speeches were delivered in the park. Mr. P. V. Beech, Warden of the County, acted as chairman. Short speeches were delivered by Messrs. John A. Sprague, ex-M. P. P., James Clapp, C. H. Widdifield, John Hyatt and Mr. Russell.

THE STRIKING TRACKMEN.

C. P. R. Former Employes Now Expect Substantial Aid From Other Organizations in Their Strike.

Toronto, June 24.—The striking Canadian Pacific Railway trackmen were in a jubilant mood yesterday. Messages received on Saturday were to the effect that more of the men had laid down their tools, and that assistance from sister railroad organizations could be looked for. What action the other railway employes will take is not known, but apparently they are going to do something. Yesterday afternoon at Toronto Junction there took place a meeting of representatives of the locomotive engineers, firemen and trainmen, but nothing as to the results of their deliberations was made known. After the meeting one of those present remarked to a striker: "You will see a change in a few days; something will happen."

According to the following message received from President Wilson, the bridgemen have taken action: "Bridgemen are with us; advised them to quit work; we stand or fall together."

Circulars calling on the bridgemen to cease work were sent out on Saturday. Local bridgemen are expected to receive copies to-day. On the system in Ontario it was reported that bridgemen were simply watching bridges, but were not doing any other work.

General Superintendent Timmerman maintains that the men are returning, and that there is no inconvenience to traffic as a result of the strike.

No Change at Winnipeg.

THE LIQUOR HABIT.

Rev. A. J. McCallen's Lecture.

On the occasion of a lecture delivered before a large and appreciative audience in Windsor Hall, Montreal, in honour of the Father Matthew anniversary, Rev. J. A. McCallen, S. S., of St. Patrick's church, and president of the St. Patrick's Total Abstinence Society, paid the following grand tribute to the value of Mr. Dixon's new discovery for the cure of alcohol and drug habits.

Referring to the physical craze engendered by the inordinate use of intoxicants, he said: "When such a craze manifests itself there is no escape, unless by a miracle of grace, or by some such remedy as Mr. Dixon's Cure, about which the papers have spoken so much lately, and if I am to judge of the value of the Dixon remedy by the cures which it has effected under my own eyes, I must come to the conclusion that what I have longed for twenty years to see discovered, has at last been found by that gentleman."

Full particulars of this new medicine are sent sealed free to all applicants. Address, Mr. Dixon, 81 Willcocks street, Toronto, Ont.

The prices have been lowered to nearly a half, which is quite an unusual concession at this still brisk period of the season. Miss Delaney, dw

SATURDAY'S STORM.

It Spread Consternation Among the Nervous Portion of the Citizens.

Saturday evening this district was visited by a fierce electrical storm which was accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain. Previous to its visit the streets were thronged with a multitude of people, but when the heavens assumed a threatening aspect it was astonishing how quickly the thoroughfares were deserted—in fact George street looked like Kent street, Lindsay, on a busy day in that town.

The storm continued until nearly ten o'clock, when fair Luna threw "goo-goo" eyes from behind a black cloud, and the storm abated.

In certain portions of the town, the female portion of the community were nearly panic-sticken, and it is said that many took to the cellars for refuge.

Fortunately, however, very little damage was done. A house on Division street was struck by lightning, but it sustained very little damage. A barn in North Monaghan belonging to Mr. R. Lillico, took fire from the electrical fluid, but was promptly extinguished. Several telephones in town, it is said, were struck but the district as a whole, seems to have escaped any disastrous effects.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S FIRE.

The Peterborough Canoe Co's Factory Has a Narrow Escape.

Shortly after ten o'clock Saturday evening smoke was seen issuing from the engine room of the Peterborough Canoe Company's factory. An alarm was quickly sent in and the fire brigade responded with alacrity.

The fire had gained considerable headway, and it is only owing to the excellent work of the brigade that the destruction of the establishment was averted.

The firemen had considerable difficulty in stifling the flames, as they had eaten their way into the dry kiln, where some valuable material was stored, but after some twenty minutes' splendid work, the fire was at last subdued.

Mr. Rogers places the loss at several hundred dollars. This morning the factory was running bright and early, operations being only interrupted for a short time.

LOST HIS MUSTANG.

Mr. "Scotty" Duncan's Loss on Sunday Morning.

On Sunday morning, as Mr. "Scotty" Duncan was leading a North West mustang, (which he purchased on Saturday) from the pasture field to his stable in rear of the Snowden block, on Simcoe street, the animal reared on its hind legs, when opposite the Lock Works, and came down on its head with such force as to break its neck. The animal was a splendid one, and it is understood Mr. Duncan paid a handsome price for it.

Died in Rochester.

Word was received in town to-day of the death in Rochester of Mr. John Dunn, who was at one time a resident of this town in the employ of the Dickson Company. Mrs. Woodcock, of Tweed, daughter of the deceased, arrived in town to-day and will take charge of the remains, which will arrive on the 5.30 G.T.R. train this evening.

LOCAL MASONS ATTEND CHURCH.

Peterborough and Corinthian Lodges Represented.

REV. J. P. WILSON'S REMARKS

He Speaks of the Need of Fraternal Societies and the Good they are Doing in the World.

Local members of the Masonic Order attended Divine worship yesterday afternoon in the George Street Methodist Church, when Rev. J. P. Wilson addressed them, preaching one of the most interesting society sermons that had ever been delivered in the town. After extending a most cordial welcome to the visitors, Mr. Wilson announced his text as being taken from St. Luke, x chap., 27 verse,—"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy strength and with all thy mind and thy neighbour as thyself."

It was fit and proper Mr. Wilson said that the Masons should assemble in church on the occasion of the festival of St. John the Baptist. St. John had for many years been the only patron saint of the Masonic fraternity. He had been chosen because of his firm character, his fearless discharge of his obligations, his steady reproval of vice and continued preaching of righteousness and virtue made him a fit one to be chosen as patron saint of the Order and it was the bounden duty of the members to meet together once a year on this day to renew ties and strengthen fraternal bonds.

This is the age of societies, continued Mr. Wilson. They are mainly devoted to elevating and making the best of mankind. Man is made in the image of God. He is endowed with reason and understading and constituted a social being. Through the medium of social intercourse man's nature is developed. It appears therefore that the principles of human association are inherent to our nature and constitute a means of carrying out the design of the Creator. The establishment of a civil government at once constitutes a broad foundation of a common association. All mankind from the nature of their existence constitute members of this common society. The government of a country cannot extend to every subject separately, but a remedy is readily found in the voluntary association of men. Wherever the origin of societies we find them in all ages. Hence all these moral and religious associations, which are continually springing up to secure the co-operation of individuals, to promote arts and sciences, to encourage agriculture and manufactures, to relieve the unfortunate, to civilize the savage, to emancipate the slave, to suppress vice and immorality, to diffuse the Gospel and Christianize the world. All these societies, so far as the members are concerned, are actuated by proper motives and have as the ultimate end in view the amelioration of the condition of mankind.

Amongst these organizations the order represented here to-day, said Mr. Wilson, ranks with the first in point of antiquity, intrinsic worth, and universal prevalence. The great antiquity and prevalence of the order cannot be questioned, but its intrinsic excellency is known more particularly to those directly concerned, as all its efforts are done quietly, one of the principles of the Order being that the left hand should know not what the right doeth. Anyone who knows the Masonic principles is aware that the real as well as the proposed object, is to inculcate the soundest doctrines of morality and virtue..

Masonry was not a religion, nor a substitute for religion, but neither is it opposed to religion. While it does not attempt to renew the heart of man, or to prepare the soul for the hereafter, or to rank with the Church of God, yet in substance the same truths are inculcated as are found in Divine Revelation. Masonry inculcates love of God and love of man. All creeds are false which do not seek to promulgate the principle of loving God and of loving thy neighbour. Present day Masonry is not founded on the principles of geometry. It is not operative, but speculative and has a wider range, with a nobler object in view—that of moral geometry, inculcating the principles of the purest morality.

A PAULIST FATHER SPEAKS AT ST. PETER'S.

REV. P. J. MURPHY'S ELOQUENT DISCOURSE LAST EVENING.

He Narrates the History of the Child Martyr, St. Agnes, and Speaks of the Progress of the Catholic Church.

The large congregation that assembled in St. Peter's Cathedral last evening at Vespers, had the privilege of listening to one of the most eloquent and convincing sermons ever delivered within its walls.

The speaker on this occasion was Rev. P. J. Murphy, of the Paulist Order, New York City, an old Peterborough boy who is at present home on a visit to his mother.

The reverend gentleman prefaced his discourse with a beautiful word picture of the life of that child-martyr, St. Agnes, and the sermon proper was replete with with cold convincing facts in regard to the struggles and wonderful growth of the Roman Catholic church. A newspaper report would not do justice to the reverend gentleman's utterances, which made a profound impression on those who were fortunate enough to hear him.

The speaker based his remarks on the beatitude. "Blessed be the clean of Heart," and the text, "Thou art Petor, and upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." In the sixth century a martyrdom of a little girl took place whose name is sweet to us — St. Agnes. It was difficult for us to realize the state of affairs in Rome at that time. The empire was in the zenith of her power, and there were few within its borders who gloried in the worship of God, and who were not afraid to proclaim their faith. Agnes was not a miracle in the early church by any means. The number of Christians in the city of the Caesars was not a large one, and when the persecutions were started it was not at all difficult to arouse public frenzy. St. Agnes was a victim, and as she was led into the Roman court, the multitude was smitten with her beauty and innocence, and as she stood before them they considered her demeanor the foolish notion of a child. They knew of the glory and strength of the Roman Empire, and they saw the children of their hearts trampled into the dust by those who knew not the meaning of virtue. Still, this little Roman girl was not understood. She was just entering womanhood, and was living in the very atmosphere of sin, but a good mother taught her more than her persecutors knew. They showed her the different instruments of torture, but she refused to be terrified. They would shatter her innocence and make her a prostitute," but she defied them, saying, "You may stain your hands with my blood; I am a helpless child, but you cannot defile my body, which belongs to Jesus Christ." They killed her, but she is living yet. Her name stands as one of the most priceless in the church. Her name belongs to the church. In every part of the Christian world her name is venerated, and stands as a synonym for purity —the purity taught by the Catholic Church, that makes a perfect life.

The speaker began the second part of his discourse by quoting the words of Macauley, "There was no work more deserving of closer examination than the Catholic Church." Turn back to the first three centuries of the church, when Agnes stood in the Roman Court. The Roman Catholic Church has reached a population never dreamed of by the Roman Empire. Gibbons, the historian, said that the pages of the Roman Empire were clotted and stuck together by blood of murdered infants. This Roman Empire at the time the church confronted it, held 60,000,000 slaves. Two-thirds of the population of the empire were slaves, and how many of these were women? The Roman Catholic Church saved 300,000,000 from slavery in the first three centuries. It was the glorious martyrdom of Agnes that filled the Christians with delight. The church made no appeal to bigotry, ignorance or national prejudice, but rather to intelligence. It has fought the battle for child life and the ennobling of womanhood. It introduced the idea of a pure and noble childhood, womanhood and motherhood into Europe.

The United States, after spending millions in money, and sacrificing thousands of lives, succeeded in liberating the blacks from slavery. When the Catholic Church battled with the mighty Roman Empire it faced a gigantic problem, but in three centuries it liberated 300,000,000 slaves, and these were not held in captivity by Christians.

A few days ago a minister of the Universalist church in the city of Halifax, in referring to the processions of Roman Catholics making their Jubilee visits, stated that the incident furnished an object lesson in democracy. All were equal in religion, and there were no classes. In this age of agnoticism and free thought, it was a magnificent sight, he declared to see them assert that God was with them on their altar.

It had been stated quite recently, the speaker stated, that the Catholic Church was all right for the Latin classes — they were an inferior people — but it was not progressive and up-to-date enough for the Germanic and Anglo-Saxon Races. The speaker asked, "Who are the Anglo-Saxons?" Dooley said there were only two of them. The late Mr. Mulhall, an eminent English statistician, and a lic church was solid with the Latin non-Catholic, stated that the Catholic church was solid with the Catholic church was solid with the Latin races, was flourishing in Russia, but its grandest future was amongst the English speaking nations. Ten years ago Mr. Mulhall told the result of the 12 years' census of the United States, and in his calculation placed the population at 76,000,000, which was almost a correct guess. To-day the United States is almost foremost amongst the English speaking nations of the world in arts, science, commerce, and general progress. One hundred years ago, according to Rev. Mr. De Costa, the church was a despised minority in the United States, except in Baltimore. To-day you can name the first fifty cities in the United States from Portland to San Francisco and therein you will find a larger attendance at the Roman Catholic churches than in all the other denominations combined, including the Jewish synagogues and the Y.M.C.A.

We know, he continued, the state of affairs in England to-day. In London 60 per cent. of the population never go to church. In Berlin, the centre of Protestantism, 75 per cent. of the population never go to church. Still the Catholic church is progressing to such an extent in Germany that it is called the "centre." Furthermore the Catholic church is the most successful and energetic in England. In Saxony, the scene of Luther's labours, the King to-day is a Roman Catholic, and his son a priest. The church to-day, he asserted, is a success, and he urged the congregation to live for it, and, if necessary, emulate the example of St. Agnes. The church has shown herself the protector of child life, and stands for the family and the home. It has placed beside the altar the picture of a mother and her Child, and it is kept there to-day.

Rev. Father Murphy made the startling statement that the birth-rate of Ontario was about the lowest of any civilized nation in the world. Is there any power, he asked, can prevent the destruction of child birth When at the Pan-American, he was interested in the magnificent display made by Ontario in her different products. The question was asked,—"How many people are there in Ontario?" and when it was stated in answer that there was 2,000,000 souls, the question would arise, what has become of the popualtion? The Catholic church can answer that. One hundred years ago in New York city there were only 12,000 Catholics; to-day they reach the 2,000,000 mark. The church protected the Catholic child, helped to a certain extent by the medical profession, and their lives were not taken before birth. Ask, he said, any physician of rapute if you consider my statement is exaggerated. The church stands for the protection of the family and for pure womanhood, and stands out fearlessly against divorce when others were comprising with the evil.

There will be a Committee of the Glee Club on the wharf to-night at 7o'clock with tickets.

BANK OF COMMERCE.

The annual statement of the Bank of Commerce is published in another column and the result of the year's operations must be most satisfactory to the shareholders and reflects not a little credit on the management. The Peterborough branch, it is understood, has more than fulfilled expectations this year and to the courtesy of Mr. McHarrie, Manager, and his competent staff, much praise is undoubtedly due for the pleasing state of affairs at the Peterborough agency. The business of the bank has yielded a net profit of $854,323, which, with the surplus of $562,776 from the purchase of assets of the Bank of British Columbia and the baalnce to the credit of profit and loss from last year, makes a total profit of $1,451,-920. This has provided for the usual dividend of 7 per cent. on $6,000,000 capital stock, paid half-yearly, a dividend for five months on $2,000,000 new stock, the transfer of $750,000 to rest account, the writing off of $95,710 from bank premises account, the regular transfer of $10,000 to the pension fund and the carrying forward of $117,920 to the credit of profit and loss. During the year the bank acquired the business of the Bank of British Columbia, assuming offices in eight cities and towns in that Province, also in San Francisco, Cal., Portland, Ore., and London Eng. This has made a marked increase in the volume of business in every department. The increase in note circulation was $1,255,080, of which about $1,000,000 was business taken over from the Bank of British Columbia. Deposits increased $18,324,330, of which $8,253,384 was taken over with the amalgamation. The total resources at the command of the bank give a fair indication of its growth, and these aggregate $67,553,578, an increase of $24,730,779 over last year. The rapid growth of this financial institution is shown by a comparison with the report for 1890, when the total resources were $22,596,520. Since that date growth has been steady and continuous.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The services at Bethany Tabernacle yesterday were conducted by Miss Bushfield, a young lady who has lately been engaged in mission work in the Western States, as well as in the Sandwich Islands.

At the morning service in St. Andrew's church, Sunday, Miss Clara Belleghem rendered in beautiful voice, "Jesus Lover of My Soul." In the evening the anthem, "Sweet, the Moments," was rendered, Miss Belleghem taking the solo. She also sang "Almost Persuaded" in good voice.

The second of the sermons on "Church Attendance," by Rev. W. L. Armitage in All Saints last night was a timely expression and was much appreciated by a large congregation. The organ recital at the close of the service was a real treat, and though seven numbers were given it seemed too short. The congregation was highly pleased with the new organ, whose many beautiful points were so well brought out. Mr Morphet's solo, "King of Eternity," was also an inspiring number.

REV. MR. THOMPSON SPEAKS TO I.O.F.

The Twenty-Sixth Anniversary of Court Chemong.

A VERY LARGE ATTENDANCE

At Mark Street Methodist Church Last Evening—A Splendid Sermon by the Pastor.

Court Chemong, 530, Independent Order of Foresters, to the number of about 100, attended divine worship at the Mark street Methodist church last evening, it being the 26th anniversary of the order. There was also a representation from Court Lakefield and Court Pine Hill. The Rev. Bro. C. L. Thompson preached an able and appropriate sermon.

The reverend gentleman took for his text Romans xii, 10,—"Be kindly affectionate one to another with brotherly love." The object of Christ's teachings was to unite men in bonds of human impulse—to foster amiable tempers, to implant such principles in the souls of men that all should be united in the actual brotherhood. Until His coming men had stood apart from each other, wickedness and bloodshed increased, and even the alters of their gods smoked with offerings of human blood. By precept and example Christ set Himself squarely against the old state of things. He taught that it was not enough to be simply honest or to help in distress, but you must love one another.

In the old Pagan world neither religion nor philology were able to make men humane. Charity sprung from the cross. Liberty came from the Redeemer. Self-denial is not found by example in the teachings of Plato, Socrates Brahma or Confucius. The object of Christian teaching is to prevent bitterand antagonism, and to build up a kingdom of peace and brotherhood.

We must confess that this has not been fully realized in the Christian church, i.e., a church entirely and absolutely free from dissension, alienation and unfriendliness. It is too true that Christianity is more beautiful than it is seen or exemplified in our own practice. Here, then, at the commencement of the 20th century, we need for a fuller realization of the beauty and force of Christianity—a fuller development of amiable disposition in the individual. We are not converted en masse. One going at a time is not the fulfilment of the law of grace, and our Christian life is growth. If we want to build up a true brotherhood, you must have a fuller, riper development in your soul. A harsh, knotty, knarled piety is useless. The bible enjoins that men be kindly affectionate one toward another. The old mariners had this saying:—"Cursed be the man who pushes a shipmate overboard." They were united in the bonds of like perils, like hopes, like labours,—they must breathe the air of harmony.

My brothers, there is a certain amount of human impulse in the world. We must contribute our share to its increase. If we have added nothing to the symbol of worship, our lives have been in vain.

We meet to-night from different bodies of christians, but we meet on the platform of the Sermon on the Mount. I believe that in our fraternal society there is a commop ground on which humane men and women of all denominations and no denomination shall combine harmoniously together and labour for the good of all. Let the command be written on our minds and hearts, "Be kindly affectionate, one to another, with brotherly love."

THE SCOTCH STILLS.

HOW THEIR BY-PRODUCTS ARE POLLUTING THE RIVERS.

"Pot Ale," the Liquor Left After the First Distillation, Is the Worst, as It Carries About 3,000 Grains of Suspended and Dissolved Solids to the Gallon.

There are 164 distilleries in Scotland, and an increasingly difficult problem in connection with them is How to get rid of the by-products of distillation. One of these by-products is what is known as "pot ale," which is the liquor left after the first distillation. It is a most obstinate and complex compound, as brown as peaty water. It becomes putrified and smells badly after a brief contact with the air. It is a highly nitrogenous liquor, carrying 3,000 grains a gallon of suspended and dissolved solids—about thirty or forty times as much solid matter as ordinary sewage contains. It has been run into the River Spey, where the Glenlivet distilleries have sprung up like mushrooms during the last few years, until the noble salmon giver has been all but ruined. The riparian proprietors, however, by raising actions in the law courts to compel distilleries to put a stop to this pollution, have greatly paralyzed the whisky trade in that part of the country.

Several plans have been tried to utilize this "pot ale" as a feeding stuff for cattle and as a manure. Hitherto none of these plans has proved a commercial success. The process which has the best stood the test of experiment is that which is known as the "microbe" system, which is a filtration expedient strongly assisted by bacteriological aid. It is not new. It is in use to purify sewage in several of the large towns of England, but the credit of successfully applying it to get rid of the refuse of distilleries is due to Dr. Cowle of Dufftown, Speyside, who has been experimenting with it for some time and has got such good results that his system is now considered applicable to large distilleries.

A plant of this kind costing £700 ($3,400) has just been laid down at Glen Kinchie distillery, East Lothian. It is large enough to deal with 52,000 gallons of "pot ale" a week, and the eyes of the distilling world are now upon this place to see what will come of the experiment. In the process a series of seven tanks in duplicate are used. These are so arranged on the face of a steep slope, by the side of the distillery that the liquor to be purified passes from the one to the other by gravitation. There is also on the top of the bank, above all the others, a receiving tank, capable of holding 2,500 gallons. To this the "pot ale" is pumped up from a settling and storage tank at the low level.

The first five tanks are filled with cinders of various grades in size, while the two lowermost tanks are filled with fine sand. The cinder tanks are seeded with microbes and the work of these innumerable unseen and silent workers is marvelous. They eat up or transform the nitrogenous matter, so that when the effluent is discharged from the lowest tank is has no smell, is clear as water, will not froth and is quite harmless to fishlife. It now carries not 3,000 grains a gallon of solid suspended and dissolved solids, but only from 100 to 150, and the "pot ale," or all that is left of it, from being a strong acid is alkaline, and in the process of filtration has lost 25 per cent. of its bulk. The effluent from the last tank can accordingly be returned to any stream with little detriment to the rest of the water, for the purified ale has not the power to produce fungi, which the unpurified ale possesses in a very marked degree.

A most loathsome sight is a river into which this "pot ale" is discharged as it leaves the still. The bed of the stream is covered for miles with a gray, slimy cat's-tail fungus, "leptomatis lacteus," which there is no killing so long as it is fed with this stuff.

If well constructed at first, the contact beds or filters are practically permanent, and as the microbes can be freely cultivated there is no difficulty in keeping the beds constantly at work. The method adopted is to work them two hours out of twenty-four and to let them rest the other twenty-two, as the microbes it seems want a long rest after feeding on this rich product.

Wanted to Be Sure.

An old woman of undeniable Celtic origin entered a provincial savings bank the other day and walked up to the desk.

"Do you want to withdraw or deposit?" asked the clerk.

"Naw oi doant. Oi wants to put some in," was the reply.

The clerk pushed up the book for her signature, and, indicating the place, said: "Sign on this line, please."

"Above it or below it?"

"Me whole name?"

"Yes."

"Before Oi was married?"

"No, just as it is now."

"Oi can't wroite."—London King.

A Terrible Explosion

"Of a gasoline stove burned a lady here frightfully," writes N. E. Palmer, of Kirkman, Ia. "The best doctors couldn't heal the running sore that followed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve entirely cured her." Infallible for cuts, corns, sores, boils, bruises, skin diseases and piles. 25c at Jas. Lynch's.

Flattery.

"I don't see why you should persist in asking me to lend you money," said the man whose patience had sustained much. "I don't know you very well at best."

"My dear sir," replied the person with shabby genteel manners, "you compel me to be blunt where I would fain have been delicate. I was merely desirous of further and more favorable acquaintance. Ben Franklin says that the way to win a man's friendship is not to do him a favor but to let him do you one."

CHEESE MARKETS.

Perth, Ont., June 21.—On the market today there were 2004 boxes of white cheese, May and June make. All was sold at 9⅝c. Fowler got 1150 boxes, Ferguson 490, Webster 314, Bessell 120.

Ottawa, June 21.—Cheese sold at 9⅝c on the Ottawa Cheese Board to-day. The boardings were 1237 white and 239 colored, a total of 1636; all sold. Six firms were represented, and about 20 factories. The buyer for Messrs. Lovell & Christmas read a letter from an English firm, in which the writer urged the factoryman to see that their cheese was clean, and advising that more care be taken in its manufacture. It was stated that it would pay the makers to keep out all milk that was not absolutely clean, as a great deal of damage is caused by unclean milk, by giving Canadian cheese a bad name.

Brantford, Ont., June 21.—At the Cheese Market, 1527 boxes cheese were offered, of which 1547 boxes were sold, viz.: 1155 at 9⅛c, 310 at 9 9-16c, 82 at 9⅝c.

Next market, Friday, July 5. Hour of market changed to 4 o'clock.

Kemptville, Ont., June 21.—At the regular cheese meeting held here to-day 1200 boxes were offered, of which 90 were white. All sold at 9⅛c. Usual buyers present.

Mr. Mulock Was Ill.

Toronto, June 20.—Private intelligence received in the city states that the P. M. G. had a rough voyage to Australia. Lumbago bothered him all the way, and did not desert him even after the ship arrived.

It is the P. M. G.'s intention to stop off at Marseilles and spend some time in various European capitals before coming home in August.

Girl Mother's Alleged Crime.

Wiarton, Ont., June 21.—On Tuesday, June 11, an infant was born to Lucy Nodgwan (aged 16) of Cape Croker Indian reserve, which was concealed till Saturday last, when the mother told where she had buried it. A coroner's jury, after deliberating, brought in a verdict that it is their firm belief that the child of Lucy Nodgwan was born alive, and later came to its death by having its throat cut across by some person or persons unknown to your jurors, but known to Lucy Nodgwan. The mother was placed under arrest by the coroner.

"Yes," said I, "but you remind me of no one I ever saw there."

She plucked a leaf from the rose she wore and began nibbling at it. Her mouth was smaller than the one belonging to Phyllis.

"The person to whom I refer," I went on, "lives in America, where your compatriots brew fine beer and wax rich."

"Ah, herr is an American! I like Americans," archly. "They are so liberal."

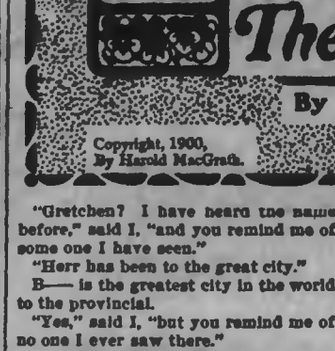
I laughed, but I did not tell her why. All foreigners have a great love of Americans, "they are so liberal."

"So you find Americans liberal? Is it with money or with compliments?"

Said Gretchen, "The one when they haven't the other." A very bright barmaid, thought I. Then I said, "Is this your home?"

"Yes," said Gretchen; "I was born here, and I have tended the roses for ever so long."

"I have heard of Gretchen of the steins, but I never before heard of a Gretchen of the roses."



Supper was a simple affair, and I was made to feel at home.

"Herr must have a large store of compliments on hand to begin thus early."

"It is a part of my capital," said I. "Once in Switzerland I complimented an innkeeper, and when my bill was presented I found that all extras had been crossed off."

Gretchen laughed. It was a low laugh—a laugh which appeared to me as having been aroused not at what I had said, but at something which had recurred to her. I wanted to hear it again, so I said: "I suppose you have a stein here from which the king has drunk. All taverns and inns have them."

Gretchen only smiled, but the smile was worth something. "No; the king has never been within five miles of this inn."

"So much the worse for the king."

"And why that?"

"The king has missed seeing Gretchen."

It was then Gretchen laughed.

"I have never heard compliments like herr's before."

"Why, I have any amount of them. I'll drink half a liter to your health."

She filled one of the old blue earthen steins.

"I haven't seen your roses in the gardens, but I'll drink to those in your cheeks," said I, and I drew back the pewter lid.

"How long does herr intend to stay?" asked Gretchen.

"To the day is the evil thereof."

"Ah, one must be happy with nothing to do."

"Then you have the ambition common to all; to sit around and let others wait upon you?"

"No, that is not my ambition. I wish only to wait upon my own desires and not those of the—the others."

"It is all the same," said I. "Some must serve, others must be served."

When I went up stairs to my room, it was my belief that a week or so at the inn would not hang heavy on my hands. I had forgotten for the moment the princess or that I was hunting for Hillars. It is strange how a face may upset one's plans. Gretchen's likeness to Phyllis, whom I loved, upset mine for many days to come.

As I gazed from my window the next morning I beheld the old innkeeper and Gretchen engaged in earnest conversation. He appeared to be pleading—nay, entreating—while she merely shook her head and laughed. Finally the old man lifted his hands to heaven and disappeared around the wing. When I came down, Gretchen was in the gardens culling roses. She said they were for the table.

"Very well," said I. "Give me one now."

"You may have them all at the table."

"But I shall not want them then."

She gave me an enigmatical glance, then cut a rose for me which was withered and worm eaten.

"Gretchen is unkind," I observed.

"What matters it whether the rose be fresh or withered? It dies sooner or later. Nothing lasts, not even the world itself. You wish a rose not because it is a rose, fresh and fragrant, but because I give it to you."

"You wrong me, Gretchen. I love a rose better than I love a woman. It never smiles falsely, the rose, or plays with the hearts of men. I love a rose because it is sweet and because it was made for man's pleasure and not for his pain."

"That sounds like a copy book," laughed Gretchen. "The withered rose should teach you a lesson."

"What lesson?"

"That whatever a woman gives to man withers in the exchange—a rose, a woman's love."

Said I reproachfully: "You are spoiling a very pretty picture. What do you know about philosophy?"

"What does herr know about roses?" defiantly.

"Much. One cannot pick too many fresh ones. And let me tell you a lesson which you should have learned among these roses. Nature teaches us to love all things fresh and beautiful—a rose, a face, a woman's love."

"Here," holding forth a great red rose.

"No," said I; "I'll keep this one."

She said nothing, but went on snipping a red rose here, a white one there. She wore gloves several sizes too large for her, so I judged that her hands were small and tender, perhaps white. And there was a grace in her movements, despite the ungainly dress and shoes, which suggested a more intimate knowledge of velvets and silks than of calico. In my mind's eye I placed her at the side of Phyllis. Phyllis reminded me of a Venus whom nature had whimsically left unfinished. Then she had turned from Venus to Diana, and Gretchen became evolved, a Diana slim and willowy. A sculptor would have said that Phyllis might have been a goddess and Gretchen a wood nymph had not nature suddenly changed her plans. What I admired in Phyllis was her imperfect beauties. What I admired in Gretchen was her beautiful perfections. And they were so alike and yet so different. Have you ever seen a body of fresh water ruffled by a sudden gust of wind, the cool blue green tint which follows? Then you have seen the color of Gretchen's eyes. Have you ever seen ripe wheat in a sun shower? Then you have seen the color of Gretchen's hair. All in all, I was forced to admit that, from an impartial and artistic view, Gretchen the barmaid was far more beautiful than Phyllis. From the standpoint of a lover it was altogether a different matter.

"Gretchen," said I, "you are very good looking."

"It would not be difficult to tell herr's nationality."

"Which means"—

"That the American says in one sentence what it would take a German or a Frenchman several hundred sentences to say." Gretchen was growing more interesting every minute.

"Then your mirror and I are not the only ones who have told you that you are as beautiful as Hebe herself?"

"I am not Hebe," coldly. "I am a poor barmaid, and I never spill any wine."

"So you understand mythology?" I cried in wonder.

"Does herr think that all barmaids are as ignorant as fiction and ill meaning novelists depict them? I have had a fair education."

"If I ever was guilty of thinking so," said I, answering her question, "I promise never to think so again."

"And now will herr go to his breakfast and let me attend to my duties?"

"Not without regret," I said gallantly. I bowed to her as they bowed in the days of the beaus, while she looked on suspiciously. At the breakfast table I proceeded to bombard the innkeeper. I wanted to know more about Gretchen. "Is Gretchen your daughter?" I began.

"No; I am only her godfather," he said. "Does herr wish another egg?"

"Thanks. She is very well educated for a barmaid."

"Yes. Does herr wish Rhine wine?"

"Coffee is plenty. Has Gretchen seen many Americans?"

"Few. Perhaps herr would like a knoblauch with salt and vinegar?"

It occurred to me that Gretchen was not to be discussed, so I made for another channel. "I have heard," said I, "that once upon a time a princess was born in this inn."

The old fellow elevated both eyebrows and shoulders—a deprecating movement. "They say that of every inn. It has become a trade." If I had known the old man, I might have said that he was sarcastic.

"Then there is no truth in it?" disappointedly.

"Oh, I do not say there is no truth in the statement. If herr will pardon me, it is something I do not like to talk about."

"Ah, then there is a mystery!" I cried, with lively interest, pushing back my chair. But the innkeeper shook his head determinedly.

"Very well," I laughed; "I shall ask Gretchen."

He smiled. The smile said, "Much good it will do you." Gretchen was in the barroom arranging some roses over the fireplace. Her hands were bare: they were small and white and surprisingly well kept.

"Gretchen," said I, "I want you to tell me the legend of the inn."

"The legend?"

"Yes; about the princess who was born here."

Gretchen laughed a merry laugh. The laugh said, "You are an amusing person!"

"Ah, the American is always after legends when he has tired of collecting antiquities. Was there a princess born here? Perhaps. At any rate it is not a legend. History nor peasantry makes mention of it. Will herr be so kind as to carry the ladder to the mantel so I may wind the clock?"

I do so. Even at this early stage I could see that Gretchen had the faculty of making persons forget what they were seeking and by the mere sound of her voice. And it was I who wound the clock.

"Gretchen has a secret," said I.

"Gretchen," said I, "time lags. Make a servant out of me this morning."

"Herr does the barmaid too much honor," with lowered eyes.

"I am in the habit of doing anything I please."

"Ah, herr is one of those millionaires I have read about!"

"Yes, I am very rich." I laughed, but Gretchen did not see the point.

"Come, then, with me, and you shall weed the knoblauch patch." She was laughing at me, but I was not to be abashed.

"To the patch be it, then!" I cried. "An onion would smell as sweet under any other name."

So Gretchen and I went into the onion patch, and I weeded and hoed and hoed and weeded till my back ached and my hands were the color of the soil. Nothing was done satisfactorily to Gretchen. It was "There, you have ruined the row back of you!" or "Pull the weeds more gently!" and sometimes, "Ach, could your friends see you now!" I suppose that I did not make a pretty picture. The perspiration would run down my face. I would forget the condition of my hands and push back my hair, which fell like a mop over my brow, whereat she would laugh. Once I took her hand and helped her to jump over a row. I was surprised at the strength of her grasp.

The Happy Home.

Happiness must be founded on health. Where there is ill-health there will surely be unhappiness. The happiness of many a home has received its downfall at the table, spread with rich and dainty foods. The first symptoms of disease of the stomach are ignored as being disagreeable but not dangerous. Presently dyspepsia or some other form of disease fastens on the stomach.

At any stage Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. But the cure is quicker if the "Discovery" is used in the earlier stages of disease. If you have any symptoms of diseased stomach use "Golden Medical Discovery" and be cured.

"I feel that I would be doing an injustice to you if I did not send you a statement of my case," writes Mrs. David W. Guice, of Hamburg, Franklin Co., Miss. "I had liver complaint and indigestion. Everything that I ate disagreed with me. I suffered all the time with swimming in my head; heart beat too fast; my feet and hands were cold all the time. Did not sleep well at all. Was able to get about but very little. I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' in May, 1897, and by December I could begin to get about very well. Have been doing my work ever since. Feel better than I have for several years."

SOME FACTS ABOUT YOUR HEART.

The human heart is composed entirely of muscles and weighs about nine ounces. It is the toughest organ in the body. It beats 70 times a minute, or 36 million times a year, and pumps 2½ ounces of blood each time. The most common ailment of the heart is weakness. This is caused by over exertion, the result of work, bicycle riding, breathing impure air or the excessive use of either tobacco or stimulants. The symptoms of this weakness are palpitation and irregular beating of the heart, smothering sensation, flushed face, burning feet, and pains in the breast. The best method of treatment for this weakness is to purify the blood, tone and strengthen the muscles, and build up the system generally.

This is just what you do when you take Merrill's System Tonic, a remedy manufactured by Merrill, the Druggist of Brantford, from a formula suggested by three of the most able physicians on the American continent, and dispensed with the same care given any of the thousands of prescriptions dispensed annually by this druggist. During the year 1900 more than 20,000 bottles of this valuable remedy were sold, and so gratifying and convincing are the results that you need no hesitancy in giving it a trial.

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE.

REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE Annual Meeting of Shareholders.

The thirty-fourth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Bank of Commerce was held in the banking house on Tuesday, June 18, 1901, at 12 o'clock.

The Vice-President called upon the Secretary to read the annual report of the Directors, as follows:

The Directors beg to present to the shareholders the thirty-fourth Annual Report, covering the year ending May 31st, 1901, together with the usual statement of Assets and Liabilities.

The balance at credit of Profit and Loss Account brought forward from last year is ... ...$		34,821 05
Surplus derived from purchase of assets of Bank of British Columbia as per statement at foot is		562,776 11
Net profits for the year ending May 31st after providing for all bad and doubtful debts, amounted to...		854,323 17
Making in all		...$1,451,920 33
Which has been appropriated as follows:
Dividends Nos. 67 and 68, at 7 per cent. per annum:
For the year on $6,000,000	$420,000 00
For five months on $2,000,000 new stock..	58,333 33
		...$ 478,333 33
Transferred to rest account...		750,000 00
Written off bank premises...		95,710 97
Transferred to pension fund (annual contribution)...		10,000 00
Bal. carried forward		117,876 08
		$1,451,920 33

The result of the purchase of the assets of the Bank of British Columbia is as follows:

Surplus of assets over liabilities, at our re-valuation.....		$ 2,949,776 11
Paid to shareholders in cash	$ 312,000 00
Transferred to pension fund to provide for claims of the staff of the Bank of British Columbia	75,000 00
Credited to capital account for $6,000 shares new stock issued to the shareholders of the Bank of British Columbia	2,000,000 00
		$ 2,387,000 00
Balance transferred to profit and loss account.....		$ 562,776 11

During the year this Bank has acquired the business of the Bank of British Columbia, assuming its offices at the following places: Victoria, Vancouver, Kamloops, Nanaimo, Nelson, New Westminster, Rossland, and Sandon, all in British Columbia; San Francisco, California; Portland, Oregon; and London, England. In this connection meetings of our shareholders were held on 20th August and 11th December last, and the result was conveyed to the shareholders in a special report Since the meeting in December the very arduous duties in connection with the actual taking over of the business have been accomplished, and on 2nd January last the formal assumption took place.

In addition to the customary careful re-valuation of the assets of the Bank, it may be well to state that those acquired from the Bank of British Columbia have practically undergone two examinations during the past year, one before this Bank was committed to the purchase, and another in connection with our usual annual revision. All bad and doubtful debts in connection with our entire assets have been amply provided for.

The profit arising from the purchase of the assets of the Bank of British Columbia, after making the special addition of $75,000 to the Pension Fund referred to in the statement, amounted to $562,776. This practically constitutes the premium received on the stock of this Bank issued in that connection, namely, $2,000,000. From this source together with the ordinary profits of the Bank, which have continued to be very satisfactory, we have been able to add to the Reserve Fund $750,000, and to make a further appropriation of $95,710 to Bank Premises Account.

The office established at Fort Steele as a sub-agency of Cranbrook in 1899, has been closed.

The various branches, agencies and departments of the bank have been inspected during the year.

The directors have again pleasure in recording their appreciation of the efficiency and zeal with which the officers of the Bank have performed their respective duties.

ROBERT KILGOUR,
Vice-President.

Toronto, June 11th, 1901.

GENERAL MANAGER'S REMARKS.

As the balance sheet of the bank exhibits changes of unusual importance, we have thought that the shareholders would be interested in comparing the present situation with the past in a more extended manner than is our ordinary custom. Three causes have combined to increase abnormally the figures with which we have to deal. We have had a year of most gratifying increase at all of our branches; we have incorporated the figures of another bank; and we have, by the change of the Bank Act, been required to bring into our balance sheet the assets and liabilities of our agencies in the United States, instead of merely showing the resulting balance due us, as was the previous requirement of the Act.

Our statement shows that the resources at our command at the present time are $47,553,573, an increase since last year of $24,730,773. The resources at our command in recent years have been as follows:

1890..... ....$	22,594,520
1895...	20,408,274
1898.....	34,256,103
1899...	39,682,756
1900.....	42,822,799
1901.....	47,553,573

The increase in our deposits during the past year has been $18,324,330, which may be divided as follows:

Deposits of the Bank of British Columbia assumed.$	8,253,384
Increase during past year in branches of Canadian Bank of Commerce, apart from those which were formerly establishments of the Bank of British Columbia, and in the latter for five months	7,527,726
Increase due to change in form of balance sheet ...	$18,324,330

The increase in our note circulation during the past year is $1,255,080, of which about $1,000,000 is attributable to the business taken over from the Bank of British Columbia.

It will interest you to consider again, as we did a few years ago, the relative growth of this bank as compared with the growth of all banks in Canada combined.

In 1896 our deposits constituted 9.27 per cent. of the entire deposits in chartered banks in Canada, at present they constitute 14.31 per cent. of the whole, an increase of 5.04 per cent.

In 1896 our note circulation was 7.79 per cent. of the entire circulation of Canadian banks. It is now 11.49 per cent., an increase of 3.70 per cent.

You will observe that the Bank Premises Account stands at precisely $1,000,000. After writing off $18,000 to bring the properties to a safe value, we took over bank premises from the Bank of British Columbia, which added to our account $125,000. This, with our own expenditures on new structures for the year, made it necessary to take from the profits of the year $95,710.97, in order to reduce the total to $1,000,000. Unless there is some material further enlargement in the scope of the bank's business it is our purpose to make all further additions, improvements and repairs to our buildings out of profits. We have in recent years dealt so vigorously with the Bank Premises Account that we feel that the asset at its present figure is beyond criticism. We have since the present management began, that is during the past fourteen years, written off, and otherwise paid for out of profits within a trifle of $600,000, half of which has been accomplished in the last three years.

After this somewhat lengthy review of the Bank's affairs, we shall not attempt to discuss very fully the general state of business. As we had occasion to say a year ago, prosperity does not need much explanation, and we are still enjoying decided prosperity, although the pace in some directions seems rather giddy and thoughtful people continue to remind us with increasing emphasis that each year brings us just so much nearer the inevitable depression which must follow the present expansion.

One of the effects of our own growth is that we cannot any longer attempt to set forth in close detail, to the exclusion of wider interests, the conditions which surround our prosperity in eastern Canada, especially Ontario, as has been our custom heretofore. We are now interested about equally in the trade conditions of almost the whole area of Canada, and of a large portion of the United States.

If we regard Canada as a whole, we realize that while Manitoba has been forced to bear the effects of one of the worst crop failures in its history, the general results of agriculture, including dairying and the raising of cattle, horses and hogs, have been so excellent that I am sure there will be scarcely a dissenting voice to the statement that our agriculturists have reached another stage of prosperity in the extent of money-saving or of debt-paying, with the natural accompaniments of a steady growth in the cash trade of country shopkeepers and a decline of the rate of interest on renewed mortgages. It has been very interesting to watch the effect on Manitoba of a grain crop damaged to the extent of fully 80 per cent. Ten years ago there would have been an almost absolute suspension of paying power, accompanied by many failures, and despondent feeling as to the future. The past year has, however, witnessed no failures of importance. About 20 per cent. of the crop maintained the splendid standard of Manitoba wheat for flourmaking, and most of the balance, instead of being fed to cattle, was dried artificially, and otherwise so handled as to minimize the enormous loss which the farmers would have been forced to bear, but for the recent creation of proper facilities for treating a damaged crop. As to the present crop, it is estimated that the area under cultivation in Manitoba and the Territories is 15 to 25 per cent. higher than in 1900, and the prospects now that plentiful rain has fallen are very good indeed.

In mining, other than coal and iron, we must recognize the collapse in the value of the shares of certain companies and the effect for the time upon other ventures, the facts regarding which, however, may be full of ground for encouragement. It is quite evident that our people are only learning by bitter experience how to estimate the value of a mine. The movement in the prices of shares, however, is not mining, and is often not even an evidence of the condition of mining looked at as a national industry which will continue to progress as long as any profit is made in excess of the cost of working. Much more serious than the fall in shares is the persistent tendency toward labour troubles and the fall in the price of lead. If one or more refineries on an adequate scale result from the bounty granted by the Dominion Government, doubtless the silver-lead mines will be generally worked even at the present low prices and in a few years we may succeed in smelting all the ores of British Columbia in our own country. In Rossland the ore shipments have increased as compared with the previous year, and in the Boundary district the outlook is quite satisfactory.

The total figures of the year, as we had a right to expect, exceed any previous year. The total results of mining, both metallic and non-metallic, for the year 1900, are given by the Geological Survey as over $63,000,000, and while there is an increase in the non-metallic products the great growth is due to the metallic products. The figures for the previous year were less than $50,000,000, and in 1890 the total was less than $17,000,000.

Regarding coal and iron, we do not need to add to our remarks of last year. The proportion of space in our public journals devoted to these commodities makes it impossible for the least progressive Canadian to remain blind to the great future that lies before us. The noticeable incident of the year is the formation in the United States of a combination of iron and steel industries so enormous in extent that the mere mention of the capital involved in the undertaking staggers those who try to measure the possibilities of all kinds involved in the enterprise of an important character. The main point for Canadians, however, is to consider the possible effect on our own enterprises in iron and steel of such a gigantic rival. Personally we do not see any ground for alarm. The conditions under which our iron and steel ventures, looking to the world for a market, will work are so much more fortunate than those of the United States that we ought to prosper in any event. We must, however, remember that bonuses are temporary expedients; that competition will doubtless in the next period of depression be very keen; and that geographical position and excellence of raw material alone will not conquer unless accompanied by expert management and the most complete knowledge of the constantly-fluctuating conditions surrounding this great industry. As we have had occasion to say elsewhere, we wish the growing Imperialism in Great Britain would cause the British manufacturer who finds his profits disappearing because of dear coal or iron to feel that his dividends would be just as pleasant to receive if they were earned somewhere else in the British Empire than in England or Scotland or Ireland. Why should Great Britain be, as she doubtless is, so depressed about her coal and iron supply if we have both articles much nearer to the world's markets than her greatest competitor? But as yet we are not to the British manufacturer a portion of the same industrial unit as himself. We are almost as foreign to him for all practical purposes as Germany or the United States. This is a condition which time will surely alter, and it is our duty, not that of the British manufacturer, to exploit the facts.

In our manufactures the noticeable feature is that, while a year ago there was no overproduction, or almost none, there are some lines, such as pulp and some classes of textile fabrics, in which production has gone ahead of demand, or other elements have lessened the profits and interfere with the outlook. It is, however, also noticeable that in many lines of manufacture the demand is still in excess of the supply, and extensions to plant are necessary in order to increase the output.

In lumber, while prices are a little lower than those of 1900, in some grades there is still an active market. The prices for labour and for all supplies, however, have greatly increased the cost of production in some districts, although the winter was in other respects favourable to the operations of lumbermen. On the other hand, building operations, which were apparently checked by the high cost of lumber in 1900, are projected on a large scale throughout North America this year, and were it not for the prospect in so many localities of labour troubles there would doubtless be a very satisfactory feeling about the outlook for lumber in the east.

A few words may seem desirable regarding our interests in the United States. The Pacific States, in which we have branches at San Francisco, Portland and Seattle, have apparently recovered from the depression following the panic of 1893, and the census returns exhibit a great increase in the population of the cities referred to, while the new buildings and the recovery in values of real estate reflect the abundant prosperity they are enjoying. The large trade with the Philippines caused by the war, the marketing of the sugar crops of the Sandwich Islands at San Francisco, the growing industries in canning fish, fruit and vegetables, the prospect of large development in manufactures, owing to the important oil discoveries and the consequent effect upon the price of fuel, all seem to point to a satisfactory future for this part of the United States. Apart from these particular items and the great interests involved in mining, there is a growing conviction that both the United States and Canada on their Pacific coasts are destined to develop a traffic with Oriental nations and with Australia, and a coast line traffic between California and Alaska, the proportions of which it is idle to estimate, but which in any event will cause a great increase in the Pacific coast population of North America, and will permit of the profitable employment of a large amount of capital by the eastern people.

In the eastern United States we have conditions similar to those in eastern Canada. The foreign trade of the United States increased during the last year for which we have returns about $220,000,000, the total exceeding two billions of dollars. Our own foreign trade is not much more than the increase of the United States for one year, but the proportions per head are very gratifying. If our population may be called 6,000,000 our foreign trade is fully $60 per head, while that of the United States is about $26 per head, or perhaps slightly more if we had the figures down to date. With their enormous foreign trade, and with the largest stock of gold in the Treasury ever known, the shipment of gold to Europe is no longer a menace to the financial situation. The country is saving enormously and spending a smaller proportion on railways, public improvements, plant and other betterments than ever before, and as a natural outcome it is becoming the best market for its own securities, which are gradually finding their way back from Europe. The one serious menace to the general prosperity of the United States is the discontent of the workingmen and the fear of strikes on the part of employers. That this acts as a paralysis on many kinds of enterprise there is unfortunately no room for doubt.

Although Canada resembles the United States in some things we are not near the end of our expenditure on railroads, canals and other public improvements. We have but commenced. We do not wish to refer too persistently to the subject of transportation, but we have not yet succeeded in solving many of the problems which have been prominently before us for the past few years. We still require better elevator and shipping facilities at Montreal and conditions more satisfactory to the marine insurance companies in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. For our Pacific trade we require not mints or assay offices, but transportation facilities which will make Vancouver or Victoria a more desirable port than Seattle as the southern terminus of the great coastwise trade with Alaska and the Yukon district. In both trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific trade if we are to obtain the share to which we are entitled by our products and our geographical position, we must bestir ourselves. The problem as a whole does not become easier, and whether it be the building of railroads and canals, or of shipping for our inland lakes and rivers, or to cross the great oceans which wash our shore-lines, no subject is likely to command the attention of legislators in Canada to so great an extent for years to come as transportation.

On motion of the Vice-President the report was adopted.

After remarks by several of the officers and shareholders, the meeting adjourned.

The scrutineers subsequently reported the following gentlemen to be elected directors for the ensuing year:—Hon. George A. Cox, Messrs. James Crathern, William B. Hamilton, John Hoskin, K.C., LL.D., Robert Kilgour, Matthew Leggat, Joseph W. Flavelle, W. E. H. Massey and A. Kingman.

At a meeting of the newly-elected Board of Directors held subsequently Hon. George A. Cox was re-elected President, and Robert Kilgour, Esq., Vice-President.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

LACROSSE.

Does the appended paragraph from the Stratford Beacon mean that negresses patronize the lacrosse games in the Classic City, or what significance should be attached to the word "colour?" "Among the spectators was a very fair sprinkling of the fair sex, who added colour to the scene. They were not backward in cheering either."

The Vaticans and Y.M.C.A. teams did not cross sticks on Saturday evening. The Vaticans claim that they notified the "Y" team that they would be willing to play the game in the afternoon and that it would be impossible for their players to turn out in the evening.

The Vaticans have closed arrangements with the Ontarios of Port Hope for a game there on July 2nd. The team of that town is an exceptionally strong one this year. The Vaticans are requested to turn out to practice every evening until that date on the Murray Street Separte School grounds as a strong team will be picked to do battle in Port Hope on July 2nd.

"Mickey" Connors, who figured quite prominently on the Orilla team, when it was in the zenith of its power has cast his lot with the Brantfords.

"Pick" Lillie, who has just returned from a trip to Boston and New York says he found the Crescent team of the latter city labouring under the delusion that nothing on earth could beat them. That was before they met the Shamrocks, of course.

BASEBALL.

The Auburn Juniors defeated the Young Nationals on the Nicholls oval on Saturday by a score of 16—8.

Auburn and the Matthews Packing House nines were billed to engage in deadly combat on the P.A.A.A. grounds Saturday, but the men from the north never showed up.

PISCATORIAL.

A party composed of Messrs. R. C. McHarrie, Granger, W. D. Parker and A. St. A. Smith, were successful in landing 66 bass at Clear Lake on Saturday afternoon.

The Anaemic Young Girl.

Perhaps she is sixteen. Suddenly she seems to lose strength, her beauty fails, because her strength fails, her eyes lose their lustre. How her spirit droops! It alarms you, but all this may be corrected quickly. Get her Ferrozone, it is a nerve tonic, it aids the stomach to do its work. Appetite? She'll eat anything, and digest it, too. Ferrozone is an absolute specific for the anaemia of young people. Ask your druggist for it. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

LOSS OF LIFE 60 TO 75.

West Virginia's Disaster as Seen by a Railroad Official.

FIRST NEWS WAS EXAGGERATED

He Also Says the Property Damage Will Not Exceed $500,000—Other Estimates of Loss of Life Vary From 200 to 1,000—Much Private Property Was Destroyed by the Flood.

Roanoke, Va., June 25.—The following short statement last night by one of the general officers of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, summarizing the flood situation in the light of the latest despatches, was given to the Associated Press:

"Restoration of telegraph line destroyed that damage by flood through coal fields was exaggerated. Loss of life will not exceed 60 or 75, and damage to property, including repairs to railroad and coal operations, will not exceed $500,000. It is expected the railroad will get the line open to-morrow or next day."

ADDITIONAL DETAILS.

Although Not So Bad as at First Indicated Are Yet All Too Gruesome.

Cincinnati, June 25.—A special to The Times-Star from Bluefields, W. Va., says:

"Reports from the devasted flood district in the Pocahontas flat top region say bodies are being rapidly recovered and identified. A relief corps has patrolled a few miles of the territory, but no reliable estimate can yet be made of the number of lives lost.

"It will be several weeks before railroad traffic can be resumed, and probably longer before the mines will be in operation. About 20 collieries and coke plants were damaged from $4,000 to $25,000 each.

"Thousands of homeless persons are camping in the mountains.

Their distress is augmented by anguish over missing children and friends, whose fate is unknown. The bodies of John Lewis, white; Ira Neff and a Hungarian mother and her babe, have been recovered.

"A graveyard was overflowed, and the corpses, disinterred by the torrent, floated away in all stages of decay.

"A tunnel several miles beyond Vivian was cleared of the track from end to end. All bridges were destroyed. The damage to the railroad company will be in the neighborhood of a million dollars. Damage to the coke plants and coal mines probably will be double that sum.

"All stores, lumber camps and business houses in the Elkhorn Valley were heavily damaged, and in many instances destroyed. Out of the 200 and odd estimated lost, less than a score of bodies have been recovered and identified.

"Yesterday morning hundreds of men took up the work of rescue and repair.

"Railroad shopmen, conductors, engineers and men of all callings, laid down their work to aid, while every available man on the Norfolk and Western system was rushed to the scene. Appeals to connecting railroads for wrecking crews and men have been responded to.

Residents of Keystone were saved by a telephone message apprising them of the coming of the flood.

"Losses estimated at $60,000 ensued to the business houses alone.

"Crane Creek branch of the Norfolk and Western, which had been recently graded, has been destroyed for seven miles, and will have to be rebuilt.

"The big Four mines are flooded and the delivery tracks were destroyed. Loss of life at that point cannot be learned. Only one man has reached a point of communication. His journey was one of greatest hardship. He swam the river three times, and arrived more dead than alive.

"Six building gangs were hurried to the scene by the telegraph companies.

"An electric light car has been obtained. It is equipped with complete electric lighting plant and apparatus and will be brought from Hagerstrom by a special train, so that work can be prosecuted at night."

The Loss Is Fearful.

New York, June 25.—Mayor Land, of Bluefield, W. Va., wires as follows:

"It is estimated that 200 lives were lost in the Elkhorn flood. The damage to the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company is estimated at half a million dollars, and to the coal companies and individuals at two million dollars.

"There is no communication with any point further down the valley than Elkhorn. I am unable to tell whether outside assistance will be needed until further information comes in."

Awful State of Affairs.

New York, June 25.—A despatch to The Evening World from Bluefield, W. Va., says:

"The corps of searchers and relief workers have penetrated into the flooded coal region only a few miles, but have revealed a state of affairs whose terror cannot be told.

"Many dead bodies have been found and some identified. No estimate can be made of the number of victims, as there are 100 miles to be searched over. Fifteen hundred workmen are clearing debris and re-establishing railroad facilities."

A Mile of Track Washed Out.

Columbus, O., June 25.—Representatives of a local lumber firm at Williamson have wired that east of Panther, W. Va., the railway tracks have been washed out for a mile. About 200 feet of road bed will require a fill-in of ten feet.

Death List of 1,000 Feared.

Huntington, W. Va., June 25.—Governor White is here making arrangements to get tents, and provisions for the flooded district along the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

Governor White fears the death list will exceed 1,000.

LOSS OF THE FALKLAND.

Captain Gracie and His Mate Went Down With the Vessel—Stories of Survivors of the Wreck.

Penzance, June 25.—There is now no doubt that the captain, mate and four men of the British bark Falkland, Captain Gracie, from Tacoma, Jan. 30, for Falmouth, which was wrecked Sunday off Bishop's Rock, are drowned. The body of Bateson, the mate, was recovered yesterday afternoon.

According to the stories of survivors the Falkland missed stays and was swung on Bishop's Rock with great violence. The ship immediately began to settle. Great confusion prevailed on board. Owing to her heavy list it was possible to get out only her lifeboat. With the majority of the crew, and the captain's wife and child on board, this boat picked up two men who had jumped into the water, but owing to the heavy sea and the fact that the boat was overloaded the survivors had to turn away from a third man, who was seen clinging to a hencoop.

Captain Gracie and the mate were last seen standing on the Falkland's poop, which blew up as the vessel foundered. After an hour at sea those in the lifeboat sighted the St. Agnes lifeboat, which brought them to St. Mary's Island, where they were provided with clothing and food, as they had saved nothing but the clothes they wore.

A boy who jumped into the sea and was rescued by the St. Agnes boat after he had been 20 minutes in the water, says he saw Captain Gracie and other men jump from the Falkland into the sea and that they wore life belts.

A body, seen floating in the water yesterday is supposed to be that of the man seen clinging to a hencoop by those who got away in the ship's boat. The wife of Captain Gracie is very ill.

OUR MINISTERS IN LONDON.

To Be the Guests of the National Liberal Club.

London, June 25.—The five Canadian Ministers at present in England are about to be entertained by the National Liberal Club. They are Hon. A. G. Blair, Sir Louis Davies, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Sydney Fisher and Hon. David Mills, who have all been nominated for temporary membership.

Mr. Tarte to Take Canoe Trip.

Montreal, June 25.—Hon. J. I. Tarte will personally make an examination of the French River, using a canoe most of the time. He will do this in company with two of the engineers in his department, in order that when the matter comes up in Parliament he will be able to discuss the proposed improvements from the standpoint of personal knowledge.

Wireless Telegraphy in St. Lawrence.

Halifax, N. S., June 25.—The Dominion Government has ordered Superintendent Keeley to establish the Marconi wireless telegraph system in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. An equipment is being forwarded from New York which will be taken aboard the Government steamer Tyrian, at Sydney, on her way to lay cables in the gulf.

Mr. Keeley will instal the first station at West Point, Anticosti Island, which will be the most central point for the use of ships equipped with Marconi gear going up the St. Lawrence River, and also for the Tyrian, on board of which will also be a station.

Faithful Until Death.

Chicago, June 25.—Frederick H. Davies, for many years prominent as a civil engineer on lines running out of Chicago, sustained injuries Sunday while trying to prevent loss of life and died Monday night.

THE WHITE TENTED FIELD.

Another Letter From the 3rd. Dragoons Camp.

The Rain has Kept the Work Back Somewhat—The Tallest Man of the 3rd Dragoons.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Barriefield Common, June 20th.

The work of the camp has so far been hampered by the rain which has fallen at regular intervals since the arrival of the regiments on Tuesday evening. The men, however, are all hoping for something better to-morrow and from now forward Barriefield Common will resound to the tramp of armed men and the ramparts of old Fort Henri will fling back the horse and resolute word of command. The second full day under canvas closed without anything of a startling nature to note as far as the cavalry brigade at least is concerned, and altogether the annual camp of instruction of 1901 promises to be an exceptionally orderly one.

Lieutenant W. H. Bradburn joined his squadron to-day and is prepared to endure the trials and tribulations of camp life from now until the close.

The youngest officer of the dragoons and certainly one of the youngest in camp is Lietenant Shaw, of "B" Squadron, Millbrook. Lieut. Shaw is just twenty years of age, but in military ambition is much older. After serving in the ranks he took out a commission and has spent some time at Stanley Barracks. A pleasing feature about Lieut. Shaw's military life so far, is the deep interest taken in him by his grandfather, Mr. John Shaw, of Cavan. The old gentleman is 96 years of age, but the martial spirit is in him as it was when he served in the Irish Dragoons or shouldered a musket in the stormy days in Canada of 1873. Mr. Shaw has presented his grandson Lieut. Shaw with a handsome sword with the following engraving thereon.—"Presented to Lieut. C. E. Shaw, 3rd Dragoons, by his grandfather, John Shaw, vetern 1837, June 11th 1901."

Major Hagerman, the veteran Paymaster of the 3rd Dragoons, is in camp once more with his regiment. Major Hagerman has seen the 3rd Dragoons come into existence as a regiment and has taken a very deep interest in its progress ever since. He has seen 36 years of service, having first enlisted in "B" Squadron, or rather "B" troop, as it was then called, was an independent corps with headquarters at Port Hope, under the command of the late Lieut.-Col. Smart. In this troop Major Hagerman served as Private, Corporal and Seargent. Upon the formation of the 3rd Dragoons he accepted the commission of Paymaster, which he has since continued to hold. He has therefore seen many camps, having been under canvas at Cobourg, Kingston, Gananoque, Belleville, Niagara and other places.

Whilst the town that sent out men to constitute the 3rd Dragoons are always anxious to have something to "brag" about, such as having the best horses, the heaviest men, or the like, an honour has come Peterborough's way hands down. Harry Rush Peterborough's popular young bank clerk, who is here saluted with the title "Sergeant Rush" has carried off the honours of the day as regards height. He is one inch taller than the next tallest man in camp.

Sergeant-Trumpeter Goldey has received a promotion since he came to camp. In addition to his being Regimental Trumpeter, for the Dragoons, he has been appointed Brigade-Trumpeter for the Dragoons and Hussars.

The Staff-Sergeant mess is now in full swing. Mr. Reggie McFadden, of Peterborough, is one of the efficient waiters.

Regret is on all sides expressed that Rev. Herbert Symonds, Chaplain of the Dragoons, is not in camp this year; not that the moral tone of the camp is particularly in danger, but it must be remembered that the Dragoons were the first cavalry to have a Chaplain and since that time there has not been a more welcome visitor to camp than the Reverend gentleman of St. Lukes.

The Major-General commanding the Canadian Militia is expected in camp on Saturday, but the Dragoons are not becoming nervous in the least.

The Last Rail Laid.

St. Thomas, June 25.—The laying of the track on the extension of the L. E. and D. R. R. from Ridgetown to St. Thomas was completed, and the last coupling made on Saturday at 6.20 p.m., about a mile west of the Kettle Creek Ravine. This gives a new steel band between the city and Walkerville on the Detroit River, and also through the Erie and Huron branch, with Sarnia. The whole will be in operation in a few days. A mile and three quarters of track was laid on Saturday.

The Deputies Had to Flee.

Huntington, W. Va., June 25.—Yesterday a posse of Deputy United States Marshals, headed by A. C. Hufford of Bluefield, were fired on by the strikers, and forced to flee from the coal fields at Matcawan. A lot of strikers, almost a thousand strong, have crossed over to Kentucky, and are occupyinh strong positions.

Starvation in Guam.

Manila, June 25.—The schooner Esmeralda, which has just arrived here from Guam, brings confirmation of the distressing reports in circulation regarding the conditions in that island. The new tariff stops trade, and, it is asserted, the people would starve unless they received Government support.

Brass Moulders Strike.

Toronto, June 25.—Between 80 and 100 brass moulders employed in the James Morrison Company and several other works are out on strike because their demands for higher wages were not acceded to.

YOU CAN CURE IT.

A New Cure for Catarrh in Tablet Form.

The old time treatment for catarrh was in the form of douches or sprays; later on, internal remedies were given, with greater success, but being in liquid or powdered form, were inconvenient, and were open to the same objection to all liquid remedies, that is, that they lose whatever medicinal power they may have had on exposure to the air.

The tablet is the ideal form in which to administer medication, but until recently no successful catarrh tablet had ever been attempted.

At this writing, however, a most excellent and palatable remedy for catarrh has been placed before the public, and sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, composed of the most recent discoveries in medicines for the cure of catarrh, and results from their use have been highly gratifying.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain principally highly concentrated antiseptics, which kill the catarrh germs in the blood and mucous membranes, and in this respect are strictly scientific and modern, as has been known for some years past by the ablest physicians that the most successful catarrh treatment was by inhaling or spraying antiseptics.

The use of inhalers, douches and sprays, however, is a nuisance and inconvenience, and moreover can in no wise compare with the same remedy given in tablet form, either in efficacy or convenience.

A clerk in a prominent insurance office in Pittsburg relates his experience with Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in a few words but to the point. He says, :—"Catarrh has been almost constantly with me for eight years; in this climate it seems impossible to get rid of it. I awoke every morning stuffed up, and for the first half hour, it was cough, gag, expectorate and sneeze before I could square myself for my day's work; no appetite, and a foul breath, which annoyed me exceedingly.

"I used Stuart's Catarrh Tablets for two months and found them not only pleasant to take, but they did the business, and I can sincerely recommend them to all catarrh sufferers."

Druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50 cents for full sized package. They can be carried in the vest pocket and used at any time and as often as necessary. Guaranteed free from mercury, cocaine, or any mineral poison; absolutely safe.

STRIKING TRACKMEN.

C. P. R. Officials Say Many Have Gone Back to Work.

STRIKERS CLAIM THE OPPOSITE

According to Mr. Timmerman the Tracks Are Properly Patrolled Over the Canadian Pacific Railway—"Between Toronto and Montreal No Men Are Working," Say the Strikers.

Toronto, June 25.—Yesterday saw no change in the situation of the Canadian Pacific Railway trackmen's strike. The men in Toronto are still out, and look forward to winning the fight. The officials say that many of the trackmen have gone back to work, and that the entire system has not as yet been affected by the men going out.

The reports given out by the strikers and the officials yesterday were as conflicting as ever. As soon as one side heralds a sign of victory, it is repudiated by the other, and so it has been since the strike started. The strikers claim that from Toronto to Montreal no men are working.

Chairman Wilkinson of the local Strike Committee received a letter from President Wilson, stating that the prospects for winning were never brighter, and urging the men to remain out until there was a settlement in their favor. President Wilson expressed himself as being proud of the attitude of the strikers in this fight.

The story of the men that the track was not properly patrolled was denied by General Superintendent Timmerman. He declared that reports received by him were to the effect that the tracks were being properly looked after, and that every day strikers were returning to their duties. Mr. Timmerman also denied the statement of President Wilson that the bridgemen had joined hands with the strikers.

No Change at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, June 25.—The C. P. R. strike situation had no new features yesterday. The men say that there has been no word from Montreal regarding any move in the matter, and that they will not return to work until such order comes. The company, on the other hand, state that they have enough men to keep the track in good order. In fact, Mr. Leonard states that on Superintendent Ame's division there are more men than he knows what to do with. A report was received from Revelstoke yesterday morning that the men on that section had all quit work, and that there was not a man to be had by the company. It is on this section and through the mountains that the company have most to fear from the track not keeping in good condition.

The railway authorities here, on being informed of the report that the Imperial Limited west-bound is being held at Calgary, say that there is no truth in the statement, and that trains are running through, and delays west of Calgary have been only temporary. The track, affected by a small washout due to the rain of Sunday, will be repaired in a few hours.

What the Company Reports.

Montreal, June 25.—The C. P. R. Company gives out the following: The meeting of other organizations that was to have been held in Montreal on Sunday, to sympathize with the C. P. R. trackmen, did not materialize. The sympathy seems to be with the railway, who pays its employes the top wages.

On Its Last Legs.

Portland, Me., June 25.—The strike of trackmen on the Maine Central is reported to be on its last legs, and Wilson, the organizer from St. Louis, Mo., has been called by the trackmen committee to Portland, to see if he can get any concessions. He is expected here Thursday morning.

Composer Salaman Is Dead.

London, June 25.—The composer, Charles Kensington Salaman, is dead. He was 87 years of age. Deceased was born in London and educated by private tuition. He began the study of music at a very early age, and, in 1824, was elected by a competitive examination a student of the newly-founded Royal Academy of Music, but, instead of studying there, he became a student of Chas. Neate and Dr. Crotch; made his first appearance as a composer and pianist in 1828, and entered the musical profession in 1831.

Steel Trust Reaches Again.

New York, June 25.—It was formally announced yesterday by J. Pierpont Morgan & Company that the Shelby Steel Tube Company had been purchased by the United States Steel Corporation for the purpose of consolidating it with the National Tube Company, one of the United States Steel constituents.

Gold For Father Fallon.

Ottawa, June 25.—Rev. Father Fallon left yesterday morning for Buffalo, being accompanied to the depot by a large number of ladies and gentleman, who took the opportunity of showing him their respect. On the platform he was presented with a purse of gold and other tokens of affection and esteem.

Died Aged 106.

Boston, June 25.—Mrs. Mary Drew Peavey, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tower, in South Boston, at the age of 106 years. She was born in Hollis, Me., May 16, 1795.

The Deaf Made to Hear.

St. Thomas—A modern miracle was made known to-day when Mr. Riddle, of this city, announced that he had recovered his hearing. He has been almost entirely deaf, and it borders on the marvellous to find him able to hear everything with great distinctness. As his case is proving of such universal interest, we give Mr. Riddle's own statement. "My hearing was always poor, and not long ago I became almost deaf. It was the result of catarrhal inflammation, but nothing did me good until I used Catarrhozone. It cured my trouble and I strongly recommend it to the deaf." Fully nine-tenths of the deafness is the result of Catarrh and can be cured by catarrhozone. The cures of deafness wrought by this remedy in cases of even twenty years standing are really astounding. Among many others, ministers of the gospel testify to the wonderful powers of Catarrhozone, and your druggist can tell of some astonishing cases in his own experience. Better give it a trial, if your hearing is impared. Price $1; small size 25 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S..

A RAILWAY WRECK.

Train Was Going Very Fast — Two Men Killed and Many Injured.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 25.—Train No. 23 was wrecked at Monaca about 30 miles west of here last evening, and at least two persons are dead and probably 30 hurt. The dead:

J. W. Cunningham, fireman of the train.

Larry (or Lowey) Black, baggagemaster, of Mount Washington, Pittsburg.

Injured, so far as known: Mrs. James Lee, Washington, Pa.; Mrs. Alvira Mills, Bellaire, Ohio; Rev. A. D. Gavin, Holy Ghost College, Pittsburg; Mrs. Lolla D. Perkins, Cleveland; W. W. Stephens, Cleveland; Miss Lucy Rose, Cortland, Ohio; Miss May Churchill, Cortland, Ohio; R. L. Martin, Lisbon, Ohio; James Brown, engineer; J. M. Jordan, Newcastle; two men, names unknown, taken to Rochester, Pa., Hospital, may die.

From passengers it is learned that the train, while going at very high speed, ran into an open switch at Monaca, and the entire train went over an embankment, some 25 feet high. Every car was turned over, two of them going over twice.

The "flyer" left here at 4.30 for Cleveland, and had its coaches well filled with passengers.

OWES HIS EYESIGHT TO A MIRACLE.

Indebtedness to Dodd's Kidney Pills Acknowledged by Thomas St. Pierre.

Health Entirely Re-established by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Another Triumph for that Wonderful Remedy —His Eyesight Has Been Strengthened.

St. Epi, Que., June 23.—(Special).—One year ago a miracle was announced in Chicago. R. A. Wade, the great criminal lawyer, regained his sight after having for years been totally blind. His case was published throughout the length and breadth of America, and it attracted more attention to Dodd's Kidney Pills than any medicine ever got before. For it was Dodd's Kidney Pills that restored his sight.

A similar case has turned up in the village of St. Epi, Que. Though this sufferer was not stone blind, his eyes nevertheless were utterly useless to him by lamplight. And they have been completely restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills, which is another point of similarity.

There is no attempt made to assert Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for blindness. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest kidney medicine ever known. That is the claim made for Dodd's Kidney Pills, and there is evidence enough to prove that claim. But in cases where Kidney Disease has left poisons in the blood, and the said poisons attacking the weakest spot, injure the eye, Dodd's Kidney Pills are just as infallible as where the poison attacks the joint of the arm or the small of the back. That the eyesight of Thomas St. Pierre was restored is but another argument that Dodd's Kidney Pills make the blood absolutely pure.

Here is Mr. St. Pierre's letter: "I am happy to-day to see my health entirely re-established by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I owe that wonderful remedy a thousand thanks. Before using Dodd's Kidney Pills I had consulted many physicians and taken medicine of various kinds, but each made me worse. I had a constant pain in the back and limbs. At night I couldn't rest and I could not see by lamplight. Having taken only two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am perfectly cured. My eyesight is clear. I advise all those whose health is not good, from whatever cause, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Nine times out of ten they will be exactly what is wanted. Two dollars spent for Dodd's Kidney Pills will do more than millions spent otherwise, for who holds anything in the world more dear than health, or would spare any means to save it?"

Fireman Killed.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 25.—George Anding, a fireman, was killed in a collision between a Grand Trunk train, and a New York Central switch engine here yesterday. None of the passengers on the Grand Trunk train were seriously hurt.

Both Legs Broken.

Pronte, June 25.—John Pollock, a small boy of this place, while playing on a fisherman's reel on Sunday, was caught under one of the bars and both of his legs were broken.

The C. P. R. traffic for the week ending June 21 was $631,000; for the same week last year, $594,000.

A SERIOUS INVASION.

Kitchener's Silence About Waterkloof Causes Some Fear.

HOW RIFLES WERE CAPTURED

Kritzinger Surprised Their Camp, But Although They Lost 14 Men Killed and Wounded and 66 Men Captured, They Put Up a Good Fight—Lieut. Greenshields Dies of His Wounds.

London, June 25.—Lord Kitchener has as yet sent no report of the Waterkloof mishap. Recent events in Cape Colony seem to prove that the Boer invasion of that country is to be serious.

Just Saddling Up.

Cradock, Cape Colony, June 24.—The detachment of the Colonial Mounted Rifles which was attacked by the Boers at Waterkloof, June 20, (when the British lost 14 men killed and wounded and 66 men were captured), was pursuing Commandant Malan, when General Kritzinger surprised the Rifles' camp at Waterkloof, while the colonial troops were saddling up. The fight lasted two and a half hours.

Dies of His Wounds.

London, June 25.—Lieutenant G. L. Greenshields of the Shropshire Yeomanry, is dead from wounds received in the war in South Africa. He was one of the Oxford-Cambridge team which defeated the Harvard-Yale team in the international game in July, 1899.

Col. Ogilvy's Promotion.

Ottawa, June 25.—The Militia Department learns that Capt. J. C. Ogilvy, who served in South Africa with the Royal Canadian Regiment, has been posted to a captaincy in the 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, which is now serving in Egypt. The announcement was made some time ago that Capt. Ogilvy had received a commission in this famous Scottish Regiment, but it was not then known to which battalion.

Parton Is Out on Bail.

Parry Sound, June 25.—Joseph Parton, who has been under arrest here on a charge of murder, by setting fire to his house, in which five of his children lost their lives, has been liberated on bail. Mr. F. R. Powell, his counsel, last Friday made an application at Osgoode Hall, and was successful in obtaining an order to admit Parton to bail. Yesterday Mr. William Taylor, manufacturer, and Mr. D. F. Macdonald, timber ranger, went his sureties in $1,000 each.

From Dover to Calais.

New York, June 25.—The European edition of The Herald states, in a despatch from Dover, that experiments are being made with turbine steamers for the English Channel. The prospects are bright for a thirty-five-minute passage between Dover and Calais.

PUT ON THE FREE LIST.

Number of Articles to Be Hereafter Admitted Into Canada Duty Free.

Ottawa, June 24.—The following named articles, which are used as materials in Canadian manufactures, have been transferred to the free list: Keypins, damper springs, jack springs, rail springs, regulation screws, spoons, bridle wire, damper wire, back check wires, dowel wires, German centre pins, brass pins, rail hooks, brass bracelets, plates, damper rod nuts, damper sockets and screws, shell, brass capstan screws, brass flange plates and screws, hammer wires, fly felt, butt felt, damper felt, hammer rail cloth, back check and catch felt, thin damper felt, whip cloth, bushing cloth, hammer felt, back hammer felt, bridal leather and buckskin (when imported by manufacturers of piano keys), actions, hammers, base dampers and organ keys, to be used exclusively for the manufacture of such articles in their own factories.

The following named yarn will also be admitted free of duty, viz.: Botany yarn, single in numbers 30 and finer, on mule cops, dry spun on what is known as the French or Belgian system, not doubled or twisted, in white only, when imported by manufacturers of casmere socks and stockings to be used exclusively for the manufacture of such articles in their own factories.

Killed by G. T. R. Flyer.

Bowmanville, Ont., June 24.—A terrible and fatal accident happened on the Grand Trunk Railway east of the wharf road crossing yesterday afternoon, when Harry Layton, a young farmer, engaged with John Archibald Galbraith, Darlington, just east of the town, was struck by the flyer from Montreal and instantly killed. He was about 21 years of age, his family living in Clark Township, near Oronox.

The Next Pro-Boer Meeting.

London, June 24.—Owing to the refusal of the Queen's Hall authorities to permit another Boer war demonstration to be held there, the meeting organized by Miss Emily Hobhouse will be held in Westminster Chapel, Buckingham Gate, today.

Father Fallon Must Go.

Ottawa, June 24.—Rev. Father Fallon will go to Buffalo. He left yesterday. The Oblat Fathers have disregarded the unanimous appeal of the parishioners for the retention of the pastor of St. Joseph's.

It's the Baby.

If you lose a pound in flesh it doesn't matter much. But if it's the baby it may mean everything. There is no food in the world equal to Scott's Emulsion for making thin babies plump. If you have a thin baby in the house you'll be surprised to see how it will thrive on this nourishing and fat-forming food.

Bolt Strikes in Family.

Webster, Mass., June 24.—Lightning struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rusean, in East Woodstock, Conn., during a terrific thunderstorm yesterday afternoon, instantly killing Ralph, 2½ years old; burning Clarence, 5 years old, so severely that he will probably die, and terribly burning the father and another son, Egald, 7 years of age. The lives of the two latter may be saved.

Took Poison by Mistake.

Meaford, June 24.—Miss Minnie Johnston, a very estimable young woman, daughter of J. J. Johnston, ex-mayor of this town, died Saturday morning from the effects of a dose of poison, taken in mistake for a headache powder. The dose was taken ten days ago and, although an emetic was administered, the poison had done its work, and Miss Johnston is dead.

Fatal Barn Raising Accident.

Camilla, Ont., June 24.—Joseph Johnson, who was very badly injured Saturday while helping to raise a barn on Shields' farm four miles north of here, died yesterday at 4 o.m. Some four others were badly injured at the same time by the plate falling on them, but they are doing very nicely, and the doctors have hopes for their recovery.

Waterkloof Was Disastrous.

Craddock, Cape Colony, June 23.—In an engagement at Waterkloof, June 20, the British lost 8 men killed and 2 mortally wounded, and had 4 men seriously wounded. In addition, 66 men of the Cape (Colonial) Mounted Rifles were captured. The captain of a Boer squadron is reported to have been wounded, and one Boer was killed.

Sore Throat and Hoarseness.

with their attendant dangers may be speedily averted and remedied by the use of Polson's Nerviline. Excellent to gargle with—ten times better than a mustard plaster and more convenient for the outside. Nerviline penetrates the tissues instantly, soothes the pain, allays inflammation, and cures sore throat and hoarseness simply because that's what it is made for. The large 25 cent bottle of Nerviline is unexcelled as a household liniment. It cures everything.

Is Kent Dead?

Vancouver, B. C., June 22. — On April 1 a pleasure launch returned to this point after a day's trip up Burrard Inlet, and reported that Horace Kent, the engineer, had been drowned in an accident to the launch while the party was returning home. Yesterday A. G. McCarthy reported to the police that he had seen and talked with Kent at Pedro, Wash., only last Sunday.

Very Stylish, These

Ladies' Vici Kid Shoes. Polished, Graceful shape, light, easy and flexible, a very stylish shoe and exactly the thing for summer wear. Two qualities, with a difference of only 15c. in the prices, viz. $1.35 and $1.50.

R. NEILL, George street.

Neat things in Slippers

Ladies' Dongola Kid Slippers. Two strap, very dressy and the neatest thing we have. It holds its place as a charming article for ladies' foot-wear. Its lightness commends it, and the comfort of wearing a cool and yet graceful foot covering makes the slipper popular. The sole is turned—that is the sole is made on the slipper inside out and afterwards turned. Thus the sole is securely fastened and in the best possible way. Slippers in single strap. No difference in the price which is $1.50

R. NEILL, George street.

In Patent Leather

This stylish material has a place all its own. The gloss, polish, perfect surface, are highly admired. The outlines of the foot gain an additional grace when set off by a handsome Patent Leather Slipper. Very dressy, will keep polished, a desirable feature. The price $1.35

R. NEILL, George street.

The Buskin

A Shoe with a Purpose

The purpose that it may, when on the foot, closely clasp the instep and yet allow every freedom to the joints of the foot. It's a twin of the slipper, but has, inserted in the instep, a yoke of elastic. The proper thing for home wear. Nice broad heel and fairly narrow toe. In Dongola kid. The price only $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

"Please keep off the Grass"

Is the injunction unless the tennis player wears a tennis shoe. The proper shoe affords an added facility to the movements in playing. Rubber soles, canvas tops, blue in colour. Only ..... 50c.

R. NEILL, George street.

Genuine Comfort Slipper

These are superb. The nicest thing for summer wear where genuine comfort is desired. Not the appearance of comfort—but the real thing. A strap slipper with the Comfort sole and heel. That means something reliable to carry the weight of the body distributed over the sole of the slipper in a common sense way. A perfect foot covering for comfort. We can't emphasize that point too strongly. The toe is a trifle broad—not too broad for comfort, and yet held in that the outline of the foot may be graceful and shapely. The price smacks of comfort for the purse, and is only .. $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

The Game of Bowls

Good old English sport. Has the verdict of antiquity in its favour. It is the village sport, par excellence of England. Even cricket does not excel bowls in popular favour. We've the proper shoe, If you haven't it you won't be allowed to play. Better get a pair of the right sort. Rubber soles, heels, canvas top. High or low. Low cut, 55c. per pair. High cut, 85c. per pair. Guaranteed correct.

Two Children Burnt to Death.

Sherbrooke, Que., June 24.—Saturday night a distressing event happened in the family of B. Desecrochers, a teamster of Windsor street. His sons, aged 8 and 12, were in the hayloft with a lantern. The youngest slipped down the iron-bound rack reaching to the manger. The lantern exploded and set fire to the hay. The oldest of the boys made a frantic attempt to release the little fellow, notwithstanding the raging of the flames, but finding it impossible, he escaped, but yesterday morning died from his serious burns.

His Life Crushed Out.

Clarksburg, Ont., June 24.—Mr. Joseph Sout, one of the most highly respected citizens of this district, was instantly killed yesterday. Mr. Sout was driving to this place from his home in Euphrasia township, and, coming down a hill, the neck-yoke fastening came off, which allowed the wagon to run upon the horses, causing them to run away. Mr. Sout was thrown in front of the wheels, and the loaded wagon passed over him with fatal results. Deceased was about 50 years of age.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N.Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Jas. Lynch. Trial bottles free.

Mark Street Social To-night.

The social under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the Mark street church will be held this evening. If it cannot be held outside, the parsonage will be thrown open, and all those who anticipate going are assured of a splendid evening. 1d

Knights of the Macabees.

At the regular review of Peterborough Tent, No. 69, held last evening, ten new applications were presented by Deputy Supreme Commander Brown, making a total of 40 during his present visit. A large class of candidates were initiated, and an enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Thursday's Outing.

For the convenience of those going around the lakes on Thursday, a bus will leave Ashburnham, and one the corner of Smith and Water streets, at five minutes to 8 sharp, proceeding to St. Andrew's church, from which place all the busses will leave at 8 sharp. Tickets may be had at the church.

Grows Nice Strawberries.

Mr. O. E. Pearson, of North Monaghan, is one of our most successful fruit growers in this part of the country. He excels particularly in small fruits and a sample of handsomely coloured and delicately flavoured strawberries, of the Jessie variety, which were left at the Examiner office, would be hard to equal. The firmness of the berries and their size are also additional points in their favour.

Very Unusual Reductions in Ladies' Hats.

Preparatory to a midsummer clearance, Miss Delaney is offering this week great reductions in trimmed and untrimmed millinery. The hats thus marked down are all of that handsome and stylish design which have been so favourably noticed this season in our regular stock. They are quite new, high-class and desirable—just what you are looking for prior to the holiday week, as well as for travelling, outing or home wear. The prices have been lowered to nearly a half, which is quite an unusual concession at this still brisk period of the season. Miss Delaney. dw

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Mark street social to-night on the parsonage lawn.

—Statute labour is in full sway on the country roads, and all the highways are being "improved."

—If the weather is wet this evening the social at Mrs. Kendry's will be held in her residence instead of on the grounds.

—About 250 people arrived in town to-day from Cold Springs, Northumberland County, per steamer North Star. The excursion was run by the Presbyterian Church of that place.

THE MANAGER HERE.

The Canadian Cordage Company about to Erect Buildings in Peterborough.

Mr. W. T. Clarke, the recently appointed manager of the Canadian Cordage Company, arrived in town last evening from Xenia, Ohio, where he held the position of superintendent of the big Hooven Allison Binder Twine Factory.

Accompanied by several of the directors of the company, and by His Worship Mayor Donne, Mr. Clarke was driven around town this morning and viewed the sites available for factory purposes. During the afternoon the plans and specifications for the buildings required by the new industry were inspected.

The directors of the Canadian Cordage Company are to be congratulated on securing the services as manager of one so conversant with the manufacture of cordage, as Mr. Clarke.

Not only has he been connected with such big manufacturing concerns as those of McCormick and Pearson, as well as the Hoover Allison, but he is also thoroughly acquainted with the fibre trade, having spent some time in that business out in the West Indies, Yucatan and the Philippine Islands.

It is understood that the company will have a proposition to lay before the town council at its next meeting, which will also concern the interests of another strong company recently formed in Peterborough.

OTONABEE CLAIMS ITS FIRST VICTIM.

George Huston a G. T. R. Section Hand Drowned

FELL FROM A STEAMER.

He Was Seen Swimming Towards the Shore, But Could Not be Found by the Life Boat.

A sad drowning fatality occurred in the Otonabee river last evening, which has cast a gloom over the community.

Mr. George Huston, accompanied by his niece, Miss Minnie Meharry, boarded the steamer Water Lily last evening at the Wolfe street wharf, which was chartered by the C.G.E. Glee Club for their moonlight excursion. When about five miles down the river on the homeward trip, Miss Meharry, who was on the upper deck of the steamer, in company with her uncle, had occasion to go below for a drink of water. A short time afterwards the unfortunate man left the deck, and in passing over the plank between the steamer and the barge, his attention was attracted by a friend. He turned rapidly, missed his footing, and fell between the two crafts.

The alarm was quickly given, and for a time the excursionists were panic-stricken. Mr. Robert Shepherd, of Paterson street, immediately made preparations to jump to the rescue of the young man who was bravely battling with the waters, but it is said that he shouted back, "There is no use in two getting wet; I can swim." A bench was thrown overboard, but it did not reach the struggling man, who made no answer to the encouraging shouts sent out by his friends. A life boat was quickly lowered and sent to his rescue, but no trace of Huston could be seen. Both sides of the river were then searched, and it was then thought that perhaps the young man had reached shore and had gone to the home of his relatives, who live close to the scene of the accident.

This morning it was hoped by his relatives that he would reach home safe and sound, but all hope was abandoned about eight a.m., and the terrible fact dawned upon his family that he had met a watery grave after a brave struggle.

All night his widowed mother, aged 79 years, who resides on Reid street north, awaited the return of her son, but about 9.30 this morning Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, broke the sad news to her of her son's death. The scene at her home, as well as at his sister's, Mrs. Mrs. Wm. H. Meharry, was a sad one indeed, as it had been expected that he would turn up all right.

To-day a number of friends paddled down the river and instituted a search for his body, but up to the time of going to press their efforts had been in vain.

The late Mr. Huston was about 30 years of age, and was born in North Monaghan. He was a resident of North Monaghan until about two years ago, when on the death of his youngest sister he sold his farm and removed to town, to live with his widowed mother, whom he had promised to look after through life. Besides his mother there is left to mourn his loss two sisters and two brothers. They are Mrs. Wm. H. Meharry, town, and Mrs. Robt. Lytle of Harvey. One of the brothers resides in Cavan, and the other in the United States.

The deceased was employed as a sectionman on the Grand Trunk, and was a young man of excellent character, and a general favourite with all who knew him. He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters and the Orangemen. His relatives will have the sincere sympathy of the community in their affliction.

BOARD OF WORKS

Met a Deputation From Douro Council Yesterday.

The Board of Works met a deputation of the council of the township of Douro yesterday afternoon in reference to the boundary on Smith street north, which was in need of repairs.

The town decided to have the boundary road graded and will also make a grant towards gravelling the same, Douro township to do the gravelling.

THR C.G.E. GLEE CLUB

Ran a Very Successful Moonlight Last Evening.

The moonlight excursion under the auspices of the Canadian General Electric Glee Club last evening attracted a very large number, the Water Lily and barge being crowded to their utmost capacity. Butcher's Orchestra was on board and furnished excellent music and the programme furnished by the members of the Glee Club was a creditable one indeed. The night was an ideal one for a moonlight trip, and it is to be hoped the committee will give the public another opportunity of enjoying an outing.

GOES TO THE STATES.

A Popular Employee of the Auburn Woolen Mills Co.

Mr. Wm. Hartley, who for the past 26 years has been employed at the Auburn Woolen Mills and who has been with the present company for 22 years, left to-day, much to the regret of his many friends, to take a position in the Moyer Woolen Mills, Marseilles, N. Y.

Mr. Hartley has steadily risen at his trade and for the last five years has been foreman of the finishing department. His fellow-employees at the mills felt that they could not allow him to depart without giving expression to the esteem in which he was held and he was therefore presented yesterday with a gold headed cane and the appended address:

Mr. Hartley,

Dear Sir,—We who are employed in the dressing room, over which you have had charge for several years past, cannot allow you to go away without showing our respect in some way. During the time you have had charge, the greatest harmony has existed between overseer and helps. Our loss will be another's gain. Your resignation came as a great surprise, but in your new position we wish you every success, and hope that this move is but a stepping stone to higher things. We ask you to accept this cane as a token of our respect, and hope that you may long be spared before its use becomes a necessity. However, when you come to that time of life when a little help is needed, we hope that this cane may be of some use in helping still further along. Again wishing you prosperity and long life, we are yours very truly,

John Kemp, James Rutherford, George Dormer, Bruce Pollock, A. Fowler, Annie Gilman, Eliza Vinette, Eliza Daigneault, Alice Carter, Lydia Ferguson.

Mr. Hartley was popular and took an active interest in all of the organizations connected with the mill. He was also a prime favourite in social circles. He was a member of Court Littlejohn, C.O.F., and has held the responsible position of Financial-Secretary for the last five years. His brethern took leave of him last evening expressing great sorrow at the severance of fraternal ties.

LAST NIGHT'S SOCIAL.

It was Held by St. Luke's Church and was a Success.

The beautiful grounds of Mr. H. T. Strickland, Ashburnham, presented a gay appearance last evening, the occasion being the lawn social under the auspices of St. Luke's Church, and as is usually the case with all undertakings of this church, proved a great success.

There was a large number present, and an enjoyable evening was spent in listening to the delightful programme furnished by the Fifty-Seventh Regimental Band under Mr. Gliddon. During the evening a programme was presented by the ladies of the congregation in the residence of Mr. Strickland, which was thoroughly enjoyed. Excellent refreshments were also provided by the ladies and altogether the evening was pleasantly spent by those who were present.

Home From Texas.

Mr. J. Nicholls, formerly of South Monaghan, arrived in town from Texas on Friday and is visiting his sisters, the Misses Nicholls, McDonel street. Mr. Nicholls left town 18 years ago, and resided in Nebraska until four years ago, when he moved to Texas. He will remain in town for two or three months.

The Gift for the Bride.

THE ODDFELLOW'S DECORATION DAY.

The Annual Ceremony Performed This Afternoon.

A Large Gathering of Oddfellows Unite to Decorate the Graves of Departed Brethren.

Threatening weather greeted the Oddfellows this afternoon for the observance of Decoration Day, but the citizens turned out in large numbers to witness the annual ceremony of the beautifying of the graves of the departed members of the Order. The half holiday proclamation was no doubt the cause of the attendance being so large, although Decoration Day exercises have grown to be very popular.

The ceremony looked especially attractive this afternoon, as the natural beauty of the spot was further enhanced through the fact the during the morning hundreds took advantage of the occasion to lay a tribute on the grave of some dear departed one.

The members of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges assembled at two o'clock on the Central Park and marshalled by J. W. Miller, N. G., marched to the cemetery, headed by the band. All members marching carried bouquets and on reaching the cemetery they were divided into four parties, each of which visited an alloted number of graves, and after placing flowers thereon performed the short but impressive ceremony used on such occasions by the order.

The graves decorated were as follows:

Bro. Judge J. B. Hall, ex-M.P., 1st N. G., Otonabee Lodge.
" Sheriff W. S. Conger, ex-M.P., 2nd N. G., Otonabee Lodge.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the brethern and citizens present assembled around a platform erected for the occasion, from which brief addresses were made.

THE BOY SKIPPED.

He Was on His Way From Ottawa to the Reformatory.

This morning officer John Keane, of Ottawa, arrived in town with Wilfred Charon, aged fourteen years, whom he was taking to the Reformatory. Whilst taking breakfast at Larocque's Hotel, the boy made his sneak. The Chief was notified, and a sharp look-out is being kept for the urchin. The following is the description of the youth as handed to the police. Small, fair features, brown curly hair, straw hat, faded serge suit, knickerbuckers, one leg garter shows on stocking, flowing coloured tie, not new, speaks French.

The police later in the afternoon traced the boy to The Matthews Co., packing house, where he had stated that his father worked for the firm in Hull and that he was being taken away through a mistake. Mr. Matthews telephoned to the Hull branch and received word that the father and brother worked in the factory and to send the boy back. A ticket was purchased for him, but at the station the boy got sight of the officer and again skipped out. He was heard of in the vicinity of Ludgate's Hill, but the police have not recaptured him yet. Officer Keane will give $5 to anyone returning the lad to the Police Station.

OBITUARY.

The Late Margaret Elizabeth Black of Bridgenorth.

The death took place at Bridgenoth, Monday evening at 10.30, of Margaret Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. Thos. Black, aged twenty-one years, four months and twenty-five days, cause of death being meningitis. The deceased young lady, who was a general favourite, had been ill about three weeks, and her death will be sincerely regretted by her many friends. She was a member of the Methodist Church and was at one time identified with the choir. The funeral will take place from her father's residence at 1.30 Wednesday afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery.

WOULD BE CONVENIENT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — Perhaps no town in Canada, with equal population, owns so many fine public parks as does the town of Peterborough. While we all rejoice in that fact, we cannot but notice and regret the prejudicial manner in which they are distributed, especially when one considers other advantageous locations which ought to have been chosen, and one in particular, of which I propose to speak.

Peterborough has, without exception, the most beautiful cemetery in Ontario. It is a prime credit, not only to the town and its people, but also to the Protestants of both town and country. I refer to the Little Lake Cemetery. Few strangers, if any, come here without visiting this tomb of the departed; all admire its grounds, and the manner in which they are kept, its flower beds, its trees, its walks, its drives, its pretty little church that tops the hill; even the street approaching the cemetery is admired by all for the manner in which its future beauty is provided for on account of its three rows of beautiful elms, which in a few years will completely overshadow the narrow road and its walk to the cemetery for the distance of half a mile. From town to the cemetery is a long walk, and those of our townspeople who visit it in large numbers every Sunday from early morning till sunset, and during week-day evenings, have to walk from two to three miles without a resting place along the route.

There is an excellently convenient little lot, beautifully situated, and just large enough to make a beautiful place, where the weary could rest and enjoy the cool breezes off the lake. The lot to which I refer is the triangular lot which lies between Crescent, Romaine and Lock streets. No doubt this little lot could be purchased from whoever owns it for a small sum of money. I think that either the town or the trustees of the Little Lake Cemetery should purchase it and fit it up as a park, plant trees, elms, put in benches, etc.

I am sure that everyone who visits the cemetery will endorse my proposition, and if some influential person will only take the matter in hand, I am confident that before long this little lot will be the most beautiful and the most appreciated spot in town.

Yours, etc.,
Citizen.

VANITY IN PICTURES

A PHOTOGRAPHER'S WAIL ABOUT THE WHIMS OF HIS SUBJECTS.

Women, as a Rule, Insist That They Must Be Made Pretty—Folks With Crooked Faces—The Old Lady Who Felt Encouraged.

"There couldn't possibly be a better place to study human nature than in a photograph gallery," said a well known photographer the other day. "Of course, you have heard this before; but, really, we do meet some queer characters and have experiences that are amusing, even though they are trying.

"For instance, some impossible subject will come in. We will do all that the photographer's skill is capable of, retouch, take out the wrinkles and make her as pretty as possible. Then when she sees the photograph she looks grieved, hurt and indignant all at once.

"'Why, that doesn't look a bit like me!' she will exclaim. Then, if she has a friend with her, she will turn and say: 'Well, my coloring is my chief charm, anyway, and, of course, it's all lost in a photograph. Yes, you may send them up, but they're the last I'll ever have taken.'

"Another type is the woman who 'never expects to have a good photograph, because my features never look so well in repose, but when I talk, don't you know, my face is full of animation.' Of course everybody realizes the truth of this proposition, but every homely woman makes it her excuse and keeps emphasizing it. I much prefer the candor of a young woman who came in the other day and announced that she wanted a pretty picture and didn't care whether it looked like her or not.

"'I'm going to send this away to some relatives I haven't seen for years and will probably never see again, but I want it to look so pretty that they will immediately exclaim, "Why, how Elizabeth has changed!"'

"A man is generally driven to have his picture taken," said another photographer. "The old men are made to come by their daughters and the young men by their sweethearts. You know there is a great fad among young people just now for locket pictures. A girl doesn't hesitate at all to say, 'I want a locket picture for my fiance,' while a man will simply say he wants a little picture, until we pump it out of him that it is for a locket. In my opinion very few men care for their own pictures, but simply have them taken when some woman insists on it. They will come in and get the proofs, saying, 'Well, I don't know anything about this, but I'll send back the one that's wanted.' A girl, on the other hand, never wants a man to see her picture until it is entirely finished and all the lines taken out."

It is becoming a sort of fad with the best photographers now to make portraits of elderly men and women leaving every line and wrinkle in, and the public is growing to learn the artistic value of this work, which, of course, is a great advance from the stereotyped "pleasant" look of bygone days.

"I am not at all in sympathy with the idea that the public is a fool," said another prominent artist who has photographed many celebrities in his long professional career. "An artist is supposed from his experience and education in art to be better able to dispose of lines and forms and adjust lights than the layman, but the public pays the freight and certainly has rights that a photographer should recognise. Many subjects, however, are blind to their peculiarities or faults, and it may surprise you to learn that the human face is rarely a perfect bit of symmetry, the two sides often differing widely. But that is a long story. Even families do not know of peculiar distinctions in the faces of their own household. I once took a photograph of a lady whose face was remarkable in this respect, the difference between the corincular and corner of the mouth being fully half an inch. I did all that my skill could suggest in lights, posing, etc., but could not conceal the unsymmetrical lines. When she saw the proof, she threw it down indignantly, exclaiming, 'Surely my face is not crooked!' But it was.

"I have found little difference in the degrees of vanity in men and women," continued the photographer. "The surprising element entered when a plain old farmer who probably had not looked into a mirror for a generation came in for a photograph and became not only fussy and obstreperous, but very critical.

"It is very hard for some to know they are growing old. Once a woman of 55, with very kittenish ways, came to me. I studied her face carefully, for I knew she did not realise her looks. Finally I made her portrait, copying one of Sir Thomas Lawrence's paintings. Then we retouched and retouched again, removing every line and wrinkle and shadow. The result showed a young woman, surely not 25. I was actually shamefaced over it and wondered how she would take it. She looked at it critically.

"'Well, really, Mr. Photographer, I feel encouraged. I always do look old in my pictures, but if you'll just retouch this a little'—

"Members of the dramatic profession are so educated and drilled in posing that they surpass all others as a class. Public men usually look on it as a duty to be executed as promptly as possible. They realise that it is better to be strong than comely. Yet a great many have a great regard for their clothes. Only recently I photographed a very distinguished man. The likeness was excellent, but in the left coat sleeve was a wrinkle, and on account of this he insisted on sitting again."

The Anaemic Young Girl.

Perhaps she is sixteen. Suddenly she seems to lose strength, her beauty fails, because her strength fails, her eyes lose their lustre. How her spirit droops! It alarms you, but all this may be corrected quickly. Get her Ferrozone, it is a nerve tonic, it aids the stomach to do its work. Appetite? She'll eat anything, and digest it, too. Ferrozone is an absolute specific for the anaemia of young people. Ask your druggist for it. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

What Worried Her.

The Liverpool Post says that a firm in Liverpool, being delighted at the idea that one of its employes was called upon to join the reserves, at once volunteered to pay half his wages to his wife in his absence. At the end of the month the woman appeared, and the moiety was at once given her.

"What?" she said. "Four pounds?"

"Yes," replied the senior partner, "that is exactly half; sorry you are not satisfied."

"It isn't that I'm not satisfied. Why, for years he has told me he only got 16 shillings altogether, and—and—if the Boers don't kill him I will."

Her Version of It.

A young girl in a class preparing for admission into the church was asked by the pastor how she ought to obey the fifth commandment, to honor her father and mother. She answered promptly, "I ought to take them out for walks on Sundays, and I ought not to let them see how much more I know than they do." She expressed an opinion probably quite current among young people concerning the preponderance of knowledge in the rising generation.

MARKET REPORTS.

Big Decrease in the Visible Supply of Wheat—Advance in Prices at Liverpool—Quotations.

Monday Evening, June 24.

In Liverpool to-day wheat futures advanced ½d per cental, and maize options ⅝d to ¾d per cental.

In Paris, wheat options rose 10 to 15 centimes, and flour options 15 to 20 centimes.

After a show of early strength, the Chicago wheat options declined and closed ¼c to ⅛c below Saturday's final figures. Corn acted in a similar way.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 2,236,000 bushels; that of corn has decreased 83,000 bushels, and that of oats has decreased 231,000 bushels.

To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 72,903,000 bushels, against 75,819,000 bushels a week ago, and 78,228,000 bushels a year ago.

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for mental, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and see us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Stricture, Blood Diseases, Varicocele, Stricture, Unnatural Discharges, Ulcers, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. Everything confidential. Consultation Free. Books Free. Question Blank Free for Home Treatment.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"What does herr do for a living? He works so badly as a gardener."

"I am a journalist," I answered, leaning on my hoe and breathing heavily.

"Ach, one of those men who tell such dreadful stories about kings and princes, who cause men to go to war with each other, who rouse the ignorant to deeds of violence—one of those men who are more powerful than a king because they can undo him?" She drew away from me.

"Hold on!" I cried, dropping the hoe. "What do you know about it?"

"Enough," sadly. "I read the papers. I always look with fear upon one of those men who can do so much good and yet who would do so much evil."

I had never looked at it in that light before.

"It seems to me, Gretchen," I said quietly, "that you are about as much a barmaid as I am a weeder of knoblauches." The color of excitement fled from Gretchen's cheeks, her eyes grew troubled, and she looked away.

"Gretchen has a secret," said I. "It is nothing to me what Gretchen's secret is. I shall respect it and continue to think of her only as a barmaid with—with a superior education." I shouldered the hoe. "Come, let us go back. I'm thirsty."

"Thank you, herr," was the soft reply. Then Gretchen became as dumb, and our return to the inn was made in silence. Once there, however, she recovered. "I am sorry to have put you at such a disadvantage," glancing at my clothes, which were covered with brown earth.

"Let that be the least of your troubles!" I cried gayly. Then I hummed in English:

"So, ho, dear Gretchen, winsome lass,
I want no tricky wine,
But amber nectar bring to me,
Whose rich bouquet will cling to me,
Whose spirit voice will sing to me
From out the mug divine!
So, here's your toll—a kiss—away,
You Hebe of the Rhine!
No goblet's gold means cheer to me;
Let no cut glass get near to me;
Go, Gretchen, haste the beer to me
And put it in the stein!"

I thought I saw a smile on her lips, but it was gone before I was certain.

"Gott im himmel!" gasped the astonished innkeeper as I went into the barroom. I still had the hoe over my shoulder.

"Never mind, mein host. I've been weeding your knoblauch patch as a method of killing time."

"But"— He looked at Gretchen in dismay.

"It was I who led him there," said Gretchen in answer to his inquiring eyes.

A significant glance passed between them. There was a question in his, a command in hers. I pretended to be examining the faded tints in the stein I held in my hand. I was thinking. "Since when has an innkeeper waited on the wishes of his barmaid?"

There was a mystery after all.

CHAPTER IX.

I took my pipe and strolled along the river bank. What had I stumbled into? Here was an old inn with rather a feudal air, but it was only one in a thousand, a common feature throughout the continent, and yet why had the gods, when they cast out Hebe, chosen this particular inn for her mortal residence? The pipe solves many riddles, and then sometimes it creates a density. I put my pipe into my pocket and cogitated. Gretchen had brought about a new order of things. A philosophical barmaid was certainly a novelty. That Gretchen was philosophical I had learned in the rose gardens; that she was also used to giving commands I had learned in the onion patch. Hitherto I had held the onion in contempt; already I had begun to respect it. Above all, Gretchen was a mystery, the most alluring kind of mystery—a woman who was not what she seemed. How we men love mysteries which are given the outward semblance of a Diana or a Venus! By and by my journalistic instinct awoke. Who are those who fear the newspapers? Certainly it is not the guiltless. Of what was Gretchen guilty? The innkeeper knew. Was she one of those many conspirators who abound in the kingdom? She was beautiful enough for anything. And whence came the remarkable likeness between her and Phyllis? Here was a mystery indeed. I had a week before me. In that time I might learn something about Gretchen even if I could solve nothing. I admit that it is true that had Gretchen been plain it would not have been worth the trouble. But she had too heavenly a face, too wonderful an eye, too delicious a mouth, not to note her with concern.

I did not see Gretchen again that day, but as I was watching the moon climb up, thinking of her and smoking a few pipes as an incense to her shrine, I heard her voice beneath my window. It was accompanied by the bass voice of the innkeeper.

"But he is a journalist. Is he safe? Is anything safe from them?" came to my ears in a worried accent, a bass. So the innkeeper, too, was a socialist!

Said an impatient contralto, "So long as I have no fear why should you?"

"Ach, you will be found out and dragged back!" was the lamentation in a throaty baritone. Anxiety raises a bass voice at least two pitches. "If you would but return to the hills where there is absolute safety!"

"No, I will not go back there, where everything is so dull and dead. I have lived too long not to read a face at a glance. His eyes are honest."

"Thanks, Gretchen," murmured I from above. I was playing the listener. But, then, she was only a barmaid.

"And it is so long," went on the contralto, "since I have seen a man—a strong one—I wish to see if my power is gone."

"Aha!" thought I. "So you have already laid plans for my capitulation, Gretchen?"

"But," said the bass voice once more, "supposing some of the military should straggle along? There might be one who has seen you before. Alas, I despair! You will not hide yourself; you will stay here till they find you."

I fell to wondering what in the world Gretchen had done. "I have not been to the village since I was a little girl. Dressed as I am, who would recognize me? No one at the castle, for there is no one there but the steward. Would you send me away?"

"God forbid! But this American? You say you can read faces. How about the other one?"

Silence.

"Yes, how about him?"

Said Gretchen: "We are not infallible. And perhaps I was then much to blame."

"No, we are not infallible. That is the reason why you should take no chance," was the final argument of the innkeeper.

"Hush!" said Gretchen.

"Confound the pipe!" I muttered. It had fallen over the window sill.

Five minutes passed. I heard no sound. Glancing from the side of the window I saw that Gretchen and the innkeeper were gone.

Yes, there wasn't any doubt about it; Gretchen was a conspirator. The police were hunting for her, and she was threatened with discovery. It was beyond my imagination what she could have done. Moreover, she was rather courting danger. The military post was only five miles down the river. The one thing which bothered me was the "him" who had suddenly intruded upon the scene, invisible, but there, like Banquo's ghost. Perhaps her beauty had lured some fellow to follow her fortunes, and his overzeal or lack of it had brought ruin to some plot.

"Gretchen," said I as I jumped into bed, "whoever he was, he must have been a duffer."

Her serene highness the Princess Hildegarde was in Jericho, and Hillars along with her, where I had consigned them.

Next morning Gretchen waited upon me at breakfast. She was quiet and answered my questions in monosyllables. Presently she laid something at the side of my plate. It was my pipe. I looked at her, but the leads of my eyes could not plumb the depths in hers.

"Thanks," said I. "It dropped from my window last night while I was playing the disgraceful part of eavesdropper." I dare say she had expected anything but this candid confession. It was very cunning in me. She knew that I knew she knew. Had I lied I should have committed an irreparable blunder. As it was she lifted her chin and laughed.

"Will you forgive me?"

"Yes; for you certainly wasted your time."

"Yes, indeed; for I am just as much in the dark as ever."

"And will remain so."

"I know so. A mystery is charming while it lasts. Really, Gretchen, I did not mean to play the listener, and I promise that from now on"—

"From now on!" cried Gretchen. "Does not herr leave today?"

"No; I am going to spend a whole week here."

There was a mixture of dismay and anger in her gaze.

"But, as I was going to say, I shall make no effort to pry into your affairs. Honestly, I am a gentleman."

"I shall try to believe you," said she, the corners of her month broadening into a smile.

She condescended to show me through the rose gardens and tell me what she knew about them. It was an interesting lecture. And in the evening she permitted me to row her about the river. We were getting on very well under the circumstances.

The week was soon gone, and Gretchen and I became very good friends. Often when she had nothing to do we would wander along the river through the forests, always, I noticed, by a route which took us away from the village. Each day I discovered some new accomplishment. Sometimes I would read Heine or Goethe to her, and she would grow rapt and silent. In the midst of some murmurous stanza I would suddenly stop, only to see her start and look at me as though I had committed a sacrilege, in that I had spoiled some dream of hers. Then again I myself would become lost in dreams, to be aroused by a soft voice saying, "Well, why do you not go on?" Two people of the opposite sexes reading poetry in the woods is a solemn matter. This is not appreciated at the time, however. It comes back afterward.

In all the week I had learned nothing except that Gretchen was not what she pretended to be. But I feared to ask questions. They might have spoiled all. And the life was so new to me, so quiet and peaceful, with the glamour of romance over it all, that I believe I could have staid on forever. And somehow Phyllis was fading away, slowly, but surely. The regret with which I had heretofore looked upon her portrait was lessening each day, from active to passive. And yet was it because Gretchen was Phyllis in the ideal? Was I falling in love with Gretchen because she was Gretchen, or was my love for Phyllis simply renewing itself in Gretchen? Was that the reason why the portrait of Phyllis grew less holding and interesting to me? It was a complex situation; one I frowned over when alone. It was becoming plainer to me every hour that I had a mystery all of my own to solve. And Gretchen was the only one to solve it.

I shall never forget that night under the chestnuts on the bank of the wide white river. The leaves were gossiping among themselves. They had so much to talk about, and then they knew so much! Had not they and their ancestors filtered the same moonbeams century on century? Had not their ancestors heard the tramp of the armies, the clash of the saber, the roar of the artillery? Had not the hand of autumn and the band of death marked them with the crimson sign? Ah, the leaves! It is well to press them in books when they themselves have such fine stories to tell.

"Gretchen," said I, echoing my thoughts, "had I been born a hundred years ago I must have been a soldier. Napoleon was a great warrior."

"So was Blucher, since it was he who helped overcome the little Corsican."

The Germans will never forgive Napoleon.

"But war is a terrible thing," went on Gretchen.

"Yes, but it is a great educator. It teaches the vanquished how little they know."

"War is the offspring of pride. That is what makes it so abhorred."

"It is also the offspring of oppression. That is what makes it so great."

"Yes. When the people take up arms, it is well. War is the torch of liberty in the hands of the people. Oh, I envy the people, who are so strong, yet know it not. If I were a man, I would teach the people that a king has no divine right, save when it is conferred upon him by them."

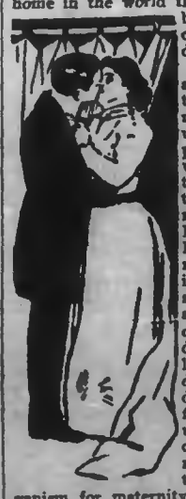
"Gretchen, I'm afraid that you're a bit of a socialist."

"And who is not who has any love for humanity?"

(To be continued.)

LOVE

Lives only in the present. Nature throws a glamor around youth and maiden, so that although they saw misery and marriage walking hand in hand in every home in the world they would fondly believe that they could marry and defy misery.



Young women should be taught to prepare for marriage. They should understand how to preserve their womanly health through the functional changes of maternity. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most effective medicine for the preservation of womanly health and the cure of womanly diseases. It regulates the periods, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It prepares the womanly organism for maternity and makes the birth hour practically painless.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"My wife was afflicted with uterine trouble for several years," writes Mr. J. C. Day, of Little Britain, Lancaster Co., Pa., "and in November, 1898, the doctor said she had a miscarriage. He treated her for about two months or so, but there was but little improvement. I wrote you after she had commenced to take 'Favorite Prescription' and you told us to get 'Golden Medical Discovery' also. She took six or seven bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and got out of bed and was able to attend to her household work."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness.

11. Your committee beg to report that the amount realized from the sale of the 19 debentures of the county of Peterborough, amounting to 14,409.58, was the sum of $13,788.75.

12. Your committee recommend that the County Treasurer open a special account, either in the bank, or with some suitable company, for deposit of "sinking funds," and that the warden the chairman of this committee, and the County Treasurer, be authorized to arrange as to the terms upon which such moneys shall be received, and that the County Treasurer be authorized and directed to deposit on such special account from time to time all moneys which are proper to be appropriated to that account.

13. Your committee recommend that the County Treasurer notify each of the Municipal Treasurers in this county that he shall insist on such treasurer conforming to the statute which requires that the treasurer of every municipality paying money to the treasurer of any other municipality shall on or before the 7th day of January in each year make up a statement in detail showing the amounts of such payments and the dates of the same for the year ending the 31st day of December last preceding, and he shall transmit such statement to the head of the municipality to whose treasurer the payments have been made.

14. Your committee recommend that the gaol surgeon be requested in matters pertaining to the examination of lunatics to engage as a co-examiner the services of the physician who usually attended the patient.

15. Your committee recommend that a special grant of $50 be given to the Peterborough Historical Society.

16. That the matter of entering into a contract with the Peterborough Light and Power Co., Limited, for lighting the county buildings be left in the hands of the Warden and County Engineer with power to act.

17. Your committee recommend that the memorandum hereto attached of accounts and moneys paid by the Treasurer on the authority of the Warden, etc., or under contract duly entered into, be confirmed.

18. Your committee recommend that a special grant of $25 each be given to the East and West Peterborough Farmers' Institutes as soon as the County Treasurer is satisfied that such Institutes have complied with the Government regulations.

19. Your committee recommend that the matter of furnishing the Clerk of the Peace with a cabinet for legal forms be left in the hands of Mr. Peck, the expense thereof not to be more than $15, and to be paid for by the treasurer on order of Mr. Peck.

20. Your committee recommend that a special grant of $100 be given to each of the East Riding and West Riding Agricultural Societies.

21. Your committee recommend that a special grant of $30 be given to the Peterborough Poultry Association, the money to be paid to them after they hold their intended winter exhibition.

22. Your committee recommend that the matter of a special grant to the Trent Canal Association be referred to the next session of the council.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J .B. PEARCE, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

On motion of Councillors Anderson and Peck, the

THE COMMITTEE ON COUNTY PROPERTY

beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee recommend that the report of the County Solicitor with respect to the title of the Central Park, the Court House Park, and the Court House and Gaol and grounds, be received and that such report be printed in the minutes of the council.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

E. A. PECK, Chairman.

The report was adopted on motion of Councillors Peck and Casement.

COMMITTEE ON ROADS AND BRIDGES, was allowed to report as subjoined:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:

1. That the matter of the application of Mr. I. K. Stabler for the position of caretaker of the swing of the new Chemong Bridge be referred to the January sittings of this council.

2. That no action be taken with respect to the application of Mr. James Graham to have a caretaker for the Pigeon Creek bridge for the Victoria County side.

3. That the Warden and Mr. Anderson be a committee to act with a like committee from the united counties of Durham and Northumberland with respect to bridges under joint jurisdiction.

4. Your committee recommend that the account of Mr. Hastie, $49.50, in connection with the repairs to the Alandale bridge, be paid.

5. That the matter of visiting and inspecting the Mud Lake Bridge, Gannon's Narrows and Pigeon Creek bridges be left in the hands of the Warden with power to act.

6. That no action be taken upon the application of Mr. A. E. Kennedy asking for a special grant of $100 towards opening up part of the 16th concession of Smith.

7. That no action be taken upon the application of Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, asking for a special grant towards repairing the road leading from Havelock to the Cordova Mines.

8. Your committee recommend that the report of the County Engineer be received.

9. Your committee recommend that the flooring of the Pigeon Creek bridge be continued to the extent of 500 feet during the present year and that the matter be left in the hands of the Warden and County Engineer ,with power to act.

10. Your committee recommend that the County Engineer at once procure a new rope for the Gannon's Narrows' Ferry.

11. Your committee recommend that the County Clerk be instructed to write Mr. W. B. Kelly that he is not fulfilling the contract which he undertook with this county, viz., to keep the Mud Lake Bridge in a safe condition for public traffic, and that in default on the part of Mr. Kelly the Warden be authorized to have the work properly done and the cost thereof be deducted from Mr. Kelly's account.

12. Your committee recommend that the matter of widening, railing and re-flooring 700 feet of the old Mud Lake bridge be left in the hands of the County Engineer and that the Warden be authorized to engage Mr. C. J. Jopling as inspector of works, in connection with the construction of the Mud Lake bridge and as foreman of the above intended work under the supervision of the County Engineer.

13. That the County Engineer be instructed to procure 5000 feet of rock elm lumber for the Buckhorn bridge.

14. That the matter of the proposed Douglas Bridge, Wallace Point and Bensfort bridges be left in the hands of the Joint Committee of the interested counties.

15. That the matter of the repairs to Keene station and Leary's bridge be left in the hands of Mr. William Anderson, with power to act.

16. Your committee recommend that no action be taken upon the application of Mr. Austin for a special grant to the Kinmount bridge over Burnt River in Galway owing to the large expenditure of money on bridges already incurred this year by this council.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. ANDERSON, Chairman.

The report was adopted on motion of Councillors Eastland and Costello.

The report of the Committee on Schools was received as follows, on motion of Councillors Eastland and Shaw:

THE COMMITTEE ON SCHOOLS beg leave to report, recommending as follows:

1. That examinations shall be held annually at the village of Havelock for the admission of pupils to High Schools according to the regulations of the Education Department, notice of which shall be given to the County Inspector by the County Clerk.

2. That the petition of Arthur Dewdney and others of Northwest Harvey, asking this council to form a school section, be referred back to such petitioners on the ground that the municipal council of the township has jurisdiction in the matter, and that this council has no jurisdiction except by way of appeal from the decision of the municipal council.

3. That the report of the County School Inspector be received and that the clerk be instructed to print same in the minutes of the proceedings of this council.

4. That no action be taken upon the application of David Darling and others asking for a change in the boundaries of S. S. No. 6, and No. 10 Doure, and No. 4 and No. 10, Dummer, on the ground that there is no evidence that either the village of Lakefield, or the township of Dummer have had an opportunity to consider the matter, and that the petition of Arthur J. Jory and others, asking that the application for the separation of S. S. No. 10, Douro, be not granted be received.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. G. EASTLAND, Chairman.

The report was adopted on motion of Councillors Shaw and Peck.

Councillors Peck and Anderson moved that the Committee on County Property be allowed to report. —Carried.

The report was presented as appended:

THE COMMITTEE ON COUNTY EQUALIZATION

reported through its chairman, Councillor Casement, recommending that the sum required for the administration of county affairs be assessed amongst the various townships on the same basis as last year and that Messrs. E. Hawthorn and R. Edmison be appointed valuators to recommend a new schedule of equalization.

The report was adopted on motion of Councillors Casement and Crowe.

BYLAWS.

Bylaws were introduced as appended:

By Councillor Pearce fixing the basis of equalization for the year for the purpose of raising the sum of $21,838 for the administration of county affairs.—Passed.

By Councillor Anderson confirming the recommendations in the report of the Committee on Roads and Bridges. —Passed.

By Councillor Jeffs appointing Geo. Stewart, County Treasurer, and R. P. Watt, County Clerk.—Passed.

By Councillor Casement appointing Edward Hawthorne and Robert Edmison as County Valuators.—Passed.

The Council adjourned on motion of Councillor Pearce and Casement, but before the members left their chairs Warden Fitzgerald expressed his appreciation of the expeditious, thorough and satisfactory way in which the business of the session had been transacted.

A PETREL WEDDING.

Herman D. Howson Leads Miss Eliza. beth Murchison to the Altar.

The Carberry News, of June 14th says: "Another of those important ceremonies which mean so much to two persons at least, was held in St. Andrew's church, Petrel, on Wednesday, the 12th inst., when Herman D. Howson and Miss Lizzie Murchison were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. T. C. Court. A large number of guests were present, and if good wishes count for anything, Mr. and Mrs. Howson are assured of a life of happiness. After the ceremony the newly wedded couple and the invited guests wended their way to the residence of the bride's mother, where an elaborate wedding dinner was prepared. Mr. and Mrs. Howson took the Brandon local west last evening and will enjoy their honeymoon in a trip through Southern Manitoba. On their return they will take up their residence at Pleasant Point, where Mr. Howson is making his mark as a farmer. Both the bride and groom are well known in this district and they possess the sincere respect and esteem of all their acquaintances. The News regrets that a list of the presents bestowed on them by admiring friends and relatives is not available, but we are assured that the number was exceptionally large and included articles characterized by usefulness and elegance. The News extends congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Howson."

POLITICAL ASPECT IN THE PROVINCE.

Talk With Hon. Mr. Stratton on This Subject.

The Government's Strong Hold on Public Confidence—Strong Liberal Candidates Nominated Everywhere.

(From the Belleville Ontario.)

Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, made a short stay in the city waiting for train connection to reach Napanee, where he delivers a public address this afternoon.

Referring to the tour of the Ontario cabinet ministers, Mr. Stratton said they were meeting with an excellent reception, the strong point of claim they have upon the electorate arising from the record of past Liberal governments, the success of the advanced policy of the present Cabinet, and the certainty of that policy being carried out in the future in a way to give the Province the fullest benefit of the tremendous development that would result from a live, energetic policy applied to the unlimited resources of Ontario.

Mr. Stratton added that he had noticed numerous evidences of the popular esteem in which the Government and its platform are held, and to this cause for hopefulness for success at the coming elections was to be added the fact that in some constituencies, where little local jealousies had existed to the detriment of the success of the Liberal party, these were successfully adjusted, and strong candidates assured of hearty and united support were being placed in the field. Mr. Stratton said that he hoped West Hastings would fall into line and send to the Legislature a representative intelligent, thoughtful, and a firm believer in the resources of the Province, and thoroughly in sympathy with the bold policy of the Ross Government, whose grand aim is, by the energetic development of her resources, to make Ontario as great and prosperous as her possibilities under good management warrants.

To The Ontario's representative Mr. Stratton said he saw no reason why West Hastings should not be as well represented as East Hastings. Belleville city is an important point and with a representative who would push her claim and help the Government in bringing about the development of the rich mineral resources of Eastern Ontario of which it is a wonder the Bay City had not a fuller share.

In addition to the positive evidences of the Government's success at the next elections, Mr. Stratton said, is the negative evidence of the negative position of the Opposition, with no policy worth the name. They never make an attempt to answer the unassailable logic of facts representing what the present Government has done, nor to meet the arguments of the touring ministers by any other form of argument than belittlement and attempted ridicule. If the independent electorate wishes to vote for measures and not men, Mr. Whitney and his friends show no disposition to give them an opportunity of so doing. If the Liberals don't win the coming provincial elections, it will be because the people do not want a good straight-forward, patriotic, progressive Government.

DETAILS OF CAPTURE.

Hand-to-Hand Fighting Necessary to Get Dewet's Convoy.

DELAREY'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Scouts Exchange Shots With Gen. Fouche's Commandoes Near Barkly East—The Local Defence Forces Mobilized—More Sjamboking — Jacobus Botha, a Member of the Cape Assembly, Captured.

Cape Town, June 25.—Details of the engagements between General Elliott's column and Dewet's force near Reitz, June 6, show that the British surprised the Boer convoy.

The burghers fled, but seeing that the captors were not in strong force returned and charged with great determination, and, after desperate fighting, recaptured the convoy.

Meanwhile Colonel De Lisle arrived with reinforcements and the fighting was renewed. The Boers lay beneath their wagons and unflinchingly fired volleys between the wheels, while their comrades were engaged in unspanning and driving off that portion of the convoy farthest from the British.

The latter pushed in among the wagons, using the bayonet freely. General Delarey was present and personally used a rifle. His right hand neighbor was killed, and the comrade on his left was wounded. The affair ended in a series of hand-to-hand encounters and fierce melees, the Boers eventually being driven off.

One of Gen. Dewet's staff officers was wounded and taken prisoner.

British Captures.

London, June 26.—Lord Kitchener reports to the War Office that since his last report 41 Boers have been killed, 27 wounded, 160 prisoners taken, 70 burghers surrendered, and 41,800 rounds of small-arm ammunition, and 264 wagons, besides horses and stock, captured.

Shots Exchanged.

Berkeley East, Cape Colony, June 25.—General Fouches and two Boer commandos have advanced beyond Glen Almond. Boer and British scouts have exchanged shots six miles hence. All the local defence forces have been mobilized.

Botha Sjamboked.

Cape Town, June 25.—Jacobus Botha, the member of the Cape Assembly for Aliwal North, has been captured by the Boers and publicly sjamboked. In addition, his house was burned. The reason assigned for this treatment is that Botha voted in favor of the Treason bill.

Costs $1,250,000 a Week.

London, June 26.—The South African war, as usual, was the subject of innumerable questions in the House of Commons yesterday. Little information was elicited, except that it continued to cost £1,250,000 weekly; that the authorities estimated that the invaders of Cape Colony numbered from 1,800 to 2,000 men, and that there had been 1,484 cases of typhoid fever among the troops during the month of April, of which 187 had proved fatal.

Lords Discussed Army Bill.

London, June 26.—The Army bill was debated in the House of Lords last night. The Duke of Bedford and Lord Dunraven criticized the Army Reorganization bill. They urged that more pay and better rations were necessary to attract recruits.

Lord Raglan, the Under-Secretary of War, defended the bill. He said recruiting was proceeding satisfactorily.

HOSTILE MANCHURIANS.

New Revolt Against Russia Raises Its Head in Kharbin District.

Moscow, June 26.—For some weeks there have been indications of unrest in the Khailar and Kharbin districts, and the authorities are greatly alarmed. It now develops that the trouble is due to an organized gathering of hostile Manchurian and Mongolian fanatics. In response to urgent appeals considerable numbers of troops are being hurried to that locality to cope with the disturbances, which have got completely beyond the control of the local forces. The Russian authorities have ordered all Russian women and children to leave immediately.

To Be Tried by His Peers.

London, June 26.—A true bill was returned yesterday against Earl Russell for bigamy. The trial will take place in the House of Lords. In charging the Grand Jury, the Recorder said that, even if the Earl's divorce was valid in the United States, it would not be binding in Great Britain.

Man Killed at Ottawa.

Ottawa, June 26.—A. Germain, wood dealer, about 50 years of age, fell from his cart on Bell street yesterday afternoon and was killed. One wheel of the cart passed over his head. Deceased leaves a family.

TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

Statements by the Company and Men Still Contradictory.

TORONTO JUNCTION STRIKERS.

Telegram Read There Which Stated That the Bridgemen Would Join in the Strike—Men Being Sent Out From Winnipeg to Fill Strikers' Places—C. P. R. Officials' "Best Day Yet."

Toronto Junction, June 26.—Last night a largely attended meeting of the striking railway trackmen and their friends was held here. Mr. J. W. St. John, ex-M. P. P., and Hon. Clarke Wallace expressed sympathy with the strikers, and the latter promised to give his services towards effecting a satisfactory settlement with the company.

Bridgemen to Join.

A telegram was received from the bridgemen that, if offered the protection of the Order of Railroad Trackmen, they would go on strike also. They have been offered the protection of the order.

Little News at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Man., June 26.—Locally there is little news regarding the trackmen's strike. The men are talking of holding a public mass meeting to discuss the situation. Mr. Leonard, when questioned yesterday, said that Superintendent James was sending out twenty men from this city to replace the strikers. There Has no change in the situation, so far as he could learn; the strikers were being replaced as quickly as possible. The men state that they have succeeded in inducing many, whom the company had engaged to work, to quit.

What the Officials Say.

Montreal, June 26.—Inquiry at the Canadian Pacific headquarters confirms the report that many more foremen returned to work yesterday. The men have got tired of the strike, and one man returning brings more with him. It has been a case of not wanting to be the first to return. "The best day yet," Mr. McNicoll remarked.

ABOUT 50 DEAD.

West Virginia Flood Horror Greatly Overestimated — The Property Loss Also Diminished—The Latest Details.

Bluefields, W. Va., June 26. — The West Virginia flood situation has not many new developments, but it is authentically stated that the loss of life has been greatly overestimated, although the loss of property can hardly be estimated. The most conservative estimate obtainable places the loss of life at about 50, a greater part of whom are colored miners and their families. A great many more are missing, and are supposed to have been swept away. There are great piles of debris, and it will take many days to find all the bodies.

The Norfolk and Western Railway Company will lose, at a conservative estimate, half a million dollars, not taking into consideration the delay to traffic, etc. Their double track is practically washed away for a distance of six miles, and at least 3,000 men are at work day and night repairing the roadbed and removing drift. The Cumberland Valley electric light car arrived yesterday, and will be used to prosecute the work at night. It will be four days before any traffic can be resumed.

The loss to the coal operators will reach about $400,000, outside of the delay at the mines in loading, etc. The property loss by private parties is very heavy, and cannot be estimated at this time. It is thought it will reach the million-dollar mark.

Railway Official's Report.

New York, June 26.—The Norfolk and Western offices in this city have received the following telegram from the general passenger agent at Roanoke, Va.:

"Latest information as to the storm at Pocahontas coal field is damage to property, $300,000; loss of life about sixty. No loss of passengers or trains. We expect to resume running of trains on Wednesday."

1,000 Men Out of Work.

Detroit, Mich., June 26.—A Journal special from Iron Mountain, Mich., says: The Hydraulic Works at Quinnesec Falls, five miles distant, were totally destroyed by fire early yesterday. The loss in damaged machinery will exceed $200,000. The power for operating the Chapin, Ludington and Hamilton mines was furnished almost entirely by the Works, and their destruction will necessitate the closing of these mines for some time, throwing 1,000 men out of employment.

Died From Vaccination.

Hamilton, June 26. — Benjamin Gale, the 11-year-old son of Edward Gale, 106 Canada street, died yesterday morning from the effects of vaccination, blood poisoning having set in.

News Concerning the Peterborough Soldiery at Barriefield Camp.

The Kingston News publishes the following biographical notes of some Peterborough cavalrymen who are in camp at Barriefield Common:

Surgeon-Major Young, of the 3rd Dragoons, was gazetted to his present position in 1897. He is an M.D. and F.R.C.S., of Edinburgh and takes rank among the highest of physicians and surgeons in Peterborough and vicinity. The Major is a military enthusiast, and in matters pertaining to the game, the best informed man in the district. He is a brother of the dashing Capt. Young of Transvaal fame who won such wide distinction by capturing at Klip Kop two field guns and twenty or thirty Boers without the loss of one of his small force of fifteen men.

Capt. Chas. H. Rogers, of Grafton, Ont., has just been appointed to the command of "A" Squadron, 3rd Dragoons. He is a nephew of Lt.-Col. Rogers, the Brigadier, and a young soldier of much promise. He is one of the youngest captains in the service being but twenty-four years of age.

Capt. Wm. Bradburn, of "C" Squadron, 3rd Dragoons, has also just been appointed to his present command. He is an officer of experience, not having missed a camp for a decade. The captain is a popular member of the well-known Bradburn family of Peterborough, Ont.

Lieutenant Gerald Hayward, of "B" Squadron, 3rd Dragoons, went to South Africa with the Canadian Second Contingent of Mounted Rifles and saw much active service. He is barely of age, and a promising young officer.

Capt. Johnston, of Peterborough, adjutant of the 3rd P.W.C. Dragoons, is an ideal cavalry officer, whose ability and efficiency was so appreciated that in the absence of Lt.-Col. Lessard and Major Forester, who weere at the front in South Africa, he was selected to be second in command of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. This was an honour much appreciated by the regiment.

Among the notable officers of the 3rd Dragoons, not the least is Capt. Garvin, B.A., ex-I.P.S., of Peterborough, who for three camps has been Quartermaster. The worthy captain is well known throughout Ontario as an educator, orator, poet and politician. In 1898, it will be remembered, he entered the political arena as the educational rival of the Hon. G. W. Ross, and contested West Peterborough in the Conservative interests. His effective letters and speeches were at that time widely circulated in the public press. Last January Captain Garvin published a booklet of poems commemorative of Queen Victoria's death and of Albert Edward's ascension to the throne which was highly praised by the most eminent literary men and women of Canada.

Capt. Syers, of "B" Squadron, 3rd Dragoons, attained to his present rank a year ago. In 1897 he was sent to England to represent his squadron at the Queen's Jubilee celebration in London. The captain is a very popular squadron leader. He resides at Millbrook.

Lt.-Colonel Sutton, of Millbrook, Ont., C.O., of the 3rd P. W. C. Dragoons, has been an officer of the regiment for many years. He was recently appointed to the chief command. The Colonel is an enthusiastic efficient and painstaking soldier and popular among his friends and men.

Lt.-Colonel H. C. Rogers, of Peterborough, brigadier of the cavalry brigade, is an officer of imposing presence and one of the most favourably known military men in Canada. He has been an officer in the Canadian Militia for 36 years and for 46 years has been connected with the service. A year ago he was retired from the command of the 3rd P. W. C. Dragoons and raised to the rank of brigadier, a position he is filling with much acceptance. Colonel Harry, as he is familiarly called, commanded the Peterborough Rifles through the Fenian Raids in 1866, and at that time was stationed for some weeks in Kingston. In 1972 he organized "C" Squadron of the 3rd Dragoons, and in the course of time became commanding officer of the regiment, a position he filled the alloted time, with marked ability. Six feet two inches in height, straight and active, Colonel Rogers looks as if he would be fit to serve his country well for another quarter of a century.

Sergeant Percy Roberts Price, of "C" Squadron, is nephew of "Bobs," after whom he is named, and like his eminent uncle, he is a soldier born. He was one of the second contingent to South Africa and took part in every engagement of his regiment, not being ill a day during the campaign. He gained wide reputation for his bravery and through being saved from capture or death on one occasion by the coolness and courage of Serft. Kniseley, of the same company, who received for such courageous act the distinguished service medal. Percy is very popular in his regiment.

OTONABEE COUNCIL MEETING.

At the last meeting of the Otonabee council, William Kempt applied to have the road straightened opposite his lot at the angle where the forced road joins the concession line. council will meet at 10.30 o'clock on the morning of the next council meeting at the alleged crook in the road to view and consider it. John Miller was again present re culvert across the road opposite his place. The council decided to take legal advice, and if it can without rendering the township liable for damages in lieu of the present culvert restore the two old culverts said to exist and allowed to fall into disuse some years ago. Reeve Johnston leaving in the afternoon to prepare for camp at Kingston Mr. Deyell was voted to the chair. A bylaw was passed commuting the statute labour in the following districts: Villiers, Lancaster's, McNeill's, Grady's, Fife's, Humphries' and A. Weir's. The following accounts were passed: James Edwards, crushing roads, $2; R. Evans, gravel, $9.50. Council adjourned.

The True Virtues of Malt Found Only in Malt Breakfast Food

Some people use Malt in liquid form for building up the system; this is unwise, as the virtues of the Malt are invariably spoiled by admixture of fermented liquors. To obtain the great health and strength yielding virtues of Malt, it should be eaten in its natural state combined with that perfect food grain, Wheat. Malt Breakfast Food is a health combination of both, easy to digest, delicious and refreshing. Thousands of physicians recommend it. At all grocers.

FUNERAL OF ADELBERT HAY.

Body Taken to Cleveland and Deposited in the Mortuary Chapel,

Cleveland, June 26.—The body of the late Adelbert S. Hay arrived here yesterday from New Haven. The casket was conveyed from the Union Station directly to Wade Mortuary Chapel, in Lakeview Cemetery, where services were held. Secretary Hay and family were driven to the home of Samuel Mather, in Glenville.

Secretary Hay's Affliction.

Washington, June 26.—The Cabinet meeting yesterday was brief. Much of it was spent in taking action over the affliction of Secretary Hay. The President has received a letter from Secretary Hay, stating that after the funeral of his son Adelbert, he will return to New Hampshire with Mrs. Hay, and remain there for a while. The gossip concerning Secretary Hay's possible retirement was referred to, but not seriously. If the Secretary should suggest such a step, the President and Cabinet would strongly advise against. The President himself has written a letter to the Secretary, conveying his sympathy, and urging him not to give way to the great sorrow that has come to him.

An Expensive Murder Trial.

Dawson, June 26.—The trial of George O'Brien, charged with the murder of Lynn Wallace Relf and Fred. H. Clayson, both of Seattle, and Ole Oleson, a Dawson-Skaguay lineman, on Christmas Day, 1889, on the winter trail near Minto, south of Dawson, is the most absorbing and sensational ever held in the north. Some idea of the magnitude of the case as prosecuted by the Government may be gathered from the fact that the estimated cost of the prosecution already is more than $100,000.

A Labor Member Expelled.

Melbourne, Victoria, June 26. — Amid scenes of excitement in the crowded galleries, the Federal Assembly yesterday, by a vote of 67 to 17, expelled Mr. Findlay, editor of a local labor organ for republishing in his paper the article from The Irish People of Dublin, dated May 10, violently attacking King Edward, which caused the seizure of the last mentioned weekly periodical by the police of Dublin, Cork, Limerick and other towns of Ireland.

Loose Plank Caused Death.

Winnipeg, June 26.—Ethel Harriet, 18-months'-old daughter of C. A. Horton, died yesterday morning as the result of a peculiar accident. On May 29, the child's mother was walking on the sidewalk near her home, with the little one in her arms, when a loose plank tripped up the lady and she fell, the child also being thrown. The brain of the baby was injured and she never recovered. A suit for damages against the city is probable.

ONTARIO LICENSE HOLDERS.

Eighth Annual Convention—Policy Adopted For Coming Elections.

Barrie, Ont., June 26.—The eighth annual convention of the Ontario License Holders Protective Association opened here yesterday with over one hundred delegates in attendance from all parts of the Province. The afternoon session was taken up with presentation of reports and resolutions. A very satisfactory financial statement was presented, and a policy adopted to govern the Association in forthcoming provincial elections. A resolution condemning Sunday selling was also discussed. Today delegates take a trip to Big Bay Point, and on Thursday will be entertained by the Muskoka Navigation Company, enjoying a trip around the Muskoka Lakes. All officers were re-elected by acclamation. Brantford is making a bid for next meeting.

Lord's Day Alliance.

Hamilton, Ont., June 26. — The Lord's Day Alliance Convention met last evening at 7 o'clock in Centenary Church. Rev. E. M. Ramsay of Ottawa was appointed chairman for the first meeting, and Rev. J. Scanlon, also of Ottawa, secretary. Revs. T. A. Moore and W. G. Hanna were appointed to act as Press Committee.

Nails Remain at Same Price.

St. John, June 26.—The Canadian Wire Nail Manufacturers' Association met here yesterday afternoon. It was decided to make no changes in the prices. To-day the screw, tack and horse-nail situation will be discussed.

The Deaf Made to Hear.

St. Thomas—A modern miracle was made known to-day when Mr. Riddle, of this city, announced that he had recovered his hearing. He has been almost entirely deaf, and it borders on the marvellous to find him able to hear everything with great distinctness. As his case is proving of such universal interest, we give Mr. Riddle's own statement. "My hearing was always poor, and not long ago I became almost deaf. It was the result of catarrhal inflammation, but nothing did me good until I used Catarrhozone. It cured my trouble and I strongly recommend it to the deaf." Fully nine-tenths of the deafness is the result of Catarrh and can be cured by catarrhozone. The cures of deafness wrought by this remedy in cases of even twenty years standing are really astounding. Among many others, ministers of the gospel testify to the wonderful powers of Catarrhozone, and your druggist can tell of some astonishing cases in his own experience. Better give it a trial, if your hearing is impared. Price $1; small size 25 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S..

OWES HIS EYESIGHT TO A MIRACLE.

Indebtedness to Dodd's Kidney Pills Acknowledged by Thomas St. Pierre.

Health Entirely Re-established by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Another Triumph for that Wonderful Remedy—His Eyesight Has Been Strengthened.

St. Epi, Que., June 23.—(Special).—One year ago a miracle was announced in Chicago. R. A. Wade, the great criminal lawyer, regained his sight after having for years been totally blind. His case was published throughout the length and breadth of America, and it attracted more attention to Dodd's Kidney Pills than any medicine ever got before. For it was Dodd's Kidney Pills that restored his sight.

A similar case has turned up in the village of St. Epi, Que. Though this sufferer was not stone blind, his eyes nevertheless were utterly useless to him by lamplight. And they have been completely restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills, which is another point of similarity.

There is no attempt made to assert Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for blindness. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest kidney medicine ever known. That is the claim made for Dodd's Kidney Pills, and there is evidence enough to prove that claim. But in cases where Kidney Disease has left poisons in the blood, and the said poisons attacking the weakest spot, injure the eye, Dodd's Kidney Pills are just as infallible as where the poison attacks the joint of the arm or the small of the back. That the eyesight of Thomas St. Pierre was restored is but another argument that Dodd's Kidney Pills make the blood absolutely pure.

Here is Mr. St. Pierre's letter: "I am happy to-day to see my health entirely re-established by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I owe that wonderful remedy a thousand thanks. Before using Dodd's Kidney Pills I had consulted many physicians and taken medicine of various kinds, but each made me worse. I had a constant pain in the back and limbs. At night I couldn't rest and I could not see by lamplight. Having taken only two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am perfectly cured. My eyesight is clear. I advise all those whose health is not good, from whatever cause, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Nine times out of ten they will be exactly what is wanted. Two dollars spent for Dodd's Kidney Pills will do more than millions spent otherwise, for who holds anything in the world more dear than health, or would spare any means to save it?"

"CANADA FOR EVER."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Patriotic Speech at Montreal.

AN ELOQUENT PERORATION.

"Canada First, Canada for Ever, Nothing But Canada"—Line of Thought Leading to This Conclusion by the Premier of the Dominion—A Unique Union Without Fusion.

Montreal, June 26.—"Canada first, Canada for ever, nothing but Canada," were the words with which Sir Wilfrid Laurier concluded a brief but eloquent address during the St. Jean Baptiste entertainment in the Monument National. Having compared the state of the country and of his race at the present day, and during the troublesome times of 1834, when the St. Jean Baptiste Association was founded as a measure of protection, he continued: "We have no longer to fight for our rights, since we possess them in all their fullness. But we have duties to fulfill. Canada is no longer a colony, but a nation. It is a country of concord, of harmony, of peace. It is a land blessed by those who live in it, and envied by those who do not. It is a country where different races meet and struggle and work in a fruitful rivalry, a country where the races have realized that thing unique in the world, fraternity without absorption, union without fusion. France and England, it is true, fought for a long time on the American continent. But in the great struggle which ended in our defeat our race experienced no humiliation, since if the resolution and tenacity of the English were crowned with success never perhaps did French valor shine with greater brilliancy. Our race has continued to show its worth. For every English statesman in our country we have been able to set up one of our own. By the side of Baldwin we placed Lafontaine, by the side of Macdonald, Cartier, by the side of Mackenzie, Dorion. Yes, I love my country because it resembles no other. I love my country because even in the difficulties which arise it calls forth the noblest resolutions, the strongest, the most generous qualities of man. I love my country above all because it is unique in the world, because it is founded on respect for rights, on pride of origin, on harmony and concord between the races who inhabit it. Our pride refuses to follow longer the beaten paths. Henceforth we must march along other roads and towards other horizons. Let us have in view only the development, the prosperity, the grandeur of our country. Let us keep in our heart this thought: 'Canada first, Canada for ever, nothing but Canada."

MR. FISHER IN ENGLAND.

Published Interviews That Will Benefit the Dominion of Canada.

Ottawa, June 26.—The London Morning Post of June 10 published a lengthy interview with Hon. Sydney Fisher, in which the Minister makes the following statement: "We think a great deal of agriculture in Canada, because agriculture is one of our chief industries. We believe that we have before us a career of agricultural progress that is going to be of great value, not only to us, but, I believe, to the home country too. Very great strides have been made in the percentage of our exports here in the last six or eight years, and I think we can even increase the Canadian proportion of British imports in the future. If the same rate of increase can be kept up Canada's contribution to the foods imported into the United Kingdom will be over 30 per cent. in 1905, and over one-half the total amount imported from outside sources in 1910."

The St. James' Gazette of June 6 also contains a long interview with Mr. Fisher on the work done by his department to promote the interests of agriculture and extend Canada's export trade in food products.

Ontario Appointments.

Toronto, June 26.—It is the intention of the Ontario Government to transfer Mr. A. E. Trow from the position he now holds in the Attorney-General's Department to the position of Clerk of the Process at Osgoode Hall, made vacant by the death of the late Hon. A. S. Hardy. The position is worth $1,350 a year.

Mr. James T. Burke of Stratford will, it is learned, be appointed factory inspector, in succession to Mr. R. Barber, resigned. The salary of the inspectors is $1,000.

Synod of Ontario.

Kingston, Ont., June 26.—The Synod of the Diocese of Ontario met yesterday. There was a large attendance of both clerical and lay delegates. Bishop Mills presided. Rev. Canon Grant of Lyn was unanimously elected to the position of clerical secretary, made vacant by the death of Canon Spencer. Yesterday afternoon Bishop Mills delivered his charge, which was a very lengthy document.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, June 26.—Cattle—There were no thru or sale receipts to-day, and the demand was light. The feeling was dull for all lightweight stock. For choice fat stock the prospects are fairly steady. The offerings of veals were very light, and there was no change in the basis of the market. Choice to extra, $5.50 to $6; good to choice, $5.30 to $5.75; heavy fed calves, $4 to $4.50;

Sheep and Lambs—Offerings light, about 7 loads left over from yesterday. The eastern demand was light, as the receipts were very heavy yesterday. Spring lambs, $5.75 to $6; fair to good, $5 to $5.65; yearling lambs, choice to extra, $5.15 to $5.25; fair to good, $4.90 to $5.10; heavy export lambs, $4.75 to $4.85; handy wethers, $4 to $4.25; choice to extra mixed, $3.75 to $3.90. The close was quiet.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, June 25.—Beeves—Receipts, 95, all for slaughterers, except a few head; nothing doing; nominally steady. Cables quoted live cattle slow at 10½c to 11¼c per lb.; tops, 12c; refrigerator, higher, at 9¼c to 9½c per lb. Shipments, 1800 beeves, 11,582 sheep and 4800 quarters of beef. Calves—Receipts, 19; trade very limited; steady for all grades.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 6784; choice sheep, scarce and firm; others quiet, and steady; good lambs, strong; under grades, steady; nearly all sold; common to good sheep, $3 to $4; lambs, $5.25 to $6.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 1448; all for slaughterers; feeling fully steady; western hogs quoted $6.30 to $6.35; State hogs, $6.45 to $6.55.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, June 25.—Cattle—Steady; good to prime steers, $5.50 to $6.30; poor to medium, $4.30 to $5.40; stockers and feeders, slow, $2.90 to $4.80; calves, firm, active, $4 to $6.65; Texas-fed steers, $4.25 to $5.40; Texas grass steers, $3.50 to $4.10.

Hogs—Active; top, $6.30; mixed and butchers', $5.90 to $6.22½; good to choice heavy, $6.05 to $6.30; rough heavy, $5.90 to $6; light, $5.85 to $6.15; bulk sales, $6.05 to $6.20.

Sheep—Slow; spring lambs, firm; good to choice wethers, $4 to $4.25; western sheep, $4 to $4.25; yearlings, $4 to $4.50; native spring lambs up to $5.75, $4 to $5.25; western lambs, $5 to $5.25.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Campbellford, Ont., June 25.—The Campbellford Cheese Board met to-day; 1500 boxes offered; 9⅝c bid by Watkins, Brenton and Cook; 9 9-16c bid by McGrath; 9 11-16c asked. No sales.

Ingersoll, Ont., June 25.—At the Cheese Board held here to-day 700 colored and 150 white were offered; 9 7-16c bid; no sales; fair attendance; salesmen holding for 10c.

California did not figure in the census returns of the United States until 1850. Then its population was 92,597.

Really Nice, These

Ladies' Dongola Oxford Shoes. Six holes, laced, soft tip, pretty, light and graceful, very flexible sole and made off a new cast. The price is, per pair $2.00

R. NEILL, George street.

Very Stylish, These

Ladies' Vici Kid Shoes. Polished, Graceful shape, light, easy and flexible, a very stylish shoe and exactly the thing for summer wear. Two qualities, with a difference of only 15c. in the prices, viz. $1.35 and $1.50.

R. NEILL, George street.

Neat things in Slippers

Ladies' Dongola Kid Slippers. Two strap, very dressy and the neatest thing we have. It holds its place as a charming article for ladies' foot-wear. Its lightness commends it, and the comfort of wearing a cool and yet graceful foot covering makes the slipper popular. The sole is turned—that is the sole is made on the slipper inside out and afterwards turned. Thus the sole is securely fastened and in the best possible way. Slippers in single strap. No difference in the price which is $1.50

R. NEILL, George street.

In Patent Leather

This stylish material has a place all its own. The gloss, polish, perfect surface, are highly admired. The outlines of the foot gain an additional grace when set off by a handsome Patent Leather Slipper. Very dressy, will keep polished, a desirable feature. The price $1.35

R. NEILL, George street.

The Buskin

A Shoe with a Purpose

The purpose that it may, when on the foot, closely clasp the instep and yet allow every freedom to the joints of the foot. It's a twin of the slipper, but has, inserted in the instep, a yoke of elastic. The proper thing for home wear. Nice broad heel and fairly narrow toe. In Dongola kid. The price only $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

"Please keep off the Grass"

Is the injunction unless the tennis player wears a tennis shoe. The proper shoe affords an added facility to the movements in playing. Rubber soles, canvas tops, blue in colour. Only ..... 50c.

R. NEILL, George street.

Genuine Comfort Slipper

These are superb. The nicest thing for summer wear where genuine comfort is desired. Not the appearance of comfort—but the real thing. A strap slipper with the Comfort sole and heel. That means something reliable to carry the weight of the body distributed over the sole of the slipper in a common sense way. A perfect foot covering for comfort. We can't emphasize that point too strongly. The toe is a trifle broad—not too broad for comfort, and yet held in that the outline of the foot may be graceful and shapely. The price smacks of comfort for the purse, and is only .. $1.00

R. NEILL, George street.

The Game of Bowls

Good old English sport. Has the verdict of antiquity in its favour. It is the village sport, par excellence of England. Even cricket does not excel bowls in popular favour. We've the proper shoe, If you haven't it you won't be allowed to play. Better get a pair of the right sort. Rubber soles, heels, canvas top. High or low. Low cut, 85c. per pair. High cut, 85c. per pair. Guaranteed correct.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS ARE.

The Kidneys, two in number, are composed of a network of blood vessels and delicate tissues surrounded by a muscular coating. They are about four inches long and two inches wide. Their peculiar function is to abstract from the blood, fluid impurities. They act very much like a filter, the heavy portion of blood passing on through the veins and the watery portion draining out and down through the uretha into the bladder. Diseases of the kidneys consist of a lack of tone of the muscles surrounding the arteries and a lack of sensitiveness to the delicate nerves found in these organs, caused either by inflamation or general debility. Kidney diseases manifest themselves in the urine and also by a pain in the small of the back. Merrill's System Tonic exhibits the best form of treatment for any disease of the kidneys. It contains the healing and soothing properties of Bucha combined with the muscle and nerve toning properties of the hypophosphites. Besides it is a blood purifier and will remove from the system uric acid poisoning caused by kidney weakness and resulting in various forms of rheumatism. We don't weary you with testimonials, but we have more of them than most medicines. The use of one bottle will convince you that Merrill's System Tonic is an extremely valuable medicine of extra ordinary merit.

Very Unusual Reductions in Ladies' Hats.

Preparatory to a midsummer clearance, Miss Delaney is offering this week great reductions in trimmed and untrimmed millinery. The hats thus marked down are all of that handsome and stylish design which have been so favourably noticed this season in our regular stock. They are quite new, high-class and desirable—just what you are looking for prior to the holiday week, as well as for travelling, outing or home wear. The prices have been lowered to nearly a half, which is quite an unusual concession at this still brisk period of the season. Miss Delaney. dw

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The Murray street Baptist Sunday school will hold their annual picnic at Chemong on July 5th.

—Mr. Joseph Bouregard, whilst out fishing on Little Lake yesterday morning succeeded in landing a 20-pound lunge.

—There was no march out of the 57th Regt. last night. The members, however, turned out for battalion drill in the armoury.

A lady that understands artistic photographs says the photos she had taken at Mr. G. E. Whiten's was far superior to any she has had taken in Ottawa or Toronto.

—George street choir rehearsal tomorrow evening at 8 sharp. The leader desires a full attendance as matters of interest will be discussed, as well as special rehearsal.

OLD BOYS OF PORT HOPE.

They Elected Officers Last Evening at a Largely Attended Meeting.

The Port Hope Old Boys of Peterborough were out in full force last evening and held an organization meeting for the purpose of taking part in the re-union in Port Hope on July 1st and 2nd. The following officers were elected:

Pres.—Ed. Brown.
Vice-Pres.—W. Mitchell.
Subscription Committee — J. J. Turner, sr., John Fanning, Robt. Munroe.
2nd Committee — W. Mitchell, R. Wilson, Fred Roundy.

The Old Boys intend staying in town on July 1st, but will swoop down on Port Hope on July 2nd. A strong effort is being made to bring the crack band of the 57th Regt. with the Old Boys.

All the old Port Hopers are urged to be present at the Twentieth Century Club Rooms to-night at 7.30 to complete arrangements. His Worship Mayor Deane and other prominent gentlemen of the town were present at last night's meeting.

PEAT FUEL.

Americans in Town To-day Making Enquiries of the Local Company.

Dr. G. M. Randall, Mr. Chas. H. Sprague, and Mr. William F. Lunt, of Boston, Mass., were driven around the town to-day by Mr. A. L. Davis. These gentlemen are greatly interested in the peat fuel business, and are in Peterborough for the purpose of obtaining what information they can from the members of the local company. Mr. Lunt is president of the Randall Centbytical Coal Company, of Boston.

The party will go back to Kirkfield to examine the plant to-morrow.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Sad Death of Mr. Fred Downer at Alameda N. W. T., on Saturday.

Mr. Fred Downer, third son of Mr. Lewis Downer, who resides near the Bensfort bridge on the Otonabee side, was struck by lightning and killed on Saturday, whilst harrowing on a farm in Alameda, N.W.T.

The deceased was a young man of excellent qualities and was well known in town, having attendad the Ashburnham Public School. He left town about six years ago.

The funeral will take place from Comstock's undertaking rooms on Friday afternoon at two o'clock to Little Lake Cemetery.

PERSONAL.

The Lindsay Post says: Miss Mark, of Peterborough, visited Lindsay friends on Saturday.

Mrs. C. B. McAllister has returned home after spending some time in Renfrew. She was accompanied by her brother George.

Port Hope Guide: A. J. Gough, Esq., Peterborough, is in town to-day, being called here on account of the illness of his brother.

Mr. Hugh Waddell, Mr. Robt. Fair and Mr. R. M. Waddell left this morning for Buffalo, to visit the Pan-American Exhibition.

Mr. J. D. Flavelle of Lindsay, was kept busy to-day shaking hands with his many Peterborough friends, who are always pleased to see him.

Mr. A. E. Richens, son of Mr. John Richens, merchant, Tooley street, London, England, was in town to-day and attended the meeting of the Cheese Board.

Lindsay Post: Capt. Fee and Mr. W. Courtney, left to-day for Peterborough to take charge of a steamer plying between Peterborough and Jubilee Point.

Mr. J. H. McClellan and Mr. Richard Sheehy are at the Hotel Cecil, Ottawa. Mr. Sheehy has secured the contract for building the new post office at Deseronto. The building complete will cost about $30,000.

Mr. W. H. Hogg, the newly appointed manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, arrived in town to-day from Regina, and was introduced to a large number of the citizens by Mr. Parker, who will leave to undertake the management of the Belleville agency of the bank about the middle of next week. A circumstance hitherto unknown to many, is the fact that Mr. Hogg was born in town, being a song of the late Jas. Hogg, Esq., who began his business career as a clerk with the late Robt. Nicholls, who was at the time the local agent of the Bank of Montreal. Mr. Hogg will doubtless meet many who can recall interesting reminescences of his father.

No. 6 Company. Attention.

The officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the company will assemble this Wednesday evening at McCallum's Restaurant at ten p.m. for the purpose of bidding farewell to Lieutenant McPherson, who leaves to-morrow evening for Europe on three month's leave of absence. Uniforms to be worn. Louis M. Hayes, Captain.

SEARCHING FOR THE BODY.

Friends of the Late George Huston Dragging the River.

Searching parties have been busy the past two days dragging the river for the body of the late George Huston, whose sad death by drowning has cast a gloom over the community.

Up to the hour of going to press their efforts have been fruitless. The C. G. E. Glee Club have a searching party at work to-day and are paying the expenses of the same.

INSPECTED THE BRIDGES.

A Deputation From Three Counties on an Inspecting Tour.

A Joint Committee of the County Councils of Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham Counties, left town yesterday and inspected the Wallace Point bridge, as well as the bridge over the creek between Cavan and North Monaghan.

The committee consisted of the following gentlemen: Warden Geo. W. Fitzgerald, County Councillor Anderson, County Engineer John E. Belcher, for the County of Peterborough; Warden W. Record, and County Councillors Clarke Naylor, Tweedley and Leith for the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham.

It was decided to advertise for tenders for the erection of an iron bridge over the creek, and repairs will also be made to the piers of the Wallace Point bridge when the ice forms.

THE TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

Both Sides Report the Situation as Satisfactory.

There have been no new developments in the C.P.R. trackmen's strike. The railway authorities claim that some of the men are returning to work, and that they are experiencing no trouble in securing men to take the place of the strikers.

On the other hand a striker informed the Examiner to-day that the men were standing firm, and that some were offered big inducements to return to work, but they refused. This section of the road, he says, is practically deserted as far as trackmen are concerned. "You may just say," he concluded, "that public sympathy is with us, and we are determined to win, as I expect the engineers will be heard from in a few days."

On a Trip to Ireland.

Mr. John O'Keefe of Water street north, and his sister, Miss Catherine O'Keefe, leave on Friday noon on the C.P.R. for Montreal, where they will board the Allan Liner Numidian for a trip to Erin's Isle. They will visit Cork, Mr. O'Keefe having been born on Mill street, in that historic city. He came to Canada forty-six years ago. They expect to be away about two months. Mr. O'Keefe has relatives in the "Ould Dart." Their many friends will wish them a successful voyage.

DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION.

It is Going to be the Only Real Thing That Ever Happened.

All those who are interested in the first of July celebration are urged to turn out to a man at the committee rooms next to J. D. Tully's drug store, to-morrow evening. Mr. W. B. Bamford desires the cowboys to meet him to-morrow evening and Harry Winch would like a gathering of the Indians.

The general public may expect to see something never dreamed of next Monday morning in the kalithumpian parade. Ringling Bros'. efforts will be relegated to oblivion by the stupendous and collosal display which will move through the principal streets.

WM. SPILSBURY FOUND GUILTY

He was Tried Before Judge Weller Yesterday Afternoon.

William Spilsbury, who is charged with trying to poison the cattle of his neighbour in North Monaghan, came up for trial before His Honour Judge Weller yesterday. The accused was found guilty, but sentence was deferred for a week. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown, and Mr. D. O'Connell for the defence.

LOSING A GOOD MAN.

It is understood that Mr. McLeod Physical Instructor of the Y.M.C.A., intends leaving town to take up the work in the United States. The Y.M.C.A. directorate should not allow a man of Mr. McLeod's calibre to leave Peterborough without making a strong effort to retain his services. Since his residence in town he has identified himself with almost every line of sport and his presence on the athletic field has done much to raise the general standard and tone of sport. When a man has the power within him of exercising an influence for good, such as Mr. McLeod possesses, he becomes a factor in civic life which should be retained. This is a question which not only effects the Y.M.C.A. membership but the entire community and it is to be hoped the matter of his resignation will have the most careful consideration before it is accepted. Already many of the town's most progressive young business and professional men are concerning themselves in relation to the proposed change.

SUMMER THINGS.

Summer is with us and here for good evidently. It's the light cool comfortable things that you will be interested in for the next two or three months. No matter what your wants may be for this period you should associate this store with them. We have made ample preparation for you which will be appreciated when you see our assortment of Summer Things.

WHITE GOODS.—We want to advise you of another shipment of White Lawns just received. They are a repetition of what we showed a few weeks ago. Lovely sheer INDIA LAWNS for waists and dresses. We might add that the values are even a little better than they were before, owing to being bought during a temporary lull in cotton prices. SEE OUR VALUES in WHITE INDIA MUSLIN at 20c, 25c, 30c, 35c, 40c and 50 cents per yard.

FLOWER FESTIVAL.

Given by the Little Ones of the South Central School.

The South Central Kindergarten Rooms yesterday were most profusely decorated with flowers, evergreens and bunting, most tastefully arranged, the occasion being the annual closing exercises, which took the form of a Flower Festival. The little ones appear to have made great progress during the year and a programme of unusual interest was most ably presented. The attendance of parents and friends was very large, and Miss Davidson received a great deal of praise for the manner in which the afternoon's entertainment had been prepared and for the result of her year's work.

POLICE COURT.

At the police court this morning an assault case was withdrawn, the defendant agreeing to pay the costs, which amounted to $3.35.

Patrick Lynch was up charged with having a tagless dog. He was warned on June 21st to procure a tag by Saturday last, and it would cost him no more. The next day, it is claimed, he gave the dog away. This morning he was obliged to pay $2 and $2.00 costs.

Antonio Fibio was charged with the same offence, but he denied it, and the case was held over until to-morrow.

Robert Tucker was charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was allowed to go and told to get out of town.

THE I. O. O. F. SERVICES AT THE CEMETERY.

A Large Gathering Witness the Decoration Ceremonies.

Splendid Addresses by the Resident Ministers of the Town Listened to With Interest.

When the Oddfellows arrived at the cemetery yesterday afternoon, they formed in a circle in front of the little chapel, where the opening ceremony was proceeded with. A short prayer was then offered up and all sang "Nearer My God to Thee." The brethren then divided into four sections and proceeded with the decoration of the graves, each floral tribute being deposited with the usual ceremony.

A platform had been erected at a convenient spot in the cemetery, and after the graves had been decorated the Oddfellows and the genral public gathered around to hear the addresses.

Brother W. M. Matchett, D.D.G.M., occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks stated that it gave him great pleasure on behalf of the local Oddfellows of welcoming those present, and thanking them for turning out to assist in the ceremonies of the day. They were fortunate, he said, in having the clergymen with them on this occasion, as they had been in the past. The practice of decorating the graves of departed Oddfellows was first introduced some years ago by Durham Lodge, Port Hope. Since that time the custom has become quite general.

Rev. W. L. Armitage was then called upon. He congratulated the I. O. O. F., upon the large turn out. The day carried with it more than an address could outline. Referring to the ceremony of the day, the speaker stated the idea was really taken from the practice of the people of the United States, who turned out every year to decorate the graves of the soldiers who had fallen in the fight to emancipate the blacks, and establish equal rights. Why, he asked, do we meet here? We must give a reason. The affection with which the American people remembered their fallen was not a personal affection. They had sacrificed their lives for the principles of freedom, and in decorating their graves they showed that they wished to commemorate their memory. It is just so with the Oddfellows. They had assembled in the cemetery to remember those whom they had met in the lodge, and had also come to show that they held their memory dear. In meeting together they knew that their fellows are worthy of the hand of fellowship, and there must be a bond of loving union among them.

Though the brethren are dead, they speak. Let us take an example from their frailties, because none are perfect, but God alone. Let us further strive to build up a strong manhood, and emulate the practices and preaching of our Saviour. As a lesson for Decoration Day he urged them to observe the best things in the lives of those whose graves they had adorned that day. In conclusion he hoped that the principles of Oddfellowship would permeate every member of the Order.

Rev. D. O. Crossley expressed himself as pleased to be present to have an opportunity of participating in the exercises. He believed the afternoon would make them all better men and women. Everything was calculated, he said, to inspire us with the best that was in us. The band discoursed a different class of music on this occasion than he had heard on the street, and the strains of one selection echoed in his heart, "Nearer my God to Thee." He hoped that would be verified in our experience — that all would be nearer God than when they came. It was right to have pleasant memories of those who were in their graves, and the Oddfellows are not the only ones who follow this beautiful practice, as he had noticed many coming to the cemetery with pretty flowers to decorate the resting places of loved ones. The Oddfellows, however, had the honour of beginning this ceremony. There were two things he had been thinking about during the afternoon. How beautiful the cemetery appeared, with its floral display; it was suggestive of the resurrection. The other thought that came to him was that another day would surpass this day, although much had been added to beautify the graves. He referred to the Resurrection, when Christ will call us all. He trusted that all present would have a kindly feeling for those who had gone, and that those present would spend the rest of their days in such a manner as to leave behind them pleasant memories. He trusted that God would bless them all and make them better men and women.

Rev. Jonathan Bastow said he was glad to share in the services. Mr. Armitage, he declared, had already said to them that he had intended saying. He had attended the ceremonies in connection with decorating the graves of the United States soldiers and saw tender feeling waked up. A reference to it by a previous speaker had stirred up precious memories. But all life's great battles had not been fought on the bloody field. They had been fought in the workshop, in the home, etc., and were more glorious struggles than those on the battle field. The Oddfellows who sleep in the cemetery had fought life's battles very bravely. Their faults, he said, should be covered with the mantle of charity. It was a good thing to gather there and remember those who are laid away. The bodies are in the graves. Where are the souls? Up there wearing a crown of glory that will not fade and that glory is for all, for we should one and all fight under Christ's banner. The reverend gentleman referred to the great Resurrection. In a few years the population of the cemetery would be larger than that of Peterborough and Ashburnham. When Resurrection comes round what a gathering will be here, and he sincerely hoped all would share in the glorious Resurrection. He was glad the Oddfellows started the noble practice of decorating the graves of deceased members.

Rev. Mr. Wilson, in rising, said he was surprised to see the people assembled in such numbers, and he felt very grateful to the Oddfellows for the invitation to be present. The ceremony of the afternoon was a proper and beautiful thing to do. It made them feel that it was not such a terrible thing to die. He had seen at one time a lonely grave at the foot of a hill in the Rocky Mountains, and he thought it was the most lonely spot he had ever seen in his life. This practice of decorating the graves with flowers, had the tendency to take away the solemnity and horror of death. The beautiful ceremony of the day and the lessons it taught was inculcated in Oddfellows, and he was proud of them. They are a noble body of men, unselfish and bound together to protect their loved ones. Bayard Taylor had said, in referring to the Crimean War, and the soldiers fighting in the trenches, that "The bravest were the tenderest, and the loving the most daring." Thus the members of the I.O.O.F. were men who did not live for themselves alone, but for others also. They believed in the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God, which were the principles of true manhood. Their mission was to visit the sick, help the distressed, bury the dead and educate the children. It was a society for the young men to enter. The true principles of temperance and morality were learned in their lodge room, and they were taught to be economical and industrious in life. Further more a benevolent society of this nature should commend itself to everyone, as what you received from it was not charity but your right given in the true spirit of benevolence.

The chairman next called upon Rev. J. G. Potter, I.O.O.F. Chaplain, to take charge of the remainder of the service, afterwhich he announced that in future the fourth Thursday in June would be the permanent Decoration Day.

Rev. Mr. Potter, on behalf of the Oddfellows, thanked the speakers for the words of commendation and advice, and hoped all would profit. Let us, he said, remember that while we apparently leave the world, we take nothing with us, and that all influences that make us Christians will remain with us. Let us remember this and our celebration will be a success. As we leave the cemetery let us go forward to seek lives better and grander. This day, he continued, is an especially sad one to the congregation of St. Andrew's through the fact that two homes are sad and in tears through careleasness and accident. The tears that have fallen are little ones of sorrow and the scene is a sad one. He felt that the bereaved homes had the sympathy of the entire community and trusted that in future no steamboat would leave the wharf without ropes or life buoys. Men sometimes forget in the spirit of selfishness and never think of the pangs and sorrows of a grief stricken home. He hoped all would take an interest in the lessons of the day and strive not only to save the body, but also the soul.

The proceedings closed with the singing of a hymn and a brief invocation.

THE TRADERS' BANK.

The Traders' Bank has twenty-five branches, all in Ontario, and the statement submitted to the shareholders, as published in another column, shows that it has enjoyed a full share of the general prosperity of the province. The net profit for the year, after making provision for all bad and doubtful debts, was $145,537, which with the premium on new stock issued, $34,700, and the balance of $14,511, from profit and loss last year, made a total of $194,819. This permitted the payment of the usual half yearly dividends of 3 per cent. $71,428, the writing of $10,000 off the bank premises account, and the transfer of $100,000 to the rest account, making the total rest $250,000. A balance of $13,391 was carried forward to profit and loss. The net profits for the year, exclusive of the premium on new stock issued, was 12.11 per cent. of the average paid-up capital, which averaged $1,201,300 for the year. The total deposits were $7,672,591, a gain of $1,144,517 during the year. Of this gain $346,222 was in non-interest bearing deposits, the total of that class being $1,117,161. The total deposits show a steady advance from $4,235,331 in 1897. The paid up capital has increased from $700,000 in 1897 to $1,344,420, and the rest during the same period from $40,000 to $250,000. The net profits have increased from $41,799 in 1897 to $145,537. These financial reviews by Canadian chartered banks are of value to the business community as an indication of the state of trade and a forecast of the commercial needs of the immediate future.

SCHOONER WAVE CREST.

On December 7th, 1899 the schooner Wave Crest, owned by Turners, of Peterborough, was taking a cargo of coal and iron from Charlotte to Toronto, for the Electric Light Company, and when off Niagara the schooner was struck by a squall which carried away two of her jibs. Then the vessel was put about and was running back to Charlotte, when she got too close to the piers at Oak Orchard and struck a rock and ran out about eighteen inches forward and stayed there with the great seas breaking over her. Both J. J. Turner & Mrs. Turner were on board and they with the crew, put in a terible night. They piled all the bedding up and poured about five gallons of oil over it and set fire to the lot to try and attract the attention of the people on shore. Then, unable to do this, Mr. Turner got Mrs. Turner and rolled her up in the forsail to try and keep her warm, and then they had to wait until nine o'clock the next morning before they were able to launch a life boat and take Mrs. Turner and the crew to shore. Then Mr. J. J. Turner telegraphed the Donnelly Wrecking Co., asking then what they would take and pull the Wave Crest off. They wired back and said, "Will come for $225 per day." Mr. Turner wired back "Accept your terms, come at once; want vessel towed to Toronto." They wired back, "Will leave Kingston as soon as we get steam pump aboard," and although the vessel did not break up for three days, the Donnelly Co. never got to her and then they sent Turners a bill for $1,358.50 for services rendered Wave Crest and which they never performed. Turners refused to pay and the Donnelly Co. issued a writ for the amount, when Turners then issued a writ for $4,000 against the Donnelly Wrecking Co. for the loss of the vessel. There was no insurance on the vessel and cargo, and of course it did not seem fair to want to make these people pay for something they never received and also lost their vessel in the bargain.

The claim of Donnelly & Co. was dismissed with costs on the Donnelly Company.—Com.

WILFRID WAS FOUND.

The Ottawa Youth Wandered out Into North Monaghan.

The youth, Wilfrid Charon, who escaped from Officer Keane, of the Ottawa Children's Aid Society, was brought to police headquarters today.

He had wandered seven miles into North Monaghan and sought shelter last night at the farm house of Mr. Russell. The young lad wept bitterly and told him he wanted to go to Ottawa. Mr. Russell brought him to town as stated above, and this evening officer Keane will take him to the Reformatory.

Was it a Snake?

There was excitement galore on Bonacord street yesterday. A large snake, it is said, entered a house on that street and for a time made things lively. The lady of the house was terribly frightened, as well as those living close by, but the snake evidently thinking that things were becoming too warm for its comfort, made its exit through a wendow.

TIRED OF THE TRIP.

SO HE GOT OUT OF THE BALLOON BY THE JUMP ROUTE.

And Then When He Told the Englishmen He Met What He Had Done They Considerately Carried Him Off to an Insane Asylum.

"I went up in a balloon once, and I never want to make such a trip again," said Colonel A. Noel Blakeman. "My experience as an aeronaut was in London," he continued, "and it would never have occurred but for a friend I chanced to meet there. He was going to make an ascent, and he persuaded me to accompany him.

"The balloon was a feature of some big exhibition, and every day it was inflated and made an ascent, with four or five passengers, in charge of an experienced aeronaut. There were about five in the party the day I took the trip. We got into the basket, which was boxed in quite high, then let the rope go, and we shot up about 3,000 feet. It was interesting to look down on the world and hear the noises of London streets coming from so far below. The balloon sailed along smoothly, and we drifted for about eight miles.

"It was when we tried to descend that the trouble began. The method was to throw out anchors as the balloon settled toward the earth. The aeronaut said that when one of these anchors caught firmly he would haul the balloon down to the tree in which the anchor was expected to become fastened. This would be done by winding in the rope on a winch in the car. We would be expected to climb out of the balloon into the tree, he said, and he would then take hold of the valve rope and, standing a safe distance away, open the valve, let the gas escape, and the big affair would collapse and sink. He informed us that we must get clear of the sinking folds, as they would come down fast, and if they caught and covered us we would be in an atmosphere of most poisonous gas.

"All this was very interesting, but we did not seem to be making very much progress toward the point where we would have to look out for the descending folds of the collapsing balloon. The anchors caught in a whole lot of trees, but they did not hold. One would get tangled in a tree, and then the balloon would sway far over, tilting the basket in which we were until it seemed that we would be spilled out. Then the anchor would break loose, and we would shoot up again.

"I became very tired of this and told the aeronaut that I thought it was time to bring the voyage to a conclusion. He told me if I did not like it I could jump out. At first I thought he was simply resentful of my remark, but he said he meant what he said.

"'When the car tilts over again, you climb out on the edge,' he said, 'and let go. It will probably be a plowed field underneath us, and you won't get hurt.'

"Well, I did as he suggested. When the anchor caught again, I climbed out and hung to the edge of the car. When I saw that the car was as low as it was likely to get, I let go. I dropped about 12 feet, and, as he expected, a plowed field was below us.

"As soon as I dropped out the balloon, relieved of my weight, shot up in the air again and soared off. I walked to the nearest road and continued along it until I came to an inn.

"I asked the landlord how far it was to London, and he told me it was eight miles. I ordered a carriage to take me there, and while I was waiting the landlord asked me where I had come from.

"I took him to the door of the inn, and, pointing to the balloon, which was then sailing along about a quarter of a mile above the ground, I said, 'I jumped out of that.'

"The man looked at me in alarmed fashion, and after I had returned to the sitting room I noticed that several people peered through the window at me.

"Finally my four wheeler was ready, and I set off for London. After we had driven along for half an hour or so the coachman suddenly turned the horse in through a gate, and we drove into a big courtyard. I yelled to him and asked him what he meant, that I wanted to go straight to London, but he paid no attention and slowly circled the court. When he stopped on the other side, a man wearing glasses stuck his head in the carriage, scrutinizing me closely, pulled back, said something to the coachman, and we drove on to London.

"Finally we reached my lodgings, and when we did so the coachman jumped off the box, ran up the steps and as soon as his knock was answered asked if Mr. Blakeman lived there. The maid was just answering that I did when I reached the top of the steps and collared the fellow.

"'What was that place you drove me into on our way to London?' I asked him.

"'It was a hinsane hasylum, sir,' he replied. 'When you said you had jumped out o' that balloon, we thought you was crazy and maybe you was a escaped patient from the hasylum.'"

Destruction by Storm at Picton.

Picton, Ont., June 25.—The storm of Saturday night did considerable damage in this vicinity. The dwelling house of Mr. D. A. Kelly on the Bloomfield road, was struck by lightning and entirely destroyed, with contents. The family being absent at the time, there was no one hurt. The barn of Mr. D. A. Foster, living about three miles out of town, was destroyed, also the house of Thomas Stevens was struck and damaged. Mr. John Mallory lost a valuable cow, and Mr. Fred Roblin a colt. All the damage yet reported was within a radius of three miles.

Fall 180 Feet to Death.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 25.—Two men were working under the upper steel arch bridge near the Falls, painting the iron work under the bridge, on a scaffold. One of them, named Clarke, went to adjust the rope that held the scaffold, when he felt it slip out of his hand, and both men were hurled downwards. Clarke fell into the river, about 180 feet below, and his body never rose. His comrade, named Lannigan, was more fortunate, and fell on one of the iron girders, where his clothing got caught, and was rescued with only a dislocated ankle.

Attempted Suicide at Peterboro.

Peterboro, June 25.—Yesterday morning, at 8.30 o'clock, Victoria Elliott attempted to commit suicide by jumping from the high bridge spanning the Otonabee River at Hunter street. The attempt was frustrated by Mr. Alfred Webster, who caught Miss Elliott by the wrists after she had climbed over the rail, and was about to drop into the water. Webster was almost drawn over the rail himself by the girl in her struggles. The girl's relatives blame the Christian Scientists for unsettling her mind and bringing on religious mania.

A Sunday Excursion Case.

Fort Erie, Ont., June 25.—Captain Harry T. Tyrie, of the steamer Pennsylvania, was brought before A. Logan, P. M., yesterday, charged with a violation of the Lord's Day Act, in bringing into Port Colborne on Sunday his steamboat, with about 200 passengers, people traveling for pleasure, and leaving again on the same day. The Police Magistrate reserved decision until next Tuesday.

Sore Throat and Hoarseness.

with their attendant dangers may be speedily averted and remedied by the use of Polson's Nerviline. Excellent to gargle with—ten times better than a mustard plaster and more convenient for the outside. Nerviline penetrates the tissues instantly, soothes the pain, allays inflammation, and cures sore throat and hoarseness simply because that's what it is made for. The large 25 cent bottle of Nerviline is unexcelled as a household liniment. It cures everything.

New England Has Its Own Fuel Peat.

Dr. G. M. Randall, a practicing physician in Lowell, feels sure that he has solved the fuel problem which has been bothering manufacturers in the east for many years.

Peat is the basis of his fuel, and, owing to its cheapness and abundance in the vicinity of Lowell, it is possible to run the mills of the Spindle City for the next 50 years without going to the coal producing states for coal.—Boston Globe.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N.Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Jas. Lynch. Trial bottles free.

PRAIRIE PROVINCE CROPS.

The Favorable Reports Continue and the Outlook Is For a Most Abundant Harvest.

Winnipeg, June 25.—The crop reports from the Canadian Northern station were received yesterday, and indicate that the favorable conditions of last week are being continued. All the reports describe the prospects in glowing terms, and many prophesy a yield of from 20 to 25 bushels per acre. No damage whatever is reported from any cause, and the growth is described as wonderful. The wheat is said to be from 15 to 18 inches in height, and stooling out beautifully. Belmont reports a hailstorm Monday, but no damage. Oats and barley are reported as looking unusually well, and they say that hay is the best crop in many years.

The C. P. R. crop reports could scarcely be improved upon. The conditions at nearly every point in the Province are perfect. At Plum Coulee, Manitou and Burnside, the wheat has headed out on a number of farms, and the growth is exceptionally quick.

At Boissevain, the condition of crops for this date is almost perfect. There are no locusts. Yesterday there was a violent windstorm about eight miles north of Boissevain, accompanied by hail, which did some damage, but not of a very serious character, as the territory covered was small. The weather is showery and unsettled.

THE LATE ADELBERT S. HAY.

His Death Caused Widespread Sorrow — Col Hay Improving.

New Haven, Conn., June 25.—After passing a fairly restful night Secretary Hay, who upon arriving here Sunday afternoon, at the residence of Seth H. Mosely, where lay the dead body of his son, Adelbert S. Hay, former United States Consul at Pretoria, was stricken with physical collapse, was very much improved yesterday morning.

Telegrams of condolence from President McKinley and members of his Cabinet and many others reached Secretary Hay yesterday.

Washington, June 25.—Telegrams of condolence from all parts of the world are coming to the State Department to-day addressed to Secretary Hay.

Sorrow in London.

London, June 25.—The afternoon newspapers voice the sincere regret universally expressed here on the death of Adelbert S. Hay, in New Haven Saturday. All the papers refer with emphasis of the debt Great Britain owed the late Mr. Hay for his many kindly offices.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"A beautiful woman who is a socialist, Gretchen, is a menace to the king. Sometimes he fears her. At large she is dangerous. He seeks her, and if he finds her he takes away her liberty." All this was said with a definite purpose. It was to let Gretchen know that I knew her secret. "Gretchen, you are an embryo socialist, a chrysalis, as it were."

"No, herr," sadly. "I am a butterfly whose wings have been clipped." I had not expected this admission.

"Never mind," said I. "Gretchen, I do not want you to call me herr; call me Jack."

"Jack!" she said. It became an uncommon name now.

"Whatever your true name may be, I shall never call you anything but Gretchen."

"Ah, Jack!" She laughed, and the lurking echoes clasped the music of that laughter in their wanton arms and hurried it across the river.

"Sing to me," said I.

Then imagine my surprise—I, who had heard nothing but German fall from her lips—when in a heavenly contralto she sang a chanson from "La Fille de Madame Angot," an opera forgotten these ten years!

"Elle est tellement innocente!"

She had risen, and she stood there before me with a halo of moonshine about her head. The hot blood rushed to my ears. Barmaid, socialist or whatever she might be, she was lovable. In a moment I was kissing her hand, the hand so small, so white and yet so firm. A thousand inarticuate words came to my lips, from my heart!

Did the hand tremble? I thought so. But swiftly she drew it from my clasp, all the joy and gladness gone from her face and eyes.

"No, no!" she cried. "This must not be! It must not be!"

"But I"— I began eagerly.

"You must not say it; I command you! If you speak, Gretchen will be Gretchen no more. Yes, the king seeks Gretchen, but will you drive her away from her only haven?" with a choking sound.

"Gretchen, trust me. Shall I go tomorrow? Shall I leave you in peace?" Somehow I believed myself to be in danger. "Speak!"

There was an interval of stillness, broken only by the beating of hearts. Then:

"Stay. But speak no word of love. It is not for such as I. Stay and be my friend, for I need one. Cannot a woman look with favor upon a man but he must needs become her lover? I shall trust you as I have trusted other men, and, though you fail me in the end, as others have done, still I shall trust you. Herr, I conspire against the king. For what? The possession of my heart. All my life I have stood alone—so alone!"

"I will be your friend, Gretchen. I will speak no word of love. Will that suffice?"

"It is all I ask, dear friend. And now will you leave me?"

"Leave you!" I cried. "I thought you bade me stay."

"Ah," putting out her hand, "you men do not understand! Sometimes a woman wishes to be alone when—when she feels that she—she cannot hold back her tears!"

Gravely I bent over her hand and kissed it. It seemed to me, as I let the hand fall, that I had never kissed a woman on the lips. I turned and went slowly down the path. Once I looked back. I saw something white lying at the foot of the tree. Heaven knows what a struggle it was, but I went on. I wanted to take her in my arms and tell her that I loved her. When I reached the inn, I turned again, but I saw nothing. I sat in my room a long time that night, smoking my pipe till the candle gasped feebly and died in the stick and the room was swallowed in darkness.

I did not know, I was not sure, but I thought that, so long as I might not love Phyllis, it would not be a very hard task to love her image, which was Gretchen. You see, Phyllis was so very far away, and Gretchen was so near!

CHAPTER X.

On the next afternoon I was sitting on the porch, with a glass of wine, when Gretchen came out of the inn. Just then, raising my eyes, I saw a group of horsemen approaching. I discerned them to be cavalrymen, petty officers. They were mounted on spirited horses.

"Gretchen," said I, "they are cavalrymen. They do not wear the Hohenphallan uniform. So perhaps it would be just as well for you to go to your room and remain there till they are gone. Ah," said I, elevating the glasses again, "they wear his majesty's colors. You had best retire."

"I refuse. They may be thirsty."

"I'll see to that," I laughed.

"But"— she began.

"Oh, Gretchen wishes to see new faces," said I, with chagrin.

"If it pleases you, sir," mischievously.

"What if they are looking for—for"—

"That is the very reason why I wish to see them."

"You are determined?"

"I am."

"Very well," said I. "You had best eat an onion."

"And for what purpose?"

"As a preventive to offensive tactics," looking slyly at her. Her laugh rang out mockingly.

"Do you not know that aside from dueling the German lives only for his barmaid, his beer and his knoblauch? Nevertheless, since you wish it, I will eat one—for your sake."

"For my sake?" I cried in dismay. "Heaven forfend!"

"Does herr"—

"Jack," said I.

"Does Herr Jack think," her eyes narrowing till naught but a line of 'English," I answered discourteously.

their beautiful blue green could be seen, "that one of those would dare take a liberty with me?"

"I hope he will not. I should have the unpleasant duty of punching his head." If I could not kiss Gretchen, nobody else should."

"You are very strong."

"Yes. And there are some things which add threefold to a man's strength."

"Such as"— She looked at me daringly.

"Yes, such as"— Her eyes fell before my glance. A delicate veil of rose covered her face for a moment. I wondered if she knew that it was only because I clinched my fists till the nails cut that I did not do the very thing I feared the stragglers coming down the road might do. "Come," said I peremptorily. "There is no need of your welcoming them here!"

So we entered the inn, and she began furbishing up the utensils, just to tease me more than anything else. Outside there was a clatter of hoofs, the chink of the spur, intermingled with a few oaths, and then two representatives of the king came in noisily. They gazed admiringly at Gretchen as she poured out their beer. She saw the rage in my eyes. She was aggravating with her promiscuous smiles. The elder officer noticed my bulldog pipe.

"English?" he inquired indifferently. The German cannot diassociate an Englishman and a brier wood bulldog pipe.

"English," I answered discourteously. It mattered nothing to me whether he took me for an Englishman or a Zulu. Either answered the purpose.

He wore an eyeglass through which he surveyed me rather contemptuously.

"What is your name, fraulein?" he asked, turning to Gretchen.

"Gretchen," sweetly.

"And what is the toll for a kiss?"

"Nothing," said Gretchen, looking at me. The lieutenant started for her, but she waved him off. "Nothing, Herr Lieutenant, because they are not for sale."

I moved closer to the bar. "Ont for a constitutional?" I asked, blowing the ash from the live coal in my pipe.

"We are on his majesty's business," with an intonation which implied that the same was none of mine. "Gretchen, we shall return tonight, so you may lay two plates at a separate table," with an eye on me. He couldn't have hated me any more than I hated him. "Then there is no way of getting a kiss?"

"No," said Gretchen.

"Then I'll blow you one," and Gretchen made a pretty courtesy.

I nearly bit the amber stem off my pipe. They were soon gone, and I was glad of it.

"Herr Jack is angry," said Gretchen.

"Not at all," I growled. "What right have I to be angry?"

"Does Herr Jack wish Gretchen always to be sad?"

"Certainly not, but sometimes your joy is irritating. You are sad all day; then some strangers come, and you are all smiles. Your smiles do not come in my direction as often as I should like."

"Well, then, look at me," said Gretchen.

The smile would have dazzled an auchorite, let alone a man who didn't know whether he loved her for certain, but who was willing to give odds that he did.

"Gretchen!" I cried, starting toward her.

But, with a low laugh, she disappeared behind the door. Gretchen was a woman. As a man must have his tobacco, so must a woman have her coquetry. It was rather unfair of Gretchen after what I had promised. It was like getting one in a cage and then offering sweetmeats at a safe distance. It now became a question of analysis. So I went to the river and sat down in the grass. A gentle wind was stirring the leaves, and the sunbeams, filtering through the boughs, fell upon the ground in golden snowflakes. What was Gretchen to me that I should grow jealous of her smiles? The night before I could have sworn that I loved her; now I was not so sure. A week ago all the sunshine in the world had come from Phyllis' face; now a shadow had come between. Oh, I knew the symptoms! They were not new to me. They had visited me some five years back and had clung to me with the tenacity of a creditor to a man with expectations. When a man arrives at that point where he wants the society of one woman all to himself, the matter assumes serious proportions. And a man likes to fall in love with one woman and continue to love her all his days. It is more romantic. It annoys him to face the fact that he is about to fall in love with another. In my case I felt that there was some extenuation. Gretchen looked like Phyllis. When I saw Gretchen in the garden and then went to my room and gazed upon the likeness of Phyllis, I was much like the bachelor Heine tells about—I doddered.

The red squirrel in the branches above me looked wise. He was wondering how long before the green burs would parch and give him their brown chestnuts. I was contemplating a metaphysical bur. I wanted to remain true to Phyllis, though there wasn't any sense in my doing so. Had Gretchen resembled any one but Phyllis I never should have been in such a predicament. I should have gone away the day after my arrival. Here I was going into my second week. My assistant in London was probably worrying, having heard nothing from me during that time. As matters stood it was evident that I could not be true either to Phyllis or Gretchen since I did not know positively which I loved. I knew that I loved one. So much was gained. I wanted to throw up a coin, heads for Phyllis, tails for Gretchen, but I couldn't bring myself to gamble on the matter.

A steamer came along then, puffing importantly, sending a wash almost at my feet. I followed it with my eye till it became lost around the bend. Over there was Austria and beyond the orient, a new world to me.

"If I could see them together!" I mused aloud.

The squirrel cocked his head to one side as if to ask, "Austria and Turkey?"

"No," said I, looking around for another stick, "Phyllis and Gretchen. If I could see them together, you know, I could tell positively then which I love. As it is, I'm in doubt. Do you understand?"

The squirrel ran out to the end of the limb and sat down. It was an act of deliberation.

"Well, why don't you answer?"

THE GHOST

Of our boyhood resolved itself to an old tree when we had courage to examine it. Manhood has its ghosts, which, to the man who has courage to confront them, prove to be as harmless as the ghosts of boyhood. One of the ghosts which scare a great many people is the ghost of lung disease. But experience shows this ghost to be very harmless. In cases almost innumerable "weak" lungs have been made strong, obstinate coughs stopped, and bronchial affections cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. And these cures have been wrought in many cases after the doctor had said—"There is no help for you." Don't give in to the superstition of a past age. Give the "Golden Medical Discovery" a fair and faithful trial. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"When I commenced taking your medicine eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chancyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better; then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

FIERCE TIME IN CAMP.

The Rain Flooded Barriefield Commons.

The Men Have a Rather Uncomfortable Night—The Church Parade was Called off—Other Items of Interest.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Camp Barriefield,
Sunday, June 22.

The Tommy Atkins at present in camp here who will ever forget the experience of Saturday night, would indeed be lacking in his mental powers. To the old timer in military camp life it surpassed anything he ever experienced before; to the South African veteran it compared favourably with anything he went through while on active service, and to the timid young recruit it caused a desire to arise within his heart that he was home with his mother—or some other loving relative. The men had come off a very heavy day's parade. There had been marches past of a divisional nature before the headquarters staff, and the men returned to their respective lines with the big beads of perspiration rolling down their faces like sap from a maple tree. The day was cloudless, and it was as hot as—it was awfully hot.

The men after supper were preparing for a good evening's sport, and were scattered pretty much all over and many even having gone to the city. Suddenly a most terrific storm arose, accompanied by the most violent lightning and the most deafening thunder. The rain came down as though there was an irreparable puncture in the heavens, and in less than 15 minutes the camp grounds were an awful sight to behold. Such a deluge! The occupants of the tents of the Wellingtons and Peterborough Squadrons were flooded out, and were driven to dryer (?) quarters in the canteen or mess tents. The wind blew, it howled, it screamed, and the rain and hail came down as thick and heavy as brick bats and beer bottles in a Carrie Nation engagement. The men scremed, too, not with fear, but excitement, and as a flash of lightning came the horses looked as if they would like to scream also. Some of them stampeded and rolled around in small lakes of water, and the majority of them, if gifted with the powers of reflection, no doubt wondered what they were up against. One of the mess tents became as unmanageable as a temptest tossed scow, and collapsed in the mud, a fate the remainder of the tents would have met if the occupants of the same had not held them down. At about 10.30 when the smoke of the engagement had cleared away, the officers and men turned out to take a survey of the situation. In some portions of the camp the water was several feet deep, and the men had to seek others quarters for the night. The majority of the Hussars, our neighbours, who by the way are drawn from around Kingston, mounted their steeds and put off for home. In Sgt. Rush's tent his several pairs of boots were floating around like frogs in a country mill pond. Morning came, and a beautiful breeze from the river fanned the camp of the Dragoons, which together with a smiling sun, soon absorbed the dampness from the tents and the blankets but all day long great pools of water adorned the camp grounds. Most of "D" Squadron's tents were pulled down, and the horse lines moved a third time to a dryer spot. It had been ordered that the Cavalry Brigade should attend a drum head service with the Infantry Regt. at divisional headquarters, but owing to the condition of the ground, and road between the camp of the cavalry brigade and that of the 5th and 6th infantry brigades, the order was cancelled, and the cavalry man went scot free for the day; being a model of proprtiety, however, he spent the day in quietness and sang Sunday school hymns in his own tent.

From the infantry lines over the hill came appalling stories concerning the destruction the storm had committed, the more terrifying being that a member of the 46th had been struck by lightning. However, there was happily no truth in the rumor. The infantry lines are worse of, if anything, than those of the cavalry, and the men are wallowing around in mud to their knees in some cases.

Sunday should really be termed visitors' day, for it is on this day of the week that the people of the city take a trip over the bridge to the camp. All day long there was a steady stream of city people to Barriefield. Many came in carriages, many on wheels, while others walked. The freedom of the camp grounds was given to them and they spent the time in strolling through the lines and taking in matters in general. There were visitors not strangers to many of the Dragoons. Amongst these were Messrs. Fred Scully and Dick Boyle, of the 14th Field Battery, who came up from Deseronto, and Mr. Will Paterson, of Queen's University.

Lieutenant Southey, of the Bowmanville Company, of the 46 Regiment, had the misfortune to fall a day or two ago and break his arm. He is confined in the field hospital.

Lieutenant Hayward, of "B" Squadron of the Dragoons, is attached to the headquarters staff.

Amongst the "sod pounders," for the knights of the boots and saddle do like to call their infantry brothers in the service by such a name, there are a few from Peterborough. Amongst these are Mr. F. W. Miller and his son Freddie and Mr. Jim. Brown, who are with the Sterling Band. Jimmie is rolling the kettle drum. A rather amusing incident occurred yesterday in the Divisional March past before Lieut.-Colonel Montizambert and the Divisional staff. Freddie Miller's apperance struck Major Bigger, of the Divisional Staff, very much and he called him to one side, at the same time caying to Lieut.-Conel Montizambert, "I want to show you this little soldier." Freddie, with the stride of a veteran in the service, stepped up, stood erect as a gate post and saluted with every degree of military etiquette. The D.O.C. was much taken with him not only by his size, but his soldiery appearance. Freddie is only sixteen years of age.

A company that attracts considerable notice always at camp is the Rosemeath Company on the 40th Regiment, by reason of the fact that every man in it, excepting the officer, is an Indian. Amongst the number is Mr. Johnston Paudash, of Hiawatha, who is one of the most enthusiastic soldiers in camp.

Dr. Poole, the popular Vet.-Lieutenant for the Dragoons, reports that the horses are all doing nicely, there being very little if any sickness amongst them. The Doctor has, it is said, been offered the appointment of Divisional Vet-Lieutenant. His excellent qualifications have no doubt been recognized by the Divisional Staff.

Mrs. Hagerman, wife of the veteran Paymaster of the Dragoons, is in camp to-day accompanied by their only son, Master Hagerman. Mrs. Hagerman always pays a visit to her husband while in camp.

The Anaemic Young Girl.

Perhaps she is sixteen. Suddenly she seems to lose strength, her beauty fails, because her strength fails, her eyes lose their lustre. How her spirit droops! It alarms you, but all this may be corrected quickly. Get her Ferrozone, it is a nerve tonic, it aids the stomach to do its work. Appetite? She'll eat anything, and digest it, too. Ferrozone is an absolute specific for the anaemia of young people. Ask your druggist for it. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

HE OPERATED HERE.

But was run to Earth by Detective Rogers in Barrie.

Thos. Morgan, a follower of Ringling Bros.' Circus, was sentenced at Barrie Monday, to six months in the Central Prison, with hard labour, for attempted pocket-picking. The circus was there on the 15th and Detective Rogers arrested Morgan and another American named Harper. No evidance was forthcoming as to picking pockets, and they were arraigned on a charge of vagrancy, and after several remands, Harper was released on Friday. In the meantime the Crown procured evidence against Morgan for attempted pocket-picking, and the case was finished Monday.

This is probably the individual who operated in Peterborough circus day, as several complaints were made to the police by parties who had their purses stolen.

SILVER WEDDING.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Faux.

On the evening of June 4th a delightful time was spent at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Faux, known as the Belleview Farm, it being the occasion of their silver wedding. At about seven o'clock the guests to the number of about two hundred and forty began to arrive, and by nine o'clock everything was in full swing. A platform for dancing was erected on the lawn in front of the beautiful brick residence, which was festooned overhead with evergreens, intersected with Chinese lanterns. Nothing was left undone to insure the enjoyment of all for the evening.

Music was furnished by Mr. Henry Elmhirst, and his daughter, Miss Jennie Elmhirst. Mrs. Faux is to be congratulated on the sumptuous spread, to which all did ample justice.

The presents were something grand and were very numerous. Dancing lasted until four o'clock, when all was quiet and everyone went away with but one regret, viz., that the function was over. We sincerely wish Mr. and Mrs. Faux all prosperity and hope that their golden anniversary may still find them ready to meet their friends again.
